PREFACE.

The first volume of the Calendars of the Domestic State Papers of Charles I. may be indicated generally as that which relates to the Cadiz Expedition and the Impeachment of the Duke of Buckingham. The second volume has for its main subject the Expedition to the Isle of Rhé. The leading features of the present volume will be found in its relation to the Petition of Right, the Expeditions to Rochelle, the Assassination of Buckingham, the dissolution of the Parliament of 1629, and the subsequent prosecution of Sir John Eliot and other Members of the House of Commons.

Actual contemporary correspondence, in many cases between members of the Government, and relating to such important subjects, cannot be otherwise than of high historical value, more especially if, as in the present instance, it be accompanied by original drafts of important illustrative documents, exhibiting, in the changes which they underwent during the progress of settlement—in what statements were accepted and what rejected—the very mind and intention of those from whom they proceeded. Such are the papers, the contents of which are here laid open to inquirers. This is not the place in which to detail the great story which they contain. Ere long there will probably be set before the world a narrative of the events of this important period, founded on the papers which are here calendared.

But, besides the broad historical uses of these Papers, they throw, every now and then, what may be termed unexpected sidelights, occasionally of unusual clearness, on subjects scarcely less interesting or less important. The present volume takes us back into the midst of the heats and struggles of the period of Charles I. The persons whose qualities for good or ill contributed to make up the character of that energetic age surround us; and although the information respecting any particular individual may be comparatively slight — the period of time comprised within the volume being but brief—what we have is so much gain of actual truth, and outweighs in value whole pages of speculation.

A few examples will illustrate our meaning, and stimulate to further inquiry.

In the wide range of our biography and literature few names are more attractive to thoughtful minds than that of Archbishop Leighton. The virtues of his life add emphasis to the calm piety of his writings, and give a kind of authority to the boundless charity and wise moderation of his theological opinions. Leighton belonged as an Archbishop to a period subsequent to that which is here treated of. In 1628 and 1629 he was merely Robert Leighton, a lad receiving education at the University of Edinburgh. The misfortunes of his family threw several of his letters written to his parents at that time into the hands of the future Archbishop Laud, and thus undesignedly preserved them for our use. They exhibit a boyhood of a most delightful kind,—eminently affectionate, deeply imbued with religious sentiments, but not at all devoid of youthful frolic. A noticeable proof of the last-mentioned quality occurs in one of the letters here calendered. Leighton had fallen into trouble at school. His father, naturally anxious for the credit of a son who was so far removed from parental superintendence, had called upon him for an explanation, and the boy gives it in the letter alluded to with ingenuous simplicity. He narrates, that, in consequence of a contest between his class and "the semies," the Provost had restrained the boys from their accustomed play. The angry magistrate chanced to be conspicuous in his generation for a rubicund nose, and the boys revenged themselves for the loss of their golf or hockey, by making verses on the Provost's distinguishing feature. Leighton, hearing of these verses, "spoke," he says, "a thing in prose" concerning this subject, not out of spite for wanting the play, neither from having taken notice of the Provost's nose, but merely out of the report of his fellow students, for "I never," he remarks, "saw [the Provost] before, but once, neither thought I him to be a man of great state. This I spoke of his name, and presently, upon their request, turned it into a verse, thus:—his name is Oakenhead.

> "That which his name imports is falsely said,
> That of the oaken wood his head is made;—
> For why? If it had been composèd so,
> His flaming nose had fired it long ago!"

He goes on to mention certain Verses of Apology for these terse and witty lines, which have unfortunately not been found. The college authorities, he tells his father, in all simplicity, considered his production "not so heinous a thing" as he himself did justly think it. "Pray for me," he continues, "as I know you do, that the Lord may keep me from like falls."*

Another example, more nearly historical, may be selected in a paper affecting Ben Jonson. The great poet had been seized with palsy in the year 1625. His past life had been of that kind which makes little provision for the future, and, struck down by disease, and vainly striving to urge his enfeebled intellect to emulate the productions of his better age, he was living in sickness and almost in poverty, when the world was startled by the assassination of the Duke of Buckingham. The event called forth an all but universal feeling of popular exultation. Felton was regarded as a hero, and, in his punishment, as a martyr. His health was drank in public-houses and college cellars, and poets, good and bad, were excited to a variety of enthusiastic efforts, principally of congratulation and rejoicing. One poem attracted attention beyond the rest. It was addressed by the writer "To his Confined Friend, Mr. Felton," and contained lines written with a vigour which justified their attribution to a powerful hand. The time was not fertile in writers of the sonorous line. Ben Jonson was at once set down as the author, and even in the house of Sir Robert Cotton, which may be deemed to have been a literary centre of the time, the poem was believed to have been written by the author of "Volpone" and "Every Man in his Humour."* The imputation was a serious one, for Jonson was the Laureate of the day, and a poetical shout of triumph on the violent death of the King's favourite would have been, to say the least of it, an unseemly offering to a royal master, and might have endangered the large portion of Jonson's narrow income which was attached to the laureateship. The incident is new in Jonson's life, and we are not acquainted with all that actually took place; but the State Paper collection contains the following original examination of Jonson by the Attorney General, which, besides effectually exonerating him from the imputed authorship, gives information which cannot be otherwise than acceptable to every reader of his works :—

* The lines may be seen in D'Israeli's "Curiosities of Literature," iv. 179; in Fairholt's "Poems and Songs relating to Buckingham," p. 74; and in "The Court and Times of Charles I.," i. 427.

"The examination of Benjamin Jonson, of Westminster, gentleman, taken this 26th day of October, 1628, by me, Sir Robert Heath, his Majesty's Attorney General.

"The said examinant being asked whether ever he had seen certain verses beginning thus—'Enjoy thy bondage,' and ending thus—'England's ransom here doth lie,' and entitled thus—'To his Confined Friend,' &c., and the paper of those verses being showed unto him, he answereth, that he hath seen the like verses to these. And being asked where he saw them, he saith, at Sir Robert Cotton's house, at Westminster. Being further asked upon what occasion he saw them at that time, he saith that coming in to Sir Robert Cotton's house, as he often doth, the paper of these verses lying there upon the table after dinner, this examinant was asked concerning those verses, as if himself had been the author thereof; thereupon this examinant read them, and condemned them, and with deep protestations affirmed that they were not made by him, nor did he know who made them, or had ever seen or heard them before : and the like protestations he now maketh upon his Christianity and hope of salvation. He saith he took no copy of them, nor ever had copy of them. He saith he hath heard of them since, but ever with detestation. He being further asked whether he doth know who made, or hath heard who made them, he answereth he doth not know, but he hath heard by common fame that one Mr. Townley should make them, but he confesseth truly that he cannot name any one singular person who hath so reported it. Being asked of what quality that Mr. Townley is, he saith his name is Zouch Townley; he is a scholar, and a divine by profession, and a preacher, but where he liveth or abideth he knoweth not, but he is a student of Christ's Church in Oxford.

"Being farther asked whether he gave a dagger to the said Mr. Townley, and upon what occasion, and when; he answereth that on a Sunday after this examinant had heard the said Mr. Townley preach at St. Margaret's Church in Westminster Mr. Townley taking a liking to a dagger with a white haft which this examinant ordinarily wore at his girdle, and was given to this examinant, this examinant gave it to him two nights after, being invited by Mr. Townley to supper, but without any circumstance, and without any relation to those or any other verses, for this examinant is well assured this was so done before he saw these verses, or had heard of them; and this examinant doth not remember that since he hath seen Mr. Townley.

BEN JONSON."

Little is remembered of Zouch Townley, save that he was of the well-known family of the Townleys of Cheshire, and that he escaped from a threatened prosecution in the Star Chamber, on account of his lines to Felton, by a timely flight to the Hague. ("Court and Times of Charles I.," i. 427.) The rough fervour of his lines, which led to the suspicion that they were Jonson's, was merely imitative, and the result of an attachment to Jonson and his works, which may be gathered from the incident of the knife, as well as from the commendatory lines prefixed by Townley to the collected Edition of Jonson's Works, and from his rushing to the defence of the poet when Alexander Gill took scornful advantage of him upon the failure of "The Magnetic Lady." Gill's indiscretion was continually leading him astray, and gave every opponent an advantage over him. Townley defended his friend kindly, and with a generous feeling which would have carried all hearts with him; but Jonson himself, entering the dispute with a sledge-hammer rather than with a pen, showed that he needed no defender, and threw Townley's milder performance into the shade.*

Of Gill's other trouble, arising out of his foolish words respecting Felton and the King, the present volume contains a variety of particulars. The discreditable nonsense was uttered in a wild drunken frolic, among young men,

* The lines by Gill, Townley, and Jonson are brought together in Gifford's "Ben Jonson," vi. 123, 125, 127. An Oration by Townley in memory of Camden may be seen in Camdeni Epistolæ, ed. Smith. Lond. 1691; p. lxxxiii.

Gill's college friends, some of whom he had come from London to visit. Without seeking to excuse such boyish speeches, one may regret that, in an age in which the consequences of bringing such utterances to the knowledge of the authorities must have been well known, it here appears that the person who gave the information to Bishop Laud was no other than the celebrated Chillingworth. Private treachery was not the only adverse circumstance against which Gill had to contend. The original examination on which Gill's conviction in the Star Chamber proceeded bears evidence of the unfairness with which the proceedings against him were conducted. His admission of the words uttered by him in disparagement of the King ("We have a fine wise King. He has wit enough to be a shopkeeper to ask, 'What do you lack?' and that is all."*) is underscored, and against that passage in the margin is written the direction, "Read this and no more"—thus excluding from the knowledge of all the court, except Bishop Laud, who took the examination, the next sentence, which states the privacy, and the other extenuating circumstances, under which the words were spoken.

Of Gill's illustrious friend, John Milton, no notice has yet been found. The saltpetreman of that name is mentioned in Vol. ci., No. 68 (p. 86), and a petition from "John Milton, gent.," perhaps the saltpetreman, is placed in

* Dom., Car. I., Vol. cxvi., No. 56. I. (p. 319). If illustrative notes came within the form of our Calendar, one might have been added at p. 240 on the lines there connected with Alexander Gill. Those lines were evidently founded on the song of "Bless the Sovereign and his Senses," which occurs in Ben Jonson's masque of "The Metamorphosed Gipsies," and the indorsement probably means nothing more than that the paper was found in Gill's possession. That finding, and Gill's prosecution, may be a justification of their present place in the Calendar, but the King to whom they allude was James, not Charles, and 1621 or 1622 the date of their composition.

Vol. cxxiv., No. 36 (p. 424), not perhaps in its actual chronological order, but, after consideration, I am unable to assign it to a more satisfactory place.

A momentary glimpse at "the Tuscan artist who, from the top of Fiesole or Val d'Arno," applied to the moon his optic glass, "to descry new lands, rivers, or mountains in her spotty globe," reads almost like a direct illustration of "Paradise Lost." Boswell, afterwards Sir William Boswell, and a well-known diplomatist, had lately accompanied the Earl of Carlisle on a mission to Northern Italy. He thus became acquainted with the fame of Galileo, and is now brought before us as one of the first Englishmen, if not the very first, who scientifically appreciated the studies of the Italian philosopher, and had the honour of being personally known to him. Lord Doncaster, son of the Earl of Carlisle, being at Florence, Boswell inclosed to the young Lord's tutor, Mr. James Traill, a letter addressed to Galileo, containing a request for copies of some of his works. At the same time Boswell wrote to John Spelman, son of Sir Henry Spelman, who was in Lord Doncaster's suite, to procure for him all works of Galileo published after a certain time. Galileo had at this time been released from his first imprisonment at the instance of the Inquisition, and Traill's report is that he remained retired in the country above 30 miles from Florence. The distance was thought too great for Traill personally to deliver the letter, but he undertook to have it conveyed to him inclosed in another, and to make such arrangements that if Galileo had "any of these you desire," Traill should have them sent to him.* Spelman's answer to his commission was, that he had met with one book of Galileo's published since the prescribed date, and entitled "Il Sagiatore." He had also met with a work written by one that honoured Galileo much, and which had been privately printed and given away by the author; the subject being the "Measurement of Running Water." Spelman had secured both these little works, and purposed to send them by the first messenger.*

Edmund Bolton, immersed to the lips in poverty and distress, will be found, in Vol. cxii., No. 43 (p. 248), still urging upon the Duke of Buckingham the project of an Academy of Honour, in bitter tones of remonstrance and disappointment. He fortifies his application with the following pleasant little poem by Sir John Beaumont, author of "Bosworth Field," and elder brother of the dramatist:—

"To my Lord the Duke of Buckingham, touching the Academ of Honour.

My Lord, the heart that loves you must have leave
Some splendour from your glory to receive.
My soul with gladness shines when I behold
Your worthy praise in beauteous works enrolled;
When learned tongues you their Mæcenas name;
By which brave style your office is the same
Which is from parents to their children due;—
You cherish them who shall eternize you.
I much admire the subject which my friend
Hath chose for you, and know you will extend
Your wings upon his work, so fair, so sweet,
Where perfect Learning and true Honour meet,
Whose loving hands in mutual concord gripe,
For you are Learning's Patron, Honour's Type.

John Beaumont."

No. 59, in Vol. c. (p. 67), is a recommendation, by Bishop Davenant, of his near kinsman, "a young gentleman," Mr. William Davenant, who had been employed in the wars abroad. I am aware that it is not quite consistent with what has been told us of the early life of the poet to suppose that this was he, but our information on this subject is so uncertain that the reference is worthy of attention.*

Another branch of literary illustration is the favour bestowed on learned foreigners. Gerard Vossius was made a denizen (p. 215), and received a prebend in Canterbury Cathedral (p. 216), whilst John Vossius, one of his sons, was strongly recommended to Jesus College, Cambridge, it might almost be said forced upon the College for a fellowship (p. 548). Entries under the names of Meric Casaubon and Sir Francis Biondi are of the same character.

Papers relating to the proceedings in the Ecclesiastical Commission against Michael Sparke and other London printers and publishers, for printing and circulating pamphlets without licence, bear upon the same subject. The answer in the same court of Henry Burton, the author of "The Baiting of the Pope's Bull," "Israel's Fast," and many other influential works;† and the characteristic letter of Bishop Hall, consenting, for the sake of peace, to omit from his "Reconciler" certain strong anti-Arminian passages, which the licenser deemed objectionable,‡ are papers of importance in connexion with the degree of control exercised over the press, and the question of how far that control was used in order to promote one particular view of the theological opinions which divided Protestants.

* Another notice of probably the same gentleman will be found at p. 435. This has an interest as connecting him with the future Lord Clarendon. It is a project for blowing up the Powder Magazine at Dunkirk, indorsed, in the handwriting of Secretary Dorchester, with a reference to Mr. Davenant as lodging in the Middle Temple with Mr. Hyde, son to the Lord Chief Justice's elder brother.

Abraham Darcie, known as the translator of the "Annales of Queen Elizabeth," and the author of other works, some of them poetical, in commendation of various noble persons and families, desired to add the Duke of Buckingham to the list of worthies whom he commemorated, but failed in obtaining a licence on two very curious grounds. They are set forth in a letter of Bishop Laud;* and in the Bishop's own words, were, first, because he "suspected the countenance and other deportments of him that brought the papers"—Abraham himself; and, secondly, because the handwriting of Sec. Conway to a recommendation which he had given to Darcie was "so fairly written."† What may have been the weight of suspicion attaching to the countenance of Darcie does not appear, but all who are acquainted with Conway's hand will feel that, if anything more than his signature was easily legible, the Bishop was clearly justifiable in his suspicions on that head. When Conway was first appointed Secretary, King James is said to have remarked, that Steenie had given him a Secretary who could not write, and even his own clerks were frequently unable to decipher his hieroglyphical scrawling. Several papers exist in the State Paper Office which his clerks contented themselves with simply indorsing as "In my Lord's own hand," without any attempt at stating their contents.

These few examples, drawn from only one class of illustrations, will sufficiently show the character of the elucidation contained in this volume. Many pages could scarcely exhibit its variety, or exemplify the number of documents applicable to purposes of illustration which it contains. In one place we are thrown back on "Kinmont Willie" and "Johnie Armstrong," on the wild doings and stirring minstrelsy of the Border, by a pardon for all their robberies and thefts to two Edward Armstrongs, one of the Ash and the other of Kinmont, with their dependent fellow reivers, Hector Armstrong, known as Stubholme, and John Armstrong, designated John-with-the-one-Hand; —but with an addition that tells distinctly that the era of turbulent but attractive lawlessness had past;—"on condition that they depart the kingdoms of England and Scotland, and do not return without licence" (p. 497). In another place, one of the latest rays of the middle ages gleams upon us as we read the letters of poor Sir Henry Clare, praying for royal patronage to "his endeavour in the philosopher's stone"—an endeavour which had already stripped him so bare that he had nothing left to offer as a token of thankfulness—in these days we should term it a bribe—to propitiate the Secretary of State on presenting his petition to the King. He beseeches him, in pity to Sir Henry's present poverty, to accept a hundred marks out of the first money to be obtained under a grant for which he is a suppliant (pp. 374, 514, 565).

In April, 1629, we have the Lord President Conway, in the height of the London season, feasting the new-made knighthood of Sir Richard Grimes, and a Scottish Lord, some visitor to London, with the still fashionable viands —asparagus and salmon; but the latter was a fish from the Thames, already becoming scarce and costly. The "dish of asparagus" cost 2*s.* 8*d.*; the Thames salmon was charged at the exorbitant price of 2*l.* 6*s.* (p. 518).

Within a couple of pages is a supplication of Sir Richard Grosvenor which tells forcibly on family history. Sir Richard, through a too foolish kindness to an unfortunate but more dishonest brother-in-law, has become involved in pecuniary difficulties. The case was common, the creditors were inexorable, our fatal facility of raising money was but little understood, and the new-made baronet importunately solicited the shelter of a royal protection. "It were a killing misery for him," he exclaims, "to be the overthrow of so ancient a family, as hath continued in Cheshire ever since the Conquest" (p. 516).

We may couple with this Sir Bowyer Worsley's narrative of how "old Thornton and his son" came into the Isle of Wight, and inveigled Sir Bowyer's daughter into a marriage which threatened ruin to her father, if the Lord President would not help him to a place in ship or castle (p. 565), and consequent protection.

Turn the page, and we are in the midst of old stately formalities set down by Garter, Clarencieux or York, as "provisions to be made" for the first confinement of Henrietta Maria, and the anticipated birth of an heir to Charles's uneasy throne (p. 534). A brief space elapses, and we find that the pomp of heraldry had been fruitless, and that "God had shown them a Prince of Wales, but the flower had been cut down the same instant that it saw the light" (p. 548). The grave closes, and away we fly to other subjects:—Wolgang Mayer, "nephew to the posthum-martyr Martin Bucer," trusts his son to the Earl of Carlisle, to be educated at the English university in the service of which Bucer died, and finds what is the worth of the promises of a courtier (pp. 411, 447, 490, 520); Archie Armstrong satirises the Court with the boundless liberty of his profession in a description of the christening of his infant son (p. 393); we have a list of the London dealers in old books, full of subjects of most curious comparison (p. 328); a licence for the Lady Elizabeth's players to perform "comedies, histories, tragedies and interludes" in the City of London or elsewhere. The names of the chief members of the company are given (p. 406), and a mode at once indicated for accounting for some portion of that dramatic intercommunication between England and Germany, which is such a curious incident in the history of our stage, and which was no doubt fertile of results to our dramatic literature.

We turn next to a valuable account of the tonnage of the navy (p. 493); the produce of subsidies (p. 482); a proposal to institute a servants' registry, as a remedy for the inconveniences arising from dishonest servants, char-women, and dry nurses (p. 509); a history of the payment of chaplains and surgeons in the navy (pp. 466, 467, 511); letters of the witty Corbet, who finds that he has lost a deanery in gaining a bishopric (pp. 562, 595); notes of the coming of Rubens, an incident fertile of results both in art and politics (pp. 553, 557); valuable lists of recusants in London and its neighbourhood (pp. 409, 414); and a curious account of collections in the London churches for the expatriated ministers of the Palatinate (p. 406); and so on we pass from subject to subject, in every page and almost in every entry, ad infinitum.

The biography of the times, the condition of the nation, the voice of popular feeling and the state of public manners—events and incidents foreign to modern tastes and opinions—ways of life which, fortunately for us, can never return, but which led to our present happier state, and must be understood before we can comprehend either the height to which we have ascended or the means of our ascent. Apart from the direct historical application, there is enough in this indirect illustration to make this volume, and the whole series of calendars in which it takes its place, an invaluable mine of materials for all historical inquirers. But, like other mines, it must be worked.

The assistance of William Impey, Esq., and William Douglas Hamilton, Esq., two gentlemen on the staff of the State Paper Office, alluded to in the Prefaces to my former volumes, has been continued throughout the present volume with great advantage to the book and to the general service. Their labours in preliminary arrangement have greatly facilitated the progress of the work.

DOMESTIC PAPERS.

CHARLES I.

Vol. XCV. March 1—14, 1628.

1628.

[March 1 ?] 1. The King to Lord Treasurer Marlborough and Sir Richard Weston, the Chancellor of the Exchequer. Having resolved to employ the Earl of Carlisle in an embassy of the greatest importance, they are required to assist him in all things necessary for his accommodation and the expedition of his journey. Recommends the despatch of the farm of 20*s.* a ton upon wines, which may be turned to the assistance of this object. [Draft, mutilated by damp.]

[March 1 ?] 2. The same to ————. Requests him, in these times of necessity and straightness of money, to advance 5,000*l.*, part of 50,000*l.* contracted to be furnished for the King's service, to enable the Earl of Carlisle to lose no time in his departure upon his mission. [Draft, mutilated by damp.]

[March 1 ?] 4. The same to ————. Requests him to hear the Earl of Carlisle, respecting the occasion he may have to make use of the assistance and credit of the person addressed, and to give him the accommodation required. [Draft, mutilated by damp.]

[March 1 ?] 5. Copy of the same, made before mutilation, and endorsed, "Draft of a letter not used."

March 1. Westminster. Grant of the dignity of Baronet to Sir Richard Yonge, one of the Gentlemen of the Privy Chamber. [Coll. Sign Man., Car. I., Vol. vi., No. 12.]

March 1. Westminster. Warrant to discharge Sir Richard Yonge of 1,095*l.*, ordinarily payable in respect of a Baronetcy. [Ibid., No. 13.]

March 1. Whitehall. 6. Minutes of proceedings of the Council of War at their meeting this day. It is ordered, that as soon as 12 of the 30 ships ordered at the last meeting to be prepared for sea with all convenient speed be made ready, the same should go to sea. Nicholas delivered the Lord Admiral's pleasure that in his absence this Council should proceed as they should think fit. [Draft.]

March 1. 7. Attorney General Heath to Sec. Conway. Sets forth the present state of the new arrangements with reference to the Mint. The proclamation and commission are ready, but the former stays for the insertion of some words on which the King's pleasure is to be taken, and the latter for the King's decision on the arrangement to be made with Sir Robert Harley.

March 1. Blandford. 8. Deputy Lieutenants of Dorset to [Theophilus Earl of Suffolk, Lord Lieutenant]. The richer sort utterly refusing to receive the soldiers, and the rest being much disabled by the great arrears due for last year, return peremptory answers that they will no longer undergo this burthen. The writers have not omitted any course of persuasion, but the objectors, finding nought else but words to follow, contemn all that is spoken in that kind, and, for ought the writers see, the soldier must either steal or starve, which doubtless will shortly prove most dangerous. Beg the Earl to take these things, and the imminent danger of the county, into his consideration.

March 1. 9. Capt. John Watts and four other Officers of the Regiment of Sir Thomas Fryer, stationed in co. Dorset, to Sir Thomas Fryer. Divers officers of his regiment met the Commissioners at Blandford to complain of their soldiers being turned out of their billets by violence, the billeters alleging that they would not provide any billets, but that the soldiers must shift for themselves. The soldiers are thus enforced either to steal or starve. The Commissioners say they have no order for anything. The gentry contemn the Deputy Lieutenants' warrants for billeting, and are ill precedents to the commonalty. If some speedy course be not taken, the greatest part of the men will run from their colours.

March 2. Dispensation for William Earl of Banbury to be absent from Parliament. [Docquet.]

March 2. Warrant to Sir Sidney Montagu, to preserve the game within seven miles' compass of Hinchingbrooke, on the north-west side of the river Ouse. [Docquet.]

March 2. The like to John Goldsborough, to preserve the game within seven miles' compass of Godmanchester, on the south-east of the river Ouse. [Docquet.]

March 2. Newmarket. 10. Sec. Conway to Archbishop Abbot, of Canterbury. He received that day a letter from the Lord Keeper, inclosing one from the Archbishop. Represented them to the King, who vouchsafed to read them both. His Majesty's pleasure is, that the Archbishop send his proxy to the Parliament to whom he will make choice of. For the Convocation, his Majesty has given order according to the necessity of the occassion. [Draft, probably never sent, being superseded by No. 14, dated the day following.]

March 2. 11. Francis Plowden to Thomas Copley. To be a means to Sir Richard Minciall [Minshull] for cancelling a bond in which the writer joined with Thomas Copley's deceased brother William, to Drue Lovett, for 400*l.*

1628. VOL. XCV.

March 3. Westminster. Grant to Henry Lord Delaware of the sum of 279*l.* 8*s.* 6*d.* in money, and goods to the value of 37*s.*, forfeited by Sir Edward Bishop, found guilty of the murder of Henry Sherley. [Coll. Sign. Man., Car. I., Vol. vi., No. 14.]

March 3. Westminster Grant to Jane Murray, widow, for 31 years, of the herbage and pannage of the park of Berkhampstead, co. Represented both of them to the King, who vouchsafed to read them both. His Majesty's pleasure is, that the Archbishop send his proxy in Parliament to whom he will make choice of, and, for the Convocation, the King orders him to send his proxy to the Bishops of London and Bath and Wells; also, that the Dean of Gloucester preach the Concio ad clerum, and that the Dean of Lichfield be recommended for Prolocutor. March 3. Minute of the same. [Conway's Letter Book, p. 299.]

March 3. Newmarket. 18. Sec. Conway to Sec. Coke. The King, being very sensible of the Queen of Bohemia's wants, has commanded Sec. Conway to write to the Lord Treasurer, that, by the same ways that the Queen their mistress's debts are propounded to be satisfied, the Queen of Bohemia may be also supplied. He is to take the business into his care, and solicit the Lord Treasurer and others for giving all possible satisfaction. Is glad to understand there is order for 6,000*l.* for Sir Charles Morgan; his necessities require it. [Draft.]

March 3. Minute of the same. [Conway's Letter Book, p. 299.]

March 3. Newmarket. 19. The same to Lord Keeper Coventry. Acknowledges the receipt of his letter of February 29 [see Vol. xciv., No. 83]. Congratulations on the birth of a grandchild of the Lord Keeper. [Draft.]

March 3. Minute of the same. [Conway's Letter Book, p. 299.]

March 3. Portsmouth. 22. Henry Holt to Nicholas. Reports progress in preparation of the three ketches. They shall have three months' victuals for 48 men. Until they get away, he victuals the sailors from three days to three days. The 19 gentlemen soldiers lie in four houses in the town; he has paid for their diet 13*l.* 10*s.* 9*d.* Has borrowed three barrels of powder out of the King's store for the gentleman that makes the fireworks; he wants 27 barrels of powder more. The masters of the ketches want 20*l.* a piece. Sir Allen Apsley has sent down two load of provisions, as lanthorns, cans, platters, &c., and has ordered two barks to be taken up to send to Plymouth 80,000 of billet, which will cost there 15*s.* the thousand. Extreme badness of the weather has prevented their laying anything aboard these four days.

March 3. Cambridge. 23. Robert Mason to Nicholas. Before he comes up to London about the Burgess-ship, would gladly hear to what choice the Duke directs the University this election. The King has promised that, if the man die, Nicholas's brother shall succeed him, but if Nicholas likes the other House better, it will be easy for his brother to exchange with Dr. Williams.

March 3. Plymouth. 24. Capt. John Weddell to the same. The Rainbow and the Bonaventure must be brought aground; the other ships are intended to be careened there. The St. Mary, Capt. Quaile, cannot be made ready this month or six weeks. By order of Lord Denbigh they are now going aboard all the ships to view the defects.

March 3. 25. Order of the Lord Treasurer Marlborough and Sir Richard Weston, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, to pay to Edward Clarke, by virtue of a Privy Seal, dated December 18, 1627, 120*l.*, for money disbursed to certain engineers to be brought out of the Low Countries for the King's service. [Underwritten is a direction from Sir Robert Pye to Mr. Pitt, to pay the amount.]

March 4. Nottingham. 31. Sir Thomas Hewett, Sheriff of co. Nottingham, to the Council. On February 26, received their letters of February 12, and according thereto the Justices met together at Mansfield on the last day of February. Reading the letters from the King and their Lordships, as well as the proclamation for the assembly of the Parliament subsequently received, they conceived that by the said proclamation it was his Majesty's pleasure to stay the execution of the said letters, and therefore forbore to perform the services therein commanded.

March 4. 32. Petition of Capt. Rowland Browne to Buckingham. Took charge of the Esperance as Lieutenant, both before Sir Francis Carew came to her and since his departure, and also bestowed charges in getting her off the rocks at Plymouth; but, in regard she does not bear the number of men for whom a Lieutenant is allowed, can get no reward for his pains and service. Prays the Duke to order him pay as a Lieutenant or a reward. [Underwritten is a reference to the Officers of the Navy.] Indorsed, 32. I. The Officers of the Navy (Sir Guilford Slingsby, Sir Thomas Aylesbury, and Denzil Fleming) to Buckingham. The petitioner cannot receive pay, but recommend the Duke to cause a reward to be given to him according to his deserts.

March 4. 33. Petition of Henry Dunning, Master of his Majesty's Ketch, to the same. The Duke having given him the title of Captain, prays that he may receive pay accordingly. Underwritten,

33. I. The Duke to the Officers of the Navy. The petitioner has deserved so well in the late expedition that the Duke is desirous to encourage him. Wishes them to certify what they think best to be done.

33. II. Sir Guilford Slingsby and Denzil Fleming to "Mr. Treasurer" [of the Navy]. Recommend that the petitioner be paid 2s. 6d. per day.

March 4. Southampton. 34. John Ellzey to Nicholas. If he had not heard of Nicholas's indisposition should have marvelled that he had not received instructions as to Capt. Theobald's ship; intreats that he may receive the same. General report respecting the prizes in that port.

March 4. Colchester. 35. Edward Nuttall to the same. Received his letter with the order out of the Exchequer and Mr. Parry's directions. Will conceal his purpose, and endeavour to see Roger Rivett. Wishes to know if the business of the colliers' waftage be settled, and whether they are to pay for the same 2s. per chaldron. Knights of the shire for Essex were that day chosen. The freeholders were called upon by the constables to give their voices for the side supported by most of the justices of peace; and there was also a very irregular creation of freeholders, in order to secure the return of Sir Francis Barrington and Sir Harbottle Grimston. Sir Edward Coke and Sir Nathaniel Barnardiston have been returned for Suffolk, but they would not have been chosen if there had been any other gentlemen of note, for neither Ipswich had any great affection for them, nor most of the country; but there were not ten gentlemen at this election.

1628. Vol. XCV.

March 4. 36. Note, that the Abraham, Desire, and Jacob, all of Ipswich, and under the command of Captains John Goodwin, Edmund Morgan, and Richard Smith, were appointed to waft the colliers.

March 5. Westminster. Commission to Sir Thomas Wise, Sir Richard Butler, Sir Francis Vivian, John Mohun, Vice Warden of the Stannaries, Richard Eresy, and Thomas Gowen [?] and Peter Ball, auditors of the Duchy of Cornwall, to examine the tenures in villenage of the tenants of the King's assessionary manors in co. Cornwall, and to compound with them for freeing them upon reasonable fines. [Coll. Sign Man., Car. I., Vol. vi., No. 17.]

March 5. Dover. 37. Mayor and Jurats of Dover to Nicholas. On Monday se'n-night he was elected by the writers and the general voice of the freemen of the town to be one of the Barons to the Parliament with Sir John Hippisley. The election was most free and general, as well in answer to the Lord Warden's letters on his behalf, as also for their many engagements to himself. If his many occasions of business cannot permit him to come thither to take the oath of a freeman, there shall be a commission sent to administer it to him. Pray his lawful favour in their suit against the Danceys.

March 5. Southampton. 38. John Ellzey to the same. Omitted to certify in his last that Capt. Prouve, a Rocheller, had landed there 40 or 50 tons of small French wines, and had gone to London to be suitor to the Duke to be freed of tenths, by reason he had no commission from hence.

March 5. 39. Officers of the Navy to Lord President Manchester. Have pressed four ships for the fishing to Iceland. The master of one of them, the Amity, of Newcastle, is ready to go; but the masters of the others, that is, the Margaret, the Martha, and the Sea Horse, utterly refuse; which the writers think it right to report to the Lord President.

March 5. Buckden. 40. Bishop Williams, of Lincoln, to Sir John Lamb. Has referred to his Chancellor the disposing of all things concerning his visitation, which he desires should be managed to all men's content. Will refer Sir John's desires, which he conceives reasonable, to his Chancellor. The writs [for the Convocation] are sent abroad in his diocese. Is glad that the High Commission has taken notice of the four London ministers that made themselves bishops in his diocese; thought they had been authorized or connived at. Has not heard any complaint against Dr. Sibthorp or Mr. Allen, but the latter has written of some complaints which Dr. Sibthorp should make of the bishop's favouring Puritans in Leicester, which he did not believe, and, if he had believed, should have despised it. Thanks for his item of the parson of Shawell. For the commission and instructions to the five bishops, does not desire to see them, unless Sir John should have them by him, and should send them instead of news.

March 6. Whitehall. 41. Minutes of proceedings of the Council of War at their meeting this day. In '88 an order was made that 6*d.* a month should be allowed out of the wages of seamen of the navy for the relief of poor men. Ordered that the balance in chest, or in hand, of that sum (five or six thousand pounds) should be employed towards the erection of hospitals for aged seamen. The four advices of Mons. La Broue, how to make horses acquainted with war,—viz., that the groom dressing him should be in armour, that provender should be given him on a drum-head, that while he is eating a piece should be discharged, and that he should be ridden against a suit of armour, which he may overthrow and trample under his feet,—should be put in use. Owners of ships to procure certificates of shallops lost in storms. Petition of captains of ships whose companies were reduced to furnish King's ships, that their entertainments might not be abated on that account, referred to a committee. [Indorsed are rough notes of the proceedings of the Council of War, on the 8th instant.]

March 6. The Strand. 42. Sir Francis Nethersole to Sec. Conway. Acknowledges receipt of the King's order for payment of the Queen of Bohemia's debts, which he had posted off to the Hague. Begs him to beseech the King to let the Lord Treasurer and Chancellor of the Exchequer understand that it was not a letter procured by importunity, or only written to avoid trouble.

Suffolk, with the colonelship of 126 men there to be retained, and the fee of 2,027*l.* 11*s.* 8*d.* per annum for the maintenance thereof. [Ibid., Vol. vi., No. 20.]

1628. VOL. XCV.

March 7. Bristol. 43. William Buxton to Buckingham. Many of the owners of the Charles and the Abraham refuse to fit up their ships for service. Suggests that a warrant should be sent down that may command them. John Barker, Giles Ellbridge, and Humphrey Hooker, merchants of Bristol, are the principal opponents.

March 7. 44. Robert Earl of Sussex to Sec. Conway. It is so long since he wrote to him concerning the forts at Harwich that he thinks the Secretary has forgotten him. Is old, and would be glad to go off with honour, but hears that Lord Holland has a grant from the King, although it is in the Earl of Sussex's patent with his Lieutenantship. If the King thinks anyone more worthy, he will render that or anything he has at his Majesty's feet.

March 7. 45. Sir Henry Marten to Sec. Coke. Received the propositions of the Dutch Ambassadors to the King's Commissioners, with a request that he should give an answer thereto. Three of them have no relation to the Admiralty Court or himself. One relates to the Muscovia merchants. As to that about Capt. Scras and Capt. Gibson, all he did was to certify somewhat to the Council; he did nothing judicially. The last relates to Privy Seals directed to Merchant Strangers. As to the other two, he will return an answer as soon as he can.

[March 7 ?] Nicholas to John Ellzey. By reason of indisposition, has not been able to answer many letters. Concerning Theobald's, the Dutchman's prize, Sir Henry Marten's advice is, that he should take such tenths as he will willingly give. But for the future, when any Dutchman or others shall offer to sell prize goods, he is presently to treat with them for payment of tenths, and if they refuse, to seize the whole prize as piratically taken. [Copy. Nicholas's Letter Book, p. 72.]

March 7. Bristol. 46. William Buxton to Nicholas. Sends his letter to the Duke of this date [No. 43] open, that Nicholas may judge whether the Duke should be acquainted with what Buxton has advised. Last night he received from Mr. Oliver 1,000*l.*, and all things will be in readiness, only that the men mentioned to the Duke stand out, and in a manner say that the Duke's warrant will not be sufficient.

March 7. Cambridge. 47. Robert Mason to the same. The University earnestly desired his Grace would declare himself for the election of their burgesses, and has importuned him not to stir till they hear good news from the Duke. Sends a dispensation to enable him to take a degree, ready for the King's hand. If the Duke at this time cross the intention of the University, he will disable Mason hereafter to do him the service there which it is necessary his secretary should do.

March 8. 49. Officers of the Navy to the Council. Report on Hildebrand Peterson's petition respecting the St. Anthony. Before the order for restitution, she had been fitted up for the King's service, and cannot now be discharged without manifest prejudice. Her employment is, to transport provisions to Plymouth, and the owners will receive freight.

March 8. 50. Attorney General Heath to Sec. Conway. Walter Norton, son of Henry Norton, having petitioned the King for a grant of the debts owing by John Winchcombe the father and John Winchcombe the son, and John Kerry, to the said Henry Norton, whereto the King might be entitled by the recusancy of the said Henry Norton; the Attorney General certifies, that these are the same debts which were granted to Anthony Bedingfield and Robert Morse by letters patent, dated December 20, in the second year of this King's reign. What is wanted is, a new grant, with an amendment in one of the recitals.

March 9. Westminster. Grant to Richard Bogan of the office of making and registering assurances in the city of London for 31 years, after the deaths of Christopher Heyborne and Giles Overbury and Walter Overbury. [Coll. Sign Man., Car. I., Vol. vi., No. 29.]

beseeches the King to give life to his just desires, and, after two years of heavy disfavour, to grant him the happiness to kiss his hands, and attend him in his place. Has omitted no circumstance of humility or duty, and will not fail in faithful service.

March 9. Newmarket. 52. Sec. Conway to Sir Robert Harley, Master of the Mint. His Majesty will not take any notice of Sir Robert's petition to the Council, insisting on having his money coined at the low rates agreed on, and allowing the Master of the Mint only 500*l.* per annum, reserving the surplus profits, which he conceives will not be less than 3,000*l.* per annum, to himself; but for the right or honours due to his place he intends not to prejudice Sir Robert therein. [Draft.]

March 9. Minute of the same. [Conway's Letter Book, p. 300.]

The ships are, of the King's, the St. Andrew, Vanguard, Garland, Antelope, Happy Entrance, Mary Rose, and St. Claude, and 14 merchant ships, whose wants are supplied by taking from the other ships sails, cables, anchors, cordage, ordnance, and whatever else is necessary.

March 12. [Misdated February 12.] York. 66. Sir Thomas Fairfax to the Council. According to their letters, he summoned the Justices of the Peace to assemble on Thursday, March 11 inst. It was generally conceived by them that the proclamation of February 16 last, superseded the execution of the said letters, and "so the said Justices with that resolution departed."

March 12. Sandwich. 67. Mayor and Jurats of Sandwich to Buckingham. Received his letters in recommendation of Sir Edwin Sandys for a burgess for their corporation, and both on account of their obligations to his Grace and their respect for Sir Edwin, as a noble gent and neighbour, spared no pains to procure his return; but the generality of voices among the commons bred such a distraction that the writers could have no power over them, so that they were not able to give the Duke and themselves content. Hope to be charitably censured.

March 12. Whitehall. 68. Sec. Conway to his Deputy Lieutenants for Hants. Sends a copy of the letter to him from the Council of the 11th inst. [No. 62]. On the first assignation of moneys they shall not be forgotten, but have their full share. [Copy.]

March 12. 69. Lord Treasurer Marlborough to Sir Edward Wardour, Clerk of the Pells. Being commanded to inform the King as to the state of the account between his Majesty and the Earl of Suffolk, he is to certify what sums of money have been paid into the Receipt by Sheriffs, on account of certain bonds delivered into the Exchequer by Thomas late Earl of Suffolk, and specified in an order of that court of July 6, 11th King James.

March 12. Theobalds. 70. Andrew Pitcairn to Sec. Conway. For a pass for John Danker and Walter Danker, employed to bring over hawks for his Majesty.

March 12. 71. Robert Earl of Sussex to the same. Hears for certain that Lord Holland has got the King's hand for Harwich and Longley Point, and 2,000*l.* per annum. Wishes to go off with honour. Is resolved, if he may not have what is in his patent, to yield up all at his Majesty's feet; and if he shall not think the Earl worthy of anything for his long service, he will retire. Leaves his Lordship to judge of his experience in the wars, and what he dare do.

March 12. Aldersgate Street. 72. Sir Henry Marten to Sec. Coke. Sends his answer to the propositions of the Dutch Ambassador which concern the Admiralty. Offers to debate these objections with the Ambassador, in which case he shall discover strange things; as, for example, Stocke Febre is suspected to be a Frenchman, and it is the practice of that country, if a subject of France or Spain live in one of their towns but 10 days, to give him letters testimonial as "incola et civis noster," and if he have not what he list we are followed up with as vehement clamours as if he were born at the Hague. No doubt many of our men of war are to blame, but this shows the facility with which these Ambassadors entertain complaints.

March 12. Queenborough. 73. Capt. John Duffell to Nicholas. Has seized on board a cock of Queenborough, James Jacob, master, four packs of wool shipped without cockets, and therefore, as he takes it, due to the Duke. Craves direction.

March 12. 74. Capt. James Duppa to the same. If there be not some speedy course taken by the Lord Treasurer for levying the 2*s.* per chaldron assigned to Mr. Comptroller for the charge of the colliers' convoy for this year, great prejudice will ensue. The wind being now fair for Newcastle, they will return the sooner, and this present fleet will yield 2,000*l.* Urges Nicholas to take this business into his care in Mr. Comptroller's absence. His three ships will be ready to sail next week if the Ordnance Office do not hinder him.

March 12. 75. Officers of the Navy to Nicholas. Upon the Duke's directions for preparing the Dreadnought, the St. Esprit, and two pinnaces, the Henrietta, and Desire, for sea, they have followed that business with all possible diligence, but fear the possibility of getting them all ready at the appointed time and place. Have not yet received notice of the captains and masters appointed to serve in them.

1628. VOL. XCV.

March 12. 76. Capt. John Duffell to Mr. King [Nicholas's clerk?]. Sends for his master a bushel of great oysters, a small basket of Foreland whelks, and 10 flounders. Recommends John Potter for appointment as cook of the Seven Stars, pinnace.

March 12. 77. Catalogue of the Nobility of England, according to their several creations, "delivered into the office" by Sir William Segar, Garter King-at-Arms. It comprises 1 Duke, 1 Marquis, 58 Earls, 10 Viscounts, and 54 Barons.

March 12. 78. Another list of the same.

March 13. The like for Edward Lord Wotton. [Docquet.]

March 13. The like for Emanuel Earl of Sunderland. [Docquet.]

March 13. Westminster. Lease to Sir James Fullerton of certain lodges and lands in the Forest of Gillingham, formerly granted to him by letters patent of July 26, in the first year of the King's reign. Under the present lease all arrears of rent under the previous lease are released, and licence is given to dispark. [Coll. Sign. Man., Car. I., Vol. vi. No. 39.]

March 13. Westminster. Grant to William Astell, John Copley, and Francis Crofts, of the sole right of smelting iron ore by sea coals and pit coals instead of charcoal, they being the inventors thereof, for the term of 14 years, on payment of 400*l.* per annum to the Crown, to commence from Lady Day, 1630. [Ibid., Vol. vi., No. 40.]

March 13. Westminster. Warrant to pay to James Earl of Carlisle, as Ambassador Extraordinary to sundry foreign states, 8*l.* per diem from "the 1st of January last past" [these words inserted by the King], with an imprest of six months' allowance; also 4,080*l.* for extraordinary charges of his journey; and a further imprest of 1,460*l.* on account of his allowance after six months. [Ibid., Vol. vi., No. 41.]

March 13. Docquet of the same.

March 13. Pardon to Timoleon Gorges for killing Anthony Coxe by a sword-thrust in the nose. [Ibid., Vol. vi., No. 42.]

March 13. Docquet of the same.

1628.

March 13. Whitehall. 80. Minutes of proceedings of the Council of War. The subjects treated of are, information of Blyth against Mr. Evelyn, the powder maker; bill preferred by Mr. Evelyn in Parliament concerning saltpetre; proposition in the Council for encouragement of the Deputies authorized for making saltpetre; estimate for an army of 20,000 foot and 1,000 horse; Hugh Greene's petition for making saltpetre in Ireland; Thomas Procter's proposal for defeating a battail of pikes.

March 13. The Savoy. 81. George Earl of Totness to the Council. Refers to his estimate of January 7 last [see Vol. xc., No. 34]. He had now received letters from the Duke for furnishing the Dreadnought, the St. Esprit, the Desire, and the Henrietta, with a signification that the charge is to be borne on the previous estimate. Intimates that there is no order for money for the previous estimate, and that without money the service cannot receive expedition.

March 13. Quex. 82. Sir Henry Crispe to Sir John Hippisley. Received his warrant to command the soldiers of a part of the Isle of Thanet, but he has no authority to call them out or appoint officers. Begs the Lord Warden's commission for that purpose. [Underwritten is a request from Sir John Hippisley to Nicholas, to procure the Duke's hand as Sir Henry Crispe desires.]

March 13. 83. Copy of an examination of Nicholas Lesonia, concerning a ship called the Star, of St. Malo; with underwritten observations thereon by Sir Henry Marten, who suspected that the examinant had visited Jersey as a spy, or with some hostile design against that island.

March 14. Westminster. Warrant to pay to William Earl of Denbigh, Master of the Wardrobe, 540*l.*, for 450 yards of black two-piled velvet, for guarding the rich coats of the Yeomen of the Chamber. [Coll. Sign Man., Car. I., Vol. vi., No. 43.]

March 14. Westminster. The like to pay to the same. 1,530*l.* 8*s.* 4*d.* to be by him paid to Michael Grigg and Thomas Brandwood, of London, drapers, for cloth for the funeral of the late King. [Ibid., Vol. vi., No. 44.]

March 14. Westminster. Warrant to allow to George Wilmer, out of 622*l.* 13*s.* 9*d.* due from his late father as collector of the imposition of 10*s.* in the hundred on hops imported, 400*l.*, for "rare and outlandish" flowers bought of him for the Queen, and to allow the remainder of the said sum of 622*l.* 13*s.* 9*d.*, in consideration of his father's service in collection of the said imposition. [Ibid., Vol. vi., No. 45.]

March 14. Westminster. Warrant to pay to the Earl of Carlisle, or to Jerom Powell, his agent, 200*l.*, for an entertainment which his Majesty is pleased to give to Charles Henry de Livron Ville. [Ibid., Vol. vi., No. 46.]

March 14. Westminster. Warrant to pay to Edward Clerke, his Majesty's agent at the town of Rochelle, the several allowances of 40*s.* and 20*s.* per diem, from "the first of February last past" [in the King's hand], with allowances for intelligence, and 600*l.* in advance. [Ibid., Vol. vi., No. 47.]

1628. VOL. XCV.

March 14. Whitehall. 84. Order of Council, on a petition of Christian Rustmayer, master of a ship of Hamburgh, captured on her return voyage from Portugal, and, as is thought, about to be condemned in the Court of Admiralty, because, in her outward voyage, unknown to the master, some of the mariners carried 100 cheeses into Spain. It is ordered that no advantage shall be taken against the ship on account of the said cheeses, but that she, and the merchandize therein, be forthwith released.

March 14. Whitehall. 85. Sec. Conway to Thomas Earl of Arundel and Surrey. The King has referred his cause concerning the currants to an honourable committee. For his request to have the heavy burthen of his Majesty's disfavour taken off, his Majesty's answer was, that the Earl had not so far appeased the exceptions which the King had taken against unkindness conceived, as to bring them to that state yet. For the Earl's proffered duty and carriage in the King's service, the King would judge of that as he should find occasion. [Draft.]

March 14. Minute of the same. [Conway's Letter Book, p. 300.]

March 14. Whitehall. 86. [Sec. Conway] to [Lord Treasurer Marlborough]. At the instance of the States' resident Ambassador, the King had given permission for the export of 150 elms, to be carried into the Low Countries, custom free, for making wheels and carriages for cannon for the service of the States. He is to give warrant accordingly. [Copy.]

March 14. Ratcliffe. 87. Capt. Thomas Best to Nicholas. To procure the Duke's warrant for the pay of 33*s.* 4*d.* per month to Daniel Featherstone and Richard Seawell, pressed to serve as midshipmen in the Repulse, in the voyage to the Isle of Rhé.

March 14. Exeter. 88. Sir Francis Carew to the same. The Duke, at his parting, commanded Sir Francis to serve as captain in the Nonsuch, his commission being dated from March 5. Begs Nicholas to send it down, and he shall show himself an honest man on the first opportunity. Recommends Capt. Browne and John Williams, a gunner, whom the Duke is tied by his promise to prefer. Capt. Quaile is going in a Dutch ship, suspected for a Dunkirker. The Duke has promised, that, on Quaile's return, he shall have the Mary again. Wants a master for the Nonsuch.

March 14. Portsmouth. 89. Henry Holt to the same. Reports his proceedings in fitting out the three ketches. Capt. Alleyne refused to have anything to do with the Weymouth provisions, which had therefore to be taken out. Has provided five boats for them, and 80,000 of billet; they will be ready to set sail on Saturday. Great troubles he has had in this business, especially in providing beer without money. The King's brewhouse "lays undone" for want of money, and he is undone for want of his own money laid out in the King's service; "and so we shall all perish together. I have deserved better, and [i. e., if] it be well considered." Prays God to bless the affairs now taken in hand.

March 14. Chatham. 90. Certificate of William Cooke, that Philip Spicer served under him in the Anne Royal in the expedition to Cadiz, and in the Warspite in that to the Isle of Rhé, and is competent to discharge the place of a boatswain.

March 14. 91. Deputy Lieutenants of co. Oxford to William Earl of Banbury, Lord Lieutenant. Have twice mustered the horse, but find so small an appearance, and them so ill provided, that they have small hope of having them fit to do his Majesty service. Their warrants rather scorned than obeyed. The captain would inform him more particularly, and they feared would be a suitor to quit his place rather than appear in the head of the worst troop that would be before his Majesty at the day appointed. They have much ado to persuade the country to contribute to the soldiers. The hope to be relieved by Parliament has made them continue the payment so long.

March 14. Office of Ordnance. 92. Estimate for furnishing ammunition and gunners' stores to the Dreadnought and St. Esprit, and the two pinnaces, the Desire and Henrietta. Total, 1,186*l.* 6*s.* 4*d.*

March 14. Office of Ordnance. 93. Copy of another estimate for the same service, but amounting in the whole to 1,265*l.* 13*s.*

VOL. XCVI. MARCH 15—21, 1628.

March 15. 1. The King to the Lord President of the Council, the Steward and the Chamberlain of the Household, James Earl of Carlisle, Secretary Coke, and the Chancellor of the Exchequer. Commission to investigate a complaint of the Ambassador from Venice, respecting the opening of his letters, and to endeavour to give him satisfaction. [Copy.]

March 15. Westminster. Grant to Thomas Wharton, for life, of the office of Receiver General of the Revenues within Northumberland, Durham, and the archdeaconry of Richmond, to commence on the death or resignation of John Braddell. [Ibid., Vol. vi., No. 50.]

1628. VOL. XCVI.

March 15. Westminster. Confirmation to James Ross, Hugh Wood, Heyward Bickerstaff, Humphrey Rogers, and Hugh Henn, Pages of the Bedchamber, and their successors, of the following fees on grants of dignities :— From an Archbishop, 8*l.* ; Duke, 15*l.* ; Marquis, 13*l.* 6*s.* 8*d.* ; Earl, 10*l.* ; Viscount, 8*l.* ; Bishop, 4*l.* ; Baron, 6*l.* ; Baronet, 4*l.* ; Knight, 4*l.*, being a scale of fees settled by the Lord Chamberlain. [Coll. Sign Man., Car. I., Vol. vi., No. 51.]

March 15. Westminster. Warrant to pay to Sir George Kyth [Keith] 600*l.*, for levying 500 men for the service of the King of Denmark. [Ibid., Vol. vi., No. 52.]

March 15. Westminster. Grant to Thomas Tomkins of the place of Composer of Music in Ordinary to his Majesty, for life, with the fee of 40*l.* per annum, from the death of Alphonso Ferrabosco, deceased. Done by order of the Bishop of Bath and Wells. [Ibid., Vol. vi., No. 53.]

March 15. The King to Lord President Manchester and divers others. To hear the complaints of the Venetian Ambassador touching the opening of his letters, and therein to take such order as should be thought fit. [Docquet. See a Copy, No. 1.]

March 15. Warrant to the Great Wardrobe, to deliver to William Smythsby, one of the Grooms of the Privy Chamber, stuff for the accustomed livery. [Docquet.]

March 15. Buckingham to Sir John Drake, collector of the Duke's tenths for co. Devon. Warrant to suffer Capt. Thomas Trenchfield, captain of the William and Mary, of London, to bring about to that port the Red Lion, of Enckhuysen, a prize ship brought into Dartmouth. [Copy. See Vol. cxv., p. 37*.]

[March 15.] The Hague. 2. Sir William Balfour to Buckingham. Recommends the bearer, as a gentleman of experience and ability, to be Major-General of the Army. Balfour had assured him that the Duke was of that noble disposition to all men, but particularly to men of their profession, as to help to better their fortune rather than they should be made worse. Unwillingness of the Prince [of Orange] and the States to part with him after 25 years' service.

March 15. Plymouth. 3. William Earl of Denbigh to the same. There are so many wants and defects, that, notwithstanding all care and diligence, the fleet will not be ready to sail by Saturday the 22nd. They labour, all hands, day and night. They have placed the foremast of the Rainbow for a mainmast in the Nonsuch, and she and the St. George will be brought on their sides for careening on Monday or Tuesday next. Men will be a main want; they come in but slowly, but will run fast away if money be not sent down for them. If the Earl fails in his promises to them of payment it will be impossible to keep them together. One John Merlet, of St. Martin's, brother-in-law to John Corne, agent for Mons. Toiras, lately arrived in a Flemish ship laden with salt, and brought English prisoners. Merlet is in London to procure a licence to sell his salt, but is thought to be a spy, and the salt to belong to Mons. Toiras. In a postscript, he acknowledges the receipt of a letter which apprised him that 1,000*l.* was in the hands of Sir James Bagg to pay the mariners; a thousand more would give reasonable content to them all.

March 15. 4. Petition of the Masters of the 16 sail of men-of-war of the fifth rank, in the late employment to the Isle of Rhé, to Buckingham. The number of men in their vessels having been reduced in order to supply the deficiencies of other ships, whereby their care and pains were increased, Sir Sackville Crow refuses to pay them, except after the rate proportioned to the reduced number of men, which is contrary to his Grace's promise. Pray him to give order for the higher payment.

March 15. 5. Sir John Manwood to Sec. Conway. Lord Conway's nephew [Hercules Huncks] has spoken to him about money which he is to have of a merchant here, to be repaid in the Low Countries. Sir John will see it performed. Begs him to acquaint the King with his opinion and that of Mr. Chancellor in the business between Sir Thomas Maples and Sir John, and to request the King to put it in the Lord Keeper's hands, to be resolved upon.

March 15. 6. William Earl of Denbigh to Nicholas. Acquaints him with the contents of his letter of this date to the Duke. Sends list of the squadrons as they now stand. Has placed Capt. Morrice as Nicholas desired. Urges an additional 1,000*l.*, for paying the seamen. Incloses,

6. 1. List of the 24 ships intended to comprise the fleet for the relief of Rochelle, divided into three squadrons.

March 15. 7. Petition of Adam Abraham, William Gyllet, Ralph Turner, John Forde, John Fathers, and George Drake, ministers, to Sir John Denham, Baron of the Exchequer and Justice of Assize for co. Somerset. At the last assizes for Dorset an order was made for suppressing all revels, church ales, and other public ales. Pray that at this assizes a similar order may be made for the county of Somerset. Underwritten is the Judge's fiat that such an order should be drawn up. [Copy.] Annexed,

7. 1. Order made at the Sessions at Bridgewater on September 28, 1594, that no church ale be admitted to be kept within Somersetshire. Signed by Lord Chief Justice Popham and ten Justices of the Peace. [Copy.]

[March 15.] 8. Names of persons arrested this day at the Jesuits' College in Clerkenwell. Thomas Poulton alias Underhill, one of them, is said to have been "son to Poulton that abridged the statutes." [In the handwriting of Sec. Coke.]

March 16. Buckingham to George Fielding, Richard Dike, and Richard Kerry, Collectors of the Duke's tenths for London. The Plain Joan, of London, has taken a Brazilman, and brought her into the Downs; she is so leaky and deep laden that she cannot come to London. They are to send down some person to inventory a portion of the goods, which may be removed aboard the Plain Joan, and then to bring both ships to London. [Copy. See Vol. cxv., p. 38*.]

1628. Vol. XCVI.

March 16. Topsham. 9. Sir Francis Carew to Buckingham. Has attended to see the barks freighted. Money will sooner fall short than the country's provisions. Capt. Quaile has possessed himself of the Dutch ship, and, though with such difficulty as set on work his best discretion and manhood, he has so ordered the matter that, be they friend or foe, he has left no gap for just complaint. Will see him supplied with provisions at the easiest rate. It will be eight days before he can get over the bar, when he may convoy the barks to Plymouth, or, if the fleet be going out, may meet it. Sir Francis has used his best endeavours in this business, and is confident that he shall not find himself undervalued when he comes to Plymouth.

March 16 Plymouth. 10. William Earl of Denbigh to the same. The land soldiers, which the Duke determined should be disposed into the ships for better manning the fleet, are not so many as five hundred, hardly three. If it be the Duke's pleasure that the officers go with them, then they will hold themselves for land companies, and refuse the command of the sea. Desires a warrant for ordering these things. Understands the soldiers were only put in to supply the want of seamen. If their commanders go with them, it will be the overthrow of the voyage.

March 16. Plymouth. 11. Sir Henry Mainwaring to the same. Reports the state of the fleet in preparation. All the ships in the first list will be ready to sail on Wednesday, 19th, and the whole fleet on the 26th. The victualler will have beer by the 22nd to serve the whole fleet, and, by the assistance of Sir James Bagg, sine quo non, and whose exertions are very highly praised, he assures himself that the fleet will be sufficiently, if not extraordinarily, well fitted. The high and mighty difficulty is, the want of men, who rather decrease than augment. What supplies the press ordered by the Duke will bring in he knows not, but if there come not 600 seamen at the least the fleet cannot proceed. The soldiers appointed in lieu of 500 seamen will not amount fully to 400. Propriety questioned of appointing French captains and men aboard the fire ships, the miscarriage whereof might make the greatest delinquents meritorious in the eyes of their sovereign. More money needed. Sir James Bagg's person, wife, children, friends, his house at Plymouth, the reversion of the fort, his manor of Saltram, with what else he can furnish, are all at their command for the Duke's sake. Nothing but the Duke's own presence can despatch the fleet faster than Lord Denbigh's care and extraordinary diligence. His example makes them all industrious, and especially Mainwaring's consort, Capt. Weddell.

March 16. Plymouth. 12. Henry de Vic to the same. Has put into the hands of the Deputy of Rochelle the Duke's letters to Madame de Rohan and the Mayor of Rochelle, with a copy of the writing delivered to the Duke, to be sent by the bark that is going thither. News from Rhé. Mons. Toiras has not come thither for want of money to pay the soldiers, which are in all but 800. Those of the religion who had any way assisted Buckingham had been put in prison. The Citadel and Fort La Pré are in the same state as when the Duke left them. The Spanish fleet is gone, and only 25 French ships remain before Rochelle. Sends draft commission for Capt. Hone. Inclosed,

12. 1. Commission of the Duke of Buckingham, whereby Capt. Hone is appointed to the command of the Companies of Foot (being his own company and those of Sir Thomas Pigott, Capt. Thomas Staverton, Capt. Yates, and Capt. Lindsey), made choice of to strengthen the King's army by sea, and to assist the Rochellers by land. Capt. Hone to have the quality and pay of Serjeant Major. [Draft.]

March 16. Arundel House. 13. Thomas Earl of Arundel and Surrey to Sec. Conway. Intreats him to let the King know that he is very sorry that he cannot yet have the happiness to kiss his Majesty's hands, but would humbly obey him in not attending his person in this proceeding [to Parliament], though both his public office and particular devotion called him to it, so as now he understands himself only left to attend the service in the higher house on the morrow, and shall never fail to do his Majesty all faithful service.

March 16. Bristol. 14. William Buxton to Nicholas. Begs him to let the Duke know that he has pressed 100 men, and will send them to Plymouth with a conduct. The St. James is ready, only the pay for her company wanting. States quantities of victual provided; they only stay for the convoy of the St. James. Begs him to move the Duke for the 4,000*l.* lying at Bristol "in dispence in the Admiralty Court;" that out of it the St. James's company might be paid. Has notified to the merchants who refused to let their ships, to be in London by the 20th instant before the Council, according to the Duke's order. Prays him to send a general stay for Bristol, or else there will be no pressing of mariners. Sends Nicholas a pound of tobacco as a remembrance.

March 16. Exeter. 15. Sir Francis Carew to Nicholas. Incloses to him the beforementioned letter to Buckingham of this date. The latter end of it savours of his disquiet on hearing that Weddell was preferred before him to the honour of being Rear Admiral for this voyage. No man can put a meaner value on his abilities than himself, but no man living is more sensible of his honour. Suffered enough in the last voyage to give proof of his humility, but by comparison is enforced to vindicate his true value. Has unburdened his mind to a friend, who will make no use of it but to his advantage.

March 17. 16. Paper endorsed by Bishop Laud as being "The Order of the Prayers which King Charles had at the opening of the Parliament" on this day.

March 17. 19—25. Seven copies of the same.

March 17. 26. Another copy, differing considerably from the former, all of which differ more or less from the Speech as printed in the Journals of the House of Lords, Vol. iii., p. 686.

March 17. 27. Translation of the same into French.

March 17. 28. Speech of Lord Keeper Coventry on the opening of the Parliament.

March 17. 29. Copy of the same, partly abridged.

March 17. 30. Rough copy, or perhaps draft, of the concluding portion of the same.

[March 17.] 31. List of Parliaments, from the time of Henry II., to this day; with Notes by Bishop Laud of the several grants and subsidies voted by them. It is in a tabular form, with a general heading of "Parliamenta." The headings of the several divisions of the work indicate its contents:—"Reges;" "Anni;" "Locus et Tempus;" "Successus." Under the last head occur the observations on Magna Charta ("that it had an obscure birth from usurpation, and was fostered and shewed to the world by rebellion,") which have been quoted against the Bishop. They are here referred to "Rauly, p. [5 ?]," and the reference has been endeavoured to be scratched out. There are also a few special remarks with reference to the Parliaments of James and Charles. With respect to the Parliament of 12th James, Bishop Laud notes, "Then [i.e. 1614, June 7] it was dissolved by Commission upon discontent. It was Tuesday, and I preached that day to the King at Greenwich." Under the first Parliament of Charles I., Bishop Laud adds, "He held this Parliament before his Coronation." The Bishop's principal authorities are the Statute Book and "Rauly."

March 17. 32. Speech addressed by Sir Thomas Edmondes, Treasurer of the Household, to the House of Commons, on moving that Sir John Finch be chosen Speaker.

March 17. 33. Draft of the same.

March 17. 34. Order and manner of the sitting of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal as Peers of the Realm in the higher House of Parliament; . . . and also the names of the Knights for the Counties, Citizens, Burgesses for the Boroughs and Barons for the ports, for the House of Commons, for this Parliament. London, 4to. 1628. Printed.

March 17. Portsmouth. 35. Capts. George Alleyne and Jacob Williams to Buckingham. Have attended the Mayor of Portsmouth for their despatch ever since the 6th of this month. Thursday next will be the soonest their victuals will be shipped. Ralph Henslow from the Duke commanded the Mayor to send to Plymouth all the munition that could be spared there, but none will be delivered without the Duke's warrant. Want of anchors, cordage, and cables for the three ketches. Divers Dunkirk men-of-war on the coast. On Friday last they took a ship of the Mayor's, and one of Weymouth, and run two more aground. Some victuallers are to go with them, but they are ships of no force. If the Duke think fit to send a Commission to press any man-of-war [for a convoy], they will wait for it until Thursday next, otherwise they will put to sea, and follow the Duke's former commission.

March 17. Plymouth. 36. Sir James Bagg to Buckingham. The 1,000*l.* sent by Sir Francis Carew shall be employed to the pay of the mariners. Will use all he is to the advancement of the fleet in preparation, and will not "forbear to undertake the work of any other (although against his Majesty's will) to do his Majesty and you, my master, service." Will pay as far as he can in money, and pawn his credit for what the Duke's Bagg cannot disburse. Complains of wrong done him by Sir Allen Apsley, who can make use of him when out of money, but when any is advanced to him thinks Bagg "too good to be his friend." Has prepared 4,000*l.* worth of provisions more than this fleet will use; intends to send them to Rochelle for sale. A press warrant into Dorsetshire would raise some 200 men. Incloses information respecting the elections for Cornwall, and disorderly conduct of Arundel and Charles Trevanion in coming to the election with 500 men. Suggests a Commission of Inquiry. Would have Eliot, Bevil Grenville, and John Arundel outlawed and put out of the House. Sir John Finch must endure the frowns of the House for his master's service. Wright, the Clerk of Parliament, of all men has done the worst service to the King. "He is the most usefullest man of the House." Bagg has presented the Duke with four burgesships; himself for Plympton, Sir Francis Cottington for Saltash, and two blanks, Looe and Probus. Begs that Mr. Mohun may be created a Peer. Subscribes himself, his "Excellency's most bounden servant and SLAVE." Incloses, 36. 1. List of remains of victuals in Plymouth.

March 17. The Tower. 37. Sir Allen Apsley to Nicholas. Recommends Mr. Bespitch for purser in one of the small ships now building.

March 17. Plymouth. 38. Sir James Bagg to the same. Is attending the fleet, to set it forth. If he were absent it would be longer, if go at all. Howsoever Sir Sackville Crow or Sir Allen Apsley mistake him, he will not forsake the work of his master. Apsley is an honest gentleman. Urges his desire to have Mohun created a Peer. Prays Nicholas to remind the Duke. Bagg will make him thankful. Has sent Abraham [Biggs] for money. If the Duke preserve not his credit with the farmers, he is undone.

March 18. Witham. 39. Deputy Lieutenants of Essex to the Council. On the 18th inst. they caused Capt. Cary's company from Maldon to be billeted at Witham. On the 17th, which the Irish celebrate in memory of St. Patrick, by reason of red crosses having been tied to the whipping-post and to a dog's tail, there fell out a dangerous quarrel, Capt. Cary was shot in the forehead dangerously, but, it is hoped, not mortally, and many, both tradesmen and soldiers, were dangerously wounded. On the interference of the Deputy Lieutenants they found both country and town in arms, too strongly by far for the soldiers, and so enraged by reason of their wounded townsmen, to the number of 30, that, notwithstanding proclamations in the King's name, they would not dissolve until the soldiers were disarmed. Two of the soldiers were shot whilst the Deputy Lieutenants were endeavouring to pacify the townsmen. Send examinations which set forth the facts. They are like to meet with the same occasions daily, unless they be enabled to furnish the soldier with present pay. Inclose,

March 18. [Stade.] 40. Sir Charles Morgan to Buckingham. Has much reason to congratulate the Duke on his return, having so much need of his assistance. He and his troops seem to be forgotten of all the world. Unless the Duke mediates for them in time to the King, they are likely to fall into a more miserable estate than ever any of his Majesty's subjects have done in any place. Their money long since out, their provisions grow every day shorter, and they have no assurance of relief. The King's Ambassador and Calandrini send them no comfort from Hamburgh. Successful sallies made during the last frost. Five captains shot; Sir St. John Blunt, through the thigh. Whatever necessities they suffer they will endure with patience and resolution, but he requests the Duke to be their solicitor, that they may not be dishonoured.

March 18. 41. Sec. Conway to Lord Treasurer Marlborough. Urgent application for his pay as Secretary, which will be three quarters in arrear at Lady Day. Also for money disbursed on urgent occasions, when money was not otherwise to be had, of which he cannot get repayment of a penny. Serves the King as chargeably and as diligently as any Secretary in these later times, and has done the Treasurer as real good offices to the King as any fellow Councillor he has. Desires to continue to do so, and that he may not have cause to seek his money by other means. [Copy.]

March 19. Norwich. 46. Mayor and others of Norwich to the Council. Neglect of the Deputy Lieutenants of Norfolk on the arrival of five companies of Irish soldiers to be billeted in that county. Four companies having arrived at Norwich, the writers sent away one company to Lynn, and another to Yarmouth, and are maintaining the remaining two companies at the charge of 5*l.* per day. Gross outrages committed by the soldiers and their officers, who resist all government, and are guilty of a variety of enormities, the particulars whereof are submitted to the Council, with a prayer for relief.

March 19. Buckingham to John Ellzey. Capt. Daniel Bragneau, Admiral of Rochelle, has brought into Southampton two prizes laden with French wines, taken under a commission from the Mayor and Magistrates of Rochelle. The Duke has granted that Capt. Bragneau may dispose of the same without paying tenths. [Copy. See Vol. cxv., p. 38*.]

March 19. Plymouth. 47. Theodore Paleologus to Buckingham. Thanks for the courtesy shown him by the Duke at Plymouth. Prays to be taken into his service. Is a gentleman, born of a good house, and accomplished in all kinds of polite accomplishments worthy of the name he bears, but unfortunate in the reverse of fortune experienced by his ancestors and himself. Has lived and shed his blood in war even from his youth, as the late Prince of Orange and other noblemen, both English and French, have testified. Proffers himself as faithful and competent to serve the King, and ready to show gratitude to the Duke. Fr.

March 19. Plymouth. 48. Sir James Bagg to Buckingham. Reminds him to take care of Mohun. Forwards a ticket or bill sent by Coryton to be read in most of the parish churches of Cornwall previous to the election, which Bagg contends to be illegal, and suggests that Coryton should be examined. Cannot attend the Parliament at present, being engaged in the advancement of the action the Duke has afloat. Men will be the great want, money the second, and goodwill in such as should obey, the third. Bagg will study to make all these as happy as may be, for he loves the Duke's person, and will make it his delight to please his mind. A ship of Sir John Hippisley has taken a prize of 100 tons, laden with rye for the Madeiras. Bagg intends to send it to Rochelle. The same ship has taken a Brazilman, with 300 chests of sugar. A ship of Bagg's has returned with the loss of all her masts. Has not heard from Sir Francis Carew of the 1,000*l.* Incloses,

King had appointed a committee to accommodate the cause, consisting of the Lords President, Steward, and Chamberlain, the Earl of Carlisle, and the Chancellor of the Exchequer. The Duke should suggest to them expedition and moderation. The question cannot be of honour or profit to either side.

[March 19.] 50. Robert Charnock to Sec. Conway. Minute of his application for release of his goods and books taken in Ram Alley by Mr. Attorney's messenger.

March 19. 51. Sec. Conway to Attorney General Heath. In consideration of the fidelity of Robert Charnock to this Crown, and his sufferings endured at Rome and elsewhere for the same (in consideration whereof he has been ever protected in his person, books, and goods), it is the King's pleasure that restitution be made of his books and goods seized under the Attorney General's warrant. March 19. Minute of the same. [Conway's Letter Book, p. 300.]

March 19. Plymouth. 52. Sir James Bagg to Nicholas. His attachment to the Duke. Begs Nicholas to intreat Mr. Speaker, if there be cause, to make Bagg's apology to the House for his absence. Wishes Lord Denbigh had a commission for martial law, in which Sir Henry Mainwaring and Bagg should be inserted.

March 19. Aboard the St. Andrew. 53. William Earl of Denbigh to the same. Has often sent out letters for pressing mariners both to justices of peace and constables. The former neglected by their slow proceedings, the latter by giving intelligence underhand. Prays that some exemplary punishment may be inflicted, to the terrifying of others. Incloses the names of two out of many. Incloses,

53. 1. *William Hill and William Coryton to William Earl of Denbigh. State circumstances which ensued on an endeavour to execute a press warrant at Stonehouse. March 19. Aboard the Garland. 54. Sir Henry Palmer to Nicholas. They are hasting forward with as much speed as may be, but want of men will keep them longer than is expected. Order of the King in Council, that the 4*d.* per month allowed by proclamation out of every seaman's wages, for the pay of a chaplain, should be duly paid to the chaplain without prick or check, according to the couplement of men allowed to each ship, otherwise, if men die or run away, the chaplain would be shortened so much of his pay, although the full sum be charged in the estimate.

March 20. Littleworth. [Pseudonyme.] 63. Michael Mean-well to Matthew Mark-well, "at his house in Muse-much parish." A pseudonymous letter, setting forth why the writer and some others have resolved to go to New England. The grounds stated are, dislike of church ceremonies, of the regiment and government of the Established Church, and of some points of doctrine defended by authority. The author argues that ceremonies which have no express warrant in the Word of God cannot be used in God's worship without sin. He appeals to the works of Cartwright, Ainsworth, Penry, and Knox, in proof that the ceremonies objected to were ordained by Popes, whom he asserts to be Antichrist, and infers that therefore their commands ought not to be obeyed. In reference to church government, he objects to the lordly titles of the prelates and their authority over their brethren. In doctrine, he objects to the assertions that God's predestination proceeded upon foreknowledge of good and evil, that Christ died for all men, that all children baptized are saved, that a man may fall away from grace, and that our Sabbath is not a divine institution. [It appears from an indorsement, in the handwriting of Lord Keeper Coventry, that this letter was "set up on the church of Hamsted [Hemel Hempstead?], in co. Hertford, and delivered by Mr. Sanders of the Star Chamber."]

The Duke ordered Sir Francis Carew and Capt. Quaile to press the ship for present service, and that the Captain should be stayed until good certificate should be made of what place he is. The park itself is not worth above 600*l.* Desires the thing in regard it is within four or five miles of the Duke's chief house in that country. Purposes to seat himself there, and buy out the life interests in the park, if all he has will do it. Begs Nicholas to do what he can, and he will not be unthankful. Has ordered Capt. Pett and Mr. White to go view the 34 masts. The pinnaces are to carry 70 men. Sails and anchors should be put in hand. He may be confident the pinnaces will be ready on May 9, and may build on their going to sea by the middle of May. Shall suddenly be fit for any service the Duke will employ him in. March 22. 22. Sir William Russell to the same. The owners of the Pleasure demand their freight for transport of victuals. The Commissioners being dismissed, these bills must now pass by the Officers of the Navy, who refuse to act without the Duke's warrant, wherein they intreat Nicholas's favour. Burlamachi and Sir William Russell are "ready to perform with them for pay," so as the Treasurer of the Navy have a warrant.

1628. VOL. XCVIII.

March 22. Snailwell. 23. Sir Roger Thornton to Mr. Pitcairn, Master of the King's Hawks. Coston, who dwells in His Majesty's Duckhouse in Kennet, near Newmarket, says that the late King gave him his dwelling there during his life, and that he will not be removed except he be torn in pieces. If it were true it was upon his good behaviour and care of the game, but he takes a contrary course. Suggests the obtaining of his Majesty's command to the constables of Kennet to remove him.

March 22. 24. Thomas Coo, "Laureate in both Laws, Civil and Canon, and since a Student in the Inner Temple," to Spencer Lord Compton. Rhapsodical remarks on the King's speech to the Parliament at the opening of the Session. Indorsed by Bishop Laud "Lawrence [sic] Coo, his tract about Parliaments, which he desired might be printed. The Parliament then sitting."

March 23. Warrant to William Earl of Pembroke, Lord Steward, Sir Thomas Edmondes, Treasurer, and Sir John Savile, Comptroller of the Household, granting to Sir Simon Harvey, that, in lieu of a grant heretofore made to him of 2,500*l.* for service done, he may be restored to a surrendered pension of 200*l.* per annum for the lives of himself and his wife, and that 1,500*l.* should be paid him by the Cofferer of the Household. [Coll. Sign Man., Car. I., Vol. vi., No. 67.]

March 23. Fort by Plymouth. 25. Sir Ferdinando Gorges to the Council. Their letter of the 5th did not come to hand until the 21st, although sent by the running post. Perceives by it their great care that this place should suddenly receive supplies. Sends account of what is necessary. How his Majesty is threatened on every side is not unknown to the Council, and how meanly he is provided in those parts is a thing pitiful to be observed, his defences being in ruin, his soldiers in distress for want of ordinary wages, his magazines empty, and his officers out of countenance and discouraged. They have received account of the late mutiny, and the courses taken for appeasing thereof. It cannot be otherwise where means are wanting royally to go thorough with what is undertaken, nor is it a small grief to the honester sort of people to behold our undertakings come to destruction in the very birth thereof.

March 23. Plymouth. 26. Sir James Bagg to Buckingham. Since putting a good guard upon the town the mariners have withdrawn, and this night have been at rest. In consequence of the petition of divers masters to the Earl of Denbigh, Kerby has been reprieved until Saturday, and the case left to the decision of the Duke and the Council. Kerby was not at Rhé. He is one of the victuallers freighted by Burlamachi. There is no money due to him from the King, and he was most violent in this mutiny. Yesterday being the time of his execution,

Vol. XCVIII.

1628. the mariners resorted to the How, tore down the gallows, and cast it into the sea. Thence they repaired into the town to force the prison, but were prevented by the soldiers, two of them slain, and others wounded. The fall of two of them by the soldiers in whom they had confidence has daunted them. Preparations shall be made for the execution of Kerby on Saturday, but Bagg suggests that to spare him would probably tend to the speedy setting forth of the fleet. Wisdom of the Earl of Denbigh, and support he received from Sir Henry Mainwaring. Demeanor of his neighbour of the Fort [Sir Ferdinando Gorges], and of Sir William Strode, his half-reconciled friend, such that Lord Denbigh declared he would not have believed it if he had not witnessed it. Great worth of Mohun and Sir Bernard Grenville. Robert Ebesley and John Cobb were taken in the last rout. Suggests to give Kerby to the prayer of the masters and execute Ebesley. Both these men belong to a man-of-war of Sir James Bagg's now in preparation. Incloses,

26. I. Examinations of Capt. Francis Sydenham, Sir Henry Mervyn, Capt. Christopher Osborne, Capt. Robert Bargrave, John Haly, Abraham Elmer, Robert Kerby, of North Yarmouth, co. Norfolk, Edward Lowseley, William Alsop, and Philip Delay, taken March 21 inst., before Commissioners for executing Martial Law. They detail the circumstances of the mutiny. Capt. Sydenham, having pressed 80 or 100 men, sent them to the Guildhall for safe custody. There they armed themselves with pikes, and refused to obey orders. When Sir Henry Mervyn and Capt. Sydenham called upon them to give up their arms, Kerby incited them one and all to die together. Kerby was ultimately disarmed, and the uproar suppressed.

March 23. On board the St. Andrew. 27. William Earl of Denbigh to Buckingham. The mutiny is well appeased. The ships are in good forwardness. The St. George and the Nonsuch are both careened, and will be ready this week. The want will be men, which, if they cannot be sent from thence, it will be impossible to supply them there, or to set forth the fleet unless the number of ships be reduced. Ten King's ships well manned will be better than many weak. The 1,000*l.* sent down will pay the companies to the end of September. Incloses copy of a petition sent to him for reprieving the condemned man. Incloses,

27. I. Petition of Thirteen Masters of Ships under the Earl Denbigh's command, to the Earl. Being heartily sorry for the misdemeanors of divers common men, and fearing that there will be a greater inconvenience which may follow, they beseech him to take pity on this poor man, his wife and children, and to write to the Commissioners for Martial Law for a reprieve for four or five days. By report of his master, this man was a very honest and careful man in all his time. Plymouth, 1627, March 22.

1628. Vol. XCVIII.

March 23. Aboard the St. Andrew. 28. William Earl of Denbigh to Buckingham. On more deliberate advisement thinks that if he shall only apply mercy for redress of this mischief [the mutiny] it may lead the sailors to an opinion that they have forced a way to their own ends. There being another capital offender now in prison, with the pardon of the one he would join the execution of the other. Begs the Duke to consider whether the ten King's ships mentioned in his last letter be of force sufficient for this employment.

March 23. The Fort by Plymouth 29. Sir Ferdinando Gorges to the same. Presumes, according to his manner, plainly to deliver what he finds to be the heart-burning and cause of the grief of the sailors:—1. They say they are used liked dogs; not suffered to come ashore. 2. They have no means to put clothes on their backs, much less to relieve their wives and children. 3. When sick, they have no allowance of fresh victuals. 4. The sick when put ashore are suffered to perish for want of being looked to. 5. Some of their provisions are neither fit nor wholesome. 6. They had as lief be hanged as to be dealt withal as they are. Suggests a commission to inquire into these things, and reform abuses. So will he gain the hearts of those he must make use of, and satisfy the world of his care. If there be delay in the reformation there will be ruin in the conclusion.

March 23. 30. Sir Henry Marten to the same. By Order of Council of February 15 last, it was ordered, that a trunk or chest taken by Capt. Scras, in the Andrew, of Rotterdam, brought to the Isle of Wight, should be delivered to the said Scras, on his first making proof that it belonged to the writer of a scandalous letter found in that ship. The proof has been made, under a commission, but Capt. Scras is forbidden to take the trunk into his custody by Alexander Douglas, Lieutenant of Cowes Castle, and the Council has ordered the ship to be released.

March 23. Plymouth. 31. Sir James Bagg to Nicholas. Has many arguments for putting Kerby to death. They are not answered by the mutiny of the rest, but fear that the mariners will abandon the fleet makes him of a contrary opinion. His Majesty is worst served by Gorges. Had not Mr. Mohun and Sir Bernard Grenville been there, the authority of the Earl of Denbigh and the Commission had shamefully been affronted. Has often written of his undertaking to give satisfaction for the billet of 500 soldiers appointed for Rochelle. There is now due more than 1,000*l.* Wishes to God it could be paid. It would take off the cry of the billeter, and the cause from those who are thirsty to complain. Doubts not that the Duke has ere this despatched Abraham Biggs with at least 2,000*l.* Sends list of the ships. Cannot tell when they will be ready to go; they cannot these ten days. The want of men increases faster than they can be supplied. Incloses,

31. 1. List of the King's ships and fleet in Plymouth bound for Rochelle, with number of men, burthen, ordnance, and time for which they are supplied with victuals.

March 23. Plymouth. 32. Capt. Francis Sydenham to Nicholas. The purser of his ship being dead, Lord Denbigh has appointed Capt. Sydenham's man, Henry Ibbotson, in his place. Begs Nicholas to procure his warrant.

March 23. 33. Sir Thomas Savile to the same. Begs him to move the Duke for joining Sir Thomas in the assignment of the 2*s.* a chaldron for coals with his father. If he may tell Mr. Attorney that the Duke would have it so, he will do it.

March 23. [Plymouth.] 34. Capt. Thomas Ketelby to the same. The fleet is now in some forwardness, were it not for the great want of men, which those parts cannot supply, unless they reduce a number of ships, or receive supplies from the east. Sends list of the squadrons containing all the particulars in that sent by Sir James Bagg [No. 31. I.] with the addition of how many men each ship has aboard at present, and how many they want to make up their full complement. There are 11 ships with victual for Mr. Burlamachi's provisions. Appointment of new purser for Capt. Sydenham's ship, the Mary Rose. [Underwritten is a memorandum signed by the Earl of Denbigh, that he had put in Henry Ibbotson to the vacant pursership.]

[March 23 ?] 35. Statement, signed by Sir George Chudleigh, Sir Ferdinando Gorges, and Sir William Strode, of arguments why Kerby, the sailor accused of mutiny, should not be executed.

[March 23 ?] 37. Answers to the several arguments in favour of the non-execution of Kerby above mentioned.

March 24. Warrant to Sir Adam Newton, Receiver General of the King's Revenue as Prince of Wales, to pay to Hugh Bower, late Yeoman of his Majesty's Wardrobe, a pension of 20 marks per annum during life, together with $2\frac{1}{2}$ years' arrears. [Coll. Sign Man., Car. I., Vol. vi., No. 68.]

March 24. Docquet of the same.

March 24. Grant to Patrick Murray, one of the King's Cupbearers, of arrears of rent, at present unpaid, for the farm of the fines in the Court of King's Bench, amounting to 366*l.* 13*s.* 4*d.* [Ibid., No. 69.]

March 24. Docquet of the same.

March 24. Docquet of the same.

March 24. Warrant to pay to William Earl of Denbigh, Master of the Great Wardrobe, 1,530*l.* 8*s.* 4*d.*, to be paid over to Michael Grigg and Thomas Brandwood; see Sign. Man., 1628, March 14. [Docquet.]

March 24. 38. The King's Answer to the Petition of the Parliament for a Fast. That he was well pleased with the petition, and well content to have a fast. He appoints Saturday, come se'ennight, for London, before which time it may be hoped that we shall have cause to pray for the good success of what we shall have resolved, as also to beg His mercies towards others of our religion that now are in danger of great calamities: both these in one. For the rest of the kingdom the day should be April 21. [Draft, in the handwriting of Lord Keeper Coventry.]

[March 24?] 40. Draft of the preceding speech. [This and the preceding article are indorsed by Sir John Coke, "1628. Parliament Notes."]

March 24. Exeter. 41. Sir Francis Carew to Buckingham. Mr. De Vic passed so suddenly at sermon time that he gave Sir Francis no leisure to write. Sir Francis waits for the Duke's pleasure. They have there four men-of-war and seven barks laden with corn and victual, whereof three are upon the Merchants' adventure, who have given 600*l.* to express their love to Rochelle. They desire likewise a warrant for pressing barks to carry coal, which is much wanted in Rochelle.

March 24. Dover Castle. 42. Sir John Hippisley to the same. Has sent to press the 200 men out of the ports, but protests, he fears they will not afford them, by reason of the great loss of men, and our men being at Bordeaux, not returned; besides, they shall not be able to put out one ship to sea if their men are pressed away. Sends complaint from Rye of one that receives the King's pay for an honour, and never comes there. Reports preparation of beef, beer, fish, and butter, and desires to know how he intends to send away the wheat.

March 24. 43. Officers of the Navy to the same. Being assembled, according to the Duke's command, to consider of pressing men and returning an account of the state of the Navy, Capt. Mintz [Mennis?] broke out that he would not attend [i.e. wait]; that he was their equal, and that they should know it, if they were out of the place; that he would further interrupt them, and send all his men to make a clamour. Beg the Duke to do them right against such insolences.

March 24. 44. Petition of Capt. William Scras to "the excellent Prince, George Duke of Buckingham." The trunk and goods in it aboard the St. Andrew, of Rotterdam, are those ordered by the Council to be given up to him, but Alexander Douglas, Lieutenant of Cowes Castle, under Sir Fulke Greville, will not suffer him to have them without the order of Lord Conway, the Duke's deputy in that place. Prays for an order to Lord Conway for their delivery, and also that the petitioner may have 392*l.* 15*s.* allowed him by the Board, otherwise he is like to be damnified 1,000*l.*

March 24. 45. Certificate by Sec. Conway, that Capt. William Mouldsworth, Ensign to Sir Thomas Littleton, was called from the Low Countries to be employed in the expedition to Cadiz, and has ever since continued in his Majesty's service.

March 24. 46. Christopher Earl of Anglesea to Nicholas. Recommends Henry Watson for Purser in one of the pinnaces now building.

March 24. 47. Sir John Hippisley to Nicholas. Desires an order for a better watch to be kept in the Cinque Ports, and that places where there is no watch may be made up along the coast; also, that he may pay money borrowed by Cannon, in respect of the Duke, out of money he is to receive there, and that he may deliver up the Silver Oar when the money is paid, and that Jacob may receive order for his place. Begs Nicholas to make haste with letters of marque for Hippisley's ships, which are all ready, and to send instructions against the French for Stephens.

March 24. 48. John Simson to Mr. King. Mr. King's master [Sec. Conway] said he would speak with Sir William Russell and some other Commissioners, and do what in him lay. If they will stand the writer's friends he will be thankful. Is now going to Cambridge. His squadron had no preacher but himself. Has set down in brief what are his demands. Incloses,

48. 1. Reasons why the Preachers in the Navy should be paid their allowance of 4*d. per man per month, on the full complement of their ships. There were but two preachers in the Rhé expedition, Mr. Ambrose with Capt. Pennington and the writer in the Triumph. They bestowed their pains generally in visiting the sick throughout the fleet.*

March 24. 49. Copy of the preceding letter, and inclosure.

[March 25 ?] 52. Minute of advice of the Council to the King, that, in bringing the question of supply immediately before the House of Commons, all the necessary charges should be set down particularly, but no estimate of the sums the things will require, leaving "that charge to be collected upon view of the particulars which of necessity must be provided." With various items of particular charge underwritten, which are suggested to be added to those contained in the estimate already obtained. [Draft, in the handwriting of Lord President Manchester.]

Scras's seven prizes of salt, and of Capt. Noy's corn. Capt. William Towerson, of Portsmouth, and the writer, having set out the Dian under Capt. Pelham, and a pinnace under Capt. Adams, with letters of marque against Spaniards and French, the Duke stayed them for transport of Sir Philip Carteret, of Jersey. In their voyage, somewhat near the Wight, on Monday fortnight, at night, they were set on by five Dunkirkers; both ships were taken, Capt. Pelham slain, the knight and all others carried away for Dunkirk. Towerson will petition on behalf of himself and the writer, who hopes the Duke will afford them relief.

March 26. Saint Martins-in-the Fields. 61. Sir William Alexander to Sec. Coke. Explains circumstances which have lately occurred in Scotland, and have been the subject of mis-reports. His Majesty, having been complained to by sundry of the gentry, that they were hardly used by their tithe-masters, gave commission to examine the matter, and advise upon a remedy. Thereupon the tithe-masters agreed to sell the tithes they had of any other persons' inheritance to the proprietor of the lands, at a price to be determined by his Majesty. This was done with such love, that his Majesty valued the manner more than the thing itself, though it be of great moment, and is the more earnest to give them full satisfaction.

1628. VOL. XCVIII.

[March 26 ?] 62. Henry Earl of Manchester to Sec. Coke. Sends a note of the words uttered by the Earl at a conference between the Lords and Commons, in which the Lords solicited the concurrence of the Commons in a petition to the King against recusants.

[March 26 ?] 63. John Millington to Gilbert Millington, at Felley Abbey, co. Nottingham. Sends copies of speeches in Parliament. On Saturday last they fell upon grievances, and pressed them home with a great deal of freedom. They were confessed by Sec. Coke. The King has granted a fast. Phillips said there was a devil in the kingdom that would not be cast out without prayer and fasting. He said Savile's commission was a Commission of Idolatry. Sec. Coke said, if there were any, his hand wrote it, and if he wrote any such thing he wished his hand might be cut off. Mildmay persuaded to union betwixt the courtiers and the rest, and that there might not be watching at words. Lord Coke did not wish the like success to any as happened to Gaveston and Cardinal Wolsey. All eased their hearts of their griefs, wishing a redress. Lord Coke would have them put in the preamble of the Bill of Subsidies. Riot at Witham between the soldiers and the inhabitants.

March 26. 64. Examinations of Robert Poulter and others, of Dover, respecting the purchase by Mr. Dancey of unwholesome food for the prisoners' diet, and declaring that, unless they would be ruled, dogs' flesh were too good for them.

March 27. 65. Petition of Katherine, widow of William Warde, of Dover, to "the illustrious Prince, George Duke of Buckingham." Her husband left her a share in seven several ships, six whereof have been lost in adventure, and the last, the Hector, of Dover, was taken up by Sir John Hippisley, and lost in the King's service on the coast of France. Prays the Duke to grant her the prize ship, the James, of Bourage, of small value. [Underwritten is a reference to Sir John Hippisley.] Annexed, 66. I. Report of Sir John Hippisley, that the share of Widow Warde in the Hector was worth 80*l.*, and that the St. James, which she desires in recompence, is not worth above 40*l.*

March 27. Newmarket. 66. Sec. Conway to Sir Henry Marten. The King finds it necessary to cherish the good affections of the Hanse Towns; Sir Henry is therefore to use them, and all the other towns in Germany who are friends of the King of Denmark, with all favour and expedition in their causes in the Admiralty.

March 27. Minute of the same. [Conway's Letter Book, p. 300.]

March 27. 67. Sir George Paul, Richard Oliver, and Thomas Fotherley, Commissioners of the Duke of Buckingham's estate, to Nicholas. The Duke has referred to them the petition of Capt. Thomas Haynes, for a reward for bringing the Golden Herring to London, for which he claims 65*l.* 8*s.* Not knowing whether this sum be due, or whether Capt. Sacheverell, who took the ship, have received any reward, they desire him to confer with Sir Henry Marten as to the merit of the petitioner in this service.

March 27. 68. Certificate of Allin Retton, Henry Waller, and James Bunce, in favour of Jeremy Spratt, to be Purser in one of the pinnaces now building; with further underwritten recommendation of Sir Allen Apsley.

March 28. Westminster. Grants to Alphonso Ferrabosco, one of the King's musicians, of 50*l.* per annum, lately enjoyed by Alphonso Ferrabosco, deceased, as Instructor to the King as Prince of Wales, and to Henry Ferrabosco of 40*l.* per annum as one of the King's musicians, and 40*l.* per annum as Composer of the King's Music. [Ibid., No. 12.]

March 28. Plymouth. 69. Sir William Courteney to Buckingham. Received the Duke's letter of the 20th on the 28th. Repaired to Lord Denbigh, to offer him service, as the Duke had commanded, but he would not for the present receive the men. There has happened a disorder among the seamen, and Lord Denbigh thinks all the officers should stay in Plymouth with their companies; they will keep the soldiers together, and free the town from the disorder of the sailors. Sir William lives eight miles from Plymouth. When Lord Denbigh writes to him he will repair to do him service in anything.

1628. VOL. XCVIII.

March 28. Ash. 70. Sir John Drake to "the high and mighty Prince, George Duke of Buckingham." Has made ready wheat at Lyme, and taken up barks for its transport to Plymouth. Did the same at Weymouth, but one Cuttance, part owner of one of the barks, questioned the Duke's authority to take up any man's bark, whereupon the men that were pressed to go in that service all ran away, so that there is neither bark nor men to be had, unless it pleases the Duke to take a speedy course for their punishment.

March [28?] 71. Sec. Conway to Sec. Coke. The surgeon committed for conveying letters into France is to be brought to the Duke, to be disposed according to his Majesty's order. The Council of War have found out means to spend 700,000*l.* or 800,000*l.* a year. Leaves it to Coke's wisdom to procure it. [Copy.]

March 28. From his House in the Old Palace. 72. Robert Earl of Sussex to Sec. Conway. Desires to know what he has done in the business betwixt Lord Holland and the Earl. The Earl has not been well, else he would have moved the King. Wishes to know if he is to hold the forts still, and what fee will be allowed for maintaining them.

March 28. 73. Capt. Richard Paramour to Nicholas. Four brass pieces are wanted for the complement of his ship. Begs him to procure the Duke's warrant for them. Capt. Walsingham, and his master and purser of the Desire, wish for an order that they may go along with Capt. Paramour, which he would be glad of. Is still delayed for the gunner's store.

March 28. 74. Paper, indorsed by Bishop Laud, "Mr. Gurlin's project about New Valuations, &c. for Church Benefices, &c." The writer contends, that if, upon commissions issued into every county, the true yearly value of spiritual livings be certified, and first fruits paid accordingly, and if, after that rate, the tenths were also paid yearly, the amounts of both would be doubled. He states what payments were made by the clergy of Spain to their king out of their livings.

March 29. Whitehall. Proclamation for a General Fast to be solemnized throughout England, on the 5th instant in London, and on the 21st throughout the rest of the kingdom. [Coll. Procs., Car. I., No. 84.]

March 29. Westminster. Warrant to pay to the Cofferers of the Household 20*l.* per annum, being the wages of William Smithesby, one of the Grooms of the King's Chamber. [Coll. Sign Man., Car. I., Vol. vii., No. 13.]

March 29. Plymouth. 75. Sir James Bagg to Buckingham. Acknowledges receipt of 1,000*l.*, sent down by Sir Sackville Crow; a penny shall not be disbursed for any other use than for the present expedition. Lord Denbigh will inform the Duke how he has reduced the fleet. The directions received concerning the martial commission shall be prosecuted to the full. Understands the honest western gentlemen who desired Coryton and Eliot not to stand for knights, are by the Lower House sent for. Sorrows that those gentlemen, truest and best affecting His Majesty's honour and service, should be so troubled.

March 29. Aboard the St. Andrew. 76. William Earl of Denbigh to Buckingham. Has received the Duke's and the Lords' order for lessening the fleet, and will reduce it to such a number of ships as they shall be able to man. Hopes they will be more than twelve. The ships are all ready, except the St. George and Nonsuch, delayed by three or four days' foul weather. Sends account of provisions made by Burlamachi, and also by Sir Francis Carew, who arrived at Plymouth that day. Sir James Bagg will certify what he has ready. All will come far short to satisfy the expectation of the Rochellers. Knows not what provisions have been made at Bristol, whence he has not heard since Buxton's going. Will not omit to be gone as soon as wind and weather serve, and the ships of war are in a readiness. The Dutch ship assigned to Capt. Quaile has had victuals put into her by Sir Francis Carew. The Earl has therefore ordered her to Plymouth. Incloses,

76. I. Account of victuals remaining on Mr. Burlamachi's account, and of those collected by Sir Francis Carew at Exeter.

March 29. Plymouth. 77. Sir James Bagg to Nicholas. Shall be "much glad" to see the ships from thence. His next joy will be to post to the Duke, being overburdened with much he has to tell Nicholas, about those who hate Bagg for his service and love to the Duke. Spite of them, he will go on. Has not received the 1,000*l.* which was to have been sent down by Coke, nor that to be brought to him by Sir Francis Carew. The 1,000*l.*, which should have come by Abraham Biggs, was sent by Sir Sackville Crow's man to his man Eaten, and came to Bagg by warrant of Lord Denbigh. He "shames" that these men should take these low ways to prejudice the service and injure him. That hour the Earl of Denbigh shall say he is all fitted to go, Bagg will take horse.

March 29. The Tower. 78. Sir Allen Apsley to the same. Recommends Lawrence Spike for purser of the Mary Rose or any other ship.

March 29. Whitehall. 79. Warrant from Sec. Conway to Sir William Uvedale, Treasurer of the Chamber, to pay to Matthew de Quester [the amount left blank] for conveyance of packets to and from ambassadors and agents abroad from November 1 last to March 29 inst. [Draft.]

[March 29.] 80. Account of packets transmitted by Matthew de Quester during the time mentioned in the preceding paper. Total, 39 despatches from ambassadors, at 30*s.* each, and 41 despatches for Mr. Weckherlin at 6*s.* each, making in the whole, 70*l.* 16*s.*

March 30. 81. Sir Francis Carew to Buckingham. Reports what quantities of victual he has freighted on board three barks, and the value thereof; in the whole 1,218*l.* The rest of the 1,390*l.* left with him he has brought with him, and charged his accounts upon Clarke, that he may deliver the entire 1,000*l.* to Sir James Bagg, whose continual importunate solicitation for the money has been the occasion, that, by dispute about it, they are come to a better understanding, which he is confident will daily increase, since they have both for object the Duke's service. Is so far from grieved at having missed the flag, that he is much satisfied at the Duke's free disposal of him, and that the Duke has thus given all gentlemen incitement to get experience before they expect preferment. It shall be his endeavour yearly to improve himself. The borrowed mainmast of the Nonsuch proves 4½ yards too short. In the opinion of some sailors it will prove a disparagement, but Sir Francis is resolved to go, howsoever.

March 30. 82. Certificate of Dr. John Bosseville and Dr. John Southcot, that a certain knight, who was one of those principally engaged in writing the letter of the Roman Catholic laity to the Bishop of Chalcedon, declared, in their presence, that the authors of that letter intended no more by it than merely to satisfy the political government of this kingdom.

March 31. Westminster. Warrant to pay to Sir Allen Apsley, Surveyor of Marine Victuals, 2,090*l.* 15*s.*, the amount of an estimate for victualling ships, pinnaces, and prizes for extraordinary service. [Coll. Sign. Man., Car. I., Vol. vii., No. 14.]

March 31. Westminster. Congé d'eslire to the Dean and Chapter of Ely to elect a new Bishop, that see being vacant by the death of the late incumbent; issued upon signification of the King's pleasure by Bishop Laud. Latin. [Ibid., No. 15.]

March 31. 83. Petition of both Houses of Parliament to the King. They thank him for his assent for a Public Fast, and pray him to give continual life and motion to all those laws that stand in force against Jesuits, Seminary Priests, and all that have taken orders by authority of the See of Rome.

March 31. 84. Copy of the same, indorsed by Sir Francis Nethersole, as having "moved from the Lords."

March 31. 85. Another copy of the same.

March 31. 86. Another copy.

March 31. 87. Speech of the Lord Keeper Coventry, addressed to the King, on presenting the above-mentioned petition of both Houses of Parliament. [Draft, in the handwriting of the Lord Keeper, and indorsed by Sec. Coke, who has also written upon it some brief notes of the King's answer.]

March 31. 88. The King's Speech to both Houses of Parliament on receipt of the above-mentioned petition, and in reply to the speech of the Lord Keeper.

March 31. Whitehall. 89. The Council to Buckingham. It is the King's pleasure that the regiment of Sir Pierce Crosby, now lodged in Norfolk and Essex, shall be removed from thence, and six companies be billeted within Sandwich and Hythe, within the precincts of the Cinque Ports. He is to give order for receiving the same, and that the charge, which is 3*s.* 6*d.* for every soldier per week, be borne at present by the country, and be levied in the accustomed way, repayment whereof shall be made on a just account. If any person refuse to billet any of the said soldiers, or to pay his rateable part of the charge, certificate is to be returned to that Board.

March 31. Whitehall. 90. The Council to Sir George Chudleigh, Sir Ferdinando Gorges, Sir Henry Mainwaring, Sir James Bagg, and Francis Trelawny, or to any two of them. Having directed the Earl of Denbigh to receive those soldiers which are now billeted in the counties of Somerset and Dorset, and likewise 600 men to be newly levied, with order to distribute in the fleet so many of the most able men as he may have occasion to use, as seamen, and with seamen's wages. If before the coming of their letters the Earl shall have put to sea, they are still required to perform the same directions. The soldiers to be removed out of the said two counties being in great want of clothes, sufficient clothes shall forthwith be provided and sent down. [Copy.]

March 31. Wadham College. 91. Dr. William Smyth, Warden of Wadham College, to Bishop Laud, of Bath and Wells. Mr. Harrington still refuses to make the required submission. They had not proceeded to his absolute suspension, because, being suspended above half a year for payment of his 20 marks, to be barred his allowance beyond that would little move him. His carriage since the decision of the business has been more offensive than ever. He threatens, when the Bishop, by removal, ceases to be visitor, to prefer a complaint against him in Parliament, and to show the world what wrong is done him he will have the whole proceeding printed. There is even something worse which he is ashamed to write, and begs the Bishop to take it from the relation of the bearer, the Sub-warden of the College. Begs to understand what may best be done, either for enforcing him to order or expelling him.

March 31. 92. Sir Allen Apsley to Nicholas. The bearer, John Beaumont, has, as directed by Nicholas, entered into bond for 100*l.*, with good surety, that, if admitted purser of one of the new pinnaces, he will execute the place faithfully.

March 31. The Tower. 93. The same to the same. Thomas Blackstone, in the Rhé expedition, was master of the Nonsuch barge, and, to say the truth, there was none such of his quality in all the fleet. The Duke promised him the first boatswain's place that fell. Begs Nicholas to move the Duke on his behalf.

March 31. Plymouth. 94. William Buxton to the same. Sir James Bagg very desirous to do the Duke all faithful service. Sir John Drake very backward. Amount of provisions got ready by the writer. Nicholas Bennett and William Rowe, owners of the Peter, of Stonehouse, have detained four men who were pressed out of their ship, and say they will answer it. If there be not a messenger sent down for these men it will be such a precedent that they will not get any men to serve the King.

1628. Vol. XCVIII.

March 31. Ash. 95. Sir John Drake to Nicholas. Repeats the information in his letter to the Duke of the 28th inst. [No. 71], respecting his taking up 600 quarters of wheat, and the opposition made by the Weymouth shipowners to the employment of their barks for the transport of the same, begun by one Cuttance. Sends him inventories of tenths of prize goods, for which he solicits a warrant for sale. Incloses [?], 95. I. Inventories of tenths of the Rosado, the Eagle, the Abraham, the Seahorse, the Esperance, and the St. Peter, ships most of them brought into Weymouth.

March 31. Cleydon. 96. Henry Raleigh to William Weld. Applies, on the advice of Mr. Hartwell, for 6*l.*, on Lord Conway's account. The writer's hawks are living, but his falcon has been sickly ever since his coming down.

[March ?] Grant to Sir Christopher Hatton, K.B., Sir Thomas Fanshaw, K.B., Sir Thomas Middleton, John West, John Fanshaw, and Simon Fanshaw, of the manor of Barking and the half hundred of Becontree, co. Essex, under the yearly rent of 20*l.*, and in consideration of a payment of 3,000*l.* Latin. [Coll. Sign Man., Car. I., Vol. vi., No. 72.]

[March ?] 97. The King to Lord Treasurer Marlborough. The King understands that there remains due to Henry Earl of Holland, for several employments as Ambassador Extraordinary to France and otherwise, 23,800*l.*, and that he suffers very much in his private occasions for want thereof. The Lord Treasurer is to make him an assignment for the same upon certain revenues under mentioned, due in the course of the year 1628. [Undated and unsigned.]

[March ?] 98. Contract between the King and Edward Lord Montagu, of Boughton, for sale to him of all the woods in the walk called Geddington Woods, in the forest of Rockingham, co. Northampton, granted to Lord Montagu on February 26 last past.

[March ?] 99. Petition of the King's loyal Subjects inhabiting in the parts of Kent over against Calais and Dunkirk to the King. In January last a great number of Irish soldiers, being recusants, were billeted amongst the petitioners. Their rude and barbarous carriage is such, that the petitioners are not able to bear the same without present redress, as by the annexed petition appears. Pray for speedy relief. Annexed,

100. I. Petition of the same persons, but subscribed with their names, to the King. Petitioners are miserably afflicted by the carriage of soldiers, differing from the petitioners in nation, religion, language, and affection, who abuse the persons with whom they are appointed to billet by many assaults and threats, for that their unreasonable appetites and demands are not satisfied with such diet, lodging, and attendance as the pay of the soldier, and ability and employment of the petitioners in their calling of husbandry, afford. Being armed with swords and skeins, they terrify the petitioners by wounds and threats, whereof no redress can be administered, the Commissioners for reformation being far remote, whereby petitioners shall be forced to take arms for their defence, or abandon their dwellings. In consideration of their former miseries from Count Mansfeldt's soldiers, and the heavy burthens of watching, warding, and other things which rest upon them, they pray to be freed from the miserable and unaccustomed servitude of "entertaining soldiers into their houses and families, which are the foundation and nurseries of all kingdoms and commonwealths, and the only places of comfort and repose of all well-affected people, their wives, and children."

[March.] 100. Brief of a bill introduced into the House of Lords, concerning the inheritance, freehold, and possessions of William Earl of Devonshire.

[March ?] 101. "The Privileges and Practice of Parliaments in England. Collected out of the Common Laws of this land. Seen and allowed by the learned in the Laws. Commended to the High Court of Parliament now assembled." 4to. 1628. Printed; with an engraved portrait of the King as a frontispiece.

March. 103. Certificate of the Master and Warden of the Company of Clothworkers of London to the Council. On February 29 last the Lords ordered trial to be made of the nature of certain earth, whether it were of the quality of fullers' earth or not. By the advice of the artizan fullers of the Company, certificate was made that it was clay noways fitting for dressing woollen cloth. Since which time a horse-load of it has been sent to the Worcester clothiers, who certify the same to be as good as any earth used by them for scouring and thicking of cloth. Thereupon the writers have given notice to Sir John Worsenam, one of the Farmers of the Customs of the Port of London, that no manner of earth be suffered hereafter to be transported into foreign parts.

[March.] 104. Petition of Lucas Jacobs to the Council. On information, by John Sutton, that petitioner was about to export 10,000 quarters of grain of all sorts from Chichester and Arundel, he was committed to the fleet, but shortly afterwards released, on giving bond to attend the Solicitor General, and in the meantime to stay the corn. Petitioner has attended the Solicitor General several times, but Sutton has not done so; he also attended at the Sussex Assizes on the 18th inst., to answer an indictment preferred by Sutton, but he never put in any record. Petitioner prays that he may be at liberty to sell his corn, being bound to answer for the value thereof.

1628. VOL. XCVIII.

[March ?] 105. ——— to Buckingham. Paper of suggestions. The late King entrusted the writer in the Commission of the Fees of Courts, and in the last Parliament-pardon of his reign excepted "all corruption, extortions, and exactions," for by that he kept the Judge's officers in fear, so that he might raise, as he resolved, great sums of money from them when his occasions urged. Suggests this precedent to be followed if there be a pardon this Session. The Lower House desires an act for the confirmation of their privileges; it is suggested that there may be "fairly and covertly" inserted in that "An Act of Absolution and Forgetfulness," which would be an inviolable guard for the Duke if the house should fall upon him, as formerly they have done.

[March ?] 106. Petition of Joseph Bryan, master's mate of the Amity, to the same. Having been pressed for this Iceland voyage, one Anthony Whalley, Bailiff of St. Katherine's, has arrested him for a trivial debt, which he is not able to pay until he has money for his past service to the King. Prays for his discharge.

[March ?] 107. Petition of Vincent Lovet, groom for the last expedition to Cadiz, to the same. In the said voyage he received many wounds. There is 13*l.* 6*s.* due to him for his service, as may appear by Lord Valentia's book. Sir Thomas Love in his life always put him off, saying he had no money of the King's in his hands. Prays a further order for payment.

[March ?] 108. Petition of Capt. William Hemming to the same. Refers to his former services, of which he annexes a particular. Prays for command of one of the six ships set out northwards, and that the Duke would recommend him to Sir John Savile. [Underwritten is a recommendation accordingly in Nicholas's hand, but not signed by the Duke.] Annexed,

108. I. Particular of such Prizes as were taken and brought in by Capt. Hemming on December 23, 1626, in the Helen, of London.

[March ?] 109. Report of Thomas Cross, one of the "Ofeseres" of St. Giles in the Fields. Reports his entry into a house in Drury Lane, and search there for a dangerous Jesuit, one Bastell, who went by divers other names. They found an assembly of a dozen persons, and ultimately they discovered the person whom they sought "within two or three houses, in the said place," and carried him before Sir William Slingsby, by whom he was committed to prison.

[March ?] 110. Suggestion, that, by way of increasing the King's revenue from recusants, and avoiding the large deductions payable for official fees, he should accept from them one certain sum, possibly double what actually came into his coffers for the year ending Easter, 1627, to be paid directly by the recusants to the King.

[March.] 111. State of the cause between the Mayor and Citizens of Chester and Robert Brerewood, their Town Clerk. The facts which had transpired are detailed from the origin of the dispute down to the 24th inst.

Memorandum, that in the pardon of 21st James there is an exception of heresy, schism, incest, and simony, usury, and misdemeanors and disturbances in a church in time of Common Prayer, which precedent it is desired should be followed, and, in addition, that there should be an exception of causes depending in the High Commission Court, and misdemeanors committed against a decree of the Court of Star Chamber.

[March ?] 113. Answers of John Stafford, Edward Stourton, William Wale, rector of Narborow,co. Leicester, and others, freeholders of that parish, to a bill exhibited by Attorney General Heath, wherein they give their consent to an agreement for disafforesting Leicester Forest.

[March ?] 117. Observations, by John Williams, touching the office of wine licences, and the patent intended to pass to Sir George Goring and others in farm. [The writer of this paper was Wine Licenser during the reign of James I. He here gives the history of the office, and an account of the profits made by the several holders thereof, Sir Edward Horsey, Sir Walter Raleigh, and the Earls of Nottingham and Middlesex.]

[March.] 118. Proportion of victuals for 2,800 men for 112 days, according to the King's ordinary allowance; with additions in the handwriting of Nicholas. Total, 2,952*l.*

K. Ten heads respecting which the Consultors were to address letters to the General of the Society. Latin.

M. Richard Man to ———. Urges that the annuals be sent in such form as may show the whole year's fruits of every mission; that no application be made to the writer in matters which may be answered by the person addressed; that great care be taken, in speeches and conversations with others, never to mislike the appointment of a Bishop in England, but rather to praise and approve his Holiness's proceedings therein; that none meddle with temporals; that those only hear confessions who by name shall be designed for it by the person addressed; that pecuniary assistance be obtained for the Seminary of St. Omer, and that 5*l.* be annually sent to the College of Louvain.

R. Pope Urban VIII. to Richard Smith, Bishop of Chalcedon. Condemns the taking of the Oath of Allegiance by Roman Catholics, as tending to depose the Prince of the Apostles from the throne of Christian glory, to which all the rulers of the earth ought to submit the fasces of empire. S. i. The Lay Catholics of England to Bishop Smith, of Chalcedon. Commenting on his letter to the Lay Catholics, dated October 16, in which he had claimed to himself the jurisdiction of an Ordinary throughout England and Scotland. They point out the several objects of the jurisdiction of an ordinary, and that the erection of tribunals for carrying out such objects would be misprision of treason or præmunire at least. They are of opinion, that, if such inconveniences had been known abroad, the authority would not have been granted, and they therefore do not feel bound to conform thereto. Latin.

ii. Translation of the same into English.

1627 Dec. 24. 1628, Jan. 3. Paris. 14. John Francis Archbishop of Patras and Bishop of Cervia to the Vicars General of Bishop Smith, of Chalcedon. Acknowledges the receipt of their letters, together with the annexed writings, which latter had been previously mentioned by the Bishop of Chalcedon. They shall be forwarded to Rome, to the Holy Congregation, on a favourable opportunity, and the answer sent on to the persons addressed as soon as received. Regrets the dissensions.

[1627 ?] 15. Parallel showing the difference between the Bishop of Chalcedon's claim and the claim of the Benedictine members of the English Congregation.

[1627 ?] 16. Copy of the same, much injured by damp.

Feb. 15. London. 17. Arthur Sanders to Edmund Parr. Sends directions to celebrate an "oriental joy." It comes after the festival, therefore he will have time. Five or six people are coming from Olympio [Rome ?]. Minute directions for sending a trunk to Barnstaple. Mr. Pigott about to be reconciled, and turned over to Chalcedon. Marriage of Lady Sydenham with Lord Gray, a Scottish Viscount, she being fourscore, he four and twenty. Dispute respecting the estate of one Combe, which the writer was accused of having procured from him by cosenage. In a postcript are notes of Papal directions to offer prayers for three Jesuits who had suffered martyrdom in Japan, and for several benefactors to the Society.

March 10. 18. Bishop Smith, of Chalcedon, to the Cardinals of the Holy Inquisition, in reply to their offer to mediate in the dispute which had arisen between the Bishop of Chalcedon and the Regulars.

[March ?] 19. Account of Bishop Smith, of Chalcedon, and of his ordinary places of residence, at Turvey, co. Bedford, and at several places co. Buckingham; with notices of the priests principally employed by him. [In the handwriting of Sec. Coke.]

[March ?] 21. Form of oath of obedience taken by every English Roman Catholic priest to the Bishop of Chalcedon, as his ordinary.

[March ?] 22. Copy of a letter which was found among some Jesuits that were lately taken in London, and addressed to the Father Rector at Brussels. Indorsed by Bishop Laud, "A Jesuit's Letter, sent to the Rector at Brussels, about the ensuing Parliament." This letter explains, or professes to do so, the policy adopted by the Jesuits to increase the public confusion in England.]

VOL. C. APRIL 1—12, 1628.

April 1. 1. Three Resolutions voted by the House of Commons, in affirmation of the liberty of the subject. These Resolutions are entered in the Journal of the House of Commons, under the date of April 3; but this paper is thus endorsed by Bishop Laud, "April 1, 1628. This was voted in the House of Commons about the liberty of the subject and imprisoning without specifying the cause."

April 1. 2. Copy of the above.

April 1. 3. Information of Thomas Lawrence, Philip Thomas, and Martin Sanders, addressed to the House of Commons. Capt. Tendring had stated to them that he could make it apparent that there is now a far more villainous plot intended, by the priests of the Romish religion, for the overthrow of the Reformed religion, than the Powder Treason.

April 1. 4. Bishop Montaigne, of London, to George Duke of Buckingham. Has received certain intelligence of the Archbishop of York's death. Reminds the Duke of the writer's earnest suit and of his gracious answer when the Duke did the writer the honour to see him, his sick servant, the last time at his house, which he shall never forget. It is the place and house where he was born. Besides, the world will see that he is still where he was by such an eminent favour, which he values far above the commodity and honour of the bishoprick. [Copy of an original once among the Conway Papers.]

April 1. 5. Sec. Conway to Sir Fulke Greville. Sends him a copy of directions received from the Lord Admiral, for delivering a trunk or chest to be taken out of the Saint Andrew, of Rotterdam, to Capt. William Scras. [Draft.]

April 1. The Tower. 6. Sir Allen Apsley to Nicholas. Recommends Thomas Barker, who is suitor for a purser's place in one of the pinnaces now building.

April 1. 7. The same to the same. Recommends William Bowle for employment as a purser, in the King's service.

April. 1. 8. Capt. William Jewell to the same. The Henrietta, King's ship at Chatham, being ready for sea, he intreats that the bearer, Thomas Jewell, may be appointed master.

April 1. Whitecross Street. 9. Capt. Joshua Downing to the same. Recommends Christopher Laughlyne, who is a suitor for a purser's place in one of the ten ships now in building. [Dated, by mistake, April 1, 1678.]

April 1. Wadham College. 10 James Harrington to Bishop Laud. His respect for the Bishop's dignity, and thanks for his establishment of the writer in his fellowship. Requests that he may not be pressed to subscribe to anything contrary to what he has delivered upon oath. Is willing to pay the penalty imposed upon him by the Bishop, and if, by any misdemeanor or words slipped out unadvisedly, he has justly incensed the Bishop against him, he is heartily sorry, and craves his pardon. He is also ready to subscribe to the acknowledgment which the Warden and Fellows desire, but which at first he refused. Incloses,

10. I. Note of those things unto which he had been required to subscribe; with his answer thereto upon oath voluntary taken in Chancery.

April 1. 11. Certificate of Philip Hill, Captain, and others of the Crew of the Fellowship, to the Earl of Denbigh. Under a press warrant from his Lordship, they proceeded to Stonehouse on the 16th inst., but were unable to procure the aid of the High Constable of that hundred. He would not assist them himself, and failed in his promise to warn his deputies.

April 1. 12. Translation of an intercepted letter, neither signed nor directed, but written in Spanish to a person who is addressed as "Senor Nicolas." Is sorry that the dangerous times deprive them of the comfort of his letters. The Parliament goes bravely on. Hitherto there is nothing but new inventions to punish the Catholics. Men imagined they would do great matters against the Duke, but they have not touched him with the least word. The Earls of Bristol and Arundel have come to the Parliament. The King demands 11 subsidies, and the Lord Keeper has made a speech to represent the few friends they have, and so many forces against them, and that the standard of the Eagle has almost ended with the King of Denmark. Fears entertained that the brave entertainment of Spinola in Madrid will be the cause of some great enterprise.

April 2. Harvington. 13. Thomas Archbold to Sec. Conway. Complains of the conduct of Mr. Richard Potter, an aged man, full of wealth and livings, and one of the prebendaries of Worcester, in opposing the writer's institution to the rectory of Broadwas. Mr. Potter is instigated by Dr. Charlett, another of the prebendaries. Solicits the Secretary to obtain the King's letter to the Dean of Worcester, commanding him to procure the writer's institution.

April 2. The Tower. 14. Sir Allen Apsley to Nicholas. Recommends Gervase Moreland as an able man for employment as a purser.

April 2. Ordnance Office. 15. Capt. John Heydon to the same. They have found convenience to convey the 120 barrels of powder on horseback. Put into double casks, and conducted by a careful messenger, with particular instructions every night to keep a guard upon it, they doubt not of the safe arrival.

April 2. Sergeants' Inn, Fleet Street. 16. Sir Nicholas Hyde, Chief Justice of the King's Bench, to the same. Recommends his kinsman, Henry Kendall, for some place in one of the King's ships. The Chief Justice had intreated Nicholas's father and Sir Robert Pye to move him in the matter.

1628. Vol. C.

April 2. 17. Nicholas Eaton, Edward Kempe, and William Ledgant, to Sir John Hippisley. To procure the release of the ship taken by Capt. Ledgant, and put into Dartmouth by three French men-of-war, where she had been stayed by Sir James Bagg.

April 2. 18. Promise of John Ballow to pay to Nicholas Kendall 80*l.*, if within a month he shall procure from the King for Thomas Ballow a grant of a canon's place in Christchurch in Oxford, after Mr. Gardner and Dr. Wall. [Underwritten is a confirmation of the above promise for 20 days, dated June 27, 1628.]

April 2. 19. True state of the cause of Clement Harby, touching two bales of silk and two hogsheads of beaver wool, value 600*l.*, detained by the officers of the Admiralty of Rotterdam; being another copy of Vol. xxxvi., No. 101. I.

April 2. 20. Names of Captain Duppa's shipwrights.

April 3. 21. Message from the King to the House of Commons, delivered by Sec. Coke, in reference to a false rumour that the King had sent a sharp message to the Commons, and that at the Council table malicious words against the Parliament had been spoken by the Duke of Buckingham. [Copy in the handwriting of Sec. Coke.]

April 3. 22. Resolutions of the House of Commons concerning certain fundamental liberties of England, which, after many days spent in arguing, were at last concluded without one negative.

April 3. 23. Copy of the above.

April 3. 24. Another copy.

April 3. 25. Suggestion or advice tendered to his Majesty, that, if he be resolved to give satisfaction to the House of Commons in the points of liberty of their persons and goods, now that they are in doubt which way to proceed further, and have chosen a private Committee to consider thereof, and are likely to address the Lords to join with them in seeking satisfaction from the King, a message from his Majesty giving them assurance that he "would yield such demands as were just and reasonable, and might stand with his prerogative," might prevent their "possessing the Upper House with this business, and quicken them to give more subsidies." The proposed message is then appended, and is substantially that which is given in Rushworth, Vol. I., p. 524, as delivered by Sec. Coke to the House of Commons on the 4th instant. The present paper is indorsed by Sec. Coke.

April 3. 26. Petition of Jacob Johnson, diver, to Buckingham. On the Duke's command he attended the fleet to Rhé with his hoy, the Charity, of Sandwich, and five mariners for seven months. He performed service so extraordinary that the Duke thought it fit to be rewarded, but he has received no other allowance than that of an ordinary mariner. Besides this loss of wages, on March 6, between Margate and Ramsgate, his pink, being about 30 tons, together with his five mariners, were taken by Dunkirkers, to his utter undoing, and that of his wife and children. Prays for a further allowance for his services at Rhé, and liberty to take up to his own use all ordnance and anchors lost at sea.

April 3. Whitehall. 27. Sec. Conway to William Earl of Morton. The inclosed paper of grievances suffered in the Isle of Wight, through the insolences and disorders of the soldiers billeted there, was brought by such hands that the Earl need not doubt of its truth, and that "there are others so frequent, foul, and insupportable as redress must either be had or the island [be] utterly spoiled." Calls upon the Earl to consider the necessity of a speedy and effectual reformation, towards which good end the Secretary offers to contribute. [Draft.]

April 3. Whitehall. Minute of the above, but dated the 7th inst. [Conway's Letter Book, p. 301.]

April 3. Hasfield. 28. Sir Richard Tracy to Sec. Conway. Bought the place of Master of Corselane Chase of Sir William Throckmorton for 200*l.*, and had been at great charges for preservation of the game. It will be a grief to him to see his labour lost, and the deer destroyed, which he has so carefully preserved; but, if there be no remedy, prays that he may have fitting recompence.

April 3. 29. Journal, by Capt. Burley, of a cruise in the channel in the John and Fortune, from March 20 last to this day. He captured two small French ships, one of Conquet, laden with oranges and lemons, and the other of Harfleur, bound for the Bank. He also fell in with four French men of war, with whom he exchanged shots, but "four to one was too much; they were full of soldiers, and were too churlish for me to deal with."

April 4. 30. Speeches of the King and the Duke of Buckingham, at the Council table, on the proceedings of the House of Commons in reference to the grant of supply being communicated to his Majesty by the Councillors who were Members of that House. Indorsed by Sec. Coke, and probably a copy of the paper from which he reported these speeches to the House of Commons [Com. Journal, I., 879]. At the conclusion of the King's declaration, "that we should enjoy as great immunities and freedoms in his time as ever were possessed or had under the reign of any the best kings of this realm," it is here added, "this being uttered by the King, it took the Lords [of the Council] with such joy, that they had no powers to express words without tears, for gladness of hearts. The Duke of Buckingham, having been all the day ill-disposed in his health, and his countenance very sad, stood up and said:"—then follows the Duke's speech, as printed in the "Ephemeris Parliamentaria" and elsewhere.]

April 4. 31. Copy of the same Speeches, but without the addition above mentioned.

1628. Vol. C.

April 4. 32. Another similar copy, indorsed by Bishop Laud, as having been spoken when the King "heard the House had agreed upon five subsidies."

April 4. 33. Translation of the same Speeches into French, with an introduction which explains the occasion of their being spoken.

April 4. 34. Copy of the Duke of Buckingham's Speech, indorsed by Nicholas.

April 4. 35. Another copy.

April 4. Plymouth. 36. Sir James Bagg to Buckingham. That country cannot so well as the east parts afford corn, therefore recommends the bearer, Henry Chittey, of Chichester, for providing eight or ten thousand quarters of corn. Chittey is also about to petition the Duke for 470*l.*, for a ship of his taken by the Earl of Denbigh as a fire-ship. The Earl directed Bagg to write on his behalf.

April 4. 37. Officers of the Navy to the same. To procure 20 muskets and 20 halberds to be sent to the Clerk of the Cheque at Deptford, for the better securing of the King's storehouse there.

April 4. 38. Petition of the town of Dunwich to the Lord Duke of Buckingham's Excellence. Dunwich heretofore consisted of 52 parishes, all which are now swallowed up by the sea, save one, whose inhabitants are so poor that they live only by fishing in small boats. Having lost the greater part of their fishermen in the Isle of Rhé, and in the fleet of colliers lately cast away, and "fisherfaries," besides many taken by the Dunkirkers, they now want men to manage their fisher boats, and shall come to present ruin if any other press should come amongst them. Pray for a protection against impressment without the Duke's special warrant.

April 4. Whitehall. 39. Sec. Conway to Attorney General Heath. Recommends to his favourable notice Réné Fountaine, whose goods have been seized in respect of his recusancy, although he be a mere stranger, and not liable to that law. [Draft.]

April 4. Minute of the above. [Conway's Letter Book, p. 301.]

April 4. 40. Certificate of Capt. William Cooke and others. Having been employed to press seamen at Saltash, the Mayor commanded the warrant to be publicly read in his house, and coming into the street made an open oration that he did not know where to find a man, whereby the seamen avoided the press.

April 4. London. 41. [J. Brightwood ?] to Thomas Blacklo, at Rome. On March 28 he was informed of the taking of the Jesuits at Clerkenwell, and of a book of the Benedictines that goes secretly from hand to hand among them and their friends. The Jesuits that were apprehended were the same as were before named, except Knott and Floyd, who are thought to have been none of the company. They were all in number eight, at the least. This accident has given the Parliament colour of matter to work upon. The book of the Benedictines, called Mandatum, is by them reported to have been long ago sent to the Holy Office. He is to learn if that is true, and, in that case, to petition to have it viewed and censured, as containing many things worthy of censure, besides slanders and false imputations laid upon the Bishop of Chalcedon. Hopes he has received the Bishop's treatise, Pro Jure suo, sent with a copy for the Inquisition by means of the nuns of France. The Catalogue will be ready this week, if God spare him liberty who is employed in the writing of it out. Of Mr. Price's apprehension by Cross, supposes he heard long ago. He was the first stirrer of the business against the Bishop.

April 5. Buckingham to Sir John Drake. Warrant to sell tenths, of which an inventory was this day received from Sir John. [Minute. See Vol. cxv., p. 40*.]

April 5. Bristol. 42. William Buxton to Nicholas. All things are aboard, ready to depart with the first fair wind and weather. Sends a bill of exchange for 300*l.*, which he requests him to accept. The amount may be discounted out of moneys which Mr. Harbott is to pay his Grace. If Mr. Harbott had not proffered the money he must have taken it up from some other person, although very unwilling to be beholden to any of that town for the smallest courtesy. Has paid for everything but the beer, for which he had been prevented paying by being obliged to furnish the ships of these stiff-necked people with all kinds of stores. With his letter of March 16 sent Nicholas a pound of tobacco for a remembrance. Incloses,

42. 1. Bill of exchange above-mentioned, payable to William Harbott.

April 5. 43. G. L. Peblis to the same. The King had given him 1,000*l.* sterling. The Privy Seal was delivered to the Lord Treasurer, but nothing had been received. Prays Nicholas to remind the Lord Treasurer. The King had also commanded Lord Conway, in the presence of his Excellency [Buckingham] and Mr. Dalbier, to grant the writer a pension of 500*l.* per annum, and to make ready the letters necessary for that purpose; but this also remains unexecuted. Respecting the date of the pension, the author arrived in England at the end of last September, and the King gave Lord Conway the command in December. Fr.

April 6. The Strand. 44. Sir Francis Nethersole to Elizabeth Queen of Bohemia. On Friday sent a letter after Mr. Carleton to Gravesend. All the time since has been spent in devotion. Sends copy of the King's and Duke's speeches made on the report of the grant of the five subsidies. It will be read to-morrow in the Lower House, wherein Nethersole thinks the Duke is ill advised. Although the Parliament not yet quite past danger, in the opinion of wise men, advises the Queen to congratulate the King on its good success, especially because some have gone about to persuade the King that Nethersole has had a mind to play the brouillon, by introducing an oath of which he sends a copy, and also on another occasion. If they should prevail upon the King to complain to her Majesty, begs her to entreat the King to punish him, but to examine him first. As yet there has been no negative voice on any question in the Lower House. Begs the Queen to thank Lady Hatton for Nethersole's return. Incloses,

44. 1. Copy of the speeches of the King and the Duke of Buckingham, at the Council Table, on April 4, 1628; similar to No. 30.

April 6. The Hague. 45. J. Falkeett to Buckingham. Would have come to England to attend the Duke's commands, but cannot obtain permission of the States. Has suggested to the bearer a probable pretext for the Duke's sending for him.

April 6. Whitehall. 46. Sec. Conway to John Scandiver. He is to take up only 100 deer in Corselane Chase, and the rest of a number previously commanded in Malvern Chase. [Draft.]

April 6. Minute of the above. [Conway's Letter Book, p. 301.]

April 6. Plymouth. 47. Sir James Bagg to Nicholas. Acknowledges his favour in the business of Mohun, which he will requite. He desires his title to be of Boconnock if by the Heralds thought fit. Has written to the Duke on behalf of the Mayor of Saltash, sent for to answer the complaint of inattention to a press warrant. He is Bagg's friend; gave him, in opposition to Sir Richard Buller, their Recorder, and others, a burgess-ship now held by Sir Francis Cottington. Wishes his charges could be borne, that he might glory in his journey, and not grieve. Begs Nicholas to preserve his credit, and comfort his spirit.

April 7. 48. Answer of the King to the several clauses of the Petition of the Houses of Lords and Commons concerning matter of religion. [Draft, in the handwriting of Sec. Coke.]

April 7. [Whitehall.] 49. Sec. Conway to Sir Edward Payton and Sir Roger Thornton. To put out Coston and his family out of a little house, where the King's ducks are kept, at Kennet, near Newmarket, and deliver the possession thereof to one Mr. Foison, who has the charge of the King's game. [Draft, in the handwriting of Attorney General Heath.]

April 7. Minute of the above. [Conway's Letter Book, p. 301.]

April 7. 50. Capt. John Pennington to Nicholas. Sent the Duke propositions for maintaining a fleet abroad for three years. Would gladly know whether he has read the paper, and how he relishes it. Resolves not to wait on the Duke before Easter Monday, for on Easter Sunday purposes to receive the communion. In the meantime, begs Nicholas to put the Duke in mind of Pennington's business. He cannot get a particular from the auditor without a warrant from the Lord Treasurer, nor would that show the value. If the Duke would send for Sir Thomas Fanshaw he would resolve him. Begs him to remember warrants for the masts, and would be glad to know how businesses pass in the Parliament, and what preparations they shall go in hand with.

April 7. The St. George. 51. Capt. John Weddell to Nicholas. Are making ready to warp out the fleet, which consists of 15 sail of men-of-war, besides victuallers. The St. Andrew, the Garland, and the St. George go as admirals, in the rear whereof he is appointed. All ready to put to sea, but great want of seamen. The fleet less by half than was at first intended. Solicits appointment, on his return, to the squadron employed to keep the Channel, also employment for Capt. John Rowe.

April 7. 52. Opinion of John Stanle [Stanley], how the four ships appointed to waft the fishermen in their voyage to Iceland, Westmony, and the North Seas, should be employed. He desires Capt. Hooke to be their Admiral.

April 8. Plymouth. 53. Commissioners at Plymouth to the Council. If the Earl of Denbigh shall happen to be departed thence, as his earnest desire is, before the arrival of the soldiers out of Somerset, Dorset, and elsewhere, who are, in case of need, to be employed by him as seamen, the discharge of so many soldiers, without money to conduct them to their several countries, will be very prejudicial to the parts through which they shall pass. Desire the Lords, if the troops cannot be stopped where they are, to hasten some means for the prevention of this mischief.

April 8. Plymouth. 54. The same to Buckingham. That they have sometimes directions of difficult and dangerous execution they intimated to the Duke at his late being there. An example whereof they present to him in the circumstances mentioned in the preceding letter, and beg him to procure a timely remedy from the Board.

April 8. Plymouth. 55. Sir James Bagg to the same. The Earl now in the Sound, and awaits a wind. Incloses account of victuals intended to be convoyed. Calculates it will give one pound a day for 15,000 men for five months. Wishes it at Rochelle, and the ships returned to guard this coast. Fears the Spaniards will take advantage of their absence. Prays directions respecting the troops which are the subject of the two preceding letters. Thanks for the Duke's letter to him of the 4th inst., which gives him power to know and divulge the happy and blessed way of the Parliament and the graces of his high Majesty cast upon his people. The service that Mohun will do the Duke will make Bagg glad as long as Mohun continues an honest man, and will give him resolution to cut Mohun's throat when he proves otherwise. Incloses,

55. I. Tabular account of provisions prepared by Sir James Bagg to be transported to Rochelle, with the ships wherein they are laden.

55. II. Computation whereby it appears that the above provisions will suffice for 15,000 men for 165 days.

55. III. Account of provisions prepared for Rochelle in ships at Plymouth, Dartmouth, and other places.

April 8. On board the St. Andrew. 56. William Earl of Denbigh to Buckingham. Great want of men. The sixth man of all such as have been pressed appears not, though they have received both press and conduct money, which will force him to lessen the intended number of his ships. The ships with corn are not yet fully ready, and will be short of the Duke's expectations and those of the poor distressed Rochellers. Incloses particulars of Sir Francis Carew's and Mr. Burlamachi's stores ; those of Sir James Bagg the Duke will receive from himself. He and four or five more have warped into the Sound, and the rest are following. Incloses,

56. I. Particular of provisions prepared for Rochelle by Philip Burlamachi and Sir Francis Carew.

April 8. 57. Sir Peregrine Bertie to Sec. Conway. Certifies that Capt. Richard Bolles, Ensign to Sir Peregrine in the Low Countries, was called thence by Sir William St. Leger, to serve in the expedition to Cadiz on June 1, 1625.

April 8. 58. Certificate of Sec. Conway, in conformity with the facts respecting Capt. Richard Bolles stated in the preceding article. [Draft.]

April 8. Westminster. 59. Bishop Davenant, of Salisbury, to Nicholas. Recommends to him "this young gentleman," Mr. William Davenant, who has been employed in the wars abroad. He is the Bishop's near kinsman. He has the place of an ancient or lieutenant already, and when new regiments are raised hopes for further advancement.

April 8. The Stran 60. William Trumbull to Nicholas. Recommends Mr. John Carpenter, a young man, heretofore trained up under Sir Thomas Smith, a famous Clerk of the Council,—"I say famous, because I reverence his memory for his learning and other good parts,"—for appointment as purser in the Swiftsure, or the next ship that may fall vacant. Requests also that the Duke would give a pass to John Skinner, for his father Daniel Skinner, a merchant living at Calais, for a gelding.

April 8. Southampton. 61. John Ellzey to the same. Wrote by the last foot post that he had notified Mr. Pescod to pay the Duke's tenths of the sugar he bought, and that he had refused. Since then, Ellzey has received some unpleasant words, and a threat to be had up to the Parliament.

Vol. C.

1628. Has sent up part of the tenths of the Black Dog. Sixty-six bags of aniseed landed there, by Capt. Theophilus Wright, out of the Violet, of Lynn. Rumours that there ought to be a larger number of bags, and that Wright and Company conceal 60 or 70 pieces of Turkey "Grogerons."

April 8. Return of the names, residences, and descriptions of 100 men impressed in co. Somerset, and delivered to Thomas Everett, to be conducted to Plymouth. [See Vol. xlvi. No. 15.]

April 9. 62. Petition of George Earl of Shrewsbury, Thomas Viscount Savage, John Talbot, Sir John Curson, and John Lane, to the King. Dame Grace Fortescue demised the manors of Salden and others, in co. Bucks, to the petitioners, for payment of the debts of her late husband, Sir Francis Fortescue, and afterwards became a recusant convict. Pray the King to confirm the before-mentioned demise. Underwritten,

62. I. Reference to the Lord Treasurer and the Chancellor of the Exchequer, to ascertain whether the facts were correctly stated, and, if so, to give directions to the Attorney General accordingly. Whitehall, 1628, April 9.

62. II. Report of the Lord Treasurer and Chancellor of the Exchequer, giving Warrant to the Attorney General. 1628, July 14.

April 9. 63. Petition of John Briggs, master and owner of the St. Peter, of Gottenburgh, Sweden, to the King. His ship was burnt by the French in the Isle of Rhé, being then in the King's service. There is owing to him 300*l.*, for freight. Has been sixteen months from his wife and children, is 70 years of age, and has no means left to carry him home. Prays for immediate payment of the 300*l.*, and subsequent satisfaction for the loss of his ship and goods, to the value of 1,500*l.* [Underwritten is a reference to the Duke of Buckingham.]

April 9. [Plymouth.] 64. Edward Clarke to Buckingham. The King's ships intended for Rochelle are in equipage scarce fit for a merchant's voyage, without boats or any other usual helps to prevent the common stratagems of ordinary enemies, and the men are so disaffected to the service that they are more apt to run into a mutiny at sea than perform their duties. The number of ships will be only 12 sail, and the supply they convoy will hardly prove a month's provision for the town. Is it honourable or counsellable to put to sea after so much expectation, and with the hazard of so great a part of the King's strength by sea, in a place where they will be exposed not only to France but Spain, with not full 3,000 quarters of corn? The opinion of the most experienced men is against the adventure. Capt. Foran, who knows the place, assures him that with such force they will be beaten. If the Duke be resolved they should go, latitude of instructions should be given to Lord Denbigh. Does the Duke think so poor a supply worth Clarke's going? If so, he should be furnished with some argument to excuse the shortness of the supply to the town.

April 9. Romsey. 65. Capt. Henry Huncks to Sec. Conway. Has received the Secretary's command to deliver up such goods as he received of one Mr. Eastman, in trust for his wife. He has done so, except certain stuff for wearing apparel. Cannot tell how to apprehend Mr. Eastman, but he has been before the Commissioners, who have let him go free. Begs the Secretary to bring him forth of this business, into which he has ignorantly run himself.

April 9. Easton Neston. 66. Deputy Lieutenants of co. Northampton to Bishop Dove, of Peterborough. On receipt of a late list from the Bishop of such of the clergy as are charged with horses in the west part of the county, they find that, although there is a great expectation of the Lords of the Council for increasing the number, and also for their more complete furniture, by reason that his Majesty intends to take view of them, yet the Bishop has returned four horses short of the former number. They therefore return the list, with an account of the former service, that any defects may be supplied. [Copy.] Inclosed,

66. 1. Note of the clergy formerly charged with horse in the west division of co. Northampton.

[April 9.] 67. Answer explanatory of alterations in the list of clergy of the western division of co. Northampton, charged with horses for the trained bands.

April 9. 68. Capt. John Weddell, and others, to Sir Sackville Crow. Certificate of the services of William Finny, midshipman of the Rainbow.

[April 10.] 69. The King to the House of Commons. Message urging expedition. He has desired the Upper House to sit forenoon and after, to the intent that things now in agitation, together with his supply, may be finished before Easter. [Copy, in the handwriting of Sec. Coke].

[April 10?] 71. Petition of Capts. Robert Mills and John Smart, and their companies, to the Council. State the circumstances of the St. Peter and the Hope, of Hamburgh. The petitioners, being 140 persons, have now lived ashore four months upon this business. Pray the Lords to recall their former order to the Judge of the Admiralty, and to order him to proceed in a legal way, as he intended.

April 10. Whitehall. 72. Order of the King in Council, that 34 masts, prepared for the expedition to Rhé, and now in the charge of the Office of Ordnance, be delivered to the Officers of the Navy.

April 10. Buckingham to John Ellzey. Warrant to sell tenths, mentioned in a particular received from him this day. [Minute. See Vol. cxv., p. 41.]

[April 10.] [Whitehall.] 73. [Sec. Conway] to Bishop Laud, of Bath and Wells. Mr. Wood, a laborious minister of God's Word, has endured much trouble for seven years past by the misinformation of some malicious persons. Prays him to stand his friend and make an end of his troubles, which have been more than reason required. Wholly submits himself to the Bishop's goodness. [Draft.]

April 10. Minute of the same. [Conway's Letter Book, p. 301.]

[April 10.] [Whitehall.] [The same] to Sir Henry Marten. For his favourable assistance to Mr. Wood, the subject of the letter preceding. [Draft, written on the same paper as the draft of the letter to Bishop Laud; No. 73.]

April 10. Minute of the same. [Conway's Letter Book, p. 301.]

April 10. 75. The same to his Deputy Lieutenants of the Isle of Wight. Sends them a Commission of Oyer and Terminer, to enable them to proceed in a legal way to the punishment of soldiers billeted there who shall commit disorders. When offences are committed they are to be ready with a competent number of soldiers to see justice executed. If they doubt whether the soldiers can in such case be relied upon they are to certify the same. Understands the soldiers in the island feel themselves aggrieved, and desire to be removed. If that be so he will endeavour to procure their desire. [Copy.]

April 10. 76. Another copy of the same.

April 10. Bristol. 77. William Willett to Nicholas. Last tide there arrived in this port the Mary, of Bristol, with a Brazilman, a prize, laden with sugar, wood, and hides, the tenths of which cannot be less worth than 1,000*l.* The St. James is in King Road, expecting a fair wind, the provisions made by Mr. Buxton being aboard. God send them in safety to their port, where they have been long looked for. It is a pity the Phœnix should lie and consume in harbour at the King's charge.

April 10. 78. George Fielding and Richard Dike to the same. Money shall be paid to Mr. Oliver on the Duke's account as soon as they can unlade the ships, receive the goods and make sale of them. The accounts with Capt. Hawkeridge and Mr. Gabriel Marsh are not cleared, because the payments from them are delayed from time to time. From the former they have had some money, from Mr. Marsh never a penny. They fear this ill precedent in the Duke's servant renders others backward.

April 10. Portsmouth. 79. Mayor of Portsmouth to Dennis [Denzil] Fleming. Whilst he was in London, John Gastrell impressed 14 men there, and paid them press money and conduct money for Plymouth. One of them, John Maesson [Mason], returned home and hid himself. Having been found, he has been lodged in the town prison. Begs that speedy course may be taken with him. Some one must suffer for example.

April 10. Pendennis. 80. John Tresahar to Sir Robert Killigrew. Fragment of a letter. The stay continues, but they have no ship in the harbour, except one of London bound for Newfoundland to carry Lord Baltimore. Sir James Bagg frees all by his pass. Hannibal Bonython, Sir Francis Vivian's lieutenant at St. Mawes, troubles the harbour very much by forcing the captains of ships to appear thither.

April 10. 81. Certificate of Sir Pierce Crosby, that John O' Moeny [Mahoney?] was wounded and disabled at the assault of the citadel of St. Martin, in the Isle of Rhé.

April 11. 82. The House of Commons to the King. Upon petition exhibited in two former Parliaments concerning a charge set upon wine "without common consent in Parliament," for which the merchants were forced to enter into bond, the King promised them a satisfactory answer, yet in December last the said imposition was again demanded, and five merchants, refusing to pay the same, were, by the Council, committed to the Fleet. Pray that the bonds may be delivered up to be cancelled, the merchants be enlarged, and the imposition be absolutely taken off.

[April 11?] 83. Speech addressed to the House of Commons. The Speaker argues against any consideration of past misfortunes, which are impossible to be helped, but desires the House to settle some speedy course to uphold the ancient honour of the country.

April 11. On board the St. Andrew. 84. William Earl of Denbigh to Buckingham. The soldiers of the seven companies there have been disposed into the ships, but not without much murmuring and grudging, which was appeased by Sergeant Major Hone and the rest of the captains, who persuaded them, with fair and ill language together, to proceed cheerfully in an action so much concerning the honour of their King and country. Prays the Duke to be mindful of these gentlemen on the first occasion. Having their clothes and best things at pawn, he had impressed to them 100*l.* out of money sent down by Sir Sackville Crow for the fleet.

April 11. Whitecross Street. 85. Capt. Joshua Downing to Nicholas. The porter of the yard at Chatham was appointed by the Commissioners to execute the office until the Duke's return from Rhé. Does not conceive him to be very fitting for the place.

April 11. Lothbury. 86. Sir Robert Killigrew to the same. To remind the Duke of a promise he made to Capt. Pendue to put him in a better ship.

April 11. Easton Neston. 87. Deputy Lieutenants of co. Northampton to William Earl of Exeter. Pray for some speedy order, either for paying or removing the soldiers billeted in their county, or for both. The billeters, having no pay, begin to thrust out the soldiers, who commit some outrages and threaten more. [Indorsed are particulars of cases of refusal to billet. "If speedy order be not taken, the country and soldiers will fall by the ears together, for all the country refuseth to pay." Signed, "Henry Frodsham, Lieutenant to Serjeant Major Fowler."]

April 12. 88. Message from the King to the House of Commons, urging them to proceed in his business "without any more unnecessary delays." It concludes, "bidding you take heed that you do not force him by your tedious or needless delays to make an unpleasing end of these fair beginnings." [Copy, in the handwriting of Sec. Coke.]

April 12. 89. Draft of the above message, also in the handwriting of Sec. Coke, but corrected in many places by the King. The words quoted in the preceding article are among those inserted by the King.

April 12. 90. The Council to Sir William Uvedale, Treasurer of the Chamber. To pay to John Wynn, servant to the Keeper of the Council Chest and Records, 10*l.*, for his attendance and making pens for the use of the Council Board. [Copy, attested by Thomas Meautys.]

April 12. Buckingham to Sir John Drake. A prize ship, the Mary, of Dantzic, laden with masts, having been lately brought into Bronson, near Poole, he is to permit her to come about to the port of London. [Copy. See Vol. cxv., p. 40*.]

April 12. 91. Sec. Conway to Attorney General Heath. To prepare a grant to Patrick Maule, of the King's Bedchamber, for his life, of the keeping of the Great Park at Eltham, in the same manner as the same was granted in the fifth year of the late King to John Levingston, in reversion after Sir Thomas Walsingham. [Draft. Probably this letter was superseded by the following.]

April 12. [Whitehall.] 92. The same to the Clerk of the Signet. To prepare the grant mentioned in the preceding letter, but in the same form as it was formerly granted to Sir Thomas Walsingham the elder, lately deceased.

April 12. Minute of the preceding. [Conway's Letter Book, p. 301.]

April 12. Aldersgate Street. 93. Sir Henry Yelverton to [George Earl of Totness]. Thanks him for answering his humble suit on behalf of his son, with actions of performance rather than with hopes of expectation. Esteems it an infinite grace in her Majesty, and an inestimable favour in his Lordship, that his son is so well placed. If he carry himself humbly and faithfully in his duty and service to her Majesty he shall take pleasure in him.

to have been delivered in the House of Commons. The King's Speech on receiving the petition, as printed in the Parliamentary History, II., 286, concludes with a promise to make an answer in a convenient time. This passage does not appear in the speech as printed in the Ephemeris Parliamentaria, p. 53. If any answer was ever given it was probably that contained in the present paper, although it does not appear on the Journals.]

April 14. The Strand. 3. Sir Francis Nethersole to Elizabeth Queen of Bohemia. The Parliament's giving the King five subsidies astonished the Duke, yet when he recovered himself he spake something in Council to that purpose which her Majesty has seen, and a part whereof was delivered in the Lower House, whereupon Sir John Eliot took a handsome occasion to complain of the Duke's name being mingled with the King's upon all occasions. Afterwards, on printing the same speeches, Sir John renewed the same complaint, as others did some other, by dark intimations which belong to that story which, in his last, he told the Queen was not to be written, but which he has intrusted to a gentleman who will soon be with her. The Duke, finding he can neither subdue the Parliament by fear nor favour, is almost out of his wits to find withal that it gaineth credit with the King. If he have power to break it, it is thought he will do it quickly. The party is great against us, and that of the Papists not the least, who are said to have offered large sums still to enjoy the benefit they have by the leases made to them. It is hoped that the House will escape blowing up as miraculously as it did heretofore.

April 14. The Strand. 4. The same to the same. All men have been in much apprehension that the issue of this Parliament would be like the two last, but, being now in better hope, he resumes the narrative of its proceedings. The conference with the Lords concerning the liberty of the subject was very well performed, and by Sir Edward Coke, with some mixture of mirth, according to his manner, which was reported by Bishop Williams to the Lords with imitation of his gestures, &c. The King's Attorney argued for the King's power on Saturday last all day, and it is famed abroad that the King's Council will wash away all our precedents, answer our reasons, and expound the Statutes otherwise than we have done. Our men are confident they are not mistaken, but Sir Edward Coke has been forced to confess that he was of another opinion when he was Lord Chief Justice and a Privy Councillor. Answer of the Judges who gave sentence in the King's Bench against the gentlemen who demanded their Habeas Corpus. There is hope that the matter will not be determined against the subject in the Upper House. If it be, there is no hope of getting the subsidies to pass in ours. The King's answer to the petition concerning religion referred to a committee to advise of penning some law for the execution of what is granted. Petition presented against billeting soldiers, and a debate has arisen concerning the power of using martial law in time of peace. The King required the Houses to make no recess at Easter. His denial to the Commons was expressed in some anger, though that was suppressed. Sir Edward Coke moved to name the times of payment of the subsidies, which occasioned a debate of many hours. It had been rejected, but Sir Thomas Wentworth, who has the greatest sway in this Parliament, professed his desire to have something done; whereupon Sir Nathaniel Rich limited the time within one year, which passed with an addition that there should be no further motion on that subject until the matters relating to the liberty of the subject were determined. The next morning the King sent a message of sharp words, which was deemed a forerunner of dissolution, but the House turned it to advantage by appointing the Speaker to make an explanatory introduction to the petition against billeting. The King's answer. Lord Suffolk's accusation against Selden, and steps taken by the House of Commons thereon. Incloses,

4. I. Copy of the Petition of the House of Commons to the King, against billeting soldiers.

4. II. Speech addressed by the Speaker of the House of Commons to his Majesty, by direction of the House, on presenting the petition above named.

April 14. Aboard the Dreadnought. 5. Capt. Richard Plumleigh to Buckingham. In answer to some one who had informed the Duke that Plumleigh was disaffected to the Church of England, and therefore unfit for the command of a King's ship. He has sent the Duke, by Nicholas, a certificate when he last received the communion, and protests that he never held a tenet dissonant to the doctrine of the Reformed Churches.

April 14. Aboard the Dreadnought. 6. The same to Nicholas. In further refutation of the information above alluded to. When Plumleigh served the Archduchess, his public profession of the Protestant faith drew him into suspicion of being a spy. Appeals to his bringing up in Exeter College, Oxford, and the Inner Temple, and the knowledge of him possessed by Capt. Pennington. The informer can be no man, but some "gallimaufry, made up of fool, knave, and coward, which Plumleigh would gladly approve with his sword if he once durst discover his slanderous head." Now in Margate Road, ready to sail when the Earl of Carlisle chooses to come. The Dunkirkers have sunk a Holland man-of-war, and taken a ship of 22 guns, which were wafters of the North Sea fishers. Incloses,

6. I. Certificate of Humphrey Wheatley, vicar of Sir John's Margate, with Peter Rogers, his curate, and "Fabs. Digges, clerk of the passage," that Capt. Plumleigh, with his Lieutenant and servants, received the holy communion at that church on that Easter Day. 1628, April 13.

April 14. Out of a lady's pocket, at 7 at night. 8. Stephen Alcock to Richard King. Will be with him to-morrow morning at 7 o'clock. Prays him to be constant for George Robinson [for purser].

April 14. 9. Certificate of Richard Fell, Master of the Amity, of Ipswich, of the service of Joseph Briant as master's mate in that ship, from March 10, 1628, until April 7 inst., when he was arrested.

April 15. 10. Petition of James Lymbry to the "high and mighty Prince," the Duke of Buckingham. In the Isle of Rhé was appointed to the night-watch at sea for twelve weeks, and took some of the enemy's boats and a captain. The Duke released the captain, but promised the petitioner a reward. Prays for the same. [By the indorsement it would seem that a warrant was granted for 20*l. to be received from Capt. Mason.*]

April 15. Whitehall. 11. Sec. Conway to George Earl of Totness. The Lord Chamberlain having undertaken a plantation in the West Indies, has moved the King to bestow on him 100 barrels of powder, either freely or on his security for payment. The King desires to encourage the contemplated work, but requires information what store of powder is in hand, and what has been usual in similar cases. [Copy.]

April 15. Minute of the same. [Conway's Letter Book, p. 301.]

April 15. Charing Cross. 12. Sir Francis Cottington to Sec. Conway. A Spaniard, who pretends to have leave to go over with Lord Carlisle, desires Sir Francis to signify his name, that he may have a pass. It is "Don Gaspar Antonio de Alvarado y Velasco." He desires to carry with him two servants, Dennis Murphy and Christopher Pluckett.

April 15. Southampton. 13. John Ellzey to Nicholas. Acknowledges directions how to deal with Pescod and Woodcock. Although the former served him with a writ, yet he has found him more respective and mannerly than the other, from whom he has had some rough speeches, and thanked God we had a Parliament. Has no hope of any composition with them. Begs order how to proceed farther. Incloses appraisement of Capt. Noy's goods. Incloses,

13. 1. Appraisement of the Esther and the Catherine, with their goods, and underwritten account of the Duke's tenths.

April 15. Blandford. 14. Deputy Lieutenants of Dorset to Theophilus Earl of Suffolk, Lord Lieutenant. Received his order for impresting 100 men, to be sent to Plymouth, and also for sending away Colonel Fryer's regiment, billeted with them. Colonel Fryer removed out of the county on the 12th inst. They could not obtain above 70 men any way, except they should have sent away shepherds from their flocks, husbandmen from their ploughs, or poor labouring men from their wives and many children. Of those sent, they fear divers will run away from their conductor, or be refused when they come there. The country are so exasperated against the Deputy Lieutenants for non-payment of the money due for billeting that they have complained against them to Parliament. Beg that the 4,000*l.* now due may be paid, or, if not, that the Earl will not take it offensive if they join in petition with their countrymen to the King, being well assured that it is not his intention that other counties should be in some sort paid, and they be altogether neglected.

April 16. 15. Petition of Weymouth and Melcombe Regis to "the illustrious Prince, the Lord Duke of Buckingham." These towns are so seated that 200 ships of any burthen may ride there and land at all times, without tide. They are much decayed for want of trade, and in great danger of invasion. For many years together they and the town of Dorchester yielded the King 5,000*l.* per annum in customs. Pray that a convenient number of ordnance may be allowed them for their defence. Annexed,

15. I. Certificate of two Deputy Lieutenants of co. Dorset, that a fort erected on a hill called the North would be a great safety to the whole adjacent country. [Copy. Indorsed, in Nicholas's hand, "20 culverins and demy-culverins."]

April 16. 16. Petition of Mary, the wife of Richard Samburne, to "the illustrious Prince, George Duke of Buckingham." Petitioner's husband, having his whole estate at Caen in Normandy, crossed the seas in June last, purposing to ship his goods for England. The coming of the English fleet prevented his doing so. Prays for permission that he may now accomplish his intention.

April 16. Kingston, Isle of Wight. 17. Sir William Meux to Sec. Conway. Excuses himself for not accepting a Commission of Deputy Lieutenancy offered to him, in conjunction with Sir William Lisle.

April 16. 18. Sir William Russell to Nicholas. Recommends the bearer (unnamed) for appointment as a Purser.

April 16. Wadham College. 19. Dr. William Smyth to Bishop Laud, of Bath and Wells. Mr. Harrington has made the submission to Dr. Smyth enjoined by the college, but refused to make that formerly required by the Bishop on the ground of his having acquitted himself by oath in Chancery, but in proof thereof produced nothing but a blotted interlined paper. He says he has not the money awarded to the college. He promised security, but a week has elapsed, and nothing done. His carriage is somewhat calmer, which they conceive proceeds of mere fear. He excuses his unbecoming speeches from passion. That his fault was frequent will appear by the inclosed. Inclosed,

19. I. Statement of John Goodridge, Subwarden of Wadham College, Daniel Escott, and others, of words uttered by Mr. Harrington. Besides a threat of going to Parliament, he asserted that all who had been proctors were knaves, the Visitor amongst them, though he be a Privy Councillor. [Indorsed by Bishop Laud, "Mr. Harrington's lavish speeches witnessed."]

April 16. 20. Certificate of David Sinnot, formerly Captain of the English Guard attendant upon the late Count Mansfeldt, that Francis Startut, and his late brother John Startut, were in the service of the Count.

April 16. Queenborough. 21. Capt. John Duffell to Richard King, servant to Nicholas. Sends to his master and him, to each of them, two lobsters and two crabs, all alive. Solicits an appointment for William Pichor, and the Pursership of the Triumph for his son George Robinson.

April 16. 22. Names of Seamen in the Souche [Zouch ?] alias the Costly, of London.

April 17. Plymouth. 23. Sir James Bagg to Buckingham. The wind has been for some days the only stay of the Earl of Denbigh. Part of the provisions prove unserviceable, and a bark from Exeter has been sunk. Should not Burlamachi have directions to insure the barks and provisions? Is now about the soldiers' business. The malicious ignorance of the Duke's enemies makes the errors of others his works. Bagg endeavours to give them light, that it is the Duke's only care to do his Master's service with the least grievance to the people. Out of the new-levied men they take 220 to man the ships for the Downs; for the rest, they return them to their countries, not, as some would have it, only dismissing them, but Bagg has raised money to pay for their return at 8*d.* per man per day. Sir Thomas Fryer came yesterday, and is to march back again to-morrow. The Council should give warrants to Lieutenants of Counties to rebillet Sir Thomas Fryer's and the other returned soldiers.

April 17. Plymouth. 24. William Earl of Denbigh to the same. There is now only wanting a fair wind. News from France brought by fishermen, that the French King has four score sail of ships now before Rochelle. After conference with the Rochellers they brought them to half that number. Incloses list of his ships. Has been enforced for want of seamen to leave the Peter and John and the Loyalty behind. Has given command for the victualling of the ships for the Narrow Seas, which he leaves to Sir James Bagg. The great want is powder, which cannot be supplied there. It should be sent from the Tower by carrier.

April 17. 25. Dr. John Hassall to Sec. Conway. Solicits his mediation by the Duke to his Majesty for a preferment. His success will produce him special thanks from the Queen of Bohemia and Lord and Lady Vere, and will oblige that regiment wherein his Lordship was once the commander and the writer the preacher for eight years.

April 17. Southampton. 26. John Ellzey to Nicholas. There is arrived the Dolphin, Capt. William Scras, with two Granville boats as prizes; a third was cast away on the coast of France. There remain three of the Dutch ships to unlade. The Black Dog's goods he has sent up.

April 17. Plymouth. 27. Sir James Bagg to Nicholas. All things for the eleven ships shall be making ready for their despatch. Urges speedy orders to the counties to rebillet the soldiers returned to them. Doubts not to fit him with a pleasing nag, and against Strode and all his accusers to justify himself a loyal subject to his sovereign, and a faithful and affectionate servant to their master. Tell Grimes [Graham] that the Duke's horse is on the way for him.

April 17. Canterbury. 28. Mayor and Aldermen of Canterbury to the Council. They have received so many of the regiment of Sir Pierce Crosby as they were appointed to receive, and endeavour to billet them with their officers in the most convenient and equal manner. The seven persons under named refuse to billet the soldiers and officers appointed to them. The Council have appointed 3*s.* 6*d.* per week to be borne for every soldier, not naming the officers. Beg to know at what rates their charges are to be borne.

April 17. Canterbury. 29. The same to Philip Earl of Montgomery, Lord Lieutenant of Kent. Report the contents of the preceding letter. The soldiers are very unruly and discontented, disliking both their lodging and diet, and there is a general rumour that some of them have given out that our fasting day, being next Monday, shall be a black day among us, which is the more feared because they refuse to go to our church, and, being armed, may take occasion the more easily to do mischief on that day, when the people are assembled in humiliation and prayer. Beg him to take such order that they may perform that holy exercise in safety. Send an examination of Peter Goring, now remaining in their prison, who had escaped unexamined from Margate, where he landed; also a letter which he endeavoured to send to Mr. Philip Roper. Inclose,

29. I. Examination of Peter Goring. Came across the seas with prisoners from Dunkirk. Refuses to take the Oath of Allegiance and Supremacy. 1628, April 16.

29. II. Peter Goring to Philip Roper. Had promised to kiss his hands from some Walloon friends when his brother Sir William lived at Cambray. Informs him of his imprisonment, and begs him to visit him. 1628, April 16.

April 17. Newcastle. 30. John Goodwyn, Edmund Morgan, and William Smith, captains of the ships appointed to convoy the Newcastle ships, to Sir John Savile. On Easter Day two of them chased a Dunkirk man-of-war, but were outsailed by him. On standing in to the shore, they met five more of them, great ships, and of too much force for them to deal withal. French men-of-war are also said for certain to lie upon the coast. Pray that more ships may be set forth, otherwise they are like to find the coasts too hot.

April 17. 31. Anthony Tutchen to [Nicholas]. Is willing to resign his place of one of the Four Masters of Attendance to Peter White.

April 18. Buckingham to Richard Streater. Appointment to be collector of the Duke's tenths for Sussex, on the recommendation of Mr. Alford. [Minute. See Vol. CXV., p. 41*.]

April 18. 32. Petition of Francis Boudewin and others, owners of the St. Nicholas alias the King David, to "the high and mighty Prince," George Duke of Buckingham. The St. Nicholas sailed from the Texel to Venice, and thence for Victoria, in the Gulf of Venice, thence for Naples and other places, and ultimately, being laden with salt in Sicily, was returning to Amsterdam, when she was taken by Capt. Syell, and claimed as prize on the ground that she has carried corn from one part to another of the dominions of Spain, which is not contrary to the treaty of Southampton or the King's proclamation. Pray for the ship's release. [Underwritten is a reference to Sir Henry Marten, to do justice with expedition.]

April 18. 33. Petition of Robert Adamson, Henry Davison, and John Curtis, captains and masters of the Diana and the Mary, of Portsmouth, to the same. Their ships, having been taken up to transport Sir Philip Carteret to Jersey, were captured by the Dunkirkers, amongst whom they have suffered imprisonment, and been constrained to engage themselves for money to bring them and their servants home. Pray payment of their wages or money to discharge their engagements. [Underwritten is a reference to the Officers of the Navy, to examine what has been usual in such cases. For their report, see 1628, May 24, Vol. CV., No. 3.]

April 18. 34. Petition of Capt. Thomas Dixon to the same. Prays for the Duke's letter to the Lord Mayor and Aldermen of London, to appoint him Muster-master of the train bands.

April 18. Nicholas to Mr. Streatton [Richard Streater]. Sends him the Duke's warrant for collecting his tenths in co. Sussex. Mr. Alford recommended him. He is to send up inventories of all that comes to his hand. The Duke allows five in the hundred to the collector besides necessary expenses. [Copy. Nicholas's Letter Book, p. 73.]

April 18. Wells. 35. Thomas Grove to Sir Richard Grenville. Has sent away the 200 soldiers to Plymouth, under the command of Capt. Long. Insolent carriage of Lieut. Locke. Great distraction in the country. Every man refuses to pay any longer, and the billeters threaten to turn the soldiers out of doors. They have begun there already, and what the issue will be the Lord knows. In many places the people threaten to beat the soldiers out of the country. Suggests application to the Council. Capt. Gates's lieutenant hurt a soldier that mutinied and would not march without shoes and stockings, for which he is in durance. The writer has done his best to get him set at liberty, but cannot prevail. They do not understand martial law, neither will allow of it.

April 19. Westminster. 36. The King to Buckingham, Lieutenant and Warden of the Cinque Ports. Has understood with what diligence and care he has provided for the billeting of soldiers sent into his country, which the King graciously accepts. It was not the King's purpose to lay upon any of his subjects the charge which has fallen out by occasion of this billeting. He hoped before this time to have been enabled to give them due contentment, and to have eased them by drawing away the soldiers into action, as he still intends to do. He will not fail to press expedition herein, and in the meantime he requires the Duke to continue his diligence in providing for the soldiers only for a short time. The King has already given order for their removal, and in the meantime "let not this small delay seem grievous to the country, ... but take care, as becometh lovers of their prince and country, to keep things in peace and due order."

April 19. 37. William Earl of Denbigh to the same. According to an Order of Council received late last night, but dated the 12th inst., he purposes with first opportunity to put to sea, which he has attended these six or seven days. Begs the Duke to assure their Lordships that he will not omit the least opportunity to perform their commands. Has sent an examination of two Englishmen, landed near Foy, by Capt. Chappernoune [Champernown] to the Lords.

April 19. 38. Stephen Alcock to Nicholas. Recommends Mr. Hawthorn for a purser's place.

April 19. Bristol. 39. Capt. William Buxton to [Nicholas?]. Incloses a letter, from which it appears that a certain Flemish ship taken by Capt. Ellis and Capt. Cooke [Locke] had been forced by stress of weather into Ireland, and had there been assailed in harbour by Capt. Jones and Capt. Hill, where they all together spoiled and wasted the goods of the said prize. Suggests a warrant from the Lord Admiral to the Lord President of Munster to bring her into Bristol. Has overcome all his business, and the ships have been ready these ten days waiting for a wind. Is forced to watch them, for the men run away so fast. Incloses,

39. 1. Capts. Walter Ellis and John Locke to Nicholas. Solicit him to procure the warrant above mentioned for John Walter to bring the ship from Kinsale to Bristol.

April 19. 40. Accompt of money paid to Sir George Goring, now Lord Goring, up to this day, by John Harrison, out of the impost of sugars for the year ended at Christmas, 1627. Total payments, 5,297*l.* 8*s.* 1*d.*, which exceed the receipts by 19*l.* 4*s.*

April 20. Whitehall. 41. The King to Thomas Lord Coventry, Lord Keeper. Warrant to issue a writ for summoning Sir Edward Conway to the present Parliament. [Draft, partially mutilated. It was prepared in blank, and forwarded to Mr. Weld, Lord Conway's Secretary, by some person whose signature is worn away by damp.]

1628. VOL. CI.

April 20. 42. John Jacop Janson [Jacob Johnson, the diver] to Nicholas. Reports, that by the agreement my Lord [the Duke] was to have one fourth of the iron pieces and one third of the brass. Begs him to communicate this to Sir John Hippisley.

April 20. The Exchange. 43. John Hope to ———. The Earl of Carlisle not yet gone, though this and the next days, as they run, are still named for his journey. Some think he will not go suddenly, because Walter Montagu is set free from France, and arrived in our Court. The King says he has done him exceeding good service, but it can be nothing worth that such a messenger can bring home. Nor can it be expected that the Earl of Carlisle should do wonders, especially if we say true that he is sent away only to be put out of the way, and to be ruined for doing the Duke ill offices when he was at Rhé. For putting him off for the better access to his lady, it needed not, for he was quiet enough with all was done by her. To content them both the better, she hath lately [had] given [to] her 2,000*l.* pension, which perhaps will never be paid her, for, in the writer's opinion, he will not be half his journey before she be turned out of the Court, for the Duke's mother, wife, and sister hate her, not only for the Duke's intimacy with her, but also that she has the Queen's heart above them. She has already brought her to paint, and in time will lead her into more debaucheries. The great Parliament still sits, and, that they may sit, they name the Duke with reverence. They have voted a consent to give five subsidies within a year, and if the King will yield the liberty of the subject he may have a new piecing with us at this present, and the Duke never be named in complaint; but these things are in doing, not done. The Duke has wrought the Earls of Arundel, Bristol, Essex, and Hertford, and the Bishop of Lincoln, to be still; but if he should attempt a legal purgation, to free him from after questions, the Lower House would begin again. No word of any great action this summer. The Earl of Denbigh's fleet cannot go out for want of men. [Indorsed by Sec. Coke as having been intended for "some at Brussels," and it is added, "Intercepted with the Spanish letter to Nicholas Colle."]

April 21. Whitehall. 44. Order of the King in Council, that money be forthwith issued for satisfaction of the train of artillery and the horse troops employed in the expedition to Rhé, and that the Duke, general of the army, should discharge the said train and troopers as soon as money may possibly be had.

April 21. Whitehall. 45. Buckingham to the Treasurer, Comptroller, Surveyor, and Clerk, principal Officers of the Navy. In the expedition to Rhé, the Earl of Lindsey furnished the seamen of the Rainbow with wine, stockings, shoes, and shirts. They are to cause speedy payment to be made for the same.

April 21. Cornbury Park. 46. Henry Earl of Danby to Buckingham. The saltpetre-men having grievously oppressed the people of those parts, even exceeding the limits of the large patent granted to the Duke and the Earl of Totness, were convented at the Quarter Sessions; but the Earl, to prevent delay of supplies of saltpetre, and to withhold complaint which might distract the parliamentary proceedings, advised the suspense of punishment, presuming the Duke will take care to reform their lewd courses; and the rather because Stevens, the principal master of this rabble, privately confessed that he pays the Duke 1,700*l.* yearly rent for this exorbitant commission, which made the Earl much the more willing to interpose, as not forgetful of the promises passed between him and the Duke.

April 21. Plymouth. 47. Sir James Bagg to Buckingham. Incloses examination of one Sampson, lately returned from Spain through France, by way of of St. Malo; also the last news from Rochelle, by the report of Mons. de St. Martin; and a copy of a letter written in characters from the mayor to their agents here. Lord Denbigh is yet kept by a cross wind. Bagg is about to hasten to the Duke, to pass his accompt, and get in the money he has disbursed. Understands that honest Mr. Strode has been pleased to put him up in Parliament. When most examined he shall best appear to be the Duke's faithful servant, and nothing shall be more his delight than to let the world know that he is so. Incloses,

47. I. Examination of John Sampson, of Fowey, sailor, taken there April 19, 1628, by Ralph Bird. He details the state of military preparation general throughout Spain. The levies are openly stated to be for England or Ireland. Measures taken in France for the reduction of Rochelle. [Copy.]

47. II. Report of Mons. de St. Martin, who came out of Rochelle, April $\frac{4}{14}$ inst. The French King's army engaged in the siege of that city consisted of eight or ten thousand horse and foot, and the fleet of from 20 to 25 ships. The palisado, and ships sunk before the entrance to the harbour, had been broken by storm, but had been strengthened with 17 or 18 other ships fastened together. The Rochellers are preparing fire-ships to go forth as soon as the English fleet shall appear. [Copy.]

47. III. Mayor and Council of Rochelle to their Deputies in England. Urge speedy relief. The bread and all other victuals are spent, and the works of the enemy are made stronger every day. "In the name of God, come with speed, and bring good store of fireworks to overthrow their practices." 1628, April $\frac{4}{14}$. [Deciphered copy.]

April 21. Whitehall. 48. Sec. Conway to Attorney General Heath. To prepare a bill for the King's signature, for revocation of the commission of June 4, in the first year of the King's reign, directed to Sec. Coke and others, concerning the navy, with a confirmation of all the acts of the commissioners, and a power to subscribe all bills which arose in their time. [Copy.]

1628. Vol. CI.

April 21. [Whitehall.] 49. Sec. Conway to Deputy Lieutenants of co. Hants. Sends copy of the King's letter, in which he graciously accepts their care in billeting the soldiers, and states his intention to repay what has been disbursed, and to remove the troops as soon as may be. The season of the year and the King's designs will shortly call them into action. If they will send an account of the billet money the Secretary will make the best use he can of it to procure payment. [It appears from an indorsement that a similar letter was written to the Deputy Lieutenants of the Isle of Wight.] [Copy.]

April 21. Ash. 50. Sir John Drake to Nicholas. Understands a messenger is sent for Cuttance, for his contempt. Justly deserves to be punished, for the business, through his obstinacy, has received a great hindrance. The corn is ready to go for Plymouth, but men cannot be got. Thinks Nicholas has heard of the Brazil prize, brought into Bristol, with 300 chests of sugar and some Brazil wood.

April 21. Bristol. 51. William Willett to the same. This tide there is a prize brought in there by the Comfort, a Brazilman, with 540 chests of sugar. It is the best prize that has come thither since letters of marque were granted.

April 21. 52. James Harrington to Bishop Laud, of Bath and Wells. Requests that he may not be mulcted 4*l.* of his allowance as a fellow, over and above the 20 marks assessed upon him by the Bishop, the former sum having accrued during his suspension by the Bishop, until he answered such things as were objected against him.

April 21. Witham [Friary]. 53. Robert Hopton to John Thoroughgood. Begs him to acquaint the Lord Lieutenant in what desperate case they stand with the billeted soldiers. It is held by Parliament-men so dangerous to billet any, as that they refuse to join in doing anything therein; and yesterday the captain who has a company billeted in Wells sent word that the billeters would presently turn their soldiers out of their houses, which if they do, all other towns will do the like, and the country will now generally refuse payment of money.

April 22. The Strand. 54. Sir Francis Nethersole to the Queen of Bohemia. If he could stay his writing till to-morrow noon he should be able to tell the issue of the Parliament, which he will not now take on him to foretell. A few days after his last, Sec. Coke made a motion wherein he showed that all the King's affairs were hindered by the stop in the matter of supply, and let us know that the King could not give an answer to our petition concerning billeting soldiers until we made some further progress in the business of the subsidies. He was seconded by the rest of the Privy Council, and yet his motion fell to the ground without opposition, the House expressing their resolution, by their silence, not to move in the matter of supply until they were satisfied on the points of liberty of persons and goods preferred to the Lords. Touching these points, there have been conferences, and the King's Attorney has argued for the King. Yesterday the Lords began to give sentence, but spent the 1628. day in resolving that the King and his Council have power to commit, and that they ought not to commit without cause. The question whether the cause ought to be expressed in the warrant of commitment was put off till this day. It having appeared by yesterday's debate that the plurality of voices in the Upper House would be for the King, the Commons sent that day a message for a conference. After long and hot disputation, it was obtained that we shall have conference to-morrow, to propound, as they say, ways of accommodation. If Capt. Coke, as James I. was wont to call him, may have the leading of their House, they will not yield to any terms, for at the conference, he said, the live child is ours. Prays that God may make them more wise and moderate than they have been, else they are all lost, and the Queen of Bohemia in the first place. Debate as to the lawfulness of granting commissions of martial law in time of peace. The demand of justice against Lord Suffolk for words spoken against Selden is delayed till a time of more leisure. Serjeant Ashley having said that the resolutions of the Commons would turn monarchy into anarchy, was committed, and has been enjoined to make submission at the bar.

[April 22.] 55. [Thomas Locke ?] to the Queen of Bohemia. Reports the proceedings in House of Lords, which form a subject of the preceding letter, with some later additions. The words said to have been spoken by the Earl of Suffolk were, "What! will not the Lower House hang Selden?" and being asked "Why?" he answered, "For rasing records, to the end to sow sedition between the King and his people." Submission of Serjeant Ashley. Forces under command of the Earl of Denbigh. Has taken with him 2,200 land soldiers, to serve as mariners. Sir Thomas Coventry, Sir Richard Weston, Sir Edward Howard, and Sir George Goring, who, they say, shall be Lord Chamberlain to the Queen, are made barons.

April 22. 56. Sir James Bagg to Buckingham. Has made ready the bodies of the eleven ships. They want only men and victuals. The victuals are left to Mr. Lieutenant's man. As soon as Bagg can settle an order for the manning of them he will speed to the Duke. Requests the Duke to forward Bagg's desire that his son, Slanning, may accompany Lord Carlisle. Has sent his servant Biggs to receive such money as the times and the Duke can spare for the preservation of Bagg's credit. Prays for a blessed end to this Parliament, which he wishes may be the garden of the King's delights, but still so as in it the roses of his prerogative be preserved, for what his Majesty now consents unto binds him, and hardly will his recall what he gives from himself. Wishes he were with the Duke.

April 22. 57. Petition of James Corneliotson Lootes, and partners, to Buckingham. Petitioners freighted the Greyhound, of Enckhuysen, for Ireland, whence she carried pilchards to Marseilles, where she was laden with oils for Amsterdam. In her voyage she was captured by Capt. Ellis, of Bristol, who put aboard of her some of his own men, and sent her to Ireland. Pray that Capt. Ellis may be ordered to make restitution. [Underwritten is a reference to the Judge of the Admiralty to do justice with all possible expedition.]

April 22. 58. Agreement between Sec. Conway, as brother, heir, and administrator of Sir Fulke Conway, and Dame Amy, widow of the said Sir Fulke, for securing to her one moiety of the effects of Sir Fulke, subject to certain payments. The effects consisted principally of statutes-merchant, acknowledged in Ireland by Sir Moses Hill, and his sons Peter Hill and Arthur Hill, for securing 8,205*l.* 15*s.* 2*d.*, and a debt of 1,761*l.* 14*s.* 2¼*d.* due from the King to Sir Fulke for pay and entertainment in Ireland. This agreement was entered into in performance of certain articles formerly made between the parties on the mediation of the Duke of Buckingham.

April 22. Plymouth. 59. Sir James Bagg to Nicholas. Recapitulates the subjects alluded to in his letter of this day to the Duke. Has written to Ashburnham and Graham respecting his son Slanning's going with Lord Carlisle, and desires Nicholas also to lend his hand.

April 22. Southampton. 60. John Ellzey to the same. Reports on prize affairs at Southampton, and especially respecting the sugars bought by Pescod. Certificates given in that matter by the Theobalds, and the Customer of Southampton, are false, to the Duke's loss of 500*l.* With reference to Capt. Noy's prize, desires to know whether the Duke is to pay strangers' customs. Incloses, 60. I. Copies of appraisements of the Esther and Katharine, (297*l.* 16*s.* 8*d.*), and Louis (520*l.*), being all prize vessels at Southampton.

60. II. Original appraisement of the Louis, with account of the Duke's tenths received by Ellzey.

April 22. Southampton. 61. William Luttrell to William Weld. Is sorry to be troublesome to him and Lord Conway. Explains his wants, and solicits the loan of 40*s.*

April 22. 62. Particulars, by Capt. Heydon, concerning Thomas Humphreys and David Portius, with Nicholas Guerlo and one Dehund, engineers in the service of England.

April 23. Whitehall. 63. Buckingham to Henry Earl of Manchester. Certifies that the soldiers mentioned in the inclosed list were all maimed in the late expedition to Rhé. Incloses,

63. I. List of eight maimed soldiers, with particulars of their service; all recommended for pensions for life from their several counties.

April 23. 64. Draft of the list inclosed in the preceding letter, with three additional names mentioned in Buckingham's similar letter to the Lord President on the 25th inst. [See Vol. cii., No. 18.]

April 23. Whitehall. 65. Sec. Conway to the Commissioners for billeting Soldiers in Hants. Copy of a letter from the King inclosed will acquaint them with the necessity for billeting in the town of Southampton the two companies lately arrived on that coast from Ireland, and part of Lord Morton's regiment, as also that the service is to be performed effectually; with the King's promise that the town shall be speedily repaid. [Copy.]

April 23. 66. William Hunton to his brother [in-law] Nicholas. Sir George Wroughton, by means of Giles Mompesson the projector, has turned over certain bonds of the writer to the King, and now labours by the same projector to induce Endymion Porter to beg the debt of the King, and to obtain letters patent for raising it out of Hunton's lands. Begs Nicholas to dissuade Porter from embarking in the business.

April 23. Canterbury. 67. Mayor and Aldermen of Canterbury to Philip Earl of Montgomery, Lord Lieutenant of co. Kent. Have not received any letters from the Council concerning the refusers whom they complained of. Thomas Scott, a burgess remaining in London, utterly refuses to billet any of the soldiers, or to contribute towards billeting, and many, seeing his example, will billet no longer. Pray for speedy order that these refusers may be conformed.

April 23. 68. Account of Saltpetre brought into his Majesty's store by the saltpetremen, from August 3, 1627, to the last of December following. "John Milton" stands third in the list of saltpetremen. His deliveries had amounted to 73 cwt. 2 qrs. 23 lbs., which is said to be 47 cwt. 1 qr. 5 lbs. less than his required proportion.

April 23. 69. Inventory and Valuation of Goods seized in the Jesuits' College at Clerkenwell, on March 15, 1628, and this day appraised by Justinian Povey, George Long, and Humphrey Cross, with certain assistants. Total valuation 164*l.*, exclusive of 7*l.* 13*s.* 9*d.*, found in ready money, and coals valued at 1*l.* 18*s.*

April 23. 70. Note of things missing from the Jesuits' College at Clerkenwell, with various additions and alterations in the handwriting of Sec. Coke.

for the King's household, and the relief of the town; three of them were taken by a French man-of-war, before their faces. Inclose,

1. I. Mayor of Sandwich to the Mayor of Hythe. Like well the course they of Hythe have taken. They of Sandwich have chosen Henry Foster to go to London to their burgesses, to make way to the Lords of the Council for their relief from this burthen. They have at present 50 soldiers, and have kept them eight weeks. 1628, April 9.

April 24. Buckingham to John Ellzey. Warrant to sell tenths of three prizes. [Minute. See Vol. CXV., p. 41*.]

April 24. The Savoy. 2. George Earl of Totness to Buckingham. Sent, by Sir Thomas Stafford, a letter of reasons to induce the Duke to be the means of dissolving the decree of the Council for sale of the powder made by Mr. Evelyn. Beseeches him to take it into his serious consideration, that its continuance may not evermore keep the King's store weak. Is glad there is a committee of the Lords appointed to debate the business, and that he is not one of them. Should be sorry to appear contrary to the Duke. Had no other object, next to the common safety, than the preservation of the Duke and himself from blame.

April 24. 3. Petition of the Train of Artillery in the late Expedition to the Isle of Rhé to the same. They, being but a small remainder, are more miserable than those cut off, having no allowances, nor a great part of them any wages or means at all for the whole service, and yet tied to hourly attendance. Pray that they may be paid.

April 24. 4. Petition of Nicholas Pescod, of Southampton, and his partners, to the same. Capt. Theophilus and Capt. Daniel Theobald, owners of the Hope, of Flushing, brought to Cowes a Portugese carvel, with 200 chests of sugar, the greatest part of which, being in fear of the Dunkirkers, they sold to the petitioners, reserving only 36 chests to pay the duties due to the Admiralty of Holland. The Duke's deputy at Southampton demands of the petitioners the tenths of those sugars. Pray that he may be required to forbear his demand.

April 24. 5. Note of the manner in which 7*l.* 14*s.*, given by the Duke of Buckingham to his yeomen servants, was divided among them.

April 24. 6. Edward Boate to Nicholas. For promotion for himself and his son. Alludes to the recent deaths of Mr. Clun and Mr. Reade, and the reported probability of the dismissal of Bryan Wynn, purser to the Entrance.

April 24. The Spread Eagle, Gracechurch Street. 7. Benjamin Cooper to William Weld, Secretary to Lord Conway. Sends him a copy of Dr. Hassall's letter to Lord Conway [see 1628, April 17, Vol. CI., No. 25], soliciting a reversion of the deanery of Norwich, and begs him to be mindful of that business.

April 25. 10. Copy of the same.

April 25. 11. Another copy.

April 25. Two other copies, written on the same papers as Vol. c., Nos. 22 and 23.

April 25. 12. Another copy, indorsed "The Parliament's proposition to his Majesty."

April 25. 13. Another copy, indorsed by Sec. Coke, "Demands in Parliament."

April 25. 14. Another copy, indorsed by Bishop Laud, as follows:—"The five Propositions sent to the Lower House about accommodation in the business concerning the liberty of the subject. Penned by Dr. Harsnet, Bishop of Norwich." Besides the propositions, this paper contains comments upon them in the same handwriting. Bishop Laud has also written against the first of the propositions, which affirmed that Magna Charta and the six explanatory statutes were still in force:—"Yea, but salvo jure Coronæ nostræ is intended in all oaths and promises exacted from a sovereign." And against the second proposition, which solicited a declaration from the King that every free subject had a fundamental propriety in his goods, and a fundamental liberty of his person, Bishop Laud has written:—"But deprivable of them upon just cause, and so fiscal."

April 25. 15. Copy of the same.

April 25. Exeter. 16. Commissioners for the Loan in co. Devon to the Council. They have returned the books and bonds by Sir George Chudleigh, who has taken such pains as they hope will deserve the King's and the Council's good approbation. Hope his account will be despatched, and he sent back again, for in these troublesome times there will be great need of him in that county.

April 25. Office of the Ordnance. 17. Report of Officers of the Ordnance to the Lord President of the Council, concerning the 120 barrels of powder to be sent to Plymouth. Have made diligent inquiry after the most speedy conveyance by land, but can find but six oxen teams, and those of Somersetshire, the owners being willing to undertake the service, yet alleging their cattle to be unable to travel those hard ways, and that it is impossible for their wains to pass Exeter, from whence the powder must be conveyed to Plymouth on horseback. Suggest the transfer of the powder required from Portsmouth by sea.

18. 1. List of four maimed soldiers, with particulars of their service, and names of public authorities deemed bound to procure them pensions.

April 25. Whitehall. 19. Sec. Conway to Attorney General Heath. The King has been moved to pardon John Graham, Ensign to a company of soldiers billeted in co. Northampton, for killing a man there. The King will not pardon him before trial, but wishes him to be removed by Habeas Corpus, and tried in the King's Bench.

April 25. Minute of the same. [Conway's Letter Book, p. 302.]

April 25. Nicholas to John Ellzey. Concerning Pescod's business, is again referred to speak with the States Ambassador, and till he has done so cannot get a final order. Shall never consent that the Duke should pay strangers' custom. The law is, not that out of foreign commodities double custom should be paid, but that strangers shall pay double custom. [Copy. Nicholas's Letter Book, p. 73.]

April 25. Aboard the St. James, in King Road. 20. Capt. Richard Fogg to Nicholas. The ships he is to convoy to Plymouth could not be made ready until that day. When wind and weather permit, they will proceed according to his instructions. Capt. Buxton had taken extraordinary pains. A French man-of-war has taken some barks off Lundy. Hope they shall meet with him.

April 25. Tehidie. 21. Francis Bassett to the same. Opposes the application of one Trimwith, a Cornishman, to have a ship restored to him, which was sold more than four years since by Order of the High Court of Admiralty.

April 25. 22. Attested copy of the record of the conviction of Grace Jones, tried at the Justice Hall, in the Old Bailey, for stealing six pounds in money, the property of Robert Stanton.

April 25. 23. The like of Edwin Scroope, tried at the same place, for stealing "a red baize Polony coat," and "a black stitched taffeta Polony coat laced with silver lace," with a fan, a velvet pincushion, two looking-glasses, a pair of velvet slippers, a beaver hat with a silver hat-band, a garter of silk and gold, a pair of cornelian bracelets, a pair of pomander bracelets, and a jet bracelet, the property of Elizabeth Mainstey.

April 26. Chester. 24. Sir John Bridgeman and Sir Marmaduke Lloyd to the Council. In pursuance of their letters of February 13 last, they have reprieved John Wickstead, and called before them Hugh Wickstead. The former pardon is void under the Stat. 10 Edward III., but John Wickstead prays that it may be renewed so as to be allowed at the next assizes.

April 26. Chester. 25. The same to the same. Report, on a complaint of Thomas Birchley, a citizen of Chester, against Sir Randall Mainwaring, referred to the writers by the Council. The act complained of was a punishment inflicted by order of the Corporation during the mayoralty of Sir Randall. Birchley desires to sue in formâ pauperis, which is to be allowed when the referees are ascertained of his poverty.

[April 26 ?] 26. Petition of Sir Francis Ashley, King's Serjeant, to the Duke of Buckingham. Doubts not the Duke is informed how the Lords have disposed of him, which proceeds from their favour, to prevent farther affliction intended towards him. If he has erred in form, he hopes his submission may obtain a favourable dispensation, but for the matter, if he be in error, he shall die an heretic. Two of the three points for which they contended prevailed at the last conference; the third, for expression of the cause of commitment, which he shall ever deny to be fit in all cases, remains in difference. Prays the Duke to set him right in the King's good opinion.

April 26. 27. Petition of Abigail, widow of Walter Priest, to "the illustrious Prince, George Duke of Buckingham." Walter Priest was employed during the expedition to the Isle of Rhé as Surgeon to the Duke. He has died since his return, leaving the petitioner and two children with small means. Prays that she may receive the money due for her husband's service. [Underwritten is an order to the Treasurer of the Army to pay the amount.]

April 26. 28. Sec. Conway to Sir Nicholas Hyde, Chief Justice of the King's Bench. The King, being moved for a pardon to [Robert] Ayres, for killing a man "at Saffan in Suffolk," requires to be certified what jury passed thereon, and whether it be a fit case for his Majesty's pardon. [Copy.]

April 26. Minute of the same. [Conway's Letter Book, p. 302.]

April 26. 29. Note, by Mr. Potts, Master of the Royal Hounds, to Sec. Conway, requesting him to procure a pardon for the above-named Robert Ayres, described as "the younger of Ely," convicted of a manslaughter at Soffam [Swaffham], co. Norfolk.

April 26. 30. William Burrell to Nicholas. The Officers of the Navy are in hand to displace such pursers as do not in person attend their ships. Solicits that the office held by Bryan Wynn, of the Happy Entrance, now employed in Ireland, may not be disposed of until he send word whether he will execute it himself or resign to some other. In the latter case, recommends the bearer, who is willing to deal with Wynn for his office.

April 26. The Tower. 31. Sir Allen Apsley to the same. Payments made to Sir James Bagg. Can get no accompts from him. On Wednesday last he made a great noise and thunder in sending into the country to buy a huge mountain of beeves, which, after sore labour and outcry, has brought forth a little hill of some 14 beeves, at the most 84*l.* 4,369*l.* needed for present services. Neither he nor his deputies can have credit for 5*l.* Suggests the discharge of the men and ships at Plymouth appointed for the Narrow Seas, and likewise the four ships appointed for the northward, which will effect a saving of 3,090*l.*—no despicable sum, especially seeing it now dishonours his Majesty, and fills the sailors' mouths, for want of pay and victual, with clamour and cursings, and the open throats of the malignants with reproachful and scandalous reports.

April 26. Southampton. 32. John Ellzey to Nicholas. Capt. William Scras has taken a French bark, with sixty chests of sugar, and now rides with his prize at St. Helen's, intending to send the prize to Shoreham or Chichester, and to compound for the tenths with Lord Nottingham, being so induced by Mr. Marlott, of Shoreham, burgess in Parliament for that place, who persuades them that Lord Nottingham has a patent for the same. Is assured that a patent for pirates' goods, wrecks, and such like cannot deprive the Duke of his tenths.

April 26. Blandford. 33. Deputy Lieutenants of Dorset to Theophilus Earl of Suffolk, Lord Lieutenant. The regiment of Sir Thomas Fryer, of whose departure they lately certified the Earl, is again returned from Plymouth. The soldiers going, by direction of the Earl of Denbigh, to their former quarters, most refuse to receive them or contribute towards their maintenance. The writers have forborne to require their performance, expecting daily to hear from the Earl. Suggest that there should be a commission for billeting soldiers, as there was last year, the rather for that the business is so great and so full of clamour. Suggest names of commissioners.

April 26. May 6. 34. H. Hoard [?] to his Brother. Intercepted letter. Acknowledges the receipt of a letter containing 50*l.* His previous letter not yet received, nor his trunk. Wishes for an answer respecting a book sent by Lady Parham. Urges an immediate sale of some articles in the possession of the person addressed, the writer being pressed on all sides for money.

April 27. Plymouth. 35. Sir James Bagg to Buckingham. Lord Denbigh sailed at six o'clock that morning, with a N. N. W. wind and 60 sail of ships and barks. There are now here but 9 ships, of which, if the country will supply men, he will fit 6 for the Downs, and 3 as a convoy for Sir John Drake's provisions. Mr. Clarke has at last settled his resolution to go on. His indiscreet talk. Has advised Mr. Buxton to sail at once from Bristol for Rochelle. Capt. Amadas has brought into Fowey a Brazilman of 250 chests of sugar.

April 27. 36. Capt. John Heydon to Nicholas. The Duke has given Nicholas commission to prepare a patent for the engineer's place in the name of Thomas Humphreys; yet, because his Grace made mention of a Frenchman, Heydon reminds him of Mons. La Roche, who is a Frenchman of Sedan, and a principal petardier, but otherwise no professed engineer.

April 27. 37. Thomas Cooper to the same. His brother tells him that he cannot be shipped as chaplain for want of orders, concerning which he has written to his uncle six days since. Prays him to speak to Capt. Duppa, that he might go with him as a retainer, to be disposed at his discretion. God willing, he means to be a man of orders.

April 28. 38. Speech of the Lord Keeper Coventry, addressed to both Houses of Parliament, in the presence of the King, and by his command, to let them know that his Majesty holds Magna Charta and the other six statutes in force, and will maintain all his subjects in the just freedom of their persons and safety of their estates, and will govern according to the laws and statutes of the realm, and that they shall find as much security in his royal word as in any law they can make.

April 28. 39. Another copy, of the same.

April 28. 40. Another copy.

April 28. 41. Another copy, differing in some few words.

[April 28?] 42. Draft of what is probably a speech, suggested to have been spoken by the King himself, in lieu of that mentioned above, and spoken by the Lord Keeper in the King's presence. [Injured by damp.]

[April 28?] 43. Speech of Sir Benjamin Rudyerd, addressed to the House of Commons, in favour of republishing Magna Charta and the other statutes alluded to in the preceding speech of the Lord Keeper, and settling in conference with the Lords a bill against imprisonment for loans on Privy Seals. This copy, which is in the handwriting of Bishop Harsnet, is indorsed by Bishop Laud, and contains his comments on Sir Benjamin's arguments. The Bishop especially remarks on what he deems Sir Benjamin's admissions as to the aim of the House of Commons in these proceedings.

April 28. Southampton. 45. Mayor and others of Southampton to the Council. They have received from Lord Conway his Majesty's pleasure, that two companies lately come from Ireland, being part of Lord Morton's regiment, under the command of Sir Henry Acheson and Capt. James Ramsey, should be billeted in that town. Pray to be spared this service on account of the utter decay of their trade, and their having already two companies billeted there, consisting of 160 soldiers, who are unpaid his Majesty's allowance these thirteen weeks past. Inhabitants who were esteemed of reasonable sufficiency are so unable to endure the charge that they must be forced to seek habitations elsewhere. Notwithstanding their clamour, they have received the said companies until they hear from the Council. Christchurch, Ringwood, Lymington, Portsmouth, Alresford, and Alton have no soldiers at all.

April 28. Whitehall. 46. Sec. Conway to Lord Treasurer Marlborough and the Chancellor of the Exchequer. Recommending to their care a petition of a Danish captain for some present provision to carry home his ship and men. [Copy.]

1628. Vol. CII.

April 2. Ash. 47. Sir John Drake to Nicholas. Since his last, two rich prizes have come in at Weymouth and Bristol. He has laid out near a thousand pounds for corn, which he has had ready a month, but can get no men. He impressed John Davies's bark, but he refuses to go. To press men is in vain, for they will not go. Unless there be a more strict course with those who refuse to serve, the provision will be spoiled. At Lyme there are men enough, but they all conspire to hinder the service.

April 28. 48. Lord Treasurer Marlborough to Sir Robert Pye. Warrant to pay to Nicholas Laniere 200*l.*, for one year of his pension to Lady Day last.

April 28. May 8. Brussels. 49. F. Archbishop of [Ce——?] to ———. Acknowledges receipt of letters, and a treatise on the right of the Bishop of Chalcedon against the Regulars in England. It is expected that the Sacred Congregation De Propaganda Fide will settle the matter.

April 29. Whitehall. 50. The Council to Buckingham. To dispose of the men now ordered to be billeted at Hythe as follows:—30 at Hythe, 60 at Romney, and the rest at Lydd.

April 29. Canterbury. 51. Mayor and Aldermen of Canterbury to the Council. Once again pray for their assistance in billeting the four companies of soldiers remaining in that city. Since they certified the names of some few refusers to billet, the most part of the city utterly refuse until the other refusers shall contribute as well as they.

April 29. Whitehall. 52. Sec. Conway to Attorney General Heath. Sends a certificate of the Lord Treasurer in favour of Mary Atkinson, in conformity with which he is to prepare a bill for the King's signature. [Copy.]

April 29. Minute of the same. [Conway's Letter Book, p. 302.]

April 29. 53. Sir Guilford Slingsby to Nicholas. The King's ketch, the Minniken, is ready to set to sea. Five fishermen lately put on shore by the French sloops, and since that a mackerel-man taken. Suggests that the Minniken should be ordered to sea for protection of the fishermen.

April 29. Southampton. 54. John Ellzey to the same. The French bark taken by Capt. William Scras is now at Chichester unlading. He has warned Tuppin Scras, who is the proprietor, how he converts the Duke's tenths to any other use. Complains of the "unorderly proceedings" of Capts. Barnaby Burley, and Hippisley. Has demanded the tenths from Pescod, but received only words of affront.

April 29. 55. Certificate of William Kitchen, that William Browne and three others served in the Victory, in the Rhé expedition, under the Earl of Denbigh.

April 29. 56. Account of payments ordered to be made in anticipation of the ordinary revenue; total 263,238*l.* 9*s.* 7*d.*: but that sum includes additional payments ordered to be made between this time and the following May 11.

April 29. 57. Diary of public events, principally respecting the proceedings in the House of Commons, from this day to June 23, 1628. [It contains particulars respecting the death of Dr. Lambe and other public events, and a variety of rumours respecting the King and the Duke. It is apparently a continuation of the Diary, Vol. lx. No. 10.]

April 30. Portsmouth. 58. William Haberley to the Council. The great fleet supposed to be our enemies are Hollanders, whereof 40 sail are bound for the West Indies, and the rest for places within the dominions of Spain and France. They are now on the south side of the Isle of Wight, plying to the West, with the wind south-east. [Copy.]

April 30. 59. Examination of Ancle Heyes, Captain of the White Bear, of Amsterdam, taken at Portsmouth. He deposes to the facts respecting the fleet above mentioned, which are stated in the preceding letter.

April 30. [Whitehall] 60. Sec. Conway to Lord Treasurer Marlborough. To examine a business represented to his Majesty by Dr. Hooke, a reverend divine, much respected, and to give such orders therein as the cause should require.

April 30. Minute of the same. [Conway's Letter Book, p. 302.]

April 30. 61. Attested copy of the inventory and valuation of goods seized in the Jesuits' College at Clerkenwell, before calendared under the date of 1628, April 23. Appended,

61. I. Note of such things as are missing, as appears by the inventories formerly taken by Mr. Long.

61. II. Note of such things as were not inventoried by Mr. Long, and are missing.

[April ?] 62. Draft of a message from the King to the House of Commons, upbraiding them with neglect of duty in not answering his messages for a supply. No authority has been found for supposing that this message was ever delivered, [April ?] 63. Minutes of various Petitions to be submitted to the King. They relate to the complaint of the Vice Chamberlain of Chester against Baron Vernon; payment to Sir Robert Anstruther; grant to Sir Robert Harley of vicarages in Coventry; pension to Robert Barnfield and his wife, a daughter of Sir Thomas Chaloner.

[April ?] 64. The King to the Company of Barber Surgeons. The King, having given them directions to impress a certain number of surgeons to be employed in the fleet, understands they find opposition in the performance of that service, by reason of exemptions claimed under colour of particular protections obtained during this time of Parliament. It being no way fit that a public service should be avoided by such particular pretences, it is the King's pleasure that they impress such surgeons as they shall be directed to do, notwithstanding any such protection.

[April ?] 66. Memorial of Robert Godfrey to the King. On sending back the Queen's French servants, the memorialist was appointed one of her six priests, who, by ancient custom, are ordained for the Queen's chapel, and are allowed five dishes in court for their diet. Through sinister suggestion of the other priests he has been kept out of his share of this diet, and, although Sec. Conway has procured him a pension of 100*l.* per annum, he cannot receive one penny out of the Exchequer. Prays the King to consider whether it is for his service and honour that the memorialist, having abandoned great employments in Rome, France, and Italy for the King's service, should miserably perish in England, through famine and want of all necessities of life.

[April ?] 67. Question propounded by the King to the Judges, whether, in no case whatsoever, his Majesty might commit a subject without showing of cause; with the answer of the judges, that by the general rule of the law the cause ought to be showed, but some case might require such secrecy that the King might commit without showing the cause for a convenient season. [Copy, in the handwriting of Attorney General Heath.]

[April ?] 69. Petition of Anne, Countess Dowager, late wife of Richard Earl of Dorset, deceased, and daughter and sole heir of George Earl of Cumberland, Lord Clifford, Westmoreland, and Vescy, to the King. On the death of her father, the titles of Clifford, Westmoreland, and Vescy descended to the petitioner, yet Francis Earl of Cumberland has published that the name of Lord Clifford and that of Lord Vescy pertain to him; and Henry Clifford, his son and heir apparent, by the name of "Henry Clifford, chivaler," was summoned to this present Parliament, and styles himself Lord Clifford. Prays the King to admit her claim to the dignities of Clifford, Westmoreland, and Vescy, and to order the Earl of Cumberland and Henry his son to forbear to style themselves by any of those names.

[April ?] 70. Pretended Speech of the King to the House of Commons. His Majesty pledges himself to preserve the liberties of the people, and urges the House to despatch. This paper is a kind of paraphrase or enlargement of several of the King's speeches or messages thrown into one. Fr.

[April ?] 71. The King to Dr. William Juxon, Dean of Worcester. Richard Potter, one of the Prebendaries of Worcester, having gotten a presentation to the rectory of Broadwas, is striving by some nice points in law to overthrow a previous presentation to Thomas Archbold. The Dean is wished to send letters to the Bishop, with a signification of the King's pleasure for Archbold's institution.

[April ?] 73. Abstract of a case in Chancery of Sir Arnold Herbert and others, plaintiffs, against Lawrence Lownes, of London, scrivener, and others, defendants, submitted to Parliament with a view to passing a Bill for carrying out the decree of the Court of Chancery.

[April ?] 74. Petition of Joshua Gallard, of London, merchant, to the Council, for permission to export 450 pigs of lead, in the bark George, from Hull to Amsterdam.

[April ?] 75. Petition of Sidrack Gibbons, merchant of Poole, to the Council, for licence to export provisions to Rochelle for the use of Mons. de Soubise's train and company.

April. 76. Lionel Sharpe to Buckingham. Reports his sermon preached [at St. Margaret's, Westminster ?], in which he had alluded to the censure thrown upon the Duke for his failure at Rhé, and had declared that he who had ventured all that was dearest in the world for a foreign church, would, if he had as many lives as hairs, venture them all for his own, with other laudatory personal allusions to the Duke. Is ready to "do the rest" within two days, "if he may have the place in Westminster, or on Sunday next."

April. 77. Petition of Roger Parr to the same. Petitioner, by warrant from the Duke and the Earl of Totness, as Commissioners for Saltpetre and Gunpowder, was appointed to take the weight of all the saltpetre delivered into the King's storehouse, at the Bell, in Southwark. During the Duke's absence in Rhé, he was dispossessed, and Mr. Hooker appointed in his room, whereby, besides his office, he has lost a good sum of money due to him from the petremen. Prays redress.

April. 78. ——— to Sec. Conway. The prisoner's wife says she has a pass for herself and four others for France from Sir John Coke, whereat the writer much wonders, for she is as deep in disloyalty as her husband, and, considering her comeliness, the apter of the two for mischief. She expects her husband's liberty by Sir John's means. This will so much interfere with the writer's safety and usefulness that he hopes Conway will prevent it. [Signature torn off.]

April ? 79. Petition of James Harrington to Bishop Laud, of Bath and Wells. The Bishop having appointed Harrington to stay in London without limiting the time, he attends the Bishop's commands, and begs him to declare the certainty of his pleasure for the petitioner's settlement in his fellowship, and for the manner in which he should offer his defence, if any other circumstance be objected against him concerning his proceedings, which if the Bishop will pass over he will oblige the petitioner and his friends to perpetual acknowledgment.

[April?] 82. Table of names of Captains of the trained bands, with the fit places for deposit of their armour, and the names of the neighbouring justices of peace, for co. Herts.

[April?] 83. Notes of payments made, on account of the county of Montgomery, by Meredith Morgan and Sir Percy Herbert.

[April?] 84. Notes of payments for billeting, apparelling, and removing soldiers in the cos. of Devon and Cornwall, from 1626 to this time

Vol. CIII. May 1—15, 1628.

May 1. 1. Commissioners for Martial Law at Plymouth to the King. Thanks to the King for communicating his wishes to the Commissioners by Mr. Murray. The Earl of Denbigh could not be fully ready while the last fair wind continued, but is now completely furnished, and will take the first opportunity of wind. Ships remain for convoy of provisions not yet arrived, and for employment in the Narrow Seas. Great difficulty in obtaining mariners, partly from the late mortality, and not least from their shameful and ungrateful desertion of the King's service. Kerby, condemned by the Martial Commissioners and their proceedings approved by the Council, has been reprieved to this time by the Earl of Denbigh, who was of opinion that his death whilst the fleet was there would not be to the advantage of the King's service. There is a difference of opinion amongst the Commissioners as to whether their Commission now justifies his execution. A search for runaways has been made in Devon, but with little effect; a new onset is presently intended.

May 1. 2. Sir William Gardiner to Sec. Conway. To recommend Sir William's brother, now serving as a lieutenant at Stade, to Sir Charles Morgan for promotion.

May 1. 3. John Earl of Bristol to Attorney General Heath. The late King granted to the Earl the manor of Sherborne, co. Dorset, with warranty against Sir Walter Raleigh and his heirs, and covenanted to assent to an Act of Parliament for confirming the Earl's patent especially because he had compounded with Sir Walter Raleigh for all pretences, and given him 8,000*l.*, and to his wife and eldest son 400*l.* per annum for their lives. The Earl is desirous to endeavour now.

to obtain the covenanted Act of Parliament, and sends the Attorney General a petition to the King for his consent, that he may inform the King of the conveniency of the course proposed. Incloses,

3. I. Petition of John Earl of Bristol to the King. States the facts above mentioned, and prays the King to give assent to such Bill as shall be approved by his learned Counsel.

May 1. Nicholas to Richard Streater. Advertisement is given that Captain William Scras has taken a French bark, and is likely to bring her to Shoreham or Chichester. Urges him to vigilancy in taking the Duke's tenths. P.S.—Hears that Capt. Scras has brought the ship into Chichester, and unladen her, without order; if so, he is to certify the fact, that some course may be taken to arrest the ship. [Copy. Nicholas's Letter Book, p. 74.]

May 1. 4. William Weld to Nicholas. The bearer, Edward Nuttall, is recommended by Lord Conway for a purser's place.

May 2. 5. The King to the House of Commons. Message delivered by Sec. Coke, that his Majesty would govern according to the laws and customs of the realm, and rectify what was amiss; and as he would range himself with the best kings, he would have them match with the best subjects, by not encroaching upon the sovereignty and prerogative which God had put into his hands for their good. This session can continue no longer than Tuesday se'nnight, but, upon assurance of the House's good despatch and correspondency, the King intended to have another session at Michaelmas for perfecting such things as could not now be done.

May 2. 6. Copy of the preceding.

May 2. 7. Another copy.

May 2. 8. Draft of the same, in the handwriting of Sec. Coke, and differing in some verbal particulars from the message ultimately delivered.

May 2. 9. Speech of Sir Thomas Wentworth, addressed to the House of Commons in the debate on the King's message. This speech sets forth a proposed address to the King in reply. [In the handwriting of Nicholas.]

10. I. List of three maimed soldiers, with particulars of their service, and names of public authorities supposed bound to procure them pensions.

1628. VOL. CIII.

May 2. Sergeants' Inn, Fleet Street. 11. Lord Chief Justice Hyde to Sec. Conway. Sends him a certificate of the true state of the case against Robert Ayres, to be presented to his Majesty. Incloses,

11. I. The same to the King. Certifies that Ayres, having fled from justice, no trial has taken place; but that the facts seem to be, that, in a drunken brawl in an alehouse, Ayres drew his knife, intending to strike one with whom he was quarrelling, but by mistake he stabbed John Long, a stranger, who was in the house by chance. 1628, May 2.

May 2. Exeter. 12. Sir James Bagg to Nicholas. He may now say that Bagg is on the way. Has once again played the victualler to set forth the ships at Plymouth, in doing which God enables him to serve the Duke. Sent 1,200*l.* from thence to Plymouth to put them forth, when he found that Mr. Lieutenant, on what grounds he knows not, had forbidden the business.

May 2. 13. Sir John Watts to the same. To obtain from the Duke a discharge for the Delight, Capt. Stephens, freighted for Muscovy, to relade cables and cordage, whereof there was great want. There are many ships in the Thames better suited for the present service.

May 2. Plymouth. 14. Capt. Richard Fogg to the same. Has safely arrived at Plymouth with the ships in his charge. Could not see nor hear of the French man-of-war, who has done spoil off the Isle of Lundy. The Earl of Denbigh departed thence on the Sunday before Capt. Fogg came thither. Will take the first opportunity of wind and weather to follow. Sir James Bagg departed thence for London on the Wednesday preceding.

May 2. Lincoln's Inn. 15. Certificate of Sir Allen Apsley and two other justices of the peace for co. Middlesex, that John Spelman, son and heir of Sir Henry Spelman, had that day taken the Oaths of Allegiance and Supremacy. [It appears by the indorsement that this was for a passport.]

May 2. 16. Names of Master and Company of the John, of Portsmouth.

May 2. 17. List of Soldiers under command of Capt. Oliver Shortall, belonging to the regiment of Sir Pierce Crosby, billeted at Hythe, from April 17 to this day; 61 men, and the charge thereof, 21*l.* 18*s.*

May 2. 18. Similar List of Soldiers under the command of Capt. Roger Odonock [O'Donogh]; 71 men, and the charge thereof, 24*l.* 17*s.*

May 3. Warrant to pay to William Murray, one of the Grooms of the Bedchamber, 300*l.*, for secret service. [Docquet.]

May 3. 19. Officers of the Navy to Buckingham. They pressed four ships for the convoy of the fishermen to Westmony and Iceland, and proceeded in preparing them so far as they had means; but the Treasurer wants 380*l.* of his part, and the Victualler his whole proportion.

1628. VOL. CIII.

Beseech the Duke to take this supply into his consideration, the fishermen having already put to sea, to the extreme hazard of their lives, ships, and goods.

May 3. Whitehall. 20. Sec. Conway to Bishop Thornborough, of Worcester. The Bishop is aware of the interest Lord Conway has in the family of Dr. Archbold. Begs him to interpose his power to make an end of a suit between Thomas Archbold, a brother of the doctor, and Mr. Potter. Suggests that he should call the parties before him, and set down such an order as would be just and conscionable. [Copy.]

May 3. Minute of the same. [Conway's Letter Book, p. 303.]

May 3. 21. The same to Dr. Juxon, Dean of Worcester. A suit is prosecuted between Thomas Archbold, who, besides being Lord Conway's chaplain, has a further interest in him by a marriage between his brother, Dr. Archbold, and a niece of Lord Conway. Begs him to end the suit, or further the settlement of it by the Bishop, in accordance with the preceding letter. [Copy.]

May 3. Minute of the same. [Conway's Letter Book, p. 303.]

May 3. Whitehall. 22. The same to John Scandiver. He is to forbear acting upon a recent warrant for taking 100 deer out of Corslane Chase, until further order, it being near fawning time. [Copy.]

May 3. Minute of the same. [Conway's Letter Book, p. 303.]

May 3. Whitehall. 23. The same to Sir William Jones. Desires to be informed what passed before him touching the complaint made by one Long against Sir Richard Tracy, referred to Sir William by the Council. If there be just cause, the Secretary desires to give Sir Richard his assistance for remedy of the wrong done him. [Copy.]

May 3. Minute of the same. [Conway's Letter Book, p. 303.]

May 5. Discharge to him of money payable in respect of that dignity. [Docquet.]

May 5. Grant to William Shawe and Christopher Vernon of money turned over to the liberties of Bury St. Edmonds, in co. Suffolk, over and above the 2,000*l.* formerly granted by the late King to William Shawe, with proviso that the same shall be distributed, at the discretion of the Lord Treasurer and Mr. Chancellor of the Exchequer, to such persons as have taken pains in discovering the King's interest in the same. [Docquet.]

May 5. 24. Address of the House of Commons to the King, delivered by Mr. Speaker, by appointment of the House, in acknowledgment of the King's recent messages, and in vindication of their intended course of proceeding by bill. [Copy, indorsed by Weckherlin, one of Lord Conway's Secretaries.]

May 5. 25. Another copy of the same.

1628. VOL. CIII.

May 5. 26. The King's Answer to the preceding Address of the House of Commons, delivered by the Lord Keeper. [Copy, in the handwriting of Lord Keeper Coventry, and indorsed by Sec. Coke.]

May 5. 27. Another copy of the same.

May 5. 28. Another copy; imperfect.

May 5. 29. Petition of Christian Mitchell, of Merriott, co. Somerset, to the King, for pardon of incontinency after contract of marriage, with Thomas Williams, who was subsequently pressed for Rhé, where he was slain. Underwritten, 29. I. A reference to the Attorney General, to prepare the pardon on evidence of her having been contracted. 1628, May 5.

29. II. Certificate of William Trevile, in verification of the alleged contract and pardon of Thomas Williams. 1628, June 10.

May 5. 30. Petition of James Chambers, one of the Physicians in Ordinary to the King. The late King granted the petitioner and John Brooke, for their lives, the office of Receiver of Fines and Forfeitures due on penal laws on certain terms, but in seven years petitioner has made little or no profit. Prays, that, on surrender of the former grant, a new grant, on other terms, may be made to the petitioner and Francis Broket. Underwritten,

30. I. Reference to the Attorney General to consider the petition 1628, May 5.

30. III. Direction for the Attorney General to prepare a bill for the King's signature, in accordance with the preceding certificate. 1628, July 9.

May [5?] 31. Petition of Hugh Grove to both Houses of Parliament. The causes of the decay in the supply of saltpetre are asserted to be the disorderly conduct of the saltpetre men, and the consequent endeavour of all people to destroy the generation of saltpetre within their possessions. The petitioner offers to prove these assertions, if thereunto commanded.

May 5. 32. Capt. Sir Thomas Fryer to Buckingham. Since his return
"Hoeckhowse." from Plymouth neither his officers nor soldiers have been billeted, neither would the country accept of any, until his Majesty's letter came down. Since then, most part have been cared for, but not his company, which, having been quartered in Dorchester, they now answer they will receive none, nor pay towards the billeting of any. but will answer it before the Council. Suggests that one Bushroad, who is the ringleader, should be sent for. The writer has hitherto paid his company himself, but, being unable to continue the same any longer, prays that some sudden order may be taken for relieving the poor soldiers.

May 5. Burdrop. 33. William Calley to Endymion Porter. Thanks him for having procured the forbearance of certain money. Was at Stow Fair, and met Porter's brother Cannynge, and Sir Richard Browne. Rode with Cannynge to his house at Foscat on May Day. Thinks not to come to London this term, by reason of the foggy air not being very agreeable to his health, but hopes to see Porter and his wife in the long vacation.

May 5. 34. Certificate of Miles Troughton, for Richard Miles to be his deputy purser in the Rainbow.

May 5. 35. Extract from the Journals of the House of Lords, of a reference to a committee of privileges, touching the privilege of Lords of Parliament in answering upon their honour, in the performance of homage, and in the seizure of their goods in execution; with the resolutions of the Committee of Privileges, also derived from the Journals, subjoined.

May 6. From his Lodging. 36. Endymion Porter to Sec. Conway. Sends a business to receive despatch from the King, by the hands of Lord Conway, which are always so full of courtesy to Porter, that he finds this day's is but a leading favour to the next; nor does Lord Conway grow weary with doing favours, but still apparels them with cheerful looks.

May 6. The Tower. 37. Sir Allen Apsley to Nicholas. Recommends Edward Nuttall, who had been commended to him by Sec. Conway, for a purser's place. He is a clerk, has been at sea, and hath foreign languages.

May 6. Southampton. 38. John Ellzey to the same. Capt. Scras's prize is discharged at Chichester. Recounts all his proceedings respecting the sugars purchased by Pescod out of Tiball's [Theobald's] prize. Has now taken Mr. Mayor's word to be answerable for the Duke's tenths. Sends a bill of exchange for 100*l.*, and will hasten more. The tenths of the salt will exceed his calculation. Must send up the coarse sugars to Mr. Dike, for they have no refining-house there.

May 6. Edinburgh. 39. Robert Leighton to his "kind and loving father, Mr. Alexander Leighton, doctor of medicine, at his house on the top of Puddle Hill, beside the Blackfriars gate, near the King's Wardrobe." Previous letters written to the writer's father, brother, and mother. Sorry for his aunt's sickness. Prays him to remember the writer's duty to her, desiring her to pray for him, which is also his request to all his friends. The business that fell out with him arose out of a fight between his class and the "semies," which occasioned the provost to restrain them from play. The boys upon that made some verses, mocking the provost's red nose. Leighton, hearing of these verses, made a remark in prose, and presently, on the request of his schoolfellows, turned it into a verse, thus—(the provost's name is Okenhead) :—

"That which his name imports is falsely said,
That of the oaken wood his head is made ;—
For why ? If it had been composed so,
His flaming nose had fired it long ago."

He had already sent his father the Verses of Apology. Begs his father to pray for him, that he may be kept from like falls. The desire of his heart is to be as little chargeable as may be. [On the back of this letter are written two sentences in other hands ; one respecting the nature of the sin of backsliding, and the other, "If this Parliament have not a happy conclusion, the sin is yours ; I am free of it."]

May 6. Whitehall. 40. Examination of Mr. Melvin taken by Sec. Conway, principally respecting certain expressions, said to have been used by him at the house of Payne, a tobacco seller, near the Savoy. Capt. Neighbor and he, having been drinking and taking tobacco from nine in the morning till seven at night, he said, there were four honest bishops, and that among the rest were "Armenians and other strange sexes."

May 6. 41. Copy of the same.

May 6. 42. List of the ten new pinnaces called the Lion's Whelps, with the names of their officers.

May 6. 43. Note of shipping and goods belonging to the town of Poole lost within the last four years, with a list of such ships as now belong to that town. Total lost, 20 ships, whose tonnage was altogether 1,465 tons, and value 13,400*l.* ; the present shipping, 16 ships, of 838 tons. Poole used to set forth 20 ships to the Newfoundland fishery, now it sets forth but three ships. The whole of the Newfoundland fleet set forth by the ports from Southampton to Bristol used to be 300 sail, which employed 6,000 men at the least.

May 7. Warrant to Sir Adam Newton, Receiver General of his Majesty's Revenues when Prince of Wales, to pay to Sir Thomas Walsingham the elder 130*l.*, on accompt, for the new building of Deptford Bridge. [Docquet.] from Newcastle without certificate that the said duties had been paid; he is also directed in future to take no entry of any ship without having first received such certificate, and to publish this command in the Court of Aldermen. [Docquet.]

May 7. Grant to Richard Storie of an almsroom in Norwich. [Docquet.]

[May 7?] 44. Draft, in the handwriting of Sir Robert Heath, of a clause probably suggested by the discussions on the Petition of Right, and intended as a substitute for that document, or a part of it. It proposed to enact, that, in all cases of commitment by the King or Council, the cause of commitment should be expressed within —— months, and the determination of the sufficiency thereof be left to the ordinary rules of law; or if the cause were of that extraordinary nature that the judges could not judge thereof, as concerning the public government of the state, then to the judgment of the King and his Council.

[May 7?] 45. Two other clauses, probably suggested at the same time, and for the same purpose as the preceding. The one provides for the discharge of persons committed if no cause be stated, or if the cause be deemed insufficient in law; the other, that no tax be levied without consent of Parliament, nor any soldiers billeted on any man, without his full consent.

[May 7?] 46. Accompt, by Endymion Porter, of the expenditure of 6,000*l.*, received by him from James Maxwell, for the Duke of Buckingham. It includes several payments to "Dick Grimes;" 50*l.* to Kipp, for Gerbier; 140*l.* for two paintings by Momfredo [Manfredo]; 60*l.* to Mittens; 70*l.* to "the nurse and midwife;" and 3,000*l.* paid to "my Lady Duchess."

May 7. Aboard the St. Esprit, in the Downs. 47. Capt. Richard Paramour to Nicholas. The wind being like to come fair, he hurriedly announces that he has made stay of a ship belonging to "Milton in Norway," bound for Nantes, laden with deal boards, hides, and tar. The master in a manner acknowledges her to be prize. Refers to the bearer for further information.

May 8. 48. Copy of the Petition of Right, as finally agreed upon in the House of Commons, and delivered to the House of Lords, at a conference between the Houses. [See Commons' Journals, I., 894. Lords' Journals, III., 785, 786.]

May 8. Buckingham to John Ellzey. Coarse sugars, received for the Duke's tenths, not being so vendible in those parts as in London, by reason there are no houses to refine the same, he is to consign the same to Richard Dike, if he thinks it will be for the Duke's profit, if not, to make sale thereof. [Copy. See Vol. CXV., p. 41*.]

May 8. 49. Petition of Sir Francis Willoughby to Buckingham. Prays the Duke to vouchsafe him the making of an Irish Viscount, in recompence of his lost company in the Low Countries, and 500*l.*, due to him for arrears on account of the expedition to Cadiz.

1628. Vol. CIII.

May 8. Aboard the Garland, at Sea. 50. Sir Henry Palmer to Nicholas. Wishes he could send better news than they have returned with. What was here given out to be assuredly feasible they find directly impossible. On the approach of the English fleet, the French fleet retreated under their ordnance. The palisadoes, by which the passage up the river was prevented, described. They came on the 1st, and till the best of the springs were past waited for an opportunity to give an attempt, though with no hope of success, but the wind not favouring, and it being dangerous to ride there embayed, subject to fire-ships and in shoal water, the council of war determined that they should put out to sea, and spend their victual abroad, Lord Denbigh cruising between Ushant and Scilly, the writer between Portsmouth and Cape La Hogue. Capt. Allen [Alleyn ?], by one of the engines taking fire, was blown up, and several seamen with him. No man but looked back upon the poor town with eyes of pity, though not able to help them.

May 8. 51. Sir Richard Harrison to Francis Windebank. The offender against the fishermen has been before Parliament, who have taken away his commission, and enjoined restitution of the nets. Great hope that the King and Parliament will part fair. Many interruptions by messages from the King, and great danger of breaking. They have spent all their time in framing a bill for reviving the old laws touching the liberty of the subject, but perceiving, by the King's answer to their petition, that they were not likely to have such a bill, they have framed a petition of right, with which they resolve to content themselves for this session. The King has sent word that Tuesday next they shall break up, but the writer supposes his Majesty will grant longer time. This day they had agreed on the days of payment of the five subsidies.

May 8. 52. Promise of Capt. John Pennington. Henry Clifford, having given bond to Capt. Pennington for payment of a moiety of all profits, by means of Capt. Pennington discovered to have been embezzled, in victualling or paying the Zouch Phœnix in the expedition against the pirates of Algiers, Capt. Pennington hereby undertakes to use his best care for discovery of all embezzlements in reference to the whole fleet in the same expedition for the benefit of Henry Clifford.

May 8. 53. List of the crew of Capt. Hawkeridge's ship.

May 9. Whitehall. 54. The Council to Buckingham. To give order for setting forth the Spy pinnace, victualled for five months, to ply up and down on the coasts of France, Jersey, and Guernsey, to discover what men-of-war were to be found near the English coasts.

May 9. 55. Officers of the Navy to the same. The allowance of 10*l.* per annum was taken from David Ducke, master caulker at Chatham, by the late Commissioners for the ease of the King's charge. Recommend that it be continued.

1628.
May 9. 56. Officers of the Navy to Buckingham. Have received certificate from Henry Goddard, one of his Majesty's master shipwrights, that the Assurance is the fittest ship in the navy to be sent into the Narrow Seas.

May 9. At sea. 57. William Earl of Denbigh to the same. Men have ever been the censure of the world who have returned unsuccessful from public employments. Hopes he shall so satisfy the King as will not only clear him in his Majesty's opinion, but justify him before a Parliament. Misinformation has been the cause of this misfortune. They found Rochelle so blocked up, that in eight days' stay they never heard from thence. The palisado is so strengthened with two floats of ships, both within and without, moored and fastened together, from their ports to half-mast high, that, lying in shoal water, it is impossible to be forced. Kept the road, expecting intelligence from the town. Some of the French captains concluded the passage not feasible, others propounded ways rather of loss and dishonour to the English than of good to themselves. By a council of war have resolved to send the victuallers well guarded home, and to divide the men-of-war into two squadrons, to ply between Ushant and Scilly and the Isle of Wight and Guernsey.

May 9. Tehidie. 58. Francis Bassett to Nicholas. On the 6th inst. a small bark of Ireland, which had been taken by a French man-of-war, came into the pier of St. Ives, in distress. Desires instructions how to deal with it, and the French persons who were on board. The French men-of-war, which had committed so much spoil between Bristol and the Land's End, had been beaten thence by a ship or two of Bristol, but there are one or two small vessels again on the English coast which chased in all the fishing boats.

May 10. Warrant to Sir Richard Tracy, that, in removing his Majesty's fallow deer out of the chase of Corselane, co. Gloucester, care be taken to preserve the King's game. [Docquet.]

May 10. Warrant to John Scandiver, to forbear taking any of his Majesty's deer within the chases of Malvern, co. Worcester, or Corselane, co. Gloucester, until he shall understand his Majesty's further pleasure. [Docquet.]

May 10. Grant to Richard Williams, his Majesty's servant, of the forfeiture of a bond of 250*l.*, entered into by George Acton and Thomas Hailes, for transportation of divers cloths from Ipswich to Rochelle, which they have not performed. [Docquet.]

May 10. Dispensation to William Alablaster, Doctor of Divinity, for not residing upon his parsonage of Tharfield, in the diocese of Lincoln. [Docquet.]

May 10. 59. Officers of the Navy to Buckingham. Not having received certificate of the burden or value of John Brigges's ship, or of the nature of his contract with Sir Ralph Bingley, they cannot judge what allowance is fit to be made to him.

1628. Vol. CIII.

May 10. Nicholas to Mr. Oliver. Has spoken to Sir Henry Marten concerning the Duke's tenths of about 100 negroes, taken in a Spanish vessel by the Good Fortune, of London, set forth by Sir Thomas Love, John Hanger, and others. The Judge wished the Duke to accept of half his tenths for the proceeds of the negroes and such other goods and merchandises as were taken by that man-of-war, the adventurers to pay the Duke's tenths in kind. [Copy. Nicholas's Letter Book, p. 75.]

May 10 Buckingham House. 60. William Bold to Nicholas. Thanks for his mediation, and desires the continuance of his good offices betwixt Mr. Lieutenant of the Tower and himself. Does not doubt his right, and, to give the Lieutenant satisfaction, would be willing to show the clearness of it to his counsel or any friend. Desires only his favour not to countenance Bold's adversaries in their obstinacy.

May 10 At sea. 61. Capt. Thomas Ketelby to the same. The impossibility of effecting the enterprise was such as would have shown in them madness rather than valour to attempt it. The representations of its easiness made by the French Deputies have wronged both the State and the Duke. The palisadoes cannot be forced but by those who are masters of the forts and castles on the shore. Nor are the French sea forces so much to be contemned as those of Rochelle make them. During eight days they received no intelligence or word from Rochelle, either by sea or land. The Earl intends to visit several places on the French coast before Sir Henry Palmer's departure. Division of the King's ships between the Earl and Sir Henry. The Earl has sent Nicholas his journal, to be shown the Duke if he thinks fit. The writer sends also a relation written by a French gentleman.

May 10. 62. Bond of Richard Littler, goldsmith, of the Griffin's Head, Cheapside, and George Warburton, of St. Martin's-in-the-Fields, in 100*l.*, for appearance of Richard Littler before one of the Secretaries of State, upon notice.

May 11. Whitehall. 63. The Council to Buckingham. For the defence of the Isle of Wight, ammunition is to be sent thither in the New Year's Gift, of Hull. It is requisite she should go under convoy. Pray him to give order to Robert Seety, of the Plain Joan, of London, to do that service.

May 11. 64. Sec. Conway to the Commissioners for Soldiers in co. Hants. His Majesty and the Council had taken notice of some refusal among the inhabitants of Odiham to provide any longer for the soldiers billeted there. The Council direct them to give strict order for the soldiers continuing there without any innovation or disturbance. [Copy.]

May 11. 65. Capt. Henry Huncks to Sec. Conway. Excuses his conduct in relation to a ring. Desires his help concerning Eastman, all whose goods he had delivered to the officers. He has in hand 20*l.* of Eastman's, which he is advised not to give up lest the creditors should demand it.

May 11. 66. Sir John Finch to Nicholas. In favour of Richard Hals, who desires to exchange his place of purser from the Fortune, to one of the new pinnaces.

May 12. Westminster. 67. The King to the Lords Spiritual and Temporal of the Higher House of Parliament. That he cannot suffer his power of committal to be impeached, but it is not in his heart to extend his regal power beyond the just rule of moderation, in anything contrary to our laws and customs; and that neither he nor the Council will hereafter commit for not lending money, or for any other cause which does not concern the State. [Copy, marked examined.]

May 12. 68. Another copy, also marked examined, and indorsed by Bishop Laud, "His Majesty's Letters to the Lords of the Upper House, about imprisonment without a cause."

May 12. 69. Another copy of the same.

May 12. 70. Another copy.

May 12. 71. Another copy. [All the above copies are contemporary, and differ in various minute particulars from the copies in the Ephemeris Parliamentaria and in other printed books.]

May 12. 72. Copy of the Petition of Right, as sent up by the Commons to the Lords, with the amendments of the latter marked therein.

May 12. 73. Officers of the Navy to Buckingham. Recommend that a petitioner, stated in the margin to be John May, may be restored to his post of Assistant to the Master Shipwrights at Woolwich Dock, from which he had been discharged by the late Commissioners, at a time when the Dock at Woolwich "was cast, as of no use at that time."

May 12. 74. Sec. Conway to Attorney General Heath. Charles Sellers, a Procurator of the Arches Court, with whom an inclosed scandalous libel had been found, stands committed, and is in this messenger's custody. The King's pleasure is, that the Attorney General should examine him in order to discover the first author. If he finds it fit, he may dismiss Sellers, on bond for his appearance. [Copy.]

May 12. Minute of the same. [Conway's Letter Book, p. 303.]

May 12. 75. Sec. Conway to the Clerk of the Signet attendant. The King's pleasure is, that he should prepare a Royal Assent for Bishop Buckeridge, of Rochester, to be Bishop of Ely, that see being void by the death of Dr. Felton. [Copy.]

May 12. Minute of the same. [Conway's Letter Book, p. 303.]

May 12? 76. Sec. Conway to Katherine Duchess Dowager of Lennox. A grant of corporation to the town of Gravesend is stayed at the Seals on some opinion that it may prejudice the interest of her gracious son. It is alleged that his interest is no way infringed, and those who follow this business desire the Lord Keeper may be the judge.

1628. VOL. CIII.

Suggest that it should be referred to the Lord Keeper to take security for his protection. [This copy has upon it the date of May 8, 1628, but the letter was entered in Conway's Letter Book with the date of the 12th.]

May 12. Minute of the same. [Conway's Letter Book, p. 363.]

May 12. Hammersmith. 77. Edmund Earl of Mulgrave to Sec. Conway. Solicits his aid in procuring a renewal of an allowance of 100 marks per annum, made by King James to Mr. Leake, for his pains in preaching to the workmen at the alum works. Sir Edward Wardour, with the consent of the Lord Treasurer, endeavoured to procure the renewal, but the King, not being well informed, did not sign it. Afterwards, on the representation of the Earl, his Majesty answered, that it should be done.

May 12. Newport. 78. Deputy Lieutenants of the Isle of Wight to Sec. Conway. Among the numerous companies of soldiers billeted in the small circuit of the Isle of Wight, there have been committed many foul disorders, even unto murder, and the officers will not join with the writers in punishing offences committed by the soldiers. In these companies there are 200 Highlanders, a ruder kind of people. The inhabitants complain of the amount due for billeting money, which amounts now to about 4,000*l.*, the number of soldiers being about 1,500. The officers receive into their companies some of that island, which the writers conceive may be prejudicial to the country.

May 12. Ragley. 79. Foulke Reed to the same. Reports the state of Lord Conway's property there, and the general arrear of the rents. Money shall be sent to my Lady by the next convenient messenger.

[May 13 ?] 80. The King to Sec. Coke, or, in his absence, to Sir Humphrey May, Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster. This is the day prefixed, yet there has been some cause of delay. He cannot admit of much more, therefore let them [the House of Commons] know, that if the subsidies be not speedily passed they shall hear further of the King's pleasure very shortly. The King does not expect an answer by message, but by effects. [Probably sent to the persons addressed in the House of Commons. It is indorsed by Sec. Coke, "His Majesty's direction for a message in Parliament," but it is not stated that it was acted upon.]

May 13. 81. Petition of Gamaliel Penrose, a Sergeant of Captain Thomas Lyndsay's Company, to Buckingham. In a mutiny the petitioner killed a mutineer, and lies imprisoned miserably at Plymouth, ready to suffer the extremity of the law, unless the Duke interfere. [Underwritten is a minute, signed by Sec. Conway, that the King was pleased to grant a pardon to the petitioner; dated 1628, June 9.]

May 13. 82. Petition of Joseph Dudley to the same, for a master gunner's place in one of the small pinnaces now building; with underwritten certificate of Thomas Taylor, and others to his competency.

83. Capt. John Pennington to Nicholas. Requests him to deliver warrants to Abraham Sampson, Jeffery Daniell, John Greene, Henry Roundkettle, Nicholas Wilson, and John Harvey, for boatswain's places in the pinnaces.

May 13. The Tower.

84. Sir Paul Harris to the same. Spake with the Duke yesterday in the morning, as he was going along the garden to the Parliament House. Told him that the Chief Justice of Chester was dead, which was in the King's gift, and desired him not to engage himself till he might further speak with him. Would be much bound if Nicholas would acquaint the Duke with the writer's father's interest to it. If the business succeed, knows how to be thankful without flattering. Has promised Sir Thomas Bludder payment of his warrant for Mr. Evelyn to-morrow, and for that purpose has a meeting this night at 7 o'clock at the Exchange.

May 13. Southampton.

85. John Ellzey to Nicholas. Arrival, at Cowes, of a frigate from "the West India," taken by Arthur Guy, in the Fortune, of London. She hath upon her between 900 and 1,000 hides, 30 tons and upwards of ebony, and some Indian wax, which is nothing so good as ours. The Fortune has also taken an Angola man with many negroes, which the captain bartered in Virginia for tobacco, which has come home in a ship called the Plantation. Conceives the Duke has rights in the tobacco. Capture, by Capt. Hussey, in the Pilgrim, of London, of a French bark, laden with butter and tallow, taken from under the Isle of Guernsey. Order from the Council for Sir John Peyton to sell the same, and apply the proceeds towards the repairs of the forts in that island. Other prize news relating to two ships taken by Capt. Scras. Begs for some order against the disorderly proceedings of Capt. Burley. Sends another acceptance for 100*l.* Incloses,

85. I. Inventory of the bark called a Spanish Frigate, taken by Capt. Arthur Guy. Total, 818*l.*

85. II. The like of a bark taken by Capt. Hussey. Total, 128*l.* 9*s.* 1*d.*

85. III. The like of the St. Nicholas, of Granville, taken by Capt. William Scras. Total, 802*l.* 13*s.* 4*d.*

May 13.

87. Answer of Thomas West, Eleanor his wife, and William Shephard, to a bill of complaint of Sir John Lambe, concerning lands in Blisworth, co. Northampton, heretofore belonging to Michael West. [Indorsed are brief notes of subsequent proceedings in this cause up to Michaelmas Term, 1632.]

1628. Vol. CIII.

May 14. 88. Mr. Pym's Report, in the Lower House, of Dr. Mainwaring's "Sermons," so indorsed by Bishop Laud. This speech is not printed in Rushworth, nor in the Parliamentary History, nor in the State Trials, but many passages of it are similar to passages in the speech published in those works, under various dates, and attributed to Mr. Rous.

May 14. Westminster. 89. The King to William Earl of Pembroke, Chancellor of the University of Oxford. To use all possible and speedy remedy to calm the tempest which is risen in the University of Oxford about the choice of their Proctors. [Copy, indorsed by Bishop Laud.]

May 14. St. Martin's Lane. 91. Lord Treasurer Marlborough to the Officers of the Customs in the Port of Newcastle. The Officers of Customs in the Port of London have certified that the officers of Newcastle mistake the meaning of the Lord Treasurer's warrant of February 9 last, and over strictly interpret the proclamation for exporting and importing in strangers' bottoms. Requires them to suffer the merchants of Newcastle to export and import in strangers' bottoms to and from places in amity with his Majesty. [Copy.]

May 14. The Tower. 92. Sir Allen Apsley to Nicholas. It seems the strangest thing in the world that the gentleman-porter should make any claim at all, or that he should have any colour of title to more than the house he dwells in, and one house in the bulwark. Mr. Bold says that his predecessors enjoyed their interest without intimation of Sir Allen's; did he seek no more than his predecessors had, there should have been no question. Has had no time to follow suits, except for money to eat by, yet he has not so neglected his claim as is thought. Will meet Mr. Bold in all the love and well wishings of a friend, and if it please him to make his title appear to any indifferent lawyers, Sir Allen will sit still for ever.

May 14. Basingstoke. 93. Bailiffs of Basingstoke to Sir Thomas Jervoise, one of the Deputy Lieutenants for co. Hants. Had for a long time borne the burden of billeting soldiers without having received one penny of the 180*l.* already disbursed. Their neighbours utterly deny the payment of any more moneys, or to billet any soldiers, alleging that we have no law or authority to compel them. Unless present order be taken for repayment and supply, they should be enforced to leave the soldiers to seek their pay where they might have it, which may prove perilous.

May 15. Whitehall. 94. Warrant to the Lord Treasurer Marlborough, to cause a tally to be struck upon the impositions of Virginia tobacco to the value of 1,300*l.*, for Henry Elwes, for satisfaction for a bracelet of diamonds received of him at an unusual cheap rate, not less than 18 months since.

May 15. Westminster. 95. Francis Knowles and others, of Southampton, to Sec. Conway. On the King's letter for billeting two companies of soldiers under Sir Henry Acheson and Capt. James Ramsey, the Mayor and Justices received the same, and endeavoured to settle them, whereupon the inhabitants (being fallen into great poverty, by reason of their goods stayed in France, and the general want of trade, and being behind of their billet money for Lord Conway's son's company, and Sir James Scott's, for 15 weeks) did protest they must forsake their dwellings. Seeing the impossibility of billeting these soldiers, the Mayor and Justices had petitioned the King and Council for relief. Intreat him to take their case into consideration, and, if they have done anything which has distasted him, they are heartily sorry for it.

May 15. 96. Sec. Conway to the Commissioners for Soldiers in Hants, and more particularly to the Mayor and Aldermen of Southampton. The Council had considered their reasons for not receiving the two new companies of Lord Morton's regiment, but no means have been found to lodge them elsewhere without great prejudice to his Majesty's service. Prays them to see the soldiers billeted accordingly, and what good service he can do in procuring their money they may be assured of. [Copy.]

May 15. 97. Capt. Richard Kingsmill to the same. Complains of the conduct of his company of the trained bands of Basingstoke, and especially of George Barnard, an old gentleman living in that town, who contemptuously refused to send his arms. Begs that either he may be permitted to quit his company, or that some course may be taken to vindicate his authority.

Vol. CIV. May 16—23, 1628.

[May 16.] 1. Petition of Nicholas Lillye, Purveyor for co. Worcester, to the Council. Has been employed by the deputy lieutenants of the county to find powder and match for the magazine therein for his Majesty's service. Prays for a warrant for two lasts of powder from Mr. Evelyn.

May 16. Dartmouth. 2. Mayor of Dartmouth to the Council. Sends an examination of the captain of a French prize, which came from the fleet on the 8th inst. Incloses,

2. 1. Examination of Stephen Ruboilleau, captain of a French prize, lately taken by Capt. William Gillett, captain of the Little Anne, of Marines. The Little Anne went from Plymouth with the King's fleet. Arrived at anchor in Charlebois Road on the Thursday following. A wherry boat sent into Rochelle by night, which got into the town, as appeared by certain fires on a tower that same night. On the last day of April a fire-boat sent from the English to fire the French ships, which was fired by some misfortune before she came to the ships, with the loss of 11 men. Strength of the French fleet. Impossible to go into Rochelle unless the ships riding afloat between the forts be first fired. Left all the English ships riding in Charlebois Road, but farther off than at first. Sent to England with letters. Dartmouth, 1628, May 16.

1628. Vol. CIV.

May 16. Plymouth. 3. Mayor of Plymouth and his Brethren to the Council. This morning there arrived a French bark which accompanied the Earl of Denbigh's fleet to Rochelle, which brings the unhappy news of their return without relieving the town or doing anything of worth. Sends examination of the captain of the bark. Prays that provision may be made for such sick men as they may bring with them. Incloses,

3. i. Examination of Andrew Le Brun, Captain of the Mary, of Rochelle. On April 27 departed from Plymouth harbour with the fleet under the Earl of Denbigh. On May 1 anchored at Charlebois, in the afternoon. Wherry sent into Rochelle, and their arrival indicated by a fire. Heard that the General promised to sink the French ships when the water increased and wind came west; but when those circumstances happened he would not fight, but came away. On the 8th the English ships weighed anchor and set sail. The French followed, and fired several shots at them. Plymouth, 1628, May 16.

May 16. 4. George Henry to Sec. Coke. Sends a cipher in figures, to indicate persons of whom there may happen circumstances necessary to be related. Hopes the Secretary will not be forgetful of his recompence on his return, with allowance for his abode here these two months. Expects Burlamachi's correspondence in Antwerp or Brussels with his letter to the party. Incloses,

4. i. List of figures to be used to denote the names of the principal noblemen and gentlemen of Ireland.

May 16. Plymouth. 5. Thomas Clarke to Nicholas. The victualling the ship to secure the Narrow Seas is performing with all expedition. Sir James Bagg's agent has promised to have the bread and beer on board by Friday next. Our fleet is returned from Rochelle, staying there eight days, and doing nothing.

May 16. 6. Bond of James Ayloffe, of Meldrith, co. Cambridge, and Walter Hillary, of Clifford's Inn, in 100*l.*, for the appearance of Ayloffe before one of the Principal Secretaries of State within two days after notice.

May 16. 7. Invoice of goods taken out of the prize, the David, of Amsterdam, and brought aboard his Majesty's ship, the St. George.

May 17. Whitehall. 8. The King to [William Earl of Denbigh?]. Instructions what course he was to adopt on discovering that the passage into Rochelle was a service of more difficulty than he expected. [This paper is a mere fragment, but it appears to have directed the Earl to remain off the town as long as his victuals lasted, and to send home a present account of his difficulties, and whether they could be overcome by more strength of shipping. These instructions were prepared in the hope that they might reach the Earl before he had quitted Rochelle.]

May 17. 9. Mayor of Southampton to the Earl of Denbigh. Begs him so far to favour that town as to give way that the two companies of Lord Morton's regiment may be removed to Lymington and the towns adjacent. Their town has been more oppressed than any one in the shire. No subjects can be more willing. The miserable complaint of the poor among them makes the writer's heart melt, and the rudeness of the Irish soldiers is a double affliction. Many of the inhabitants refuse to keep them any longer, and others will leave their households, not being able to subsist. The old companies have been with them since November 17, and never received but ten weeks' pay. Humbly entreats him to pity and relieve them.

May 17. London. 10. Sir John Townshend to James Earl of Carlisle. Has been moved to intreat the Earl on behalf of Sir John's kinsman, who had married Sir Roger Townshend's only sister, that the Earl would accept him as one of his company in his travels. He is Sir Henry Spelman's son and heir.

May $\frac{17.}{27.}$ Dunkirk. 11. Sir Philip Carteret to [Sec. Conway?]. Five English ships, richly laden, from Melvin and Queenborough, brought into Ostend. The sixth was blown up with their own powder. Preparations for taking the field in Germany and the Low Countries. Some misfortune fallen on our fleet at Rochelle. The first report was of 32 ships set on fire, now 12. Bonfires at Calais and Paris. [Minute.]

Instructions to repair to the Thames and Medway, to take up as many ships as he should find fit for present service, without sparing any, whithersoever bound; also to press a sufficient number of the best and most able mariners for manning the said ships; also to take up all manner of victuals and provisions which he should find prepared for any of the said ships, charging the same by bills on the Treasurer and Victualler of the Navy.

take up, and send away as great a proportion of victuals, (particularly biscuits and beer,) number of seamen, ships, and other necessaries as they could make ready; with a clause of assistance directed to all authorities within the cos. Sussex, Hants, and the Isle of Wight. [Underwritten is a note of a similar letter, of the same date, addressed to Sir James Bagg, Vice-Admiral of North Cornwall, with a clause of assistance in the cos. of Devon and Cornwall, and with the words "particularly biscuits and beer" omitted.]

May 18. Plymouth. 17. The Mayor of Plymouth and his Brethren to the Council. The ill success of his Majesty's fleet in not relieving Rochelle was confirmed by Capt. Braniou [Branneau], of Rochelle, who arrived at Portsmouth this day Some French men-of-war, which have long lien on our coast, had taken at least 30 barks and ships, English and Irish, and are likely to do a great deal more mischief. There lie in that harbour six ships, appointed to secure the coast, but their wants are so great, and so little means used for their supply, that, unless speedy means be applied, the King's subjects in those parts are likely to suffer much. Inclose,

17. I. Examination of John Roche, of Salcombe, co. Devon, mariner. He came from Wales in the Jonas, of Salcombe, laden with coals, in company with 23 or 24 other small ships, all which were taken by a French man-of-war, part being carried away, and the rest sunk. Plymouth, 1628, May 10.

May 18. 18. Copy of the preceding letter.

May 18. Southampton. 19. Nicholas Pescod to Nicholas. The Mayor of Southampton advises him that Sec. Conway has been informed that the writer advised Capt. Scras to go for Chichester with his prize of sugar. Upon his faith he encouraged him to bring all his prizes to that town. Wishes the ability of his body permitted him to see Nicholas in London. Sends a small quantity of oranges and lemons, not knowing how plenty they are at London.

May 18 20. Petition of John Stoner, of London, merchant, to the Council. Prays that he may be permitted to import his own goods stayed in France in French bottoms.

May 19. Demise to Philip Earl of Montgomery, Lord Chamberlain, for 21 years, of the overslipt customs upon baize and other woollen stuffs exported by Merchant-Strangers, broad cloths and kersies excepted, reserving to his Majesty a rent of 200*l.* per annum, upon surrender of a former grant made by the late King to Sir Thomas Tracy and Rowland White, for 21 years. May 19. Whitehall. 21. The King to Sec. Coke. Instructions to proceed to Portsmouth, and on the arrival of the fleet from Rochelle, to inform himself of the passage of that action, and the causes of the return leaving the action undone. He is to let the Admiral and officers know that they are to remain on board, to take measures for preventing the men coming ashore, and, knowing the King's intentions, is to take up all necessary provision for the employment for which his Majesty designs them. [Copy.]

May 19. Westminster. 22. Warrant of assistance for Sec. Coke, in taking up ships, mariners, and provisions for refitting the fleet lately returned from Rochelle for another service. [Copy. From the indorsement it appears that similar warrants were sent for the Earl of Bedford to Plymouth, and for the Lord Mohun and others to Cornwall.]

May 19. Whitehall. 23. The Council to Buckingham. He is to give order for taking up 20 of the best merchant ships and 20 pinnaces, and to cause them to be furnished and manned for employment for six months.

May 19. Fort, by Plymouth. 25. Sir Ferdinando Gorges to Buckingham. His discomfort at the failure of the attempt on Rochelle. Upon the relation he has received, finds no such difficulty in the relief of that place as it seems was pretended. If the Duke will give him leave to prostrate his service, he will not doubt but to effect that business with the means that may suddenly be had if the fleet come back in any time, so that he may be thereunto authorized and supplied with the assistance of such captains as he shall desire. Hopes it will not be conceived that he intends to question the honour or worth of those already engaged in it, seeing they are not men who undertook the business, but were assigned to it, and were overswayed by the counsels of those not inured to hazards of this kind. To go from hence with order to do this or that is to talk without book. The general means must be settled beforehand, but not to be declared till the time serve. Is ready to forsake his peaceable course of life, to hazard himself in the most difficult actions, and to leave all that may be dearest to a man in years, to do the Duke service in this matter. [This letter was probably inclosed in that of Sir James Bagg. 1628, May 24. Vol. cv., No. 5. It was not received until May 26.]

May 19. 26. Sec. Conway to William Towerson. By warrant from the Lord Admiral, requires him, for preventing intelligence, that no ships be suffered to depart from any port within his Vice-Admiralty, except such as are employed in his Majesty's immediate service, without the Lord Admiral's special licence. [Copy. From the indorsement it appears that a similar letter was sent to Sir Fulke Greville.]

May 19. Staines. 27. Sir James Bagg to Edward Nicholas. Prays him to be a surety for him to Mr. Fotherley for three or four hundred pounds.

May 19. Office of Ordnance. 28. Officers of the Ordnance to the same. Recommend William Gildon for purser in one of the 10 pinnaces then building. He had been a clerk in the office of the Ordnance.

Having received intelligence of the return of the fleet from Rochelle, and finding it good to employ some person of quality to perform such directions as may be requisite in the incidents of such an occasion, he is required to give directions in the King's name to Lord Mohun and such others of his Deputy Lieutenants attending there in Parliament or otherwise, to repair into Cornwall, and there to put in execution directions similar to the instructions to Sec. Coke of 1628, May 19, before calendared, No. 21.

May 20. Canterbury. 32. Mayor and Aldermen of Canterbury to the Council. Certify the names of those who at first began to billet or contribute to the billeting of the soldiers of Sir Pierce Crosby's regiment, and now refuse. The Walloon Congregation, being a third or fourth part of the city, desire to be eased by their petition inclosed, and protest they can pay no longer. The soldiers being cast out of billet grow discontent, and the commanders threaten to be gone and leave the soldiers to spoil and shift for themselves. Markets are decayed, trading spoiled, and many poor tradesmen undone. Again and again beseech the Council either to rid them of this burden or to give them relief. Inclose,

May 20. Chester. 33. Sir Randolph Mainwaring, Sir William Forster, and Sir John Savage to the Lord Keeper and Sec. Conway. Being informed that a stranger was lately come to Hocknell, a private place, some four miles from Chester, and was there making gunpowder, they had repaired thither, and found the man, who calls himself Robert King, with about 40 lbs. of powder. After examination, they had committed him to the castle of Chester, and crave directions. Send his examination and a letter found upon him from one of the saltpetremen of those parts to another. Inclosed,

33. I. William Blyth to Mr. Leite. Answers complaints of his omitting much good ground. Had been before the Council with Mr. Evelyn, face to face; the Council said the saltpetremen must have their places for life, and that it must be lawful for any man to make powder. 1628, March 15.

May 20. Portsmouth. 34. Basil Lord Fielding to [Buckingham?]. Arrived at Portsmouth this day. Capt. Paramour has stayed at Cowes seven London ships bound for the West Indies. Sends list of ships stayed in that harbour. Found the St. Esprit in Stokes Bay, victualled for a month. The mayor has order for further provision. As soon as ever the wind gives hope, resolves to put to sea. The ships already mentioned he intends to carry with him. Has given order to the mayor and victuallers to provide all the victuals they are able "against your Lordship's coming." News that the fleet had been discovered between Scilly and the Land's End, and it was thought they would stand in for Falmouth. Sir Henry Hungate embarked that afternoon to meet with them and carry them back to Rochelle. Sir Henry Mainwaring not yet arrived. If he come he shall be welcome; if not, they have land hearts, though not sea heads, and will lose no time in expectation. The Duke has honoured the writer with an employment which he esteems before any other. Incloses, 34. I. Names of ships stayed in Portsmouth harbour by virtue of warrant from the Council, of the 18*th inst.*

May 20. 35. John Reynolds, Master Gunner of England, to Nicholas. Recommends Thomas Hall as competent to serve his Majesty as a gunner.

May 20. Office of the Ordnance. 36. Capt. John Heydon and others, Officers of the Ordnance, to —— Reed, at Sec. Conway's, or, in his absence, to Mr. Weld. The New Year's Gift and the Lark, laden with munition for the Isle of Wight and various fortifications on the coast, were stayed in the Thames for want of a convoy. Pray for a warrant for two ships bound for the Straits to convoy them. Inclose,

36. I. Names of the masters of the Hector and the Peter and Andrew, the ships above mentioned as being bound for the Straits.

May 20. 37. Charges of Anthony Blaydes, one of the Messengers of the Chamber, for going from London to Portsmouth and back, by command of the Duke of Buckingham. Total, 4*l.* 12*s.*, including 6*s.* for hire of a bark to go aboard the Garland.

May 21. Grant to Nathan Bolt and Mary his wife, of so much of the estate of Nicholas Simondson, late husband of Mary, being felo de se, as was not received by the Lord Almoner, nor the Earl of Cleveland, being lord of the liberty. [Docquet.]

May 21. Confirmation to John Pinson, one of his Majesty's chaplains, to hold the rectories of Cornwood and Tallaton, in co. Devon, according to a dispensation granted by the Archbishop of Canterbury. [Docquet.]

May 21. Warrant to Christopher Walton to take partridges or any other fowl with nets, trammels, or any other engine, within the compass of Marshland and Lincoln Holland, for the better storing of his Majesty's game near Royston and Newmarket. [Docquet.]

May 21. Grant of privilege to Hugh Wyot, his Majesty's servant, for 14 years, of the sole use of his invention for transportation of horses and cattle out of Ireland into England, with greater convenience than heretofore. [Docquet.]

May 21. Whitehall. 38. The Council to Buckingham. To give order to William Wiles, master of the Hector, and John Goodler, master of the Peter and Andrew, bound for the Straits, to convoy the New Year's Gift and the Lark, freighted with munition for the Isle of Wight, Southsea, Calshot, St. Andrew, and Pendennis.

May 21. Castle of Yarmouth, I. W. 39. Sir Henry Hungate to the same. Is unfortunately weatherfast, between the Castle of Hurst and the Castle of Yarmouth. Gives account of ships there and at Cowes. If they may all be stayed, they will make such a fleet as the King's ships which be at Rochelle shall be in no danger, but only to countenance the business and assure the retreat.

May 21. 40. Petition of the Fellowship of Merchant Adventurers to the same. Having long forborne their ordinary course of shipping for Holland, by reason of the cause depending between the English and Dutch East India Companies, they had lately been encouraged to resume their trade, and had had a cloth fleet of nine ships ready laden for Delft, for two months past. Pray that these ships may be released from the recent embargo.

May 21. 41. Sec. Conway to the Deputy Lieutenants and Commissioners for billeting Soldiers in co. Hants. Sends a copy of the Council's letter, directing that the soldiers billeted in Basingstoke be continued there until they shall be otherwise disposed of. [Copy.]

May 21. The same to Francis Earl of Bedford. Being employed to Plymouth at the return of the fleet from Rochelle with instructions, the Secretary explains some words in the said instructions, and requires him to see them executed with expedition. [Minute, Conway's Letter Book, p. 303.]

May 21. Charing Cross. 42. Sir Robert Naunton, Master of the Court of Wards, to Sec. Conway. He received yesternight a letter from his Majesty, requiring him to receive the Privy Seal from Sec. Coke, and to use the same upon all occasions in the time of Sec. Coke's employment abroad. This letter was delivered by Mr. Thomas Packer, Clerk for the Privy Seal now attending, together with a docquet of divers grants which he desired to have passed under that Seal. The Seal not having yet come to his hands, prays Lord Conway to give the bearer directions where he may demand the Seal for the writer.

[May 21 ?] 43. List of ships stayed at Portsmouth and Langston by virtue of Lord Conway's warrant of the 19th inst.

May 21. Sergeants' Inn. 44. Sir Henry Yelverton to Sec. Conway. According to Lord Conway's commandment he has caused Thomas Metcalfe, a prisoner in the Castle of Lancaster, to be brought before him, and now sends him to Lord Conway to do with him what he pleases. Upon examination he will neither confess nor deny himself to be a priest. He has perverted many from the religion here professed.

May 21. Dover Castle. 45. Sir John Hippisley to Nicholas. The Frenchmen that are taken say that the King of France is gone towards Rochelle with a great army. Desires Nicholas to help Mr. Brames to ordnance for his ship, and not to forget Hippisley about Wade, who had dealt most basely with him.

May 21. 46. Capt. John Pennington to the same. Certifies the sufficiency of Richard Tailor for a gunner's place in one of the new pinnaces.

May 21. London. 47. Rowland Woodward to Francis Windebank. What he wrote last week of our fleet's relieving Rochelle was false, although the King on Saturday morning last did speak it. Before he had dined he heard the contrary, and last night word came that Lord Denbigh had come to Plymouth, whither was sent Sir Henry Hungate, and after Lord Fielding and W. Montagu, then Sir John Coke. The report is, that Lord Denbigh was overruled by Ned Clarke, that would not hazard the fleet. The King was never seen to be so moved, saying if the ships had been lost he had timber enough to build more. The King goes on Friday to Portsmouth, where he will stay a fortnight till the Duke be shipped for Rochelle. Sir Charles Morgan has yielded Stade, and is come away with 800 men out of 1628. VOL. CIV.

4,000. The issue of the Parliament is much feared. The Houses differ about an addition which the Upper would have inserted in the petition, to which the Lower will not consent, because of the words "sovereign power." No speech of Sir Humphrey May being made a Baron.

May 21. 48. ——— to Nicholas. Certain enumerated gunners of ships and forts request that the Duke may be moved for their customary warrants for a supply of powder, shot, and other munitions.

May 21. 49. List by Jo. Skynner of the 13 ships bound for Delft, and sought to be released.

May 22. The King to the Dean and Chapter of Durham, requiring them to renew to Mr. Dodsworth, one of his Majesty's servants, his lease of the tithe corn of Heighington belonging to that church, or else to make known to his Majesty their reasons why they refuse the same. [Docquet.]

May 22. Whitehall. 50. Buckingham to the Captains of the Forts at Gravesend. To suffer the Sarah, of London, and the Robert, to proceed on a voyage to the Low Countries, taking security that they shall not transport any passengers or letters to France or Spain.

May 22. Plymouth. 51. Sir James Bagg to Buckingham. Reports his proceedings. At Sherborne he met the Rochelle Admiral, and near Honiton Mr. Clarke, who said they had found all things just to his expectation, and as he thought it, so he now thinks it, not possible to be mastered by any power from hence. Learning the Squirrel was at Dartmouth, Bagg sent his servant with the King's letters to the Earl of Denbigh, and a warrant to the Captain presently to set sail in search of the Earl. On Wednesday he came to Plymouth, and sent off other letters for the Earl in a French bark returned from the Fleet, the captain whereof, named St. Martin, intends to land and use disguises to come into Rochelle, to give them heart and spirit to stand out. Bagg has also sent copies of the King's letters to the Earl to the Land's End, to be despatched to Scilly. Progress made in victualling ships. Wishes land soldiers, being good musketeers, were sent to the Earl, for mariners only are not to be depended on. "Every day calleth them more coward than the other." Common fame lays all the fault on his Lordship, but the French report that he was forward to go on. Wishes this Parliament a happy end, which will conduce more to the honour of the Duke than if it break, for he is the object of all envy; yet it should not be the Duke's act to prize five subsidies worth one Rose of his Majesty's prerogative, which is that which must put difference between the King and his judges, by whom popularity would have all to be governed.

May 22. 52. Copy of the same, sent by Sir James Bagg to Nicholas, for his information.

1628.
May 22. 53. Sir Henry Hungate to Buckingham. Capt. Paramour had sent the warrant for the stay of the ships, and at the same time came another warrant from Lord Conway. The Fleming gave ill language, and said they had nothing to do with the King of England, nor he with them, whereupon Sir Henry gave warrant to the porter of Hurst Castle to stay him, who was very willing, but had neither powder nor shot to do it with, and of his 27 pieces of ordnance not above four or five would do any service, and they but for a shot or two. Sir Henry got him a barrel of powder at Yarmouth Castle, and gave him 5*l.* to buy another barrel. If present order be not taken to keep the mariners aboard, they will most part run away. Is going to sea with this tide, and, hoping for a wind, will gain as much as he can by stopping tides.

May 22. Yarmouth. 54. William Hide to Nicholas. Sends, by direction of Sir Henry Hungate, examination of Richard Vivian, of Brixton, in the Isle of Wight, who states that four men came ashore there in a shallop, and inquired whether there were no landing places in the south part of that island, and whether there were any soldiers or Scottish men there. A fleet was off the island that same day.

May 22. 55. Receipt of Robert Orfeure, purser of the Loyalty, for various prize goods delivered to him by Capt. Weddell, from aboard the St. George.

May 23. 56. "The Copies of two Speeches in Parliament. The one by "John Glanvill, Esquire, and the other by Sir Henry Marten, "Knight, at a General Committee of both Houses, the 22 of May, 1628." 4to. n. p. printed. [These speeches, which contain the reasons of the House of Commons why they could not consent to the addition to the Petition of Right proposed to be made by the House of Lords, were really spoken on the 23rd May, and not on the 22nd, as is printed on the title page. See Lords' Journals, III., 813. Commons' Journals, I., 903.]

May 23. 57. Copy of the Speech of Mr. Glanvill contained in the preceding article.

May 23. 58. Similar copy of the Speech of Sir Henry Marten.

May 23. 59. Petition of Thomas Andreas, Michael Alfonso, and others of the crew of the Signora d'Esperanza, of Viana, to the Council. Coming from Brazil, about two months since, they were taken by Capt. West, upon the coast of Portugal, which said captain and his associates are willing to send them over into their native country. Pray for a warrant for their passage accordingly. Annexed,

59. 1. Discharge, whereby Richard West, captain of the Vintage, of Sandwich, remises and acquits Thomas Andreas, Michael Alfonso, and the rest of the preceding petitioners and requests that they may be permitted to pass to Viana.

1628. Vol. CIV.

May 23. Portsmouth. 60. Sec. Coke to Buckingham. By Mr. Clarke, the bearer, the Duke will receive information concerning the fleet. The Secretary has sent to a deputy lieutenant in the further part of the Isle of Wight, to use all means to discover Sir Henry Palmer, and deliver a letter to him, charging him to return to the Earl of Denbigh at Scilly, and with him to Rochelle. The Rocheller, with Sir Henry Hungate, has put to sea this afternoon. Preparations making at Portsmouth. The St. Esprit and her pinnace will have two months' victuals aboard by Monday. Agreement made with six men-of-war to go with Lord Denbigh, and doubts not to set out at least 10 or 12 sail. The Triumph, Warspite, and the Esperance may be set to sea as soon as men and victuals can be ready, but the gunners, boatswains, carpenters, and pursers should be commanded to repair aboard. They are all in London, to the prejudice of the service.

May 23. Plymouth. [Portsmouth?] 61. The same to the same. Since Mr. Clarke's departure, understands by his speech to others that the service for Rochelle is not only deserted, but the fleet broken and scattered into three parts; the Earl of Denbigh plying between Scilly and Ushant, Sir Henry Palmer keeping the Sleeve, and the victuallers sent to Plymouth. Shall endeavour to send away Lord Fielding and his fleet of 10 or 12 ships on Monday, at the farthest, with direction to find Sir Henry Palmer, and carry him along as high as Plymouth, where they may expect the corn ships, which the writer presumes are not suffered to come into harbour. Lord Fielding may thus presently carry all back again to find his father in the trade way for Rochelle.

May 23. Portsmouth. 62. The same to Sec. Conway. Letter sent at the same time as the former of the two preceding letters to the Duke, and containing a summary of the same information. On the morrow he shall despatch all the service he can do in those parts, so that if the King be pleased to recall him, his service will not suffer.

May 23. Sergeants' Inn. 63. Lord Chief Justice Hyde to Sec. Conway. Sends him inclosed a letter relative to the proceeding in the business touching Mr. Bawd, to be presented to his Majesty. Incloses,

63. 1. The same to the King. Upon the trial of Francis Bawd, the jury acquitted him of the murder, and found him guilty of killing the man in his own defence. Sergeants' Inn, Fleet Street, 1628, May 23.]

May 23. 64. Articles of agreement between Sec. Coke, on his Majesty's behalf, and Robert Hodiern, captain of the Peter, of London, for the employment of that ship in his Majesty's service on the coast of France. [Cancelled, and several of the clauses struck out.]

May 23. The Tower. 65. Sir Allen Apsley to Nicholas. He victualled three ships (the Fortune, the St. Anthony, and the St. Mary, of Rouen), laden with cordage, masts, &c., for the ships at Plymouth. These victuals having been eaten out in harbour, the officers require him to victual them for three months more. Not having been paid for the last victualling, he is not able to do so.

May 23. His Lodging in the Strand. 68. The same to the same. For a warrant for Ralph Wilkinson to be boatswain in the pinnace that Dersley buildeth, the man recommended by Sir Allen Apsley having gone to the West Indies.

May 23. Weymouth. 69. Sir Henry Hungate to William Earl of Denbigh. On the 18th inst. arrived Capt. Gillett with news from the fleet, which much troubled the King, who commanded Sir Henry to make all haste to find the Earl, and gave Sir Henry instructions by word of mouth. Being put in at Weymouth, and the wind contrary, has heard that the fleet has arrived at Plymouth, which has caused Sir Henry to go for Plymouth. It is the King's pleasure that the Earl do not suffer a man to go ashore; but the Earl, or some few of the commanders, to come ashore, and repair to Sir James Bagg's house, where they will find Sir Henry, with letters from his Majesty. [Copy.]

[May 23.] The Tower. 70. —— Blaxton so Sir Allen Apsley. To procure a respite for a few days for Thomas Blaxton, a boatswain, late master of Sir Allen's barge, who, being in the country, had been sent for about his said place. [Underwritten are notes from Sir Allen Apsley to Nicholas and Mr. White accordingly.]

[May 23?] 71. Capt. John Heydon and others, of the Ordnance Office, to George Earl of Totness, Master of the Ordnance. They have perused the examinations touching the powder made by King [see Vol. civ., No. 33]. It being free for any one to make powder, so that the same be not made of petre prohibited by virtue of his Majesty's commission, except it can be proved that King knew that the petre he had of Cooper was such, he is in little fault. Cooper and Blyth should be summoned to answer the charge against them in that particular, and King be discharged.

[May 24.] 2. Extract from the above letter of the list of 11 ships secured by Sec. Coke to accompany the St. Esprit, with his account of the contract he had made with them.

[May 24.] 3. Officers of the Navy to the same. Do not find that the ship mentioned in the inclosed petition is upon any estimate. Sir Philip Carteret may have undertaken the service by some agreement made by him or some person employed by him, in which case his Majesty might pay twice for the same service. [The petition inclosed was that of Robert Adamson and others, calendared under 1628, April 18, Vol. ci., No. 33.]

May 24. Plymouth. 4. Sir James Bagg to the same. Reports the stores of provisions in preparation. Conceiving that there would be need of fire-ships, he has taken up three for that use. It is too ill to report the base language given of this action, scandalous to the Earl of Denbigh. By others he is excused by the want of commission, and the fault laid on the Duke. Bagg calls for censure of those timid councillors who destroyed the voyage. The coming of the Earl of Bedford will be most useful in the cause of mariners. Prays for a supply of money. In a postscript is announced the arrival of Sir Henry

1628. VOL. CV.

Hungate from Weymouth. If his carrack arrive not, Bagg will ship him. In a second postscript, Bagg remarks that his tears tell him that the Duke intends to go this journey, and could give many reasons to dissuade him. If he cannot prevail, begs to share his fortunes of adventure.

May 24. Plymouth. 5. Sir James Bagg to Buckingham. Can call himself friend to none but such as love the Duke. The Duke has had his opinion of Sir Ferdinando Gorges, both concerning his affection to the Duke and his abilities. Gorges vows that he now honours the Duke, and pretends that he will undertake, in the place of second to any which shall command in chief, to open the passage into Rochelle. Desired Bagg to inclose his letter, which he has undertaken to do, but as the Duke likes the affection and abilities of the man, let him take knowledge of the receipt of it, or let the ill conveyance light upon Bagg, whose heart is the Duke's, and who will live and die the Duke's "most humble servant and slave." [The letter alluded to as having been promised to be inclosed is probably that calendared under its date; 1628, May 19, Vol. civ., No. 25.]

May 24. Plymouth. 6. Sir Henry Hungate to the same. Came from the Cowes at noon on the 21st, and made the Castle of Yarmouth that tide; next tide made Poole, and Weymouth the 23rd in the morning, having been chased by a Dunkirker that night, but it being calm they fell to their oars and so out-went him. Hearing at Weymouth that the fleet was arrived at Plymouth, he went thither by land, sending his man by sea with a letter if he should meet with the Earl or any of the fleet. Sir James Bagg has taken order for a ship for him, and this night he will away again to sea, and send the Rocheller to put one ashore on the coast of France to inform the town of our assured return. Thinks nobody would do better service in this action than that old arch-pirate Capt. Cary, whose quarter is at "Gaiesend," and his fortunes more desperate than death. He always desires to deal with fireworks.

May 24. Portsmouth. 7. Sec. Coke to Sec. Conway. Sends him inclosed the letter to Duke of Buckingham of this date [see No. 1]. Repeats the account of what he had been able to do. The fleet of 13 vessels would, as he hoped, set sail on the morrow or on Monday, if the wind continue good. What course he has directed them in order to find Sir Henry Palmer, the victualling ships, and finally the Earl of of Denbigh. Solicits his recall. Should be most glad to hear of a good agreement and happy conclusion of the Parliament, and begs information as to how welcome Mr. Clarke's account has been.

May 24. 8. Officers of the Navy to Nicholas. Recommend that the ships appointed for the convoy of the Iceland fleet, in respect of their burthens and ordnance, be allowed 10 men more for every ship, making up the number to 70 men.

May 24. 9. Sir Thomas Aylesbury to the same. Reminds him of John Fletcher, recommended to be purser of the Defiance, in place of Nathaniel Terne, Sir Thomas's Clerk of the Survey.

1628. Vol. CV.

May 24. Aboard the St. George, Regis, in sight of Scilly. 10. Capt. John Weddell to Nicholas. Gives account of the capture of a Fleming [the King David, of Amsterdam], who, having run foul of the Garland, and damaged that ship, had been brought up by the St. George. The bills of lading had been sent home by Capt. Ketelby, by direction of the Earl of Denbigh, but instructions are desired as to what should be done with the ship, and some of her goods, which had been removed into the St. George. [Received, 31*st*.]

May 24. Oxford. 11. Narration, by the Heads of Trinity College, St. Edmund's Hall, Magdalen Hall, and Wadham and Oriel Colleges, Oxford, of the carriage of the late election of Proctors, and the disorders which had attended it. Indorsed by Bishop Laud, who has added:—"This tumult gave occasion to alter the course of election, to Colleges in their turns."

May 24. 12. Certificate of the Vice Chancellor, four of the Professors, and various Doctors and Bachelors of Divinity of the University of Cambridge, that Mr. Thomas Taylor, of St. Mary, Aldermanbury, had performed the acts required for the degree of Doctor of Divinity, and was worthy of that degree. [Copy.]

May 25. Whitehall. 13. The Council to Sec. Conway, as Lord Lieutenant of Hants. By letters of January 10 last, they signified that the horse of that county should repair to a rendezvous on April 21. Afterwards, by letters of March 13, the general muster was deferred until June 11. The King now thinks fit to respite it until Lord Conway receives further directions, but expects an account of the fulfilment of the other clauses in the letter of January 10.

May 25. 14. Buckingham to the same. To move the King for an order to the Lord Treasurer to pay to Mr. Burlamachi 115*l*., disbursed in sending messengers on secret service to Rochelle by way of Dunkirk.

May 25. Plymouth. 15. Sir James Bagg to Buckingham. Lord Denbigh, with the fleet, this instant passed by the harbour, and intends to put into Portsmouth. Sir Henry Hungate has gone off to the fleet, which is yet in sight. Lord Denbigh's letters state divers of the victuallers are coming thither, and express his desire to have them at Portsmouth. In case they put into Plymouth, prays the Duke's pleasure concerning them. The despatch sent by Mons. St. Martin met the fleet. He is well on his way to Rochelle.

May 26. Whitehall. 16. The Council to the same. To give warrant for measuring all ships built for the King, or employed in his service, in this manner, viz.:—To take the length of the keel, leaving out the false post, if there be any; the greatest breadth within the plank; the depth perpendicular from the said breadth to the upper edge of the keel; and to multiply these three together, and the solid number made by that multiplication to divide by 100. The quotient will give the content in tons, unto which one third part of those tons is to be added, and that shall be the tons and tonnage.

May 26. Whitehall. 17. Sec. Conway to Sec. Coke. The King leaves his return to his own judgment, but the Duke says there are some moneys to be addressed to him presently, which he must needs stay to receive and dispose of. This morning they have seen the happy and long wished for accord between the two Houses, and now he hopes they shall go on cheerfully without any further discord. [Copy.]

May 26. Minute of the same. [Conway's Letter Book, p. 304.]

May 26. Whitehall. 18. Sec. Conway to Sir Henry Marten. That the merchants of Hamburgh who come into his court should have as much favour, ease, and expedition as justice would admit. The King dispenses with a former proclamation in their cases, so as to give them as much freedom within his dominions as may be challenged by the rules of the best and straitest amity. [Copy.]

May 26. Minute of the same. [Conway's Letter Book, p. 304.]

May 26, Whitehall. 19. The same to Sir John Wolstenholme and other officers of the Customs. Nicholas Goodman has, by Lord Conway's appointment, brought over from the Low Countries 16 cases of pistols, and 3 dozen of bits, for great horses. They are now at Harwich. Warrant is to be given to their officers there for suffering them to be landed.

May 26. Minute of the same. [Conway's Letter Book, p. 304.]

May 26. 20. Bill of Arthur Bray, for four gallons of white wine delivered to Sec. Conway; charge, including 2*s.* 6*d.* carriage and labour, 13*s.*

May 26. Southampton. 21. Francis Vernon to Nicholas. At Southampton, found a Flemish ship on ground, being in suit of law between Capt. John Stevens and the owners. She has been appraised at 400*l.*, which is not half her value. If by Nicholas's means the writer could procure her at that rate, Nicholas should have a quarter part. She would make a brave man-of-war, and the writer would go in her.

May 26. Aboard the Mary Rose. 22. Capt. Francis Sydenham to the same. Recommends William Sweeting to succeed as Boatswain of the Mary Rose. The King of France's ships are not likely to stir this summer out of Amsterdam, "for we have taken eight sail of Flemings," which he makes no doubt will prove prize. His Admiral, Sir Henry Palmer, will send particulars.

May 26. 23. Stephen Alcock to the same. That Mr. Best may put off his place of purser in the Phœnix to John Hall.

May 26. 24. Sir Guilford Slingsby to the same. William Turley has an ancient grant of the late Lord Admiral to be Master of the hoy called the Primrose, after the death of William Taylor. He is now dead, and William Turley is an able man.

1628. Vol. CV.

[May 26.] 25. Survey, by ——— Cook and ——— Bennett, of the returned victuals in the storehouses at St. Katherine's and Tower Hill.

May 27. Warrant to pay 10,000*l.* to Philip Burlamachi, whereof 6,000*l.* is to be made over to John Dalbier for levy of horses, 1,000*l.* to Sir William Balfour, and 3,000*l.* to Julian Calandrini, for supply of the regiments under Sir Charles Morgan. [Docquet.]

May 27. Pardon to Sir Henry Fiennes and Nicholas Roper, of offences contained in a decree of the Star Chamber made against them, with remission of all punishments, excepting the fines of 2,000*l.* and 100*l.* imposed upon them by the said decree; also a pardon of all alienations without licence, before August 24, 1624. [See Calendar Dom. Car. I., Vol. i., pp. 163 and 539.] [Docquet.]

May 27. Warrant to the Exchequer, that no process be issued against Mrs. Jane Murray for 550*l.*, paid by her to Sir Adam Newton, Receiver of his Majesty's revenue when Prince of Wales, for a lease of 31 years of the herbage of the park of Berkhampstead, co. Herts, whereas the same ought to have been paid into the Exchequer. [Docquet.]

May 27. Warrant to pay 98*l.* 3*s.* to John Dixon, Surgeon General of the Army of Rhé, for embalming the body of Sir John Burgh, Colonel General of the said army. [Docquet.]

May 27. 26. Account of the purport of eight Bills, which it is said, in the indorsement by Bishop Laud, "should have passed in the Commons against the Church in that Session." They were against citations without a previous presentation by churchwardens; to take away the prohibited times for matrimony; to subject scandalous ministers to trial by temporal judges; to allow any man to leave his own parish church on Sundays if there be no sermon; that no clergyman shall be justice of peace; that no man shall be urged to subscribe but only to the Articles of 1562; to deprive clergymen who teach contrary to the said Articles; to limit the major excommunication to cases of heresy.

[May 27 ?] 27. Petition of David Bonnell, jun., to the Council, for permission to import from France linen cloth ordered long before the prohibition of importation.

May 27. Portsmouth. 28. Sec. Coke to Buckingham. Rumours of the arrival of the fleet, and actual arrival of two barks which had carried corn from Plymouth. Account they give of the operations at Rochelle, and on the voyage homeward, from which it appeared that both the squadrons were within the Sleeve, and might be expected every hour. No directions having been sent for Lord Fielding, he is to sail as before appointed as soon as the wind will allow. Fear that if the fleet comes into that port, it will hardly be possible to get the mariners out again without pay, staying for which the victuals will spend, and Rochelle run hazard. Preparations of further stores of victuals. Want of money, without which the endeavours and courages of all men grow cold. Mr. Montagu has descended in his own person to take pains in putting the victuals aboard.

May 27. Aboard the St. Andrew, off the Isle of Wight.

29. William Earl of Denbigh to Buckingham. On Friday the 23rd, he parted from Sir Henry Palmer, who stood into the Channel. On Saturday, by a French bark, he received the copy of his Majesty's letter from Sir James Bagg, and had then proceeded according to his Majesty's commands, but, by reason of that separation which much troubles and grieves him, he thought it the fittest and speediest course to reunite with the forces of Sir Henry Palmer, sending into Plymouth as he passed for all ships to follow and make Portsmouth their rendezvous, and so to proceed accordingly. On Sunday the 25th, he received the original of the King's letter by Capt. Busfield, of the Squirrel, and the same evening his Majesty's other commands by Sir Henry Hungate. Hopes this day to come to anchor at St. Helens, whence, with all possible expedition, he purposes to proceed to Rochelle, hoping to come there by the height of the spring tide.

May 27. Antelope, at the Isle of Wight.

30. Capt. Anthony Rice to the same. Reports arrival of the Earl of Denbigh's squadron at St. Helen's. The passage into Rochelle, with any provision by sea, was, by the mature opinions of all the captains, by reason of the ordnance planted on both sides and the triple palisado within, made impregnable. Capt. Allen perished by remiss conveying those engines of fireworks, of which he undertook the charge. What Sir Thomas Button's expectation is concerning that ship the writer presumes Lord Denbigh has made known.

May 27.

31. John Wells and three others to the same. According to his warrant they had measured the Second Lion's Whelp, and found her burthen to be 139½ tons. Mr. Taylor well deserves 540*l.* for building her.

May 27. Whitehall.

32. Sec. Conway to Solicitor General Sheldon. Abraham Vanderdort holds the places during pleasure of Keeper of his Majesty's cabinet room at St. James's, and provider of patterns of stamps for his Majesty's coins, with the fees of 40*l.* per annum for each of those places. His Majesty is pleased that he should have a grant of those places, with the same fees, but payable out of the Exchequer, for his life. The Solicitor General is to prepare a bill accordingly. [It would seem that this letter was sent or intended to be sent to the Attorney General on May 3, but afterwards sent, with some additions, to the Solicitor General on May 27. Copy.]

May 27.

Minute of the same. [Conway's Letter Book, p. 304.]

May 27. Chatham.

33. Edward Monox to Nicholas. Certifies that no warrant had been granted for appointing a master to the Primrose since the death of William Tayler.

1628. Vol. CV.

May 27. 34. John Foyle to Nicholas. Recommends Captain Thomas Dirdo for some employment in one of the King's ships, and prays that his (Foyle's) son Richard may be purser in the same ship.

May 27. Southampton. 35. John Ellzey to the same. Further information respecting the imported tobacco, being the produce of certain negroes sold in Virginia, and the disorderly proceedings of Capt. Barnaby Burley and Capt. Hippisley, in relation to the Duke's tenths. Congratulations on the good hopes of the Parliament.

May 27. 36. Abstract of so much of the preceding letter as relates to the misconduct of Capt. Hippisley.

May 27. Southampton. 37. The same to the same. In his letter of that morning omitted to write that Capt. Scras had arrived in that port with a prize of French wines, some 50 tons or thereabouts.

May 28. Dorchester. 38. Sir Thomas Trenchard, John Browne, and John Whetcombe to the Council. In obedience to their order, they had examined the matters by Colonel Fryer laid to the charge of one Bushroad, a magistrate of the town of Dorchester. Bushroad refused to billet any of the soldiers which came lately back from Plymouth, and said that the warrants were not sufficient authority for the town to receive them, but they cannot find that he committed any personal misdemeanor towards the said Colonel.

May 28. 39. Buckingham to the Officers of the Navy. On the 15th inst. he referred the petition of Robert Davis to them to examine, and to give warrant for payment of what is due, which, as he is informed, they not only neglected to do, but returned the same without any answer, which tends so much to the disheartening of seamen, and the scandal and prejudice of the service, that he once more requires them speedily to do what he before directed.

May 28. Plymouth. 40. Sir James Bagg to Buckingham. It being thought that the Earl of Bedford's instructions are at an end, the fleet not putting into any port in his Lieutenancy, he intends to speed to the Court. Bagg's care gave his Majesty's letter to the Earl of Denbigh about Scilly. Will make ready eight fire-ships. Since the Duke commands Bagg to be troubled with the Rochellers, they shall not want. Reports fully his preparation of victuals. Capt. Fogg has returned with "General Buxton, my friend's," Bristol provisions, and by his coming off has shown himself a man-of-war. If the Duke will countenance him he will prove a useful servant. Purposes to send him to Portsmouth. The nine ships shall be ready for the Duke's first commands.

May 28. Whitehall. 41. Sec. Conway to the Keeper of the Gatehouse. Warrant to receive into custody the person of Richard Lucas, mariner, and to keep him close prisoner until further order.

1628.
May 28. 42. Sec. Conway to the Deputy Lieutenants of co. Hants. Prays them to signify to the Officers of the Horse Troops of that county that the general meeting of the Horse is to be forborne until further order. They are to be careful of the execution of the other directions of his letter of January 10 last.

May 28. Whitehall. 43. The same to Dr. Reeves [Rives]. Acquainted the King with his certificate on behalf of William Bainton, of Brigham, co. York, who had married the daughter of his former wife's half sister by the father's side, not the mother's, and his Majesty was pleased to grant a pardon.

May 28. Minute of the same. [Conway's Letter Book, p. 304.]

May 28. Portsmouth. 44. Sec. Coke to Sec. Conway. Sends inclosed a letter which concerns the King's service. A master that came in one of the victuallers from Plymouth brings word that most of the ships with victuals for Rochelle are taken or spoiled by the Dunkirkers, whilst Sir Henry Palmer, to whose convoy the Admiral had commended them, followed a chase of certain Hamburghers or Hollanders. Sir Henry has not yet returned from his chase, although he has sent in eight Hollanders or Hamburghers which he has made prize of, on what ground the writer does not know.

May 28. 45. Copy of the preceding.

May 28. Plymouth. 46. Francis Earl of Bedford to the same. Although in poor health, reached Plymouth the day after the fleet passed without touching there, which by his instructions cleared him of all that he had to do. On his arrival he called upon Sir James Bagg and the rest of the Deputy Lieutenants, and they put the affairs concerning the fleet into that way that Sir James Bagg approved. It was conceived by the gentlemen that were with him, that his longer stay in those parts could no way conduce to the King's service.

May 28. Portsmouth. 47. Capt. William Towerson, jun., to the same. This day the Earl of Denbigh and the whole fleet anchored at St. Helen's. The Dunkirkers very busy on the coast, so that neither ship nor bark is able to put to sea. On the 26th they met with the fleet from Rochelle, and took from them one ship laden with corn. Will take care that no ship shall pass forth. All possible speed is used for making ready the ships for Lord Fielding.

May 28. 48. Copy of the preceding.

May 28. The Strand. 49. Ursula Lady Whorwood to her kinsman, Sec. Conway. Beseeches him to procure the signature of some person spoken of as "my Lord" [Lord Keeper Coventry] to a warrant formerly left with Lord Conway, for her husband to be a justice of the peace.

May [28?] Ely House. 50. Lord Keeper Coventry to the Clerk of the Crown. Draft of a proposed warrant to restore Sir Thomas Whorwood to the commission of the peace. Probably the warrant alluded to in the preceding article.

1628. Vol. CV.

May 28. 51. George Henry to Sec. Coke. After ending with Burlamachi, being ready to depart on his intended journey, the Savoyan Ambassador's chaplain and Lady Willoughby sent for him, and told him that it was the common report with the Roman clergy that he was bound over beyond seas as an intelligencer from the state here. Popham, Savage, Davies, and others had verified the report to them. An Irish friar, William McAulive, who went over with Lord Carlisle, had told them thereof, and that he kept company with Daniel MacCarthie, a mere Protestant. His intent being thus frustrated, he appeals to the Secretary to commiserate his case by obtaining the King's letters to the Lord Deputy of Ireland to prefer him in that country.

May 28. Aboard the St. James, in Catwater, Plymouth. 52. Capt. Richard Fogg to Nicholas. Though he had not the fortune to meet with our fleet at Rochelle, he had arrived safely with the ships he had in charge at Plymouth. Has order from Sir James Bagg to convoy them to Portsmouth, which he will do as soon as he has completed some necessary repairs. Sends him his journal. Incloses,

52. I. Journal of Capt. Richard Fogg's third voyage in his Majesty's ship, the St. James, being to convoy three vessels laden by Capt. Buxton with victuals for the relief of Rochelle, from Bristol to Plymouth, and thence to Rochelle. The journal extends from April 25 to May 27.

May 28. 53. Capt. John Pennington to the same. Prays him to deliver to John More his warrant for boatswain in the Tenth Whelp, built by Mr. Tranckmore, at Shoreham.

May 28. Eton, near Windsor. 54. Richard Daye to Mr. Weld, Secretary to Lord Conway. It being committed to the writer, by his Majesty's letters, to travail for the increase of wood, he thinks it his duty to advertise Lord Conway what may be dealt in by a parliamentary course. The propagating of God's Word is another matter, and of infinitely greater value. Laments to see how all things are cast on the Duke by those, he fears, that have it very radically and deeply in themselves to work the overthrow of the State by provoking the wrath of God against it, even to the uttermost. There is a way open to his Grace to make himself of far better desert towards this kingdom than the best of his enemies. Desires him to present the inclosed to Lord Conway, that they may be read unto his honour, and after a few days the writer will attend him therein. Inclosed,

54. I. Suggestions for a Parliamentary enactment for the preservation and increase of wood.

54. II. The like for the propagating of the Word of God.

May 28. London. 55. Rowland Woodward to Francis Windebank. Both Houses of Parliament have presented the Petition to his Majesty, by whom it was graciously accepted, desiring he might have some days to answer that which they had been so many weeks a doing. On 1628.

Monday it was agreed to by the Lords, who presently after came to the King, and had the favour, every one in order, to kiss his hand, except the Earl of Arundel, who was not there. Some say he had done it privately before. The Speaker, calling on the Bishop of Lincoln at Lady Villiers's house, the Bishop desired to be excused till some other time. The Countess of Buckingham's coach, with four horses, was at the door at the same time. You need no expositor on this text. Ned Clarke protests that he only served as interpreter, but is mightily dejected, apprehending the cloud will fall upon him, whom none of the Bedchamber, nor followers of the Duke, have visited. He is accused by some ladies in court, and creatures of the Duke, to have said before his going, that the action was unjust. Lord Carlisle is at Antwerp. The States have protested against detaining their ships at Portsmouth, which business Lord Carleton could not accommodate. The King's journey to Portsmouth is put off. This afternoon Sir Henry Hungate came from Plymouth. Capt. Pennington is presently to go to Rochelle with some addition of ships, but so long as the other captains are not recalled the world has no opinion of his success. The writer's brother, Grymesdych, took leave on Sunday, but on Monday he and the heirs utterly broke off.

May 29. Warrant to pay 1,000*l.* to Sir James Bagg, imprest for providing certain ships of war and fire-ships for relief of Rochelle. [Docquet.]

May 29. Warrant to Sir Henry Browne and William Tuthill for preservaof the King's game within the hundreds of Barstaple and Chafford, in co. Essex. [Docquet.]

May 29. Westminster. 56. The King to Buckingham. Recommends to him the care of the Lundworm, a ship of the King of Denmark, employed in a voyage to Nantes, but stayed in the Downs by the lieutenant of the St. Esprit, upon pretext of its having on board some deal boards. He is to redress any wrong or hard measure that has been offered to the ship, and to give present order to free her from any unjust hindrance.

May 29. Buckingham to Sir John Drake. Warrant to sell tenths, and return an account. [Copy. See Vol. cxv., p. 42*.]

May 29. 57. Sec. Coke to Buckingham. Last night, about three o'clock, the Earl of Denbigh came to St. Helen's, with the St. Andrew and other ships, to the number of 15 or 16. The Secretary waited on Lord Fielding, to see his father on board, and whilst they were there Capt. Parker, in the Vanguard, brought in eight Hamburghers or Hollanders, which Sir Henry Palmer had taken off Scilly. Sir Henry is not come in from a chase of seven Hamburghers more. Whilst he thus pursues friends, the victuallers he was appointed to convoy are all scattered and divers of them taken by the Dunkirkers, and they understood in the Admiral's fleet, that the Dunkirkers, even in sight of the fleet, took three of their victuallers. They have carried away one, and took the masters and seven mariners, and the corn, out of the other, and then turned them off. The ships which are there require for their present setting forth only a week's fresh victuals a piece, which they hope to furnish in a few days. Incloses a note of things to be sent after them. Lord Fielding's ships are ready. Store of provisions for Rochelle sent to Plymouth. Incloses,

57. 1. Note of supplies demanded for the fleet at Plymouth; to be sent from London.

May 29. Portsmouth. 58. Sec. Coke to Buckingham. Acknowledges receipt of letter from the Duke, that the fleet are to stay till their strength may go together. Sets forth the state of the fleet. Its strength, when at Rochelle, sufficient to encounter all the force the French king could have made by sea. The forcing of the palisado is to be performed by fire-ships and vessels of smaller burthen. The fleet is sufficiently victualled for two months. As long as they continue there the victuals will diminish, the men will languish by sickness, and many will steal away. Expedition in this action imports the hope of success. So speedy a return will not be expected, and it may be hoped they will find the French secure or in disorder. The chief difficulty is in the want of provisions to relieve the Rochellers, and the capture of the victuallers by the Dunkirkers; but there is great store of corn sent to Plymouth, and, if money be sent, sufficient may be provided.

May 29. [Mis-dated 1629] Portsmouth. 59. The same to the same. According to the Duke's commandment received that night, Lord Fielding is resolved to return to London immediately, and Sir Henry Palmer having joined with the Earl of Denbigh they will hasten them away, as soon as they shall be provided with fresh water, which takes time, because they dare not suffer the companies to fetch their own water. Will give notice to Lord Denbigh that the nine merchants and the fire-ships may meet him at Plymouth. Want of money.

May 29. 60. Order, whereby complaints made to his Majesty of the courses held for disaforesting Leicester Forest, and putting the same to sale, are referred to the Lord Treasurer, the Lord President, the Lord Admiral, the Lord Steward, the Earls of Dorset and Salisbury, Viscount Conway, Lord Weston, and the Chancellor of the Duchy, who are to call before them Sir Miles Fleetwood, and those who find themselves aggrieved, and report thereon to the King.

May 29. Whitehall. 61. Sec. Conway to Capt. Story, or his Officers. His Majesty has received information of some disorder amongst their soldiers, who, instead of paying respect to writs of his Majesty, sent down to be served in Meere and Gillingham, have been hinderers of the same, and rescued some men sent for as prisoners. He is to lay a strict command on his soldiers to abstain from such interference. [Copy.]

May 29. 62. Sec. Conway to Capt. William Towerson, or his Deputy. Has received warrant from the Lord Admiral for freedom to be given to the States' men-of-war of coming in and going out. All men-of-war of the States are to be released, and to be permitted freely and quietly to come in, depart, and pass. This is not to be understood to reach to the three East India Dutch ships stayed by the King's express order. [It appears that a similar letter was addressed to Sir Fulke Greville or his Deputy.] [Copy.]

May 29. 63. Agreement, made between Sec. Sir John Coke and Rowland Paine, Master of the Exchange of London, for employment of that ship in the King's service under the command of the Earl of Denbigh, from the 18th inst.

May 29. 64. Attorney General Heath to Sir Allen Apsley. Recommends his kinsman, Thomas Middleton, to be a purser in one of the new pinnaces.

May 29. 65. Minute of the case of Thomas Metcalfe, imprisoned for two years at Lancaster, on suspicion of being a priest, but now, having been removed to the Marshalsea, an applicant to be admitted to bail. Underwritten is the opinion thereon of Attorney General Heath:—If the prisoner be convicted of premunire, or there be evidence that he is a priest, he is not bailable, but if it be a suspicion only, and he be not in danger of premunire for refusing the Oath of Allegiance, then he is bailable.

May 29. London. 66. Sir Richard Harrison to [Francis Windebank]. Sends copy of the Petition of Right, yesterday delivered by both Houses to his Majesty. The reconciling some exceptions taken by the Lords has occasioned infinite debate. We expect a speedy answer from the King. We are now hastening the Bill of Subsidy and other Bills, for the conclusion, as he hopes, of a happy session, which the King makes such haste of, that we received this day a message that we must [sit] all these holydays. Annexed,

May 30. Whitehall. 73. The Council to Buckingham. To give charge to the Earl of Denbigh, as soon as the fleet shall be reassembled, with the first opportunity of wind, taking into his charge the ships stayed and prepared at Portsmouth and Plymouth, together with such fire-ships and others as shall be provided, to return to Rochelle, and do his best endeavour to relieve the same.

May 30. Whitehall. 74. The same to the same. To give direction to the Officers of the Navy, to cause the ten new pinnaces, now launched, or ready to be so within few days, to be brought into charge as the rest of the navy.

May 30. Aboard the St. Andrew. 75. William Earl of Denbigh to the same. Remains ready to take the first opportunity of a wind for his return to Rochelle. There is only one fire-ship taken up, and that no way ready. The Amity is not yet arrived. Assures the Duke that the captains under his command have been much wronged by ill information, there being none of them to whom he can impute remissness, neither found he any unwillingness in their undertaking the attempt, so far as the experience of the masters admitted any possibility of their ships floating. Divers of the ships are full of sick men, with no means of supplying the defect, unless they may be sent from London. If he shall arrive at Rochelle, the French and victuallers not being there, desires instructions whether he shall attempt the palisado or not. Their victualling is out on June 29, which, by disposing the men five to the allowance of four, may be computed five weeks. If there be no certainty of supply, their stay can be but very short, for with less than a fortnight's victuals they cannot make their return.

May 30. Aboard the Garland. 76. Sir Henry Palmer to the same. Has so far outlived the best of his fortunes as to be informed that in the ears of his Prince and the Duke his reputation has been sullied by a false detraction, that he was not forward in the attempt on Rochelle. Calls to witness Lord Denbigh, if he were not the first at the council that, upon the scruple which some made of danger, replied that commands were not to be disputed, and that none of them being commanded must refuse to go on the cannon's mouth. Begs the Duke to set him right in the King's and his own opinion, and to afford him that justification which is only left him for his redress.

May 30. 77. Sec. Conway to Sir Robert Naunton, Keeper of the Privy Seal for the time being. The pardon for Mr. Bawd and Mr. Kemp was stayed until the result of the trial should appear. Mr. Bawd having been acquitted, the pardon is now to be passed without farther stop. [Copy.]

May 30. Minute of the same. [Conway's Letter Book, p. 304.]

May 30. Portsmouth. 78. Sec. Coke to Sec. Conway. The whole fleet is now come thither. Sir Henry Palmer has brought with him 12 sail, which he calls prize-ships. Sir John Coke has sent for the masters and bills of lading, and if they appear to be Hollanders and friends, and that they go in fair trade, he will do his best to discharge them, that no just complaints may multiply. Will despatch away the fleet with the first wind, though he has not yet received one penny. Begs Mr. Weld to send an inclosure to Sir John's servant Thacker, at his house in Westminster.

May 30. 79. Thomas Taylor to Sec. Conway. Explains all the circumstances of the opposition to his obtaining his degree of D.D. at Cambridge. Dr. Wren objected at first until he had kept his acts. After they had been kept Dr. Wren still objected on the ground that Taylor was in the High Commission Court. Begs Lord Conway to write to Dr. Wren to become a means to help the grant of the degree to "pass all rubs."

May 30. The Tower. 80. Sir Allen Apsley to Nicholas. Incloses his petition, and prays him to take the first opportunity to deliver it when the Duke is with the King. Reminds him that his Grace is to get for himself, towards his debt from his Majesty, the 7,000*l.* that is to be paid next term for the forest of Leicester. Thinks, allowing interest, present money might be had. The Duke spoke to Sir Allen to provide for soldiers; there must be a Council order for this, expressing number, time, rate, and how to be paid. Incloses,

80. I. Petition of Sir Allen Apsley to the King. To do the King service, Sir Allen has sold and mortgaged his lands, and engaged his friends and himself near to 100,000*l. The King assigned* 20,000*l., part of* 41,216*l. of the said debt, to be paid in lands, upon the same conditions as the contract with the City. By opposition of the Treasurer, the order on the subject was made conditionally, and is therefore ineffectual. Sets forth his claim to interest on debts long due to him for victualling. Prays that he may have an absolute order for the sale to him of lands at so many years' purchase, and that he may have a just allowance of interest. To the King, as well as to the late King, and to Queen Elizabeth, the petitioner has done as faithful and beneficial service as any subject of the King of his quality whatsoever, and therefore he beseeches the King to command that he may be accordingly regarded, and not be singled out as a mark fit for ruin. Indorsed is an answer to the petition, dated* 1628, June 3. It declares that the King does much esteem the person and many good services of the petitioner, and desires that satisfaction may be given him with as much speed as the King's occasions can admit. The Council are directed to set down an exact order for the sale of lands to him, to consider his demand of interest, and thereupon to give order to the Lord Treasurer and Chancellor of the Exchequer that the petitioner may have "the like respect and consideration that is given to others," and that care be taken that he do not suffer "in his particular" for doing his Majesty's service.

May 30. The Tower. 81. Sir Allen Apsley to Nicholas. Recommends Thomas Middleton to be purser in one of the much-desired pinnaces, "which I conceive to be fair and beautiful, they have so many suitors."

May 30. The Downs. 82. Capt. Thomas Hewgs [Hughes] to the same, as "Richard Nicholas." Reports his stay of a ship and bark of London, bound professedly for Zealand, but really for Dunkirk.

May 30. 83. Note left by Nicholas with the Officers of the Navy, specifying various stores to be sent to the fleet, principally those mentioned in the inclosure to Sec. Coke's first letter to Buckingham dated the 29th inst. [See No. 57. I.]

May 31. Warrant to pay to Sir Francis Howard 870*l.*, for a messuage and certain lands in the parish of Chertsey, conveyed by him to his Majesty. [Docquet.]

May 31. Warrant to the Great Wardrobe to supply liveries for his Majesty's and the Queen's footmen, littermen, coachmen, charioteer, and postilions. [Docquet.]

May 31. Portsmouth. 84. Sec. Coke to Buckingham. On Wednesday, the 28th, the fleet demanded only fresh victuals and water. On Thursday Sir Henry Mainwaring would needs go again on board, but brought no news of any imperfection. That night the Duke's letters came to hasten them away. These letters Sir Henry took to the Earl aboard, and yesternight returned with certificate that the Rainbow, of Aldborough, must be brought aground, and tidings that the Vanguard was in like case. Troubled with these new causes of delay, Sir John requested the Earl, for the more speedy watering, to bring his fleet nearer to Cowes, for, besides those before mentioned, the Loyalty was sent in as unserviceable, and the Martha for repairs. Lord Denbigh writes, that if he should receive all informations, they would have no ship fit to go to sea, and that he would go aboard the Vanguard, and be better informed of the state of that ship [see No. 87]. Difficulty of carrying on these works without money, meantime they do what they can, and are discouraged by nothing, but find not that forwardness in men there or in the fleet which the service requires. Eighty sick men were sent ashore yesternight, and had been provided for. Capt. Williams, with his engines' company is also come ashore, and his engineer is gone to London without Coke's approbation, as he saith, for more engines. Incloses, 84. I. Certificate of the Rainbow's defects, signed Thomas Weddell; Thomas Beaumont. 1628, May 30.

May 31. Portsmouth. 85. The same to the same. The Esperance was, by mistake, termed, in his previous letter, the Martha. Reports of the Clerk of the Cheque and the chief Master Shipwright, that the Loyalty may, in seven days, be fit for employment, and the Esperance needs only a change in her ordnance, sakers for demi-culverins. Exertions to repair these ships and the Rainbow, and to procure fire-ships.

1628. VOL. CV.

Has sent Sir Henry Mainwaring to persuade the Admiral to bring his ships nearer to Cowes, otherwise the bringing of fresh water will breed excuse for their stay, no man knows how long. They should send their water casks, but they send the staves, all in pieces, and all the coopers there are not sufficient to make their casks fit. They have all impediments, and no help, from the fleet, nor any expression of forwardness, except in the Earl and some very few others. They cannot be persuaded to keep their men aboard, and, when Coke complains, they write to him to send their names. Has examined the cases of the twelve ships brought in by Sir Henry Palmer. States the circumstances of each. Has reported to the Earl that the taking of eleven might be justly complained of, as a disturbance of trade. For the twelfth, he advised her to be detained and committed to the Duke's vice-admiral in that port. Incloses,

85. I. Certificate of repairs needed by the Loyalty.

85. II. The like of the Esperance.

[May 31 ?] 86. Capt. Jacob Williams to Buckingham. After the Earl of Denbigh's arrival with the fleet in Charlebois Road, on the evening of May 1, the weather was stormy for several days. All men who saw the palisado thought it an impossibility to break through it. The first fair evening Capt. Allen and the writer approached the works with six floaters, which, finding their time, they put into the water, but Capt. Allen putting one of them over the boat's side, blew himself and seven more in the air. Those which Williams had, arrived either on the ships or the palisadoes, and did execution; how much they could not know, by reason the Earl set sail the next day towards the sea. The writer has sent his engineer up for such things as they shall want, with which he will acquaint the Duke.

May 31. 87. William Earl of Denbigh to Sec. Coke. Particulars of the defects of the Rainbow and Esperance. If he should give credit to all informations they should find no ship to go to sea, but would all prove defective. Purposes to-morrow to go aboard the Vanguard with Capt. Weddell and others, and then he shall be better able to certify her state. Wishes he had mentioned what ship the men belonged to who are ashore without tickets. Entreats him to make inquiry for Capt. Quaile, who is ashore. Though he has disobeyed the Earl's commands, prays he may be sent aboard, for the Earl esteems well of him. [On the blank page are notes, by Sec. Coke, of the wants of one of the ships above mentioned, and the time it would take to supply them.]

May 31. 88. Sir Sackville Crow to Nicholas. To move the Lord Admiral for letter to Lord Carew [the Earl of Totness ?] for ordnance for the Increase, and a warrant to the victualler for 40 men for three months. She is to carry the provisions to Plymouth.

May 31. 91. Proposal for setting forth ten ships to guard the northern seas and coasts, and to be employed in convoying the Eastland and Hamburgh fleets.

May 31. 92. Names of persons recommended for captains, masters, boatswains, gunners, pursers, and carpenters of the ten new pinnaces, with the names of their recommenders.

May ?] 93. His Majesty's Question to the Judges;—Whether, if he grant the Petition of Right, he does not conclude himself from committing a subject without showing a cause? With the Answer of the Judges;—That, although the petition be granted, there is no fear of such conclusion. [Copy, in the King's handwriting.]

[May ?] 98. Another Royal Answer, considerably altered from the preceding; also in the handwriting of the Attorney General.

[May ?] 99. Another Royal Answer to the same Petition; also in the same handwriting, with various alterations. Indorsed is perhaps the first draft of the first answer actually given on June 2. It is substantially the same as was delivered by the Lord Keeper, but the words "as well," near the conclusion, are not here.

[May ?] 100. The King to the Lieutenant of the Tower. The House of Commons having committed —— to his custody, there are sundry informations of divers malicious humours respecting which he is to be examined. The Lieutenant is not therefore to deliver him without further warrant. [It has been suggested that this may refer to Richard Burgess, Vicar of Whitney. See Journal of House of Commons, I., 894, and several subsequent pages.]

May. Commission to Spencer Lord Compton, Master of the Leash, to take within his Majesty's dominions such greyhounds and other dogs for his Majesty's disport as his predecessors have done; and also to seize all greyhounds or beagles that may be offensive to his Majesty's game. [Docquet.]

[May ?] 101. Oath taken by John Buckeridge, late Bishop of Rochester, on performing homage for the see of Ely.

May. 102. Petition of Weavers, Clothiers, Fullers, and Spinners to the King and Parliament. It pleased the late King to tolerate the making of 1,000 broad cloths yearly, for the good of the City of Coventry, which toleration is abused by bringing into the said city a "sleythey" sort of broadcloth, which disgraces our cloths, and deceives the transporter. Pray that trade may be carried on according to the late King's toleration, and the Order of Council of November 27, 1627.

[May ?] 103. Buckingham to Capt. ———. Instructions, signed, but without the name of the person intended to be addressed having been inserted. He is to put to sea from Plymouth, and scour the Channel from thence to the Downs. On arriving in the Downs he was to put himself under the command of Capt. Richard Paramour, in the St. Esprit, and when Sir Henry Mervyn was at sea was to receive instructions from him.

[May ?] 104. The same [?] to ———. Warrant authorizing the persons addressed to repair to the port towns of Essex, Suffolk, and Norfolk, to inform themselves what ships belong to the chief ports and what ships are on the stocks; and, if they met with any ships fit for the King's service, to press five or six of them. [Unsigned. Perhaps copy of a draft.]

[May ?] 105. Petition of Capt. Henry Woodhouse to the Council. He has formerly petitioned for payment of two years' arrears due to him as Muster-master of Suffolk, but, notwithstanding the Deputy Lieutenants of the county have been required to levy the same, by two letters, whereof a copy of the last is annexed, no collection has been made, except by Sir Thomas Jermyn, who has levied the moneys in his division, and kept the same in deposito. Prays that a course may be taken for his speedy payment. Annexed,

105. I. The Council to the Deputy Lieutenants of co. Suffolk. To collect and pay over the sum due to Capt. Woodhouse. Whitehall, 1628, February 29.

[May ?] 106. Petition of James Morgan, of Glamorganshire, Executor to Sergeant Major Watkins, deceased in 1627, to the same. On April 16 last, the Council referred the dispute between the petitioner and Jane Blankerd, who calls herself Watkins, to Sir James Scott and Capt. John Mason, who have returned their certificate, wherein occur some questions of law. Prays for his despatch.

[May ?] 107. Advertisements from George Henry to Sec. Coke, against Owen Field and Thomas Strange, friars of the Order of St. Francis, and common intelligencers for the State of Spain, in Ireland, who had sent persons to England to publish rumours that Henry was a spy, and thus to prevent his obtaining information beyond seas.

Boislorée, and of his transfer thereof to the petitioners; from the Surgeons sent down to the maimed soldiers of the Rhé expedition, for payment of 65*l.* 6*s.* 8*d.*, balance of their disbursements of 155*l.* 6*s.* 8*d.*, with a recompence for their pains; from the Archbishop of Cashel; Sir Thomas Wenman; Robert Sedgwick; Sir Robert Harley; Robert Johnson, one of the King's musicians, for the place of Composer to the lutes and voices, one of the places held by Thomas Lupo, lately deceased; William Jeffery, chaplain to Lord Aston in Spain, for the rectory of Whitwell, co. Derby.

June 1. Westminster. 1. Warrant to Buckingham, to give order for the release of the Lundworm, belonging to the King of Denmark, bound for Nantes, to fetch wine for the said King, but stayed in the Downs.

June 1. Whitehall. 2. Warrant to Attorney General Heath, to prepare, for the King's signature, a bill for a pardon for William Paver, convicted of manslaughter of James Gardiner.

June 1. Whitehall. 3. Order of Council, that, in regard that many of the Earl of Denbigh's ships are defective, and that the relief of Rochelle appears to be of more difficulty than was formerly conceived, and would require greater strength of shipping, which the Officers of the Navy and Surveyor of Victuals affirmed should be in readiness in 14 days, if money were supplied in due time; therefore, the Lord Admiral is to direct the Earl of Denbigh to stay the going out of the fleet until further order.

June 1. Whitehall. 4. Order of Council, that the Lord Admiral should give order for providing victuals for 3,000 land soldiers for three months, each man to have per diem one pound of biscuit, a pottle of beer, a quarter of a pound of butter, and half a pound of cheese, which will amount to 6*d.* a man per diem.

June 1. Portsmouth. 5. Sec. Coke to Buckingham. Sir Henry Mainwaring is going to London to inform the Duke of the difficulties of this journey. Coke knows not whether they discovered as many difficulties at Rochelle as they have raised in the preparation for their return.

VOL. CVI.

One hundred and twenty sick men sent ashore, and more to come on the morrow. Three ships have come into the harbour to be repaired, and provisions sent for to repair the other at sea. Difficulties in supply of fresh water. By their raising daily new difficulties, Coke perceives that the labour will be lost. They mean not to haste away who have sent for their wives aboard. Preparation of fire-ships. Answer on that subject of the Mayor of Southampton. Incloses,

5. I. Mayor of Southampton to Sec. Coke. Seven ships in that harbour, which will answer the required purpose. They may be had for 250*l.* If Coke will send 350*l. for present disbursements, their preparation shall be gone on with. Without present money the carpenters and labouring men will do nothing.*

June 1. [Dated, by mistake, May 1.] Dorset House. 6. Sir John Sackville to Nicholas. Solicits him to write to Mr. Wyan, that the Duke will write to the Deputy and Commissioners in Ireland to reserve the King's and his right out of Capt. Dayn's prize.

June 1. 7. Names of captains of seven of the ten Lion's Whelps.

June 2. Westminster. Pardon to William Bainton, of Brigham, in co. York, for having married his first wife's niece by her half sister. Latin [Ibid., No. 18.]

June 2. Docquet of the same.

June 2. The King to Buckingham. To give order for the release of the Lundworm. [See before, Vol. cvi., No. 1.] [Docquet].

June 2. Canterbury. 8. Mayor and Aldermen of Canterbury to the Council. Nothing prevails with the refusers to billet, and now the lawyers being come from term, utterly refuse to contribute any longer. The soldiers threaten to take the meat from the butchers' shops, and others take away men's wares, and break open the doors of the billeters; yea, some of the officers would have killed their billeters in their own houses. The inhabitants daily take their oaths that they stand in fear of their lives, and there is continual fear of rapine, robbery, and bloodshed.

June 2. Bradford. 9. Constables of Bradford, co. Wilts, to the Keeper of the Privy Chamber, to be delivered to the Lords of the Council. Certify that the prisoner who made his escape had been retaken and sent to the gaol-delivery at Fisherton Anger. Pray that they may be forgiven for letting him escape.

June 2. Portsmouth. 10. Sec. Coke to Buckingham. Common bruit of the impossibility of success at Rochelle, which has disheartened the mariners, and produced almost an impossibility to proceed according to the King's directions. Another ship to be sent in. Mutiny aboard the Nonsuch. Had written to the Earl of Denbigh to co-operate in appeasing these discontents, but Sir Henry Mainwaring having avowed that the commanders were the authors of the opinion of impossibility of success, Coke thought it fruitless to send his letter. Incloses it to apprise the Duke of the state of things there. Inclosed,

10. 1. The same to William Earl of Denbigh. Report that the King is sending back the fleet to an impossible work, said to proceed from the commanders. Calls upon him to disavow and cry down this report, and advance, the action as the only way to redeem his honour. Portsmouth. June 1, 1628.

June 2. Aboard the St. Andrew. 11. William Earl of Denbigh, Sir Henry Palmer, and Capt. John Weddell to the same. Send him a relation of the manner of their proceedings at Rochelle, and the true state of the place as they found it. Description of the palisado, and account of the communications held with the Rochellers respecting an attack upon it. After much uncertainty, the admiral absolutely refused to go in, and declared they would not counsel a longer stay. Nothing can be done without the concurrence of a north-west wind and a spring tide. The victuals they have are defective, and unfit to be sent into the town. Beg that positive propositions may be required from the Rochellers as to how they will attempt it, and what assistance they demand from the fleet. Sir Henry Mainwaring will give a more particular relation.

June 2. Whitehall. 12. Sec. Conway to Francis Earl of Bedford. Has acquainted the King with the Earl's letter. His Majesty is well pleased that the Earl should return from Plymouth with his best convenience. [Copy.] of Sir John Eliot and William Coryton to the Commons House of Parliament, petitioners were sent for by a messenger to answer for writing a letter, wherein they advised the said Sir John Eliot and William Coryton not to stand for shire-knights, whereto they were moved by the reasons stated in the schedule annexed. On the appearance of petitioners before the House, they were censured for contempt in not coming away presently upon sight of their warrant, although they returned for answer that they were engaged in important service for the King. Afterwards, for subscribing the letters to Eliot and Coryton, they were committed to various prisons. They pray the King to consider the danger of this precedent to his service, and submit themselves to his pleasure for enlargement. Annexed,

14. I. A particular of the true reasons which moved the petitioners to subscribe the letters above mentioned.

June 3. 15. Heads of Remonstrance proposed to be presented to the King by the House of Commons, in the handwriting of Sec. Coke.

June 3. Whitehall. 16. The Council to Buckingham. To give order for impressing 24 barges with a sufficient number of watermen, and two ketches, to carry water engines for the expedition intended for the relief of Rochelle.

June 3. Portsmouth. 17. Sec. Coke to the same. Received yesterday his Majesty's commandment and the Duke's letters to the Earl of Denbigh not to proceed till the whole fleet may go together. The works are in hand for the Esperance, Loyalty, and Rainbow. Nothing can be done with the fire-ships at Southampton without money. Calandrini and Towerson have sent out their factors for 2,500 quarters of wheat for Rochelle. Misconduct of the fleet in reference to the supply of fresh water. The number of sick increases, and men cannot be got in those parts. It is professed that they take the money, but will not appear. The town is so pestered with mariners, sick and whole, that it will be no fit place for his Majesty's access. The general stay of shipping gives a stop to all markets, and is much complained of. Vice Admirals give passes for ten shillings to barks that go from port to port.

June 3. Aboard the St. Andrew. 18. William Earl of Denbigh to the same. Has received directions for despatching a competent number of ships for guarding and scouring the seas betwixt the Downs and Portland; will despatch them with all expedition. Sends list, and doubts not they will be at sea to-morrow or next day. Order should be given to Sir John Watts and the Trinity House for taking up 300 men for supply of the fleet before they go to sea. Incloses,

June 3. 19. Petition of John Joy, of Arundel, to Buckingham. His hoy, being employed, in his Majesty's service, between Shoreham and Chatham, was taken by a French shallop, but was retaken by his Majesty's ketch, and was then in Dover pier. Prays that it may be restored, upon giving satisfaction to the captain and company of the ketch.

June 3. 20. Capt. John Heydon to Nicholas. Warrants must be obtained for furnishing the 20 or 30 boats, with engines, to be suddenly prepared. The sakers for the Increase must either be bought of the merchants or deducted from Capt. Pennington's ships, as the inclosed will show. The state of the King's magazine remains in the Council-chamber chest. What is found there shall be supplied on warrant. For such things as are to be provided by way of emption there must be money as well as warrant. Inclosed,

20. I. Number of demi-culverins and sakers in store, with the numbers ordered to be supplied to Capt. Pennington's fleet.

June 3. 21. Minutes of warrants [of the Council of War?] for providing water instruments, 24 barges, and a variety of necessary articles, to be supplied to Capt. Jacob Williams and Abraham Keffler.

June 3. 22. Attested copy of an Order of the Court of the Vice Chancellor of Cambridge, in a cause between Mr. Winterton and "Sr. Nott."

June 4. Congé d'eslire to the Dean and Chapter of York, to elect an Archbishop, that see being void by the death of the last incumbent. [Docquet.]

June 4. The King to the same. To elect George Montaigne, now Bishop of London, to the archbishoprick of York. [Docquet.]

June 4. Westminster. Grant to Sir Thomas Leigh, John Bullock, and Edward Villiers, named by Sir William Powell, of Rolleston Park, co. Stafford, parcel of the Duchy of Lancaster, on payment of 1,100*l.*, and reservation of double the ancient rent of 3*l.* 6*s.* 8*d.*, after two years. Latin [Coll. Sign Man., Car. I., Vol. vii., No. 20.]

June 4. Whitehall. 23. Buckingham to Capt. John Pennington. Warrant to provide 30 grapnels with chains, 10 great chains with ragbolts, and 20 great long ragbolts, for the ships to go with him in his present expedition.

June 4. Whitehall. 24. The same to John West. Warrant of appointment as master cook in the Tenth Lion's Whelp.

June 4. Portsmouth. 25. Sec. Coke to Buckingham. So soon as notice was taken of the change of counsel, the very thought of further service seemed to be cast off. All men's endeavours are how to get ashore, and spend time in attending the new preparations. The ships here will find themselves to be all unserviceable till they are new trimmed. Ships which have come into the harbour. Quarrels between sailors and soldiers. Warrant of the Earl of Denbigh for most of the men of the Rainbow, Esperance, and Loyalty to be sent to the fleet, and put into the ships which are to go with Sir Henry Palmer; whereupon the men of the Rainbow ran ashore, on the Gosport side, where there is no constable or justice of peace. Suggests the sending down Mr. Boate, as a master shipwright acquainted with the place, and, if money be sent, the Treasurer of the Navy should send one of his clerks to pay and keep accounts.

1628. VOL. CVI.

June 4. Portsmouth. 26. Sec. Coke to Buckingham. Sir Sackville Crow's man has brought him 500*l.* Begs that Mr. Edisbury may be appointed Deputy Treasurer for this service. Has agreed with Mr. Burlamachi to send in as much corn as may be within ten days, and has taken order for shipping to carry 1,500 quarters; sufficient at Southampton to carry as much more. Capt. Mason has pressed one of the carpenter's chief workmen to go in his small pilfering pinnace, the Spy, and said that the Duke's warrant was better than Coke's. If the Duke suffers this, Coke tarries there in vain.

June 4. Whitehall. 27. Sec. Conway to the same. In obedience to the commands of the Duke, he had taken the examination of one Melvin, informed against by Capt. Butler and Henry Good, for certain speeches against the King's honour, the government of the State, and the Duke in particular. Has committed Melvin close prisoner to the Gatehouse. Thinks such scandalous things should be silenced with contempt, or punished exemplarily. Capt. Butler desires to be discharged of his attendance.

June 4. 28. Copy of the same.

June 4. Minute of the same. [Conway's Letter Book, p. 305.]

June 4. Whitehall. 29. The same to Lord Treasurer Marlborough and the Chancellor of the Exchequer. The King has directed a service to be performed, and one of the persons to be employed is to be furnished with 25*l.* here in money, the other with 60*l.*, by a bill of exchange, payable in France by Mr. Burlamachi. [Copy.]

June 4. Minute of the same. [Conway's Letter Book, p. 305.]

June 4. 30. Petition of Nicolas Le Saunier to Seigneur de Caignoue [Conway]. Pitiable appeal from a Frenchman, committed to prison, on the part of the Government of Jersey, by Capt. Bourli [Burley]. He is in the most lamentable state of misery to which a man of honour was ever reduced.

June 4. Portsmouth. 31. Sec. Coke to Sec. Conway. Cannot express the difficulties and confusions into which he is plunged by this charge, which was never before laid upon a Secretary of State, and by having to deal with men that neither know law nor order. All men make advantage of this prolongation of the time, to make their ships and men more unready when their going shall be expected. Fears the Lord Admiral never reads over his letters, because in his returns he finds no directions given to things of most importance. Complains of the indignity of a King's Secretary being made a clerk and accomptant to the Officers of the Navy, and begs for a warrant appointing Mr. Edisbury to be Deputy Treasurer. Shall be glad to hear of a happy conclusion of the session of Parliament.

June 4. 32. Journal, by Sec. Coke, of his proceedings at Portsmouth, from this day to 1628, August 13. This entry book contains notes of events, of letters written and received, of orders given and examinations taken, during the period above mentioned.

June 4 [?] Hinton. 33. [John Lord Poulett] to Sir Francis Cottington. Relates the circumstances of a dispute with Mr. Attorney, and a letter full of reprehension for faults from the King, consequent upon Lord Poulett's obedience to directions of the Lord Treasurer not to suffer trees to be cut upon Mr. Attorney's land in the forest of Roche until agreement were made with the rest that had interest in the lands of that forest. Begs him to move the King and the Lord Treasurer for the Commissioners to take the deer into their own hands. Has kept the forest for ten years on his own purse, without allowance from the King.

June 5. Docquet of grant to Sir Thomas Leigh, and others. [See Sign Man., 1628, June 4.]

June 5. Whitehall. 34. Buckingham to Sec. Conway. To give order that all vessels may pass from port to port within his Vice Admiralty, notwithstanding the former restraint.

June 5. Portsmouth. 35. Sec. Coke to Buckingham. Has sent to Southampton to treat with the owners of the fire-ships; if they cannot be drawn to bargain by the great, the ships shall be pressed, and, if necessary, fitted up for the intended service. Progress made in repairs of the ships sent into that harbour. The sick men attended to. The victualler has allowed only 7*d.* per day for men lodged and cherished by the country, retaining a penny a day out of the King's allowance. Coke has required them to pay the whole 8*d.*, which will be a means to recover them the sooner, and stop the clamour which began to speak loud. 3,000 quarters of corn ordered for Rochelle. Bread laden, by Sir James Bagg, aboard the St. James, in great part corrupted by leakage. Coke has written to Lord Denbigh to send that ship ashore. Order given to lay the spoiled wheat of the Martha and the Bonaventure abroad in the sun. Leakage of the Vanguard likely to be stopped. Mr. Montagu gone to sea that day with Sir Henry Palmer.

June 5. 36. Petition of John Emberson, master, and John Brewer, and seven poor widows, owners, of the Good Intent, of Ipswich, to the same. Their ship, on the return of the fleet from the Isle of Rhé, arrived safely in Hamoaze, but was there damaged in a storm to the extent of 220*l.* In consideration whereof, and that the master, with four of his company, on the retreat from Rhé, understanding that the Duke's plate lay in great hazard of being taken, adventured their lives in going to the Duke's lodgings, and bringing it safe aboard, being constrained to wade into the sea up to their chins, for which they have had no reward. Pray for protection to the ship and crew against impressment for 12 months, and pay for their service and freight.

June 5. 37. D. Burton to Nicholas. Reports various exceptions to the account of Sir Lionel Tollemache, for the profits of the Vice Admiralty of Suffolk, in which the Duke's moiety amounts to no more than 20*l.* 2*s.* 11½*d.* To clear all doubts the account should be exhibited on oath, before Sir Henry Marten.

June 5. The Tower. 38. Sir Allen Apsley to Nicholas. Recommends Henry Bassano for purser in one of the Lion's Whelps.

June 5. 39. Certificate of Sir William St. John and Sir Robert Mansell, of the services of Monger Scott, as master and pilot, in various King's ships. [Underwritten is a further certificate of Peter White, to the same effect, dated 1628, June 16.]

June 6. 40. The King to the House of Lords. Message delivered by the Lord Keeper. [See Journ. Lords, III., 840.]

June 6. Whitehall. 41. The Council to Buckingham. To give order for the discharge of all the ships brought in as prize by Sir Henry Palmer, on the return from Rochelle, except that laden with lead, and bound for Bordeaux.

June 6. Dartmouth. 42. Sir James Bagg to the same. Reports his proceedings in the preparation of ships, provisions, and men, at Plymouth and its neighbourhood; and also his dealings with Branneau and the rest of Rochelle, whom he finds less doers than talkers. Here are arrived from the Straits nine ships of London. The fame of the strength of the Dunkirkers upon the coast affrights them. Bagg has therefore appointed Capt. Fogg, with two ships, to waft them to St. Helen's. This he has done as commanded by the Duke. Sir Ferdinando Gorges has a great desire to appear in this action, and promises to himself an assurance of gaining a passage, if he have his way. Nothing wanted more than men. If every man's heart were encouraged by the Duke's, to forward the King's service, the Lord and Deputy Lieutenants would have undertaken somewhat, and not that long journey so in vain.

June 6. Whitehall. 43. Sec. Conway to Sec. Coke. He letters have been imparted to his Majesty, and the Duke has been solicited for answers, which he hopes have been sent. Businesses there are in such distraction as the relation must needs be unwelcome to so good a mind as his. When any counsels shall work better offices he shall receive it presently and joyfully.

June 6. Whitehall. 44. Sec. Conway to Capt. William Towerson. To allow vessels to pass from port to port. [It appears from the indorsement that a similar letter was written to Sir Fulke Greville.] [Copy.]

June 6. Whitehall. 45. The same to Sir John Hippisley. To give order that Walter Gorman, servant to the Dutch Ambassador employed on his Majesty's service, may pass quietly into France and return. [Minute.]

June 6. Another minute of the same, in which the person mentioned is termed "Walter Horman." [Conway's Letter Book, p. 305.]

June 6. 46. Sir Henry Mervyn to Nicholas. Requests him to prefer William Baradelle to the command of one of the ships of Sir Henry's squadron.

June 6. 47. Sir Thomas Aylesbury to his son Nicholas. On his application to recommend a boatswain for the Mary Rose, sends him Nicholas Spearman, as very able and sufficient.

June 6. Aboard the St. George, Portsmouth Road. 48. Capt. John Weddell to the same. Is going to speak with Sec. Coke with the master of the prize Conick [Konig] David, of Amsterdam, to be examined by him. Doubts not she will appear to be lawful prize. Thanks for furthering Capts. Green, Roe, and Hackwell, whom he has presented to the Earl of Denbigh. Sir Henry Palmer is gone abroad, to clear the coast of Dunkirkers, which are in abundance.

June 6. 49. Capt. John Pennington to the same. To send by the bearer the warrant for 1,000*l.*, and the other for pressing trumpeters. Is now going down to Woolwich to the pinnaces.

June 6. 50. Philip Burlamachi to the same. Prays to know what his Excellency wishes to have done. At Portsmouth there are 2,500 quarters of corn. What shall he order at Plymouth? Has written to secure 1,000 quarters, but desires to know how he is to be paid. Fr.

June 6. Fenchurch Street. 51. Thomas Tayler to Mr. King, at Mr. Nicholas's house. Requests him to get a warrant for Bernard Ashwood to be cook in the First Lion's Whelp.

[June 6.] 52. John Millington to ———. The House of Commons being discontented that the King has signed their petition in general terms, and especially that he sent them a message forbidding them to enter on new business, they held such restraint to be against their liberties. Lord Coke named the Duke to be the author of that advice, whereupon the whole House fell upon him, but a gracious message stopped them, so as now they go on in their course, which is to inquire into the necessities of the State and the authors, with such like heads under which they will bring the Duke. Men admire if the King will tolerate such a liberty of discourse. Kirton has been called to the bar for words spoken, but freed by a Committee.

June 7. 53. Copy of the Petition of Right; with, underwritten, the formal part of the King's second Answer, given this day.

June 7. 54. Full copy of the King's second Answer to the Petition of Right. [Indorsed by Weckherlin, Secretary to Lord Conway, who has added, "whereupon bonfires were made."]

June 7. The Strand. 55. Sir Francis Nethersole to the Queen of Bohemia. It has been his resolution, from the beginning of this aguish Parliament, not to write to her Majesty but on the good days thereof. Resumes his narrative from the agreement of both Houses to the Petition of Right, which was delivered to his Majesty on the Wednesday before Whitsunday. He promised a speedy and good answer. The next day he sent a message to the Lower House, which required them not to make any adjournment at Whitsuntide. This gave some discontentment, and it was resolved that no entry should be made thereof, and that, although the House would not adjourn, no business of importance should be done till after the holidays. On Whitmonday, the King came to the House, and gave them the answer to the petition, which is inclosed. Being something oraculous, and having no reference to the petition, it gave little satisfaction to many men, who fell the next day on making a Remonstrance to the King on the dangers of the kingdom. Speech of Sir John Eliot. Message on Wednesday from the King, that he would not yield to any alteration in his answer, but would close the Session on the 11th inst. The House proceeded with the Remonstrance, until another message, which absolutely forbade them to do so. Scene which ensued. Most part of the House fell a weeping. Sir Robert Phillips could not speak for weeping. Others blamed those that wept, and said they had swords to cut the throats of the King's enemies. Remonstrance prepared against the breach made on the liberty of Parliament, and voted all save the last resolution touching the Duke, when the Speaker delivered a message requiring the House to adjourn until the next morning. That afternoon the King and the Lords were in Council from two till eight on the question whether the Parliament should be dissolved. The negative was resolved on. On the following morning the Speaker explained away his message, and the House proceeded with the Remonstrance. That day the Lords desired them to join in a petition to the King for a better answer to the former petition. The King agreed thereto, and came that afternoon, gave the customary royal assent, adding other observations which are repeated. It is not possible to express with what joy this was heard, nor what joy it causes in all the city, where they are making bonfires at every door, such as were never seen but upon his Majesty's return from Spain. Incloses,

June 7. Portsmouth. 56. Sec. Coke to Buckingham. Reports progress. Four of the ships to be repaired are already come off the ground, and the fifth will be grounded on Monday. Before Sir Henry Palmer and Lord Fielding were clear of the port a fight was heard off at sea. Whether they came to take up the quarrel has not yet been heard. Mr. Boate would be useful on the fire-ships at Southampton, and the Officers of the Navy should cause the Trinity House to press ten or twelve able masters to take charge of those ships.

June 7. Portsmout 57. The same to Sec. Conway. His letter of the 6th inst. made him sad at the very heart. Begs Conway to let him know what he is to hope or fear, and to procure a resolution for Coke's calling back when he sees that Coke can there do no service to the State. Writes with a distracted heart till he hears from him again.

June 7. Whitehall. 58. Sec. Conway to the Clerk of the Signet. Sir George Blundell and his son George Blundell having been both slain in the King's service in the Isle of Rhé, and the eldest son of the said George Blundell being under age, the King pardons the fine and rent accruing to him by the infant's wardship, and a grant is to be prepared thereof to Sarah Blundell, widow of the said George Blundell. [Minute.]

June 7. Another minute of the same, but dated June 8. [Conway's Letter Book, p. 305.]

June 7. Whitehall. 59. The same to ——— Calandrini. Bids him return home from his hazardous employment, and desires him in justice and courtesy to make up the accounts of Lord Conway's son, Sir Thomas Conway, and procure him satisfaction of what is due. [Copy.]

June 7. Minute of the same. [Conway's Letter Book, p. 305.]

June 7. 60. Capt. John Pennington to Nicholas. To deliver to John Pett his commission as captain of the Sixth Lion's Whelp, built by Mr. Pett, of Ratcliffe.

June 7. 61. The same to the same. To make David Powell cook of one of the Lion's Whelps.

June 7. 62. Capt. John Heydon to the same. Sends estimate of the state of the Office of Ordnance. If some speedy course be not taken for reinforcing the stores, the magazine will fall to so low an ebb as that all artillery and whatsoever else must hereafter be provided with ready money. [Unsigned.]

June 7. 63. Certificate of Robert Mason, that Capt. Allen Butler received charge of the Maria pinnace, as captain under a commission, dated September 18, 1627, in the Isle of Rhé.

June 7. Scilly. 64. Thomas Bassett to Sir Francis Godolphin. Their works go slowly on by reason of shipping, which have since Sir Francis's departure plied about the islands, and kept the people in perpetual alarm, although most of them were their friends. Miserable case they are in, and impossibility of their subsisting against an adversary without a farther supply of men and muskets. [Copy.]

June 7. Aboard the St. George. 65. Proportion set forth by Capt. John Weddell of materials for fireworks for one ship.

June 8. 66. Lord Treasurer Marlborough, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, and Sir Humphrey May to Attorney General Heath. To prepare a grant to the nominees of Christopher Earl of Anglesea of certain enumerated lands and tenements of the yearly value of 139*l.* 7*s.* 0½*d.*, in part of 400*l.* per annum, given to the said Earl by the late King.

June 8. Whitehall. 67. The Council to Buckingham. It appearing that there is laden aboard the twelfth ship taken by Sir Henry Palmer only 46 pieces of Poland lead, each piece not above 80 lbs. weight, affirmed to be only for ballast, the Duke is recommended to order her discharge.

June 8. Whitehall. 68. The same to the same. To cause 20 pilots and 150 mariners to be pressed within the jurisdiction of the Cinque Ports, for the fleet about to proceed to Rochelle.

June 8. Portsmouth. 69. Capts. Michael Greene, John Rowe, and Robert Hackwell to Nicholas. According to the Duke's order, they came to Portsmouth, and delivered the Duke's letter to the Earl of Denbigh, who gave them a list of all the ships' names, with those of their captains. Two only were unprovided, which are old and weak, and of little force. Their desire is to show themselves men, therefore they pray the Duke to appoint them to ships wherein they may do service and gain credit. To prevent idleness they have taken in hand the fitting of all the fireworks. Inclose,

June 9. Docquet of the same.

Buckingham, of the yearly value of 61*l.* 6*s.* 7*d.*, in consideration of 500*l.*, parcel of 1,000*l.*, given him for his service in taking the French prizes; and also of his relinquishing his pay for his service in command of the city fleet; with a confirmation of an assignment thereof made to Isaac Pennington. [Docquet.]

June 9. Cottles. 70. William Poulett to the Council. Thomas Harvy had been found, and committed to the gaol at Fisherton Anger, in co. Wilts.

June 9. 71. Sec. Conway to Sec. Coke. Yesterday morning a motion was made in the Upper House for a committee to conceive a Remonstrance to the King, upon the present affairs of Christendom, which terminated, after long debate, in a conference with the Commons for a petition to the King for a clear and satisfactory answer to the Petition of Right. The Commons having concurred, the King came to the House at two o'clock, and gave an answer, which begat such an acclamation as made the House ring several times. Conway never saw a more general joy in all faces than spread itself suddenly, and broke out into ringing of bells and bonfires miraculously. Coke's letters arrived that afternoon whilst a debate was in agitation in the Council about the fleet he has in care, and monies ordered and made certain for the satisfaction of the Officers of the Navy, the Victuallers, Mr. Burlamachi, and Capt. Pennington. Deliberation was also had respecting the removing of the soldiers that came from Rhé to Gluckstadt, and other uses to be made of the subsidy money, which, if accompts deceive not, will be accorded on the morrow or the next day. He must be constant in his work until his Majesty in person bring him a discharge, and Conway brings "our Table to wait on you." He has escaped the delivering of many messages in which he would have had no delight, nor for which he would have received thanks, and has missed the lending of 200*l.* for setting out these ships. His lady is in good health, and so is Sir Robert Lee, and all his family.

June 9. Minute of the same. [Conway's Letter Book, p. 305.]

June 9. Whitehall. 72. The same to Deputy Lieutenants of co. Hants. Sends them a copy of a Letter of the Council of May 31, for mustering the trained bands, both horse and foot, of that county, and returning certificate of their state, with enumeration of all defects.

June 9. 73. The same to Deputy Lieutenants of Isle of Wight. Similar letter, without mention of horse, there being none in that island.

June 9. 74. Capt. William Towerson to Sec. Conway. Acknowledges receipt of order to permit vessels to pass from port to port. Various prize intelligence. Fire-ships providing. Has made ready 2,500 quarters of wheat for Rochelle.

June 9. Wanstead. 75. Francis Morice to Nicholas. The ten pinnaces being almost ready, and some of them launched, prays him to procure for his kinsman, Robert Chamberlain, who had long served in the George, drumbler, the place of master gunner in one of them.

1628. VOL. CVI.

June 9. Godolphin. 76. William Dawes to Sir Francis Godolphin. The coast so full of danger with French men-of-war and Dunkirkers that few ships escape them. Attempt of a Dunkirker to take a Dutchman off Penzance. Alarm there in consequence of the appearance of a fleet of 80 sail, presumed to be enemies. Prays Scilly may be safe. Capt. Bassett desires to change most of the garrison there, whom he terms so many shadows. [Copy.]

June 10. Docquet of Royal assent to the election of Bishop Buckeridge to the see of Ely. [See Sign Man., 1628, June 9.]

June 10. 77. Petition of Robert Ambrose, Master of the Duke's Barge in the late employment to the Isle of Rhé, to the illustrious Prince, George Duke of Buckingham. Sets forth his services, especially in the Isle of Rhé, where he took the greatest prisoners that were taken in that service. Prays to be restored to his place of boatswain of the Convertive.

June 10. From his Lodging in Ratcliffe. 78. John Pett to Mr. King, Principal Servant to Nicholas. Requests him to procure a warrant for Henry Webb to go with him as cook in the Sixth Lion's Whelp.

June 10. The Tower. 79. John Reynolds, Master Gunner of England, to Nicholas. Certifies his knowledge of Matthew Coates, who is suitor to be gunner's deputy in the Merhonor.

June 10. 80. Names of 61 gunners pressed, and sent to the fleet at Portsmouth.

June 10. Aboard the St. George. 81. Capt. John Weddell to Nicholas. The master of the prize they took has been examined before Mr. Towerson, and has gone up to London without license, instigated by a commander of one of the Dutch East India ships stayed there. Seven Dunkirkers are about Portland, whilst our fleet at sea has put to the leeward; wherefore, if it please his Grace that some of them should go out for six or eight days, they may hope to do some acceptable service. The coast is very much vexed with them, and divers small vessels daily taken. Although their men fall down daily, and many run away, their ship is clean, and goes well, which makes him desire not to eat idle bread, which breeds a lourdaine malady in their people. Materials for the fireworks not yet come from London, but Capts. Rowe, Greene, and Hackwell are diligent in provision of materials there. Incloses,

June 11. The Strand. 1. Sir Francis Nethersole to the Queen of Bohemia. On Monday the House proceeded with the Remonstrance, and insisted much on a Commission passed in February last, whereby the Lords of the Council were authorized to levy money by imposition or otherwise. In the afternoon they agreed to the preface of the Bill of Subsidy, thus:—If the King grants that the Petition of Right and Answer be enrolled on the Parliament rolls, then the preface to be very short; if not, then the Petition and Answer to be recited in the Bill of Subsidy. This day they have agreed on all the heads of the Remonstrance, and concluded the power of the Duke and the abuse thereof to be the principal cause of all these evils. They have been about this from morning till six at night, and would not forbear for a royal message. The King has just passed in the Duke's carriage, from Somerset House, where he had the news. Prays he may not be offended so far as to break the Parliament. There were so few voices for the Duke that the House could not be divided upon it. The King assured the House this day that the horse levied by Sir William Balfour were never intended to come into England, and never should come.

June 11. 2. Mr. Pym's Speech in the House of Commons, in bringing up a Report from the Committee of Religion against Dr. Mainwaring. [In Hargrave's State Trials, III., 335, and in the Parliamentary Hist., II., 377, this report is attributed to Mr. Rous.]

June [11 ?] 3. Sec. Coke to Buckingham. Hastens preparations, but forbears to lade the wheat on account of the hot weather. Preparations making for fireworks, although the Duke's directions extend only to fire-ships. General desertion of seamen from the ships brought into harbour. They want sailors to take them back to the fleet. Troops are met on London way. The Lords should send commandment for them to be stayed and sent back to their ships. Great complaints of the victuals sent from Plymouth, and even of the fresh victuals the victualler sends aboard. If sea services proceed, the provision of victuals must be otherwise cared for.

June 11. Gloucester. 4. Mayor and others of Gloucester to the Council. Send examination of Walter Parker, a straggling soldier, and informations respecting lewd words uttered by him. Inclose,

4. 1. Informations of Anne Croker, wife of Philip Croker, Giles Thayer, and John Knowles, in which Walter Parker is stated to have declared that it was the intention of Capts. Spry, Jerlingham, Serjeant Major Buck, and Lieut. Foscue shortly to visit Gloucester, and throw balls of wildfire to destroy the city.

4. II. Examination of Walter Parker, in which he admits uttering the above words, and states that the intention alluded to was true, his knowledge thereof having been acquired from frequently attending the officers above mentioned when in their drink, playing to them on a viol, cornet, bandore, and cittern.

June 11. 5. Capt. John Pennington to Nicholas. Requests warrant for John Tranckmore, to take charge, as master, of the Tenth Lion's Whelp, built by his brother.

June 11. 6. The same to the same. The like for William Ball, to take charge of the Sixth Lion's Whelp, built by Mr. Pett.

June 12. Docquet of the same.

June 12. Whitehall. 9. The Council to Buckingham. In some of the ports where soldiers are billeted, the inhabitants having refused to billet them any longer, the King wills them to know that he and his Parliament being now well accorded, he shall be instantly supplied with means to take the soldiers off their hands; the Duke is therefore to order that the soldiers be continued and provided for until such time as the first subsidies come in, the rather for that the soldier being in great want of clothes, cannot with decency and honour to the State be put on his march before he be clothed.

June 12. Whitehall. 10. The same to Sec. Conway, Lord Lieutenant of co. Hants. Similar letter respecting the soldiers billeted in that county.

June 12. Whitehall. 11. Sec. Conway to Attorney General Heath. To prepare a proclamation, commanding that no seamen or others absent themselves from his Majesty's press, and that no one receive into service any pressed man. [Copy.]

June 12. 12. Lord Treasurer Marlborough to the same. Composition having been made with the Bishop of Worcester for confirmation of his liberties within the hundred of Oswaldlaw, for which he has paid 50*l.*, doubts have arisen respecting the validity of such composition; the Attorney General is therefore to prepare a bill for a Privy Seal to give warrant to the Lord Keeper to seal the same.

June 13. Portsmouth. 19. Sec. Coke to Buckingham. Mr. Boate, the master shipwright, has arrived, and says that 12 shipwrights more are appointed to follow him. As the Vanguard is not to be brought on ground, there is no cause to put his Majesty to this charge. The Triumph cannot be made ready in a month, and the stay of the fleet so long were to spend the victuals in harbour which are prepared for action. The fire-ships at Southampton will be under sail within a few days. Other preparations are in progress. Fears the men most, but, on mustering the ships' companies, they bring Sec. Coke more names than they would formerly acknowledge.

June 13. Tavistock. 20. Edward Earl of Bath to the same. His rents being but 800*l.* yearly, his rate in the subsidy is fully half so much, double to most of his rank and revenue. Intreats a word of mediation from the Duke to the Lords Commissioners.

1628. VOL. CVII.

On the 9th they met with seven sail of Dunkirkers, but sailed them out of sight in three hours. Her sailing so much improved with the cost that Mason has bestowed on her, that she has stolen the hearts of her captain and company. Will deliver her over to the Earl of Denbigh, but not until the fleet be ready, lest it should divert her company from her. Recommends her captain, Thomas Adams, to be continued in his command.

June 13. 22. Petition of Abraham Kuffler to the "high and mighty Prince, George Duke of Buckingham." Being shortly to go again to Rochelle, and having, in the former expedition, a valuable cargo of wheat, which is now spoiled and cast over board, prays for 100*l.*, to supply the present wants of himself and his family.

June 13. 24. Robert Harwell to Mr. Bull. Hope of his safe arrival on the good coast of Barbary. The news here is,—a good Parliament, where we have our freedom confirmed, and the Duke laid open in all his plots, which would have undone us all; loss of six east country ships by the Dunkirkers; surrender of Stade; and our navy come from Rochelle, a sleeveless errand: but it is hoped all these things will be amended by the time he returns. [Copy.]

June 13. 25. Certificate of Sir Francis Gofton, Auditor of the Exchequer, of the rents to be reserved for the manors of St. Ives, with Sleep and Bustlers, Spaldwick, and Halliwell cum Medingworth, all in co. Huntingdon, after the decease of the Marchioness of Northampton.

She is willing to resign her claim if the Lord Chamberlain will get Mr. Fairfax sworn the King's Chaplain, and Lord Conway will secure him a prebend in Windsor or Canterbury. Recommends this in her absence as a business she is very careful of.

June 14. 32. Information of James Hall, of Bembridge, in the Isle of Wight, respecting the death of his son, slain by a Scotch soldier of a company stationed at Yaverland, and his attempts to apprehend the person who killed the deceased.

[June 16.] 44. Minute, in the hand of a secretary of Viscount Conway, of a letter suggested to be written by Conway to Lord Chief Justice Richardson, in reference to the preceding petition. The terms of this suggestion were embodied in the reference of the petition, with the exception that the reference was to the King's Bench, and not to the Common Pleas, of which Sir Thomas Richardson was Chief Justice.

June 16. 45. Bill, entitled "An Act for the better Maintenance of the Ministry," with various alterations in the handwriting of Bishop Laud, who has endorsed upon it, "This Bill was stayed in the Commons' House, Session 1628. The pretence, that it was against the Church." The third reading was moved on this day, but the debate adjourned, and not resumed. [Com. Journ., I., 914.]

June 16. 47. ——— to the same. Having heard that the Commons have concluded on a Remonstance, which they intend to present to the King on the morrow, and that it wholly concerns the Duke; the writer sends a form of an answer, which might be returned by the King. June 16. Minute of the same. [Conway's Letter Book, p. 306.]

June 16. 49. The same to the Commissioners for Soldiers in co. Hants. The long time spent in Parliament has kept back resolutions for disposing the soldiers, and restrained the means of making present payment. The subsidies being granted, order will presently be taken to satisfy the country. Lest there might be any conceit that his Majesty neglects his promises to take off the soldiers and pay what is due, he has commanded his Council to give assurance of his care in both respects, and that order be taken to keep the soldiers together without disquieting the peace of the country. Copy of the letter from the Council inclosed. [It appears by the indorsement that a similar letter was sent to the Commissioners for the Isle of Wight.] [Copy.]

June 16. Niton. 50. Robert Dillington to Sec. Conway. There has been a second murder committed in the Isle of Wight, by a soldier of Sir William Carr's company. June 16. Honiton. 52. Deputy Lieutenants of Devon to Francis Earl of Bedford. Pray him to move the Council, that some fort might be erected at Sidmouth, at the charge of the country. The Frenchmen hover upon our coasts, and have done much spoil. Our fishermen are afraid to go to sea, and the writers fear their landing to burn their towns.

June 17. Canterbury. 60. Mayor and Aldermen of Canterbury to the Council. On receipt of letters from the Council requiring that the soldiers billeted should be continued and provided for until the first subsidies had come in, some few of the better sort which had cast off are persuaded to continue for a very short time, yet others now cast off and will neither billet nor contribute, so that the writers are in a greater strait of extremity than ever they were before, and no way able to bear this great burden any longer.

June 17. 61. Certificate of Sir Henry Marten, Judge of the Admiralty, to the Council, as to the ownership by John Rodier, of the Lion d'Or, captured by the Earl of Warwick.

June 17. Portsmouth. 62. Sec. Coke to Buckingham. Sends list of all the ships of war, fire-ships, and victuallers prepared in those parts. Reports on preparation of fireworks, the intentions of Williams and the engineer, state of the munition of the fleet, lack of boats and oars. Sir Henry Palmer came into the road yesternight without booty. The Nonsuch brought in five Hollanders, which, after inquiry, were all discharged. An Englishman taken out of one of them, who reports that at Newhaven is a ship of 600 tons, sold by the Hollanders to the French King, lying in the river, and easy to be taken. Sends list of gunners pressed in London, who have since run away.

June 17. Holt Castle. 64. Bishop Thornborough, of Worcester, to Sec. Conway. Has moved for a final end of the litigation between Thomas Archbold and Mr. Potter. The former yielded to submit to the Bishop's order, but the latter alleges a clause of a statute of the church of Worcester, which is inclosed. His denial puts the Bishop to a non plus, his hands being bound by a writ of Ne admittas. Incloses,

June 17. 65. Nicholas le Saunier to "Seigneur de Caignoue" [Sec. Conway]. Another pitiable appeal for enlargement out of miserable distress. He had been thrown into prison without inquiry or examination. [See 1628, June 4, Vol. cvi., No. 30.]

1628. VOL. CVII.

Complaint is made by adventurers under letters of marque, that if their men-of-war or prizes put into any port within his collectorship, he makes stay of them, and compels them to sell their prizes there. He has expended 8 cwt. 11 lb., the greatest part in salutations. There should remain 35 barrels. By his own confession he has 28 barrels. It is not fit, therefore, to give him any further supply.

June 18. 70. Sec. Conway to Sec. Coke. Will move for a warrant to free him from the auditorship. On Monday last the Bill of Subsidies was sent up to the Upper House, but not free from exceptions. The preamble runs, that the Commons had offered a supply, without mention of the Lords. It has been disputed, whether, the Lords should amend the bill or send it down to the Lower House to be amended, and now it is rather advised to pass the bill, with a protest. Yesterday the Lower House attended the King with their Remonstrance. He heard it read, and received it, telling them that he would take it into consideration, and give such order as it deserved; and so, giving the Duke his hand to kiss before them all, left them. [Copy.]

June 18. Minute of the same. [Conway's Letter Book, p. 306.]

June 18. Whitehall. 71. The same to Dr. Samuel Collins. June 19. The Strand. 78. Sir Francis Nethersole to Elizabeth Queen of Bohemia. Sends copy of the Remonstrance of the Commons. It was presented to the King on Tuesday last. The Duke was present in the Banqueting House at the time, and, on his Majesty rising from his chair, kneeled down, with a purpose, as was conceived, to have besought his Majesty to give him leave to say something. But the

1628. VOL. CVII.

King, saying only "No," took him up with his hand, which the Duke kissed, and so his Majesty retired. This was all passed at the time, and all is like to come of the Remonstrance. His Majesty's favour to the Duke is no way diminished, but the ill will of the people is like to be much increased. On Friday last Dr. Lambe, of whom her Majesty has heard so much, being at a play at the Fortune, was espied by certain prentices, who fell upon him at his going home, drove him from three several houses where he took shelter, and so wounded him with clubs and stones, that he died the next day. The Lord Mayor and Sheriffs have been sharply reprehended, and the City may chance to be fined. The Bill of Subsidy was carried up to the Lords on Monday, and passed the next day.

June 19. Portsmouth. 79. Sec. Coke to Sec. Conway. A complaint having been made by Mons. Gobert, one of the deputies of Rochelle, against Sir Henry Palmer, for ill usage of five French gentlemen, passengers for Leyden, to follow their studies, the facts had been examined, and the testimony of Capt. Sydenham and his Lieutenant and Master, completely exonerated Sir Henry. It is inclosed, lest any clamour should be raised against Sir Henry at Court. Inclosed, 79. I. Statement of Capt. Francis Sydenham, Tristram Wise, and William Stephenson, as to the circumstances which had given rise to the above complaint.

June 19. Nonsuch. 84. Sir Theodore Mayerne to the same. Thanks for favours conferred on Sir Theodore's son, and a further recommendation of him to the Earl's notice. Mayerne will watch over their health. Fr.

June 20. 85. Order of the House of Commons, that the patent granted by the late King to William Levitt for a toll to be taken upon two bridges in co. York, having been resolved to be a grievance, the members for the same county and the city of York, with the addition of Mr. Ratcliffe, shall draw up a petition to his Majesty for avoiding the same.

June 20. 86. Petition of Henry Earl of Stamford to the King. The Earl being seised of the manor of Broughton Ashley, co. Leicester, held in socage, except 150 acres which are held by knight's fee in capite, prays that the tenure of those 150 acres may be altered to socage, on conveyance to the King of lands of equal value elsewhere. Underwritten, 86. I. Reference to the Lord Treasurer and Chancellor of the Exchequer to carry out the wishes of the petitioner. 1628, June 20.

86. II. The Referees above mentioned to Attorney General Heath. To prepare a bill for his Majesty's signature. 1628, June 21.

standing seven King's ships ride in the Sound, but forbear to set out after them, pretending they have no orders. Abuses daily committed by the pressing of those who bring provisions into the town. Inclose,

88. I. Examination of Daniel Richards, of St. Savenian, in France. Landed messengers with letters from the King, at Alavert, on the 9th inst., and believes the letters were safely delivered at Rochelle. Reports an unsuccessful assault upon Rochelle, state of the French fleet at Charlebois, and refusal of the people of Rochelle to capitulate till they had answer from the King of England.

June 20. 89. William Earl of Banbury to Buckingham. Had he been able, should not have been absent in time of the Lower House pleading against him. One Halstead, by the Lord Treasurer's means, has obtained the manor of Sonning. Prays that so great a royalty be not confirmed upon so base a man, the rather that the Earl's reputation in the country where he dwells will be much impaired thereby. Underwritten are some additional lines by Elizabeth Countess of Banbury. Never saw her good old lord so afflicted as when he heard the King had yielded to the Lower House. Had he been well would not have been absent, nor perhaps long from the bar, so full of mislike is he with all his fellow peers that stand not more for the King's right. Hopes the Duke more despises their malice than fears or cares what spite can do. The creature lives not that loves him more than the writer. [Modern copy of an original once among the Conway Papers.]

June 20. 90. Sec. Conway to Sir William Blake. For his favour with the Vintners' Company, in reference to the renewal of a lease to Henry Conway, the Secretary's cousin.

91. I. Reference to Edward Viscount Wimbledon, to call the parties before him, and set down some course between them. With underwritten report of Lord Wimbledon, that the petitioner's husband was the only Capt. Rous in the expedition, and that his wages are not due to any one but the petitioner.

June 21. Westminster. Warrant to the Receiver of the Duchy of Cornwall, to pay to the Earl of Holland 2,000*l.*, for the King's secret service. [Coll. Sign. Man., Car. I., Vol. vii., No. 40.]

Conclusion of the session expected that week.

June 22. Cirencester. 99. Sir William Master to the Council. Sammes, the priest, in good health, but, because he pretended to have a disaffection of the head, the writer offered, according to the Council's commands, to remove him to the Bishop of Gloucester's house in that city, upon good bail. He offered two sureties, one of whom was rejected for insufficiency, and he tendered no more. Since his imprisonment he has perverted one or two.

June 22. Saltram. 100. Sir James Bagg to Buckingham. Fully reports his proceedings. Sends list of all the ships at Plymouth. On the 20th gave the Duke's commands to Capt. Walter Turner, of the Confidence, to take charge of seven ships as Admiral, and to keep the coast between Plymouth and Portsmouth. Saturday, the 21st, they sailed. Has ready 19 fire-ships. With restless labour has raised 200 men for the fire-ships. Every man now pleads his property so in his own goods, that on taking up these ships he has been obliged to give bills on Sir Sackville Crow at 20 days' sight. Want of apparel has bred diseases in the seamen. The coast is infested with petty Frenchmen, and fishermen and colliers are taken daily. Purposes to send forth the Squirrel and a Frenchman, to chase hence the enemy, and appease the cry of the vulgar. French and Spanish prisoners are allowed liberty of walking where they please, which ought not to be allowed. Begs attention to his accompt; 38,000*l.* expended, and 8,000*l.* received; more for the expedition now afoot, 4,000*l.* Regrets the attack upon the King's prerogative, and discredit thrown on his service. Nothing can attend that nation but utter ruin where the name of King is not sovereign and "awsome." Begs that Mr. John Trelawney may be made a Baronet. Incloses,

100. 1. Report of Capt. Monlabeur, who arrived at Plymouth on 20th inst. Landed Mons. St. Martin, and two others, sent over to Rochelle, at the mouth of the river of Bordeaux. State of Rochelle, numbers of the French King's forces and fleet, and refusal of the Rochellers to surrender.

June 22. Aboard the St. Andrew. 101. William Earl of Denbigh to Buckingham. Capt. Weddell, with the ships sent to Havre-de-Grace, found the prams were gone. The great ship cut her cable and ran aground under the castle foot. Will despatch Sir Henry Palmer with other ships for the scouring of the seas betwixt Portsmouth and the Downs. The want of seamen very great, and the number grows every day less and less by sickness and runagates. Of all pressed in London, only 16 are come aboard the ships, and of those pressed thereabouts 5 have not appeared.

June 22. 102. Sec. Conway to the Mayor of Dover. His Majesty has formerly given express command that the Venetian Ambassador's [messengers] should pass without any let. controversy between the Bishop of Chalcedon and the Missionary Regulars, by which it appeared that the Bishop was not constituted Ordinary of England, nor the Regulars bound to him in those things which he demanded. The Bishop has since promised not to pursue that controversy. It is therefore thought expedient that the person addressed should, in the presence of witnesses, humbly inquire of the Bishop whether he has given such promise, or will in fact desist from his demands upon the Regulars as to all the Sacraments, orders and confirmation excepted. His answer, or his silence if he declines to answer, properly attested, is to be remitted to the writer. Latin. [Copy.]

June 22. / July 2. Rome. 106. Mutius Vitellescus, General of the Order of Jesuits, to Peter Nivellius, General of the Order of the Cistercians, and the other Fathers of the same order. Letters for a mutual participation of orders in the prayers and good works of each other. Latin. [Attested copy, with the seal of Peter Nivellius attached.]

VOL. CVIII. JUNE 23—30, 1628.

June 23. Westminster. Grant to Sir Thomas Metham of a court leet and free warren, in the manor of Northcave, co York, with liberty to inclose 500 acres for a park. [Coll. Sign. Man., Car. I., Vol. vii., No. 41.]

June 23. Whitehall. 2. Order of the King in Council. It was formerly ordered that provision should be made for 1,500 land soldiers for three months, to be sent for the relief of Rochelle, and on the 14th instant there was an assignation in that behalf of 3,675*l.* The number of 1,500 is ordered to be made up 4,000, and 9,800*l.* is to be issued to the victualler for their provision.

June 23. Whitehall. 3. Order of Council. Sir John Wentworth, by order of June 8, 1627, obtained the loan of the French prize, the Notre Dame, and the pinnace, the St. Peter, for one year. The ships needing repair, and he not having taken any prize, the loan is renewed for another year.

June 23. 4. John Gifford and Samuel Baskervile, Doctors of Physic, to the Council. Certificate that Martin James, son of the late Sir Henry James, has been ill for six months, and that the Bath is likely to do him much good.

1628. VOL. CVIII.

June 23. Tehidie. 5. Francis Bassett to Buckingham. Contradicts report that the Sorlings Islands are taken by the enemy. They have lately received divers alarms. Many of the inhabitants have left, and all would do so but for the commands of Sir Francis Godolphin. The western parts of Cornwall stand nearer in fear than neighbourhood to those islands, having daily ships taken by the French. Particulars of various captures, and of an attempt to land and sack St. Ives. They have taken more than 50 sail between Scilly and the Lizard, and all by poor weak men-of-war. Within these six days an open boat with 20 oars ran aboard two barks close by the Lizard, and carried them. They venture in and on anything, so secure has success made them.

June 23. Whitehall. 6. Sec. Conway to Sir Robert Rich. That a cause that concerns Mrs. Dorothy Mariner, referred to him by the Lord Keeper, may receive expedition, having been Mrs. Mariner's request when the King was at Portsmouth, and received good usage in her house.

June 23. Minute of the same. [Conway's Letter Book, p. 306.]

June 23. 7. John Millington to his brother, Gilbert Millington, at Felley Abbey, co. Nottingham. A letter found in the Parliament House with this superscription, "Cursed be he that delivers not this Letter to the House." A committee was appointed, and the letter carried to the King. The House, having more business than they can accomplish, have petitioned the King for a session. The King is displeased at the report that he gave the Duke his hand to kiss on his answer to the Remonstrance. The Duke only desired to answer; the King told him it needed not. Has a copy of the Remonstrance, but sends only the heads. Incloses,

7. 1. Heads of the Remonstrance, voted in the House of Commons on the 11*th inst., with an Abstract of the Remonstrance as ultimately presented on the* 17*th inst.*

June 23. Antwerp. 8. Robert Perry to Mr. Boswell, at Nantes. Report of news received from England. Something attempted against the Duke by the mariners for want of pay, but nothing as was reported. The fleet returned from Rochelle, but not with that overthrow the French boasted of. Lord Denbigh is said to be in prison. The Parliament goes on well. The King has signed their petition, and they have granted him five subsidies, and say he shall have 15. A vessel that came into Calais brought word that the Duke was degraded from all his offices, for which bonfires made and ringing for joy, the day he came from London, being the 8th present.

June 23. 9. Estimate of the charge of victualling 4,000 soldiers for 84 days. Total, 9,800*l.*

June 24. Whitehall. Proclamation for calling in and suppressing two sermons, preached and printed by Roger Mainwaring, D.D., entitled "Religion and Allegiance." [Coll. Procs., Car. I., No. 87.]

1628.

June 24. Whitehall. 10. The King to Attorney General Heath. The King having delivered to the Duke two great square diamonds, weighing 30 carats and 23 carats, with directions to impawn them for 6,000*l.*, he has accordingly done so, in his own name, to James Maxwell, on condition that the money be repaid on December 18 next, with 240*l.* interest. The 6,000*l.* has been received by Thomas Fotherley, and disposed of to several persons to the King's use. The Attorney General is to prepare a discharge to the Duke for the diamonds, and to Thomas Fotherley for the money.

June 24. Whitehall. 11. The Council to Buckingham. Divers French men-of-war frequenting the Severn daily commit spoil, whereupon the inhabitants of Bristol are willing to bear the charge for the present of setting forth two ships for securing those seas. The Duke is to deal with them for setting forth such ships, letting them know that order is given for repayment of 1,000*l.*, one third part thereof out of the first two subsidies, and the residue out of the last.

June 24. 12. The Council to Sir William Russell. Sir William having retained in his hands 2,600*l.* of the monies defalked out of seamen's wages for relief of the hurt and maimed, he is required to pay over the same to the feoffees of the chest at Chatham, or to show cause of his refusal.

[June 24.] 13. Petition of the Sailors of the Rainbow, of Aldborough, signing as in a Round Robin, to Sec. Coke. Set forth the reasons which induced them to go ashore out of their ship;—its want of repair; leakage; that she has given more way at sea than any other ship; that the surgeon's chest is not furnished; and the want of money for clothes.

June 24. The Tower. 14. Sir Paul Harris to Nicholas. Found in the Artillery Garden almost 30 lasts of powder, and going to Mr. Evelyn's storehouse in Southwark, he was at first much daunted with the Council's warrant, and made as if they should not see his storehouse, but afterwards was content, where they found 15 lasts, besides seven that he has lately brought into the Tower. He undertakes to make it up 40 lasts, so he may have payment. He was unwilling they should go to his country house, protesting he has no storehouse there. Is assured the contrary, but till the ceasing of the Parliament holds it not best to urge him too much.

June 24. 15. Indenture, whereby William Bold, chief porter of the Tower of London, demises to Ralph Flavell and Stephen Flavell a messuage within the Bulwark of the Tower, lately legally recovered by the lessor as incident to his office, to hold to the lessees for 50 years, at the yearly rent of 40*s.*

June 25. Westminster. Release to Dr. James Chambers of 50*l.*, a fine in the Court of Wards for the wardship of Arthur Gunter, son and heir of Marie Gunter, deceased, late the second wife of Sir George Gunter, deceased, as also of a yearly rent of 15*l.* for the ward's lands during his minority. [Coll. Sign Man., Car. I., Vol. vii., No. 43.]

1628. VOL. CVIII.

[June 25 ?] 16. Petition of the House of Commons to the King. Sets forth the circumstances of the dispute between De Quester and Lord Stanhope, and prays that Henry Billingsley, who has been 13 weeks a prisoner in the Marshalsea, on the suggestion of De Quester, may be set at liberty. [Underwritten is a note from Henry Earl of Manchester to Sec. Conway, recommending Billingsley's discharge. 1628, June 27.]

June 25. 17. List of the soldiers assigned to each ship of the fleet prepared for Rochelle; with underwritten request of the Duke of Buckingham to Sir Allen Apsley, to dispose of the victuals for the 4,000 landmen, in accordance with that list. [Copy.]

June 25. Portsmouth. 18. Sec. Coke to Buckingham. Sends perfect list of ships at Portsmouth, and full report of all his proceedings, and of the various stratagems by which the several ships of the fleet had endeavoured to avoid being sent to sea again. Unreasonable demands of the pursers, boatswains, carpenters, and surgeons, of which latter there are very few able men in the fleet. Coke was forced to hire the surgeon of the garrison to look after the sick men set on shore, though the surgeons of the ships haunt the taverns every day. Waste of ammunition. Scarce a gunner but came to Coke's lodging with a bill of his wants, pressing with importunity to have him provide for them, as if the stores of the Tower had been there at his command. Complaints of the supply of victuals. Beer sent to the Garland refused as stinking. On examination, found very good and wholesome, and much better than any at the Admiral's table. The beer had no fault but the unwillingness of the company to go again to sea. Want of seamen. Two mutinies, which had been appeased. He has promised that before they go to sea on any voyage of service they shall receive monies; and if this be not performed all will fall in uproar. Has been there six weeks; has laid out the King's money and his own in an inn, where he has been hunted with sailors, workmen, and pretenders to service, and has been, as in an hospital, among multitudes of sick men. His service is no longer of use, therefore begs to be recalled. Incloses,

18. I. List of ships of various kinds prepared at Portsmouth, with names of commanders, amounts of tonnage, and numbers of ordnance and men.

18. II. Proportion of materials for the fireworks of one ship, furnished by Capt. John Weddell, being a copy of the paper 1628, June 7, Vol. cvi., No. 65.

June 25. Aboard the St. Andrew. 20. William Earl of Denbigh to Buckingham. Has despatched Sir Henry Palmer to scour the seas betwixt the Downs, the Isle of Wight, and the French coast. He is gone this morning with nine ships. Has been forced to take sailors out of those ships which stay there for manning them, which breeds no small discontent. In most ships they refused to go to sea till they have monies, but he has reasonably pacified the greatest part. Some stand obstinate, but they will be brought to better obedience if he may assure them their monies in reasonable time.

June 25. Fowley, co. York. 21. Sir Thomas Savile to Buckingham. His rude departure out of town was out of fear to approach the Duke's presence from a house infected with small-pox. When he came home could not satisfy himself without a particular, humble, and most thankful acknowledgment of all the Duke's bounties showered upon his house. They are charactered in their hearts and those of their posterity, where, when they meet with a grave, may their house perish from the land and be a house no more, but a pillar of unworthiness. Shall blush to own that fortune, blood, or friend which would not live or die to serve the Duke.

June 25. Portsmouth. 22. Sec. Coke to Sec. Conway. Refers to his letter of this day to the Duke, and begs to be recalled. The longer he stays there he shall every day see the fleet and voyage go backward, and all his endeavours spent in vain. Time consumes victuals, provisions, and men, and will make that impossible which was in some degree of hope. It is their misfortune that greater distractions in London have been the cause of this loss of time which can hardly be redeemed. Writes out of the fulness of apprehension, but submits in all things to the good pleasure of his Majesty's will.

June 25. 23. Affidavit of George Grosvenor, servant of Martin James, that his master had been ill for six months.

June 26. Westminster. Warrant to pay Miles Haynes 600*l.*, for provision of coach-horses for the King and Queen, from May 1, 1627, till June 12, 1628. [Coll. Sign Man., Car. I., Vol. vii., No. 44.]

June 26. 26. Another copy, indorsed by Mr. Weckherlin.

June 26. Minute of the same. [Conway's Letter Book, p. 306.]

June 26. Portsmouth. 31. John Dymes to Nicholas. The Duke had appointed him Lieutenant of the Nonsuch. Finds Capt. Wilkinson has been put into that office by Lord Denbigh. Requests a letter from the Duke or Nicholas to substantiate his own appointment, or that he may be appointed to the Warspite, which has no officer at all. Last week Capt. Wilkinson's men had him up to throw him overboard, and Lord Denbigh was constrained to go aboard to appease them. They told Lord Denbigh that Wilkinson had served the Spaniards, and was a traitor.

June 26. 32. Certificate of Richard West, Captain of the Vintage, of Sandwich, that he had been ordered to release certain persons taken in a ship from Brazil, of whom the bearer, Domingo Fernandez, was one. All persons are requested to permit him to pass towards his home.

[Ibid, No. 49.]

June 27. 35. Demand of carpenter's sea stores for the King's ships at Portsmouth; being a draft or copy of a paper inclosed in the letter of Sec. Coke to Buckingham, of this date.

June 27. 36. Sir Thomas Aylesbury to Buckingham. Recommends Thomas Austen, son of old John Austen, a celebrated master in the navy, as eminently fit for the like office.

June 27. Fenchurch. 37. Dr. James Meddus to Katherine Viscountess Conway. Conferred with Mr. Paine about the Newfoundland business. Will part with six mares out of nine, which remain in his hands, and also with his presidentship, if John Slaney, the governor of the whole land, consents. June 28. Westminster. 42. The King to the Benchers of Gray's Inn. These times being full of action and danger, true religion being now assaulted in all parts of Christendom, the King's purpose is to make all his subjects well prepared to defend the truth and the kingdom. The example of the gentlemen of the Inns of Court will much conduce to that end; they are therefore to recommend unto them the exercise of archery and arms, encouraging them at their times of recreation to employ themselves especially in horsemanship.

June 29. Portsmouth. 51. Sec. Coke to Sec. Conway. Hears that the ships at London will not be ready to join with the fleet at Portsmouth these three weeks. Fears for his health in that loathsome place, subject to ague, and the infection of so many poor sailors. It will be a charity to procure his discharge, or some liberty to go and return.

June 30. The King to the Master and Fellows of Peter House, in Cambridge. To admit John Francius, lately Professor at Frankfort, to be a fellow of that house on the first vacancy, according to a former letter in that behalf. [Docquet.]

June 30. The Strand. 52. Sir Francis Nethersole to Elizabeth Queen of Bohemia. Will give a short account of the issue of the session of Parliament. It met with a very great rub about the Bill of Tonnage and Poundage. Having been used to be granted for life to all the Kings since Henry VII., and the late King having laid divers impositions above those granted by Parliament, both which have been since taken by the present King, the House of Commons had now a disposition to have given as much as the King thus receives, but to have done it with certain alterations, as well for ease of trade as for preservation of the right of the subject. This would have required time to settle, wherefore they desired to pass a temporary Act; this the King would not accept, whereupon the Commons prayed the King to adjourn and not prorogue the Parliament, so that any bill hereafter to be passed might have relation to the first day of the Session. The King not consenting, the Commons prepared a Remonstrance. On Thursday morning the Speaker was kept at Court till nine o'clock, and it was given out in Westminster Hall and at Court that there was to be an adjournment. As the House of Commons was reading the engrossed Remonstrance they were sent for by the King, who made the speech inclosed, and put an end to the Session. The Parliament-men have gone away much discontented, the rather that the persons put into the Tower by the Commons were delivered the same day. It is said, also, that Dr. Mainwaring is absolved from his suspension, which Sir Francis hardly believes. Mr. Long, one of the hottest men against the Duke, is sued in the Star Chamber for having been absent from his county in Parliament whilst sheriff. Strange animosity in the House of Commons against the Duke, shown by Dalbier having been ill-handled there, and by a Bill for the naturalization of Gerbier having been in danger to have been cast out before it ever had reading. Customary parliamentary pardon refused to be passed lest his Grace could not have been 1628. questioned thereafter for the offences laid to his charge last Parliament. Libellous letter found in the House of Commons taken to the King, and by him burnt. Believed to have related to the Queen of Bohemia, and to have proceeded from the Jesuits. The Petition of Right is printing, with the two former answers, and the speech of his Majesty the last day of the Session, which will give further discontentment. Incloses,

52. 1. The King's Speech on the prorogation of the Parliament.

[June 30.] 53. Petition of all the Posts of England, being in number 99 poor men, to the Council. Divers of them lie in prison, and many are daily threatened to be arrested for their great debts, which they are in for want of their entertainment being unpaid ever since November 1621, which now ariseth to 22,626*l.* 19*s.* 3*d.* Pray for present supply, and a certain course of payment hereafter.

June 30. Aboard the St. Andrew. 54. William Earl of Denbigh to Buckingham. Received his directions to send ships for guarding the parts about the Isle of Wight. Finds the ships so weakly manned that he should hardly adventure them to sea, but the seamen will not go to sea until they have monies. He has endeavoured to draw them to obedience, but his labour is to no purpose. Has appointed two private men-of-war for transporting Sir Philip Carteret. The King's ketch went thence on the 22nd for landing Mons. Le Goslirre, and is not yet returned. Fears she has miscarried by some accident.

June 30. 55. Officers of the Navy to the same. Have examined the information given against Capt. Prynne by the Master and Purser of the St. Anthony, and find his carriage both negligent and full of abuses. He has sold beer and other victuals, and few of his company lodge aboard, but come at their pleasures and take their victuals. Is insensible that what he has done is amiss, and makes sport of it. The Master and Purser both very inefficient, and had the Captain been subtle, and kept good quarter with them, would have left the discovery to time, and shared the profit. The ship is one of those laden with provisions to be convoyed to Portsmouth and Plymouth.

June 30. Portsmouth. 56. Sec. Coke to the Owners of the Sarah, of Jersey. Certificate, setting forth the employment of their ship to enable them to receive their pay.

June 30. Woodbridge. 57. Edward Jones to Capt. John Parkinson. His Lieutenant and Ensign were right nobly brought to the ground, and had a sermon, and his company to go before them, with some of the train band, and most of the chiefest men of the town with their wives to follow, but they are not yet covered with mould, for the coroner has not yet sat on them. Neither country nor town will do more for his soldiers. Sir Harry Glemham says he cannot nor will not. If not relieved, they must sell their arms as the Beecles soldiers did not long since.

1628. VOL. CVIII.

June 30. 58. Information of John Taylor, touching the refusal of Mr. Delabarre to deliver up his ship till a course were taken for satisfying his old debts from his Majesty.

June 30. 59. Statement of Richard Whyte, master of the Harry, of Gosport, of the employment of his ship in the expedition to Rochelle, and the money and provisions received.

[June 30.] 60. Information of James Master, that Matthew Burley told him that Thomas Scott, one of the burgesses for Canterbury, said the people were simple to let the soldiers be so long there, and denied to billet any himself.

June 30. Highgate. 61. ——— Paine to Doctor Medouce [James Meddus]. Wishes him not to speak with Lord or Lady Conway about the matter of Newfoundland until he has spoken to him again. Will write to the Governor, and communicate his answer to Lord Conway. [Underwritten is a note respecting a silver mine discovered in Newfoundland by one Phillips, "a Scotch and mineral man," residing with Sir William or Mr. William Alexander.]

June 30. 62. Dr. Thomas Rives to his cousin Nicholas. Has perused the depositions concerning the St. Anthony, and finds nothing whereupon to ground an appeal.

[June ?] Whitehall. 63. The King to the Vice Chancellor, Regents, and Non-regents of the University of Cambridge. To admit Thomas Taylor [of Aldermanbury, chaplain to Sec. Conway], to the degree of Doctor of Divinity. [Perhaps copy of a suggested letter.]

[June ?] 64. The same to the same. [Copy of a letter, perhaps proposed to be sent for the same purposes as the preceding.]

[June ?] 65. Spencer Lord Compton to the King. Statement of things which he prays his Majesty to do for him on his resigning his place [of Master of the Robes]:—I. That the bills due to tradesmen may be paid. II. That he may have a quietus for jewels delivered, according to the King's command, both in Spain and elsewhere. III. That 5,500*l.* due from Buckingham, but the payment of which the King took upon himself, may be paid, part being for land by Burley, which the Duke has, and is to have assured upon his son. IV. That, in token of the King's satisfaction with the service of Lord Compton, he may be joined with his father in the lieutenancies of Warwickshire and Gloucestershire. V. That he may be continued in the privilege of access to his Majesty.

[June ?] 66. Draft of an intended Answer to the Remonstrance of the House of Commons, presented to the King on the 17th inst., drawn up by Bishop Laud, and in his handwriting. It was never published.

[June ?] 67. Copy of the same, made from a copy which contained in an indorsement Bishop Laud's history of this document. He prepared it at the King's request, and it was handed to Lord Weston to frame a preface to it. In the meantime, the King altered his mind as to its publication. In 1635, after the death of Lord Weston, the draft was given back to Bishop Laud by Lord Weston's, or, according to his subsequent title, the Earl of Portland's, son.

[June ?] 68. Nicholas's notes of business to be brought before the Council by Buckingham :—I. A Lord offered to victual the Repulse and the Mary Rose for six months at his own charges; the Council were to be moved for order therein. II. Whether 15 ships should go to sea before the rest of the fleet, and, if so, where should be the rendezvous ?

[June ?] 69. Similar note to procure an assignment for the Ordinary of the Navy, so that preparations might be made for a guard for the Narrow Seas when the fleet shall be gone.

[June ?] 70. Similar minutes of Motions to be made by Buckingham in the Council of War; for order that none go masters in their own ships; that captains be supplied in place of Squibb and Philpot, and for a return from the Surveyor of Marine Victuals respecting victuals in preparation.

June. 71. Sir John Maynard to Buckingham. Vindicates himself from Buckingham's suspicions that he had been unfaithful to him during the last Session of Parliament. Justifies his conduct with respect to the Jesuit's letter found at Clerkenwell and the treatment of Dalbier. There are 60 Parliament-men can witness that he lay at them perpetually to waive the Remonstrance. He took off many lawyers from naming the Duke, and pawned his reputation that the Duke would be a good instrument of the Commonwealth. Before the Parliament the Duke gave him commission to converse with the Duke's enemies, and write what he pleased. Published a discourse to show that the Duke was not an Arminian, and annexed reasons why the Parliament should not meddle with him. Left his discourse in several preachers' hands, and noticed that the preciser sort inclined to moderation till the King first answered the Petition of Right.

June. 72. William Viscount Mansfield to the same. Reports the result of a treaty with Viscount Newark for the purchase of an honour. He was willing to part with a reasonable sum of money, but could not be induced to sell land to Dr. Moore, having made a solemn vow to the contrary. With reference to a dispute between Sir John Savile and the writer, respecting a keepership which Sir John would not part with except in exchange for certain land belonging to the writer or his mother, the writer begs that things may stand between them as at first. He would do anything in the world rather than that, and his mother will not part with the land, being the only testimony left her by her sister Jane Countess of Shrewsbury. He is a northern man, and if there be a deadly feud between him and Sir John Savile he hopes the Duke will pardon it.

VOL. CVIII.

[June ?] 73. Eliza Lady Falkland to Sec. Conway. On behalf of a servant of Sir Philip Carteret, who, bringing over some tobacco for his master's use, had it stopped in the Custom House. His master not yet come to solicit for himself.

[June ?] 74. D. Portius and Nicholas Geerelo to the same. In December last they came hither from Holland, and were sent to Scilly, to strengthen the same. Have returned for six weeks. Pray for the recompence of 500 guilders, the same that has been given to their fellow engineers.

[June.] Brancepeth. 75. John Cosin to Bishop Laud of Bath and Wells. Licentious libels, lately printed without licence, have made him the subject of every man's censure. Has resolved to make no other answer but "Dixi custodiam." Do what he can he shall be censured still. Beseeches the King to continue his gracious protection over him, and the Bishop to be a means of the same. Replies to accusations of altering the Common Prayer Book, arising out of some marginal directions, written at the request of Bill and Norton, to be a help in amending faults for which they had been a little before schooled by the Bishop, and also to a complaint of his having advised the adding of the Ordination Book to the Prayer Book, which was grounded upon the Stat. 8 Elizabeth, cap. 1., which revives the Stat. of Edward VI., whereby that book was annexed to the Book of Common Prayer. Calls these things to the Bishop's remembrance that he may make use thereof for satisfying great persons, who, for want of knowing these things, may peradventure take exception at what is done. Is now resident upon his parsonage of Brancepeth, which he cannot name without thanks to the Duke and the Bishop, by whose goodness he enjoys it.

[June.] 76. Hannibal Potter to Lady Walter. Wishes her to acquaint Lord Conway with the grounds of his defence in the suit between Mr. Stephens and himself. Hopes at her request Lord Conway will let cause contend with cause, and reason with reason.

[June ?] 77. Lieutenant and other Officers of the Ordnance to the Council. Report the quantity of powder (49 lasts and 12 lbs.) remaining in the hands of the merchants and the East India Company. Have drawn them to be content to sell at the rate of 5*l.* 5*s.* per barrel or hundred weight for ready money.

[June ?] 78. Petition of Dirick Petersen and others, owners of the Black Dog, of Rotterdam, to the same. In a voyage from London to the coast of Barbary, their ship was intercepted by Capts. John Steevens and John Nutt, and brought into Southampton. The Admiralty has adjudged only one sixteenth to the captors as lawful prize, but they have appealed to the Court of Delegates, and have caused the ship to be pressed for the King's service. Petitioners having given security, pray for letters of assistance in discharge of the impressment.

[June ?] 79. Minutes of various Petitions to be submitted to the King. They are from Lord Caulfield's servant, for a supply of powder for Ireland; from Tristram Flower, for a grant to be Surveyor of castles and forts in several counties; from Sir Miles Fleetwood, for allowance of 20*s.* in the 100*l.* on payments made out of the Court of Wards; from Hugh Terrell, Henry Bold, John Reading, Thomas Bushell, Lady Molyneux, John Bolles, for a baronetage; Mr. Hardaret, Peter Delauney, preacher to the French congregation in Norwich, that he may be presented to the rectory of Stanford Rivers, granted to him by the late King, in recompence for his translating the English Liturgy into French; Henry Campian and Isaac Campian, Sir Robert Vernon, Humphrey Rogers, his Majesty's servant, and John Merideth, for the benefit of lands concealed on the deaths of Sir Thomas Middlecoats and Miles Garthwaite, both of co. Lincoln.

Portius and Nicholas Geerelo]; from Margaret Praulfe, for letters patent to collect 200*l.*, for redemption of her husband, long a prisoner with the Turks; from Rebecca Burton; the merchant strangers of the intercourse in London, for freedom from payment of the subsidies lately granted under an old treaty with the house of Burgundy; and from John Seager, for the vicarage of Bovey Tracy, in co. Devon.

June. 81. "List of the Strength of the Army at present." Fourteen regiments are enumerated, with a total of 7,307 men. The names are mentioned of the several captains, with the numbers of many of their companies.

[June ?] 82. List of ships probably taken up in London for carriage of provisions to Portsmouth for the pending expedition to Rochelle.

[June ?] 83. List of persons apparently suggested as captains for the fleet, with brief notes of their service.

[June ?] 84. Advice as to the character of the ships proper to be used in attacking the palisado at Rochelle, and the weapons and other things necessary for the sailors, and for the preservation of the ships. Fr.

[June ?] 85. Estimate of the quantities of provisions required for victualling 5,000 men for 168 days.

July 1. 1. Capt. John Heydon to Buckingham. Since the loss of his brother, the hope and head of his house, he has been entangled in a variety of encumbrances, which he enumerates as proofs of his inability to be absent at that time. The circumstances dwelt upon are, the settlement of his brother's affairs and ordnance accounts, and various suits and controversies in which he was involved. With reference to the necessity for settling his brother's accounts, he expresses himself warned by the ruin which befel Sir Roger Dalison, whose person perished in prison, and his estate was seized to the King's use, whilst Sir Richard Morison, who succeeded him, for want of perfecting his accompt, was after his death condemned in 2,700*l.*, though near 400 sheets thereof be yet unaudited.

Almost knows he has none of those papers with him, and doubts whether he can give directions to have them found out. July 15. Portsmouth. 10. Sec. Coke to Buckingham. Reports what had been done to render the fleet effective. The Duke had been informed what they could not do, how the provisions waste, and that without money they cannot be supplied, and how the men run away. Yet, as if these things were not read or not regarded, Nicholas writes that the Duke believes all things there are in such readiness, that when the victuals from London, with reasonable money for the seamen, shall arrive, the fleet in two or three days will be fit to put to sea. Until money come, victualling and works are at a stand, and the fire-ships want both masters and men. The assurance of the Duke's zeal to the cause is the only support thereof. Sir Allen Apsley will give account of the victuallers' wants. For the works 1,000*l.* is wanted; if half be sent, some fruits of frugality and order may appear. But, above all, the Duke should hasten his coming. Every day's delay costs the King 300*l.*, and, when the King and Duke are there some way may be propounded to get men, and men's courages will be better recollected. If Sir Henry Palmer, or any other, has informed that the fleet wants 1,500 men, the muster-books showing that it wants not half so many, the Duke may conceive that the disaffection to the employment begets this and other bad reports, which must be changed in the men, or in their minds, or else expect no good success. So little notice taken of the squadron being at sea to scour the coast by the French, that a small man-of-war took near that place five barks of Brighthelmstone, all laden with wheat. He may expect as much backwardness there, as many complaints and pretences of wants, as a general distaste or rather despair can produce; yet if the Duke bring with him some mastering spirits, and store of money, he may happily change the tide.

1628. Vol. CX.

July 15. Aboard the St. Andrew. 11. William Earl of Denbigh to Buckingham. Understands from Sec. Coke that Sir Henry Palmer has informed the Duke that 1,500 men are wanting in the fleet. At the last general muster there wanted 500, besides 230 sick on shore. Since there has been hope of money, he hears of but few that have left the service.

Confesses, that, being a stranger, and ignorant of the Duke's honourable designs and actions, he was drawn by the report of the common people, which is Bellua multorum capitum, into the vulgar error of the time, and, being indiscreetly urged, unadvisedly uttered some injurious speeches conditionally touching the Duke's honour. Is sorry for having offended the Duke, and resolved to redeem his offence by doing the Duke service hereafter. Prays him to intercede with the King for his enlargement.

Had been required, by letters from the Lord Lieutenant of the 7th inst., to continue the soldiers they had, and to receive again the rest, who it was stated would pay for what they took, being furnished with sufficient means; on making known those letters to the inhabitants, not one of the refusers would allow anything; and Serjeant Major Esmond and the captains said they were altogether unfurnished with means. The soldiers were upon returning to the Council for want of relief, but the writers have strained themselves and their friends to supply their wants until the Council may be certified the facts. Beg that they may be repaid out of the subsidies due for that city.

The Duke will therefore direct his warrant to the Lieutenant of Dover to take them up for the King's service.

the Isle of Rhé, where his ship was burned by the French. Report the amount due to him for freight and victual. For satisfaction of the goods and ship burnt, they find no precedent that his Majesty was ever charged with those hazards, or paid the ships freighted longer than they had being.

July 18. 28. Attorney General Heath to Sec. Conway. Has even now received his letter, and the enclosed papers. These particulars being so transcendant, and the spreading of false rumours in the remoter parts so dangerous, thinks that letters should be sent down to take strict examinations who have been the raisers of these rumours, and to commit them to the common gaols, to be proceeded against at the Assizes now approaching. In the meantime he will draw a proclamation as on a like occasion in King James's time.

July 18. Hatfield. 29. William Earl of Salisbury to the same. There has lately fallen into his hands, by the decease of Arthur Harris, the fort of St. Michael's Mount. July 18. Denmark House. 31. Sir Robert Aiton to James Earl of Carlisle, Ambassador in Savoy. We have made such a prorogation of our Parliament that we are not like to see another in haste; that we may subsist in the meantime, we are trading for a peace; and, so we have it, care not upon what conditions. It is believed that either Lord Carlisle's employment tends that way, or that it is but slight and perfunctory. Porter, of the Bedchamber, is going to Lord Carlisle, and thence, some say, to Rome, some to Spain. The speech is, that neither France nor Spain will hearken without the Pope, nor he without immunities granted to the Catholics. A proclamation is gone out, under which as many as will may compound for their estates. All other things suitable. Lord Weston is Treasurer; the King gives the old man 10,000*l.*, and 5,000*l.* to his wife. Who shall be Chancellor of the Exchequer, not known; Sir William Parsons, of Ireland, or Lord Barrett. The Duke has given up the Wardenship of the Cinque Ports to Lord Suffolk. Lord Dorset is our Lord Chamberlain [i.e. to the Queen], Lord Goring, Master of the Queen's Horse. Lord Percy has retired to the country; who shall be [the Queen's] Vice Chamberlain is not known; Sir Thomas Jermyn the only man named. Lord Carleton made Viscount Dorchester. Lord Denbigh is reconciled to the Duke, and has been with the King. On Monday next the King goes to Portsmouth; the Duke will go himself to this exploit. Parliament and Coronation in Scotland appointed about September 20. Ecclesiastical preferments. Queen intends to

When monies are sent the treasurers and paymasters should be countenanced with the presence of the chief commanders; and when the sailors have their money they will be hardly kept together without a guard. July 25. Winchester. 7. Sir Richard Norton, Sir Richard Tichborne, and Sir Thomas Jervoise to Sec. Conway, Lord Lieutenant of Hants. Acknowledge the receipt of letters from the Council and his Lordship, directing that order be taken for removing the soldiers billeted in that county to Portsmouth, and taking order for billeting 3,000 men in places nearest that town. They have given order to the soldiers to rise from their quarters, and proceed accordingly. Suggest, that, in regard of the many employments of the writers, order may be given to Sir William Uvedale, Sir John Jephson, Sir Daniel Norton, and the Mayor of Portsmouth, to accommodate the soldiers as they come to the rendezvous. They fear the soldiers will not rise without conduct money. If they can prevail on the country to disburse it, they pray the Secretary to be a means that it may be presently repaid.

July 25. Winchester. 8. Sergeant Major Kenythorpe to the same. Finds an inclination in the Deputy Lieutenants to send "my Lord's regiment" [? Lord Conway's] to Portsmouth. Desires his furtherance that they may be sent to Southampton.

July 25. 9. Sir John Drake to Nicholas. Sends inventory of goods received, and account of monies disbursed for corn which the Duke commanded him to send to Rochelle. Will send up the sugars which lie there by water, but desires the Duke's warrant for his discharge. Inclosed,

July 25. Fenchurch. 11. Dr. James Meddus to Katherine Viscountess Conway. Mr. Slaney not unwilling to receive Lord Conway as a sharer in the Newfoundland business, but said that nothing could be done till the return of the ships thence that went thitherwards in March and May, which are expected back in August. The reason of this delay is, fear that the French may this fishing season have done some hurt amongst our shipping. Begs some of the Viscountess's plaister for sciatica.

July 26. 12. Estimate for one month's sea victuals for the whole fleet, being 5,500 seamen, and for 110 seamen, to be employed in 10 Flemish pinks. Total, 5,236*l.*

July 27. Whitehall. 14. Lord Keeper Coventry and James Earl of Marlborough, Lord President, to the King. According to the King's reference, they had called before them the Viscountess St. Alban, Sir George Chaworth, and his late assignee, Mr. Henley, (parties interested in the farm of the Great Seal), and also the Officers of the Seal, and report, that, on Lord St. Alban's giving up the Great Seal, the officers petitioned the Commissioners who had the custody thereof for some fit allowance, whereupon there was paid 50*l.* per annum to the Sealer, and 30*l.* per annum to the Chafe Wax, both which payments were made by Sir George Chaworth for some time, but have now fallen into arrear. The writers think that the arrear should be paid, and that for the future, the payment should be increased to 200 marks per annum. They persuaded Lady St. Alban, who has 600*l.* per annum out of the profits of the Seal, being more than the farm yields beside, to have borne some proportion of that increase, but she, having a covenant from Sir George Chaworth, will not contribute thereto, whereupon they think fit that Mr. Henley should pay the former 80*l.*, with an addition of 20*l.*, to be divided according to the same proportion as the 80*l.*

July 27. 15. Petition of Grace Jones, a distressed prisoner in Newgate, to the King. She was convicted of taking 6*l.* out of a bag of 50*l.*, belonging to her master, which 6*l.* was long since restored. She was reprieved by the judges, and prays a pardon. [Underwritten is a reference to the Attorney General to prepare the same accordingly.]

July 27. [Southwick.] 16. Sec. Conway to Buckingham. About four o'clock this day, got to the Court, and represented to the King what the Duke gave him in charge. His Majesty resolved on his journey to Beaulieu, for want of matter to move his stay there, or carry him to Portsmouth, wanting the materials which stay his Grace in London. The King will instantly return to Southwick, when he shall know of the Duke's coming. Portsmouth found "uncapable" of receiving the companies appointed to be received there, whereupon they are stationed at Fareham, Havant, and Ned Conway's regiment at Southampton. Has sent to Sec. Coke and Capt. Mason to have conference with them on the morrow morning at seven o'clock. The mariners run away to that excess that may hazard the service. Some order must be put forth to stop that course. Acquainted the King therewith, whose answer was that he must first pay and then punish. Will in all things apply faithful duty in what concerns the Duke's service. [Copy.]

If our enemies are once masters of the eastern seaports [in Ireland?], it will be the utter overthrow of these kingdoms. If the writer be not quickly despatched he will not be able to travel this year, for all the land passages are stopped by our enemies.

[Copy.]

July 28. Ipswich. 20. Deputy Lieutenants of Suffolk to the Council. The country long since absolutely refused to disburse more money for the billeted soldiers, wherefore some of them were enforced to engage themselves for the same. To pay the soldiers' arrears, and procure carts and horses to enable them to march away to Portsmouth, they had borrowed or undertaken to pay for the soldiers at Ipswich 68*l.* 10*s.*, and 24*l.* 4*s.*, for those at Woodbridge 68*l.* and 14*l.* 13*s.*, and for those at Beccles 74*l.* 14*s.* 8*d.* Crave repayment out of the first two subsidies; the county also are humble suitors for the money formerly laid out by them.

The ships pressed for transport of victuals are for the most part either discharged or stolen away, insomuch that he shall not be able to transport the month's victuals for supply of the whole fleet, being about 1,100 tons, in time. Prays the Duke's warrant to Capt. Tinker, a deputy of the Marshal of the Admiralty, to go to Harwich, to bring the masters of the Elizabeth, of Harwich, and the Alice, of Aldborough, to answer their contempt, and to give order that those ships be sent hither. July 28. 27. Lord Keeper Coventry to Sec. Conway. States reasons why he cannot grant a Habeas Corpus to Sir Richard Haughton, a prisoner in execution in the Fleet for debt, on pretence of his levying a fine at Lancaster Assizes. The reasons are, first, Sir Richard's abuse of previous similar favours, and second, a solemn determination of the Judges that the practice of granting such writs was against law, and a novelty brought in by some particular judges at chambers, and in Chancery little or rather not at all used, save in the Lord of St. Alban's and Lord of Lincoln's time. Humbly desires of his Majesty that he may forbear granting any such writs in such cases.

July 28. 28. Sir Edward Bishop to Endymion Porter. [Granted this day.]

Send charges of billeting half a regiment of soldiers in that county under letter of February 16 last, and removing the same to Portsmouth under letter of the 18th inst. Reminds him of a letter from the King of Bohemia to Nethersole, which Conway undertook to show King Charles, and procure him to take notice of. The town every day fuller than other of a bruit that his Majesty is entering into treaty with Spain, which he can do no less than communicate to his mistress. Would be glad that his letters might be discredited by others from his Majesty or his Lordship for prevention of the inconveniences which may ensue on the belief of this noise of a peace with Spain.

John Heydon and Sir Paul Harris, Master and Surveyor of the Ordnance, that they had found 40 barrels of powder in the storehouse of Mr. Felgate, of Hounsditch, 20 of which were marked with the broad arrow, and were said to be part of 100 barrels sold by Mr. Evelyn to the Lord Chamberlain. [July ?] 51. One stanza, and part of another which preceded it, of a poem condemnatory of the Duke of Buckingham, and his influence and that of other persons over the King. On the back of it is written the name "Gill," which seems to connect it with Alexander Gill, respecting whom see 1628, Vol. cxvi., No. 56, and several subsequent papers. The lines are in the form of a prayer for the preservation of the King's sight and other senses. The following is the one complete stanza :—

> "And now, just God! I humbly pray
> That thou wilt take that slime away
> That keeps my Sovereign's eyes from viewing
> The things that will be our undoing.
> Then let him hear, good God! the sounds
> As well of men as of his hounds;
> Give him a taste, and timely too,
> Of what his subjects undergo;
> Give [him] a feeling of their woes,
> And then, no doubt, his royal nose
> Will quickly smell those rascals' savours
> Whose blacky deeds eclipse his favours,
> Though found and scourged for their offences :—
> Heavens bless my King and all his senses!"

Prays for permission to import certain quantities of lockram, Vitry canvas, Rouen canvas, thread, plushes, cards, and French wines.

Aug. 1. Southwick. 2. Sec. Conway to Lord President Marlborough. A letter from Sir John Hippisley to the Earl of Suffolk having been sent to the Secretary by the King's command, he had opened the same, and found that there had been a disorder on occasion of a Council warrant for the levy of 150 men in the Cinque Ports having been directed to Capt. Pennington, all warrants in that kind having ever been directed to the Lord Warden, and thereupon warrants given out under the Castle Seal. The letter is sent to find Lord Suffolk, and the Secretary gives this notice to prevent the like mistaking hereafter.

Aug. 1. 3. Copy of the same.

Aug. 1. Minute of the same. [Conway's Letter Book, p. 311.]

Aug. 1. 7. Sir Guilford Slingsby to Nicholas. The Carnation, appointed for transportation of stores for Portsmouth, has no warrant for gunners' stores; although she is to have the company of the pinks, thinks it necessary she should have ammunition for the ordnance she has on board. Prays him to acquaint the Duke.

Aug. 1. Durham. 8. Dean and Chapter of Durham to Bishop Laud, of London. There was a sermon preached by Peter Smart, one of their fellow prebendaries, on July 27 last, in this cathedral, which gave occasion of offence. He has been convented before the Commissioners for causes ecclesiastical, and by them bound for his appearance and answer, and has delivered the original transcript of the sermon. They send the Bishop a copy of the same, and, forasmuch as the preacher's words not only concern the writers, but reflect on persons and places more eminent, wherein his Majesty's chapel is not spared, they submit the redress to the Bishop, and crave his assistance and preservation from obloquy and contempt.

Aug. 2. 9. William Ratcliff to Buckingham. Being engaged in above 600*l.* for Sir John Ratcliff, deceased in the Isle of Rhé, the Sheriff of Lancashire appointed 40 or 50 men to break up his house, and took him, and kept him in prison till he made satisfaction of part of the debt. 1628.

Aug. 2. Southwick. 11. Sec. Conway to Francis Windebank, one of the Clerks of the Signet. There is nothing more contrary to the Secretary's nature than to complain or punish, but when necessity requires. Finds extraordinary neglect from Windebank's servant, Peers. He refused to accept as a copy of a letter to the Lord Deputy a transcript sent by the Secretary, whereby a business was delayed. The fault originally lies in Windebank's failing to give attendance there, as he had warning to do. Left a warrant with his man to draw a Privy Seal, which warrant, after four or five days, he sent back, with an answer, that another must do it, he had not time. Either he must attend himself, or keep a man of more discretion.

Aug. 2. Wanstead. 12. The same to Sir Richard Tichborne. By a letter from Sir Daniel Norton he will perceive the trial on Monday can hardly hold, because it is not known in what readiness the coroners are with their inquisitions. So soon as things are ready he shall have notice. Begs him to send the names of the last Commissioners for Oyer and Terminer. [Copy.]

Aug. 3. Minute of the above letter. [Conway's Letter Book, p. 311.]

Aug. 3. Portsmouth. 18. Sec. Coke to Sec. Conway. Mons. de Soubise sent the bearer to Sec. Coke. At Southampton the bearer saw a Frenchman who pretends to have letters for the Duke from Mons. de Rohan, and is thought to be now at Court pretending to deliver these letters. He refused to see Mons. de Soubise, which makes a just suspicion that his pretences are not good.

Aug. 3. Portsmouth. 19. The same to the same. The Frenchman mentioned in the preceding letter has come to that town, and brought to Sec. Coke letters from Sir Philip Carteret. He is a true juggler, pretends to be a Chevalier de Malthe, and is indeed a monk well known to Mons. de Soubise and young Gentilott. Coke purposes to bring him to the Court in the morning. Assured this is the most dangerous man in all France, and "the only secret of the Cardinal."

Aug. 3. 20. Copy of the same.

Aug. 3. Southwick. 21. E. Taverner to Nicholas. This afternoon the King sent the Duke a message by Sir Peter Killigrew, that he would go to Beaulieu, and stay there till he heard from his Grace that he was ready to come down. 1628. Vol. CXII.

Aug. 6. Buckingham House. 32. Buckingham to Sec. Conway. Finds nothing of more difficulty and uncertainty than the preparations there for this service of Rochelle. Every man says he has all things ready, and yet all remains as at a stand. It will be Saturday night before all the victuals will be aboard, and he dares not come from thence till he sees that despatched. Prays him to acquaint the King with the cause of the Duke's stay.

Aug. 6. Buckingham House. 33. The same to Gabriel Marsh, Marshal of the Admiralty. Is informed that there are in the Thames many prize ships, belonging to his Majesty and the Duke, which will in short time be little or nothing worth if some course be not taken to sell or preserve them. Aug. 6. Minute of the same. [Conway Letter Book, p. 311.]

Aug. 6. [Southwick.] 35. The same to the Lord President Marlborough. His Majesty having been moved for order for release of the three Dutch East India ships, expressed his opinion that that order had been so proceeded in as that there needed no second addressing to him. An order is to be agreed upon at the Council Board, and what discharge is necessary to be put into the hands of the States' Ambassador. The Scotchman sent up to London to give information fears he shall lose his entertainment. Certain Dutchmen also were billeted at Portsmouth by order of the Lords. These two cases should be provided for.

Aug. 6. Minute of the same. [Ibid., p. 312.]

Aug. 6. Southwick. 36. Sec. Conway to Lord Treasurer Weston. Sends a petition of Sir Allen Apsley and Sir Sampson Darrell, Surveyors of Marine Victuals. His Majesty wishes the best course to be taken for their satisfaction, that due respect should be had to persons of their merit, and that they should not be left to suffer for matters of formality where their demands appear just in equity and honour. [Copy.]

Aug. 6. Minute of the same. [Conway's Letter Book, p. 311.]

Aug. 6. Wanstead. 37. The same to Sir John Jephson. Requests him to certify his knowledge concerning the Scotchman taken from aboard the Dutch East Indiaman, and the money due for the men of those ships billeted and trusted by his command. [Copy.]

Aug. 6. Minute of the same. [Ibid., p. 312.]

Aug. 6. 38. Request of the Deputies of Rochelle to Sec. Coke, to stay Capts. Daniel Thibaut [Theobald ?] and Le Chantre, with their ship's crews, now at the Isle of Wight, and to order that 12 French sailors belonging to the crew of Capt. Thomas Annonier, but at present with Thibaut and Le Chantre, should return to Capt. Annonier.

Aug. 6. 39. Edmund Ryves to his brother, Edward Nicholas. Sends an obligation for 100*l.*, which is the same security the writer's father-in-law Nicholas has for Mrs. Katherine Davis's 100*l.*, and requests him to pay the amount to John Harper, linendraper in Friday Street, which the writer shall receive of Mr. Blake, linendraper, of Andover.

Aug. 6. 40. Account of artillery and munition shipped aboard several munition ships for this present expedition, by Edward Josselyn.

Aug. 6. 41. Contract between Sir Miles Fleetwood of the one part, and Bishop Thornborough, of Worcester, and Sir William Sandys, of the other part, for conveyance to his Majesty of 110 acres of the waste of Bradley, in the forest of Feckenham, on condition that they shall hold the remainder, on certain terms.

[Aug. 6 ?] 42. Will of John Ashburnham, being to go in this present expedition to Rochelle. His estate consisted of monies in the hands of Viscount Lumley, of Waterford, of Walter Montagu, son to the Lord Privy Seal, Lord Basil Fielding, Mons. de Civett, one of the Queen's Equerries; Lord Spencer Compton, Edward Savage, one of the Duke's gentlemen ushers; the Duke, and Henry Crow; and of a diamond worth 400*l.* He owed debts to Thomas Fotherley, Richard Wyan, Sir Robert Pye, the testator's servant, Phineas Andrewes, his tailor Ramsey, and his friend, Edward Nicholas. He appoints Nicholas his executor, gives the overplus of his estate to his brother, William Ashburnham, or in the case of his death to his sister, Elizabeth Ashburnham, and begs the Duke to cast an eye on his decayed house, and take into his care the testator's brother and sisters.

Aug. 7. Grant to Edward Lord Newburgh of the office of Under-treasurer of the Exchequer, for life, as the same was formerly granted to Lord Weston. [Docquet.]

Aug. 7. Similar grant to the same of the office of Chancellor of the Exchequer. [Docquet.]

Aug. 7. 43. Edmund Bolton to the Duke of Buckingham. Perusal of the inclosed, and the judgment of Sir John Beaumont, will cause the Duke to conceive just offence at those who have robbed him of the honour, and the King and people of the benefit, which would have resulted from the patronage of Bolton's proposal for the institution of an Academy of Honour. Remonstrates with him on his unkind treatment of the writer when his violent occasions put him upon praying a promised despatch somewhat earnestly. Believes that no businesses can be so great as that in five years there should not be found time to give content to him whom the Duke has honoured with the sacred titles of friend and kinsman. If the Duke tenders the writer's life, begs him to contribute forthwith to his discharge in what great or little measure his convenience will permit. With the Duke's liberality, the rest of his friends concurring, he hopes to take off the weight of 2,400*l.* executions, and quit his body from the most noisome, base, and miserable prison of the Bench. Inclosed,

43. I. Address to the King, intended to be prefixed to an account of the college intended to have been called "King James's Academ of Honor," and now King Charles's, if the King please.

43. II. Lines addressed to the Duke of Buckingham by Sir John Beaumont, "touching the Academ of Honour."

"My Lord, the heart that loves you must have leave
Some splendour from your glory to receive.
. . . . .
Whose loving hands in mutual concord gripe,
For you are Learning's Patron, Honour's Type."

Aug. 7. 44. Sir James Bagg to Sec. Conway. Writes on the suggestion of the Duke. Glanville, provoked and challenged by Johnson, slew him. The Crown's inquest found it manslaughter. Begs a letter to the Judges for a reprieve and pardon.

Aug. 7. The Tower. 45. Sir Allen Apsley to Nicholas. Explains the present state of the victualling for the Fleet. The parts about Portsmouth will not afford victuals by petty warrant for the whole fleet for 15 days. Difficulty of getting provision transported thence. If he could do it without money in truth he would. For the sea-victuals for the fleet, (17,000*l.*,) he has not yet received 6*d.* There has been near 10,000*l.* spent in petty warrant. Without money nothing will move. Will attend the Lord Treasurer and send to the officers to make an estimate ; all shall be done that can be done without the earthy first mover,—money, money, money !

Aug. 7. Launceston. 46. Francis Bassett to Nicholas. Has made stay at St. Ives of one Capt. Thomas Hill. Sends examinations, and prays directions. He has no commission, but a copy of one granted to Sir John Wentworth, whose Vice Admiral he calls himself.

Aug. 7. Bristol. 47. John Barker to the same. Has acquainted the magistrates of the city of his favour to their late business at the Council Board. The chamberlain of the city is to deliver to Mrs. Nicholas some small provision not answerable to his courtesy. The bearer is to solicit for the 50 barrels of powder assigned by the Board for store of their ships to guard the coast, which they hope will now be had after so long stay. One of their ships, in plying to recover the coast of Ireland, after they had wafted hither to the fair 25 sail of Irish ships, spent her bowsprit. The French ships of war yet commit spoil on the coast.

Aug. 7. Bristol. 48. James Dyer to the same. Thanks for friendly offices lately declared by their burgesses in Parliament. Recommends to him the bearer, who has come up on business likely to be troublesome to their city. Begs Nicholas to put him in a course how to proceed.

Aug. 7. Offington. 49. Edward Alford to Thomas Earl of Arundel and Surrey, and Edward Earl of Dorset, Lord Lieutenants of co. Sussex. Intreat them to consider the state of that poor county, who dare not put to sea to follow their fishing or vent their commodities, but are daily chased or taken. On Monday last three French ships and a pinnace took a bark at Shoreham haven, and the country coming down to rescue her, they drove them away with their ordnance, till they fetched a piece from Brighthelmston, and afterwards they cast anchor before Shoreham all night. Pray them to procure two small ships for securing that coast.

Aug. 7. 50. Notes, in the handwriting of Nicholas, of the victuals provided for the fleet.

Aug. 8. Confirmation of an assignment made by the Lord Chief Baron and other the lessees in trust to Henry Vaux, of the manor of Nerbert [Narbeth?] and Templeton, and of the forest of Nerbert [Narbeth?], and other lands in co. Pembroke, of the yearly value of 36*l.* 10*s.* 9½*d.*, with grant of the reversion to John Barlow, on payment of 1,766*l.* 9*s.* 2*d.* fine and rent advanced to 52*l.* 11*s.* 10½*d.* [Docquet.]

Aug. 8. Grant of baronetage to William Wiseman, of Canfield Hall, co. Essex. [Docquet.]

Aug. 8. Discharge to the same of the monies usually paid in respect of a baronetage. [Docquet.]

Aug. 8. Grant of baronetage to John Pryce, of Newtown, co. Montgomery. [Docquet.]

Aug. 8. Discharge to the same of monies usually paid in respect of a baronetage. [Docquet.]

Aug. 8. Chelsea. 51. Buckingham to Sec. Conway. Did hope before this to have been at Court, and to have been a suitor to his Majesty, which he now desires the Secretary to be on his behalf, for the present reprieve before trial of James Glanville, of Plymouth, who, being much provoked, did in a duel kill John Johnson; prays also warrant for his pardon. Glanville is son to one that was a very faithful servant to Sir James Bagg, and has done his Majesty good service at Plymouth. The assizes in Devon begin the 12th inst.

Aug. 8. The Court, at Beaulieu. 52. Philip Earl of Montgomery, Lord Chamberlain, to the same. This packet, brought by John Wood, his Majesty has commanded the Earl to send to the Secretary, and to acquaint him that the Duke has writ to the King that he will be at Southwick upon Monday night without fail, where his Majesty intends to meet him, and desires the Secretary to put the troops and all things appertaining to the voyage in such forwardness that there be no further cause of delay.

1628. VOL. CXII.

Aug. 8. Oatlands. 53. Montjoy Earl of Newport to Sec. Conway. Should not have stayed thus long from giving him thanks for his letter, but that he was called suddenly away by a false alarm of his child's being sick. Is going for the islands, and believes there is a letter directed to "my Lord" for a ship. Prays his assistance.

Aug. 8. The Tower. 54. Sir Allen Apsley to the same. Whilst he has been suing to get satisfaction in lands for 20,000*l.* he has been drawn into greater engagements. Not sixpence yet paid for the sea victuals for 5,500 sailors, which was promised out of the first subsidies, expected to have been paid in before this time. Had the late Lord Treasurer passed the grant now sent to the Secretary, Sir. Allen might have made some money thereof by this time, and his creditors would have been ready to trust him anew, and he thereby enabled to lay down that credit, his life, and all, to expedite the King's service. Begs him to get the King's hand to that grant, and to a warrant to the Lord Keeper. Has not had an answer to his recent petitions.

Aug. 8. Dover. 55. Capt. William Jewell to Nicholas. Last Tuesday four of the Whelps chased five sail of French and Dunkirk ships; two got away, three they took, of which the richest foundered in the sea. There were Capts. Button, Durden, Gibbon, and himself. Requests that the Duke would bestow on him the St. Peter, one of the ships taken, when she is unladen. Will be truly thankful to Nicholas to his own content. She is a matter of 150 tons. Hear that the Spaniard has embargoed all the French merchant ships. Sprang his main-topmast yesterday; to-morrow will be at sea again, for there is very good sport. The country is wondrous well pleased with the Whelps.

Aug. 9. 56. The King to the Judges of Assize for co. Devon. To reprieve James Glanville for killing John Johnson, until the King's further pleasure be known. [Copy.]

Aug. 9. 57. Sec. Conway to Mr. Maule. Giving him thanks for doing courtesies for him in his absence, and desiring him to move for a reprieve for Glanville. [Draft.]

Aug. 9. Minute of the same. [Conway's Letter Book, p. 312.]

Aug. 9. 58. The same to the Officers of Sir James Ramsey's regiment. Some soldiers have killed deer in Bere Forest, a strange insolency, especially his Majesty being in the country, and that forest the only one near Southwick. They are required to discover and punish the offenders.

Aug. 9. Portsmouth. 59. Capt. John Mason to Sec. Conway. Has received advertisement from Sec. Coke that the troops be put in readiness for embarkment, which is already done, their present quarters being as near Portsmouth as may be, and clothes to the number of 4,000 suits ready to be distributed. So that if it were to-morrow to be done, which he wishes, they are ready, but the principal "verb" is wanting;—the ships to come from London with their arms and victuals. If he thought good to put some of the men aboard to make way for the more remote regiments, he should think it a good service.

Aug. 9. Haines Hill. 60. Francis Windebank to Sec. Conway. His misfortune and affliction that he who has served near three apprenticeships in the place [of the Signet], and passed over the active and strict times of Lord Salisbury without check, is the first to receive reprehension from Lord Conway. On the Secretary's departure from London, the writer's month of July was near expiring, and business lay so heavily upon him that it was not possible for him to attend before the end of his month. Will abandon with disgrace his servant Peers, or any other, guilty of disrespect to Lord Conway.

Aug. 10. Portsmouth. 61. Sir Sackville Crow to Buckingham. Has paid the Victualler and Treasurer of the Army 1,000*l.* each. His books have been perfectly ready these five days, and he is idle now, the stores not being come about, nor money to pay. The ill weather makes the masters make demands of a greater proportion of stores of purpose to retard and put by the journey; but they dare not venture on a new survey for fear they make the wound too great, nor must the Duke give way to it at any hand. The mariners think long ere the Duke come; so do they all. Crow has but 4,400*l.*, and not less than 20,000*l.* will do the work. When they begin to pay it will be eight days' work for three paymasters. Till money be had the mariners will hardly take in victuals or do anything else, they are grown so heady.

Aug. 11. 62. Petition of George Markes and Henry Goodrick to the King. The lot and cope of the lead in the High Peak, in co. Derby, is leased for a term, of which there are 21 years yet to come, at the rent of 4*l.* 13*s.* 4*d.* Pray for a lease in reversion for 41 years at the rent of 9*l.* 6*s.* 8*d.* [Draft, in Nicholas's hand, indorsed "Mr. Ashburnham."]

Aug. 11. 63. Denzil Fleming to Nicholas. William Willoughby, purveyor for ship timber, in Sussex, has laden a bark at Shoreham; is to load another at Arundel for the King's present service. Wishes him to procure them some convoy, the French men-of-war being very busy on those coasts. This timber is for the repair of the Victory at Woolwich.

Aug. 11. 64. Account of payments ordered to be made by anticipation of the ordinary revenue; first made up to July 16, and afterwards to this day, with a few items subsequently added as late as January, 1629. Total, 284,092*l.* 5*s.* 3*d.*

Aug. 12. Whitehall. 65. The Council to Sec. Conway. Send an act of the Board for release of the Dutch East India ships, and leave it to him to deliver that or a warrant from His Majesty. Lord Dorchester has arranged with Mons. Joachimi for the payment of Forbes, and for the men billeted at Portsmouth.

1628. Vol. CXII.

Aug. 12. Dover Castle. 66. Sir John Hippisley to Buckingham. Has done his best to get the men ordered to be pressed in the Cinque Ports, but as fast as he presses they run away. Some must suffer for it before things will mend. The Whelps do wonders. Would this had been done before the Parliament, then had the Duke never been spoken on there! There is news amongst them that the Duke has given them his tenths, which makes them all fight like dragons. Here are some three score sail of Easterlings and Hollanders now in the Downs that cannot stir with this wind. Has written to Capt. Legatt to stay them all. Most of them are laden with cordage, pitch, and tar, for Spain and France. Fears they will not yield to us; there are so many of them. Suggests that the ships at Portsmouth should look out for them. Prays for the Duke's good success and happy return.

Aug. 12. 67. Lord Treasurer Weston to Sec. Conway. Has sent warrants for the Clerk of the Signet at Court to prepare bills for the King's signature. The King has commanded that he should sign the bills, which he cannot now do without loss of much time. Therefore sends a list of them to be submitted to the King. For Lord Conway's particular cannot give any account thereof, for that he has had no help at all from the subsidies. Incloses, 67. 1. List of Privy Seals sent down to be drawn up at the Signet; among them, to Lord Bayning, 20,000*l.*; Viscount Campden, 2,500*l.*; Sir William Courteen, 3,000*l.*; Sir William Russell, 4,500*l.*; Mr. Dalbier, for entertainment of the horse, 14,000*l.*; for Sir Charles Morgan's regiment, 4,000*l.*

Aug. 12. 68. Sec. Conway to Sir Daniel Norton. Some soldiers of the regiment of Colonel Crosby are marching to their rendezvous at Portsmouth. To appoint them a quarter, and to give the usual directions to the paymaster and constables. [Copy.]

Aug. 12. Wanstead. 69. The same to Lady Tichborne. Has received her letter in favour of the bearer's husband. Wrote to Lady Tichborne's husband to be informed of the cause, who replied that the prisoner's case was not bailable, and the only way was to move his Majesty to admit him to bail, which he intends to make trial of.

Aug. 12. Dover. 70. Capt. William Jewell to Nicholas. If he will bestead him to the prevailing for the St. Peter he will bestow on Mrs. Nicholas a bason and ewer of 40*l.* Sir John Hippisley is writing of a fleet of Hollanders enforced by stormy winds into the Downs, which, it is reported, are laden with provisions of war for the French or Spanish, or for both Kings. If they be found prize 'twill prove a great blessing for replenishing his Majesty's store.

Aug. 12. The Tower. 71. Commissioners for Prize Goods to Capt. John Pennington, Admiral of the Fleet, now in the Downs. Having been appointed by the Council to cause all prize ships about Dover Road or in the Downs to be presently brought to London, and that he is to deliver the same to such persons as the writers shall appoint to receive the same, they certify the names of persons so appointed.

Aug. 12. 72. Certificate of Thomas Wilson and others, that Edward Hayward is a sufficient man for boatswain of the Phœnix.

Aug. 13. Congé d'elire to the Dean and Chapter of Christchurch, Oxford, to elect a bishop, that see being void by translation of the last incumbent to the bishoprick of Durham. [Docquet.]

Aug. 13. The King to the said Dean and Chapter. To elect Richard Corbett, D.D., to the said bishoprick of Oxford. [Docquet.]

Aug. 13. Grant to Henry, Earl of Holland, of a pension of 2,000*l.* per annum, for 21 years. [Docquet.]

Aug. 13. Grant to Edward Lord Montagu, in consideration of 1,000*l.*, of all the wood within the walk called Geddington Woods, in the Forest of Rockingham, co. Northampton. [Docquet.]

Aug. 13. Whitehall. 73. Order of Council, on request of the Ambassador of the King of Denmark, that, in regard deal boards are almost the only commodity for trade in Norway, and also of the nearness of the said King to his Majesty, that the subjects of the said King shall not be prohibited to transport deal boards into any other parts.

[Aug. 13.] 74. Petition of Richard Garrett, a poor lame soldier, to the Council. Petitioner has served in the Bohemia service and that of the King of Denmark, wherein he has been so dangerously "maimed and massacred" that he is past further employment. Prays for his pay and other relief.

Aug. 13. 75. Lord Treasurer Weston to Buckingham. Sends him a letter to his Majesty, which he beseeches him to get the King to read, for it is the true present condition of his estate, which, when he shall please well to consider, he will think nothing so necessary as a constant care to relieve it by lessening charge and increasing revenue, which is not easily found, and soon spent if a good foundation of saving be not first laid. The memorial is to prepare his Majesty against importunities which will fall upon him when Weston shall begin to order the monies in that manner. Beseeches the Duke to burn the paper when he shall have so read it to his Majesty, that he will undertake to remember it, for it is not fit to be spoken of till his Grace be despatched away, and then to be done by Weston, and not altered by the King. His next care shall be to furnish the Duke with the monies that are behind.

Aug. 13. 76. Sec. Conway to Isabel Lady de la Warr. Has received her letter in favour of Mr. Withers for a company. The regiment which her son commanded (whose memory Conway will ever respect and honour) is disposed of to Sir Henry Whitehead, who must also have a company, but Conway will see if Mr. Withers may not have that company. If not, in honour of her request, he shall have another. [Draft.]

1628. VOL. CXII.

Aug. 13. Southwick. 77. Sec. Conway to the Commissioners for Oyer and Terminer, in co. Hants. Information has come to the Court that only "Ancient Steward" [Ensign Stewart] is condemned for the death of the men killed at Botley. It is a little marvelled there were no others condemned. They are to forbear execution until his Majesty's further pleasure be known. [Copy.]

Aug. 13. Westminster School. 78. Lambert Osbolton to Dudley Viscount Dorchester. The King lately promised him the next prebend in Westminster. Since that time there are three advowsons passed to Vossius and Thomas Westley, Fellow of Magdalen's, Oxford, now chaplain to the Duchess of Richmond, for the two next in Canterbury, and Mr. Collins has the Broad Seal for the next in Windsor. Prays for the Viscount's happy return to them at Westminster; in the meantime craves him to represent the loss the writer is at to the Duke, who was the first mover of his Majesty to cast his eye on the writer in this way, otherwise he shall languish like the man at the pool, as destitute of a good angel to move the waters for him (sic).

Aug. 14. Winchester. 79. Commissioners of Oyer and Terminer for co. Hants to Sec. Conway. William Morgan and Alexander Stewart are found guilty of murder, the one at Gosport, the other at Botley. Against Webster and his abetter the evidence is not yet come. For the execution of Morgan and Stewart pray direction before Saturday, when the sheriff will otherwise do his duty at the usual place.

Aug. 14. 80. Bill of the Marshal of the Admiralty for victualling certain ships, and pressing various pinks and victualling ships, extending from July 18 to this day.

Aug. 15. Whitehall. 81. The Council to the Lord Mayor [Sir Hugh Hammersley], and Sir Heneage Finch, Recorder of London, to re-examine Lewis Owen concerning the usual viewing of the ordnance upon the Tower Wharf by Christopher Mallory, and concerning one Dawson's giving his estate to the use of the religious house, whereof Mallory is a brother, and if further matter be found against Mallory to proceed against him according to law.

[Aug. 15?] 82. Petition of Katherine, wife of Adrian Hendricks, of London, Merchant, to the Council. Upon misinformation, her husband, on the 8th inst., was committed to the Marshalsea, but for what cause or who is his accuser he knows not. He is a merchant, and drives a good trade, which yields his Majesty a good sum of money yearly. From his imprisonment imminent ruin is likely to fall upon the petitioner and her children. Prays that he may be examined, and released on giving security.

Aug. 15. Whitehall. 83. The Council to Buckingham. Adrian Hendricks, some days since restrained of his liberty, and access of all persons prohibited unto him, drives a great trade to his Majesty's profit in the customs, and complains that his restraint is like to turn to his utter overthrow. He solicits to understand the cause of his imprisonment, and offers to give any security to answer the offence. Pray that the points of his charge may be set down, and direction given to Mr. Attorney or some other to examine him.

Aug. 15. Southwick. 84. Buckingham to Attorney General Heath. The King has signed whatsoever was mentioned in the Attorney's letter, and is pleased that he should go into Northamptonshire on his present occasions if the Lord Treasurer consents. The King confers the Mastership of the Temple upon Dr. Micklethwaite in case it fall void, in which case the Attorney is to advertise Nicholas, who will put the King in mind of the Duke's request. [From the indorsement it appears that the Mastership of the Temple was then actually void by the death of the late Master, the King's grant to Dr. Micklethwaite was therefore desired.]

[Aug. 15.] 85. Petition of Dirick Peterson and others, owners of the Black Dog, of Rotterdam, to Buckingham. After a suit in the Court of Admiralty, and an appeal to the Court of Delegates, respecting the Black Dog, brought into Southampton by Capts. John Stevens and John Nutt, the Council granted the order for her delivery to the petitioners, which is annexed. Notwithstanding which, the petitioners' adversaries procured orders from the Duke and the Commissioners of the Navy (sic), to impress the said ship, which the petitioners contend to be contrary to articles between the King and the United Provinces, and the Order of the Council, and pray for the Duke's warrant for the ship's discharge. Annexed,

85. I. The Council to the Mayor and others of Southampton. To cause the Black Dog to be delivered up to the use of its owners. [Copy.]

Aug. 15. 86. Copy of the preceding petition and annexed letter.

Aug. 15. Southwick. 87. Sec. Conway to Sec. Coke. His Majesty has heard of the disorder of the mariners at Portsmouth, and wonders that the man that was left in the house by the Duke under restraint was set at liberty, and delivered to the mariners. Order is to be given to keep the mariners on board, and to avoid disorders. His Majesty will hear and take examination of the passages in the late voyage to Rochelle, wherewith Sec. Coke is to acquaint Lord Denbigh, that he may order the captains and others to attend the King at Southwick to-morrow. [Copy.]

Aug. 15. Minute of the same. [Conway's Letter Book, p. 312.]

Aug. 15. Portsmouth. 88. Sir John Jephson to Sec. Conway. Finds the names of 18 men stayed in lodgings 14 days. The victuallers demand 25*l.* 4*s.* The poor Scotchman has walked towards London for want. It would be a charitable deed to write to Sir Maurice Abbot to hearken him out. His name is Furbush [Forbes]. There is one Ramsay that can surely find him out.

1628. VOL. CXIII. AUGUST 16—23, 1628.

Aug. 16. Southwick. 1. The King to the Dean and Chapter of Chichester. It is an ancient custom in that and other cathedrals to confer the first residentiary's place that falls void upon the prebendary to whom the divinity lecture is annexed; therefore recommends William Hickes, prebendary lecturer for three years, to be elected in the place fallen vacant by the death of Dr. Buckenham. [Copy.]

Aug. 16. 3. Buckingham to Sir Robert Pye. Sir Robert knows how much the Duke is engaged to see Sir James Bagg satisfied his arrears disbursed with much advantage in a time of necessity. Prays Sir Robert to assist him to the Lord Treasurer in passing his account, and until that be perfected in furnishing monies for support of his credit. [Draft, in Nicholas's hand.]

Aug. 16. Wanstead. 4. Sec. Conway to Sir Fulke Greville and Mr. Towerson. Notwithstanding order for stay of all shipping, they are to permit all Dutch men-of-war and ships that go from port to port freely to depart, on security not to transport passengers' letters or papers to France or Spain. [Copy.]

Aug. 16. Wanstead. 5. The same to Francis Windebank. Has an affection to pleasure him in what he may, and is in his own nature drawn to nothing more hardly than to find fault or give reprimands. Too great strangeness between them. If Windebank had come to him, and acquainted him with the occasions of his stay at London, he would have disposed businesses so as the service should not have suffered delay. Whatever the omissions were, he easily forgets them, without laying any tax upon Windebank, who has given good proof of his diligence and abilities in his Majesty's service.

Aug. 16. 6. Sir Sackville Crow to Nicholas. Sends a letter to the Duke, with the advertisement of the officers enclosed. Would send back Charles to London for the rest of the money, desiring the Duke to write to the Lord Treasurer to make it up to 20,000*l.* Nicholas sees what beginning they have, and what must be expected if anything shall fall short. Gives account of what money he had received and expended. The Lord Treasurer must make up 6,600*l.*, for which Crow desires the Duke's letter.

[Aug. 16.] 7. Statement of inconveniences conceived likely to arise if the money for the mariners be delivered over into the captain's hands for payment.

[Aug. 16?] 8. Minutes, by Nicholas, of the present state of money affairs, and the way in which 20,000*l.* is to be procured for the Treasurer and Victualler. On the same paper is written an application by one of the French refugee Protestants then in England, for directions to Sir James Bagg to supply the poor French sailors at Plymouth with provisions.

Aug. 17. Southwick. 10. Buckingham to Sir Fulke Greville, Captain of Cowes Castle. Warrant to release the Increase, of Ayr, which is bound for Ireland, taking bond not to carry passengers or papers to France or Spain.

Aug. 17. Southwick. 11. The same to Jacob Johnson, the diver. Understands that by virtue of the Duke's former warrant he has taken up out of the sea nine anchors, 101 sows of lead, 2,360 pieces of eight, and five pieces of ordnance. He is to bring the same to Portsmouth, and deliver them to Capt. John Mason, for the Duke's use, all Mayors and other officers being charged to give him assistance therein. [Copy.] Annexed,

11. I. Minute of application from Capt. John Mason and Jacob Johnson, to the Duke. About nine years before, a ship from St. Lucar was wrecked at the Lizard, laden with silver in bars and pieces of eight. The Cornish men, under Sir John Killigrew, have recovered certain parts of the cargo, and threaten death to all persons who attempt to seek after the remainder. The applicants pray the Duke to give them authority to recover the same.

Aug. 17. Knowsley. 12. Charlotte Lady Strange to Monsieur Carleton [Dudley Viscount Dorchester]. Condoles with him on some great loss, and congratulates him on the good choice he had made of so good and so virtuous a mistress. In her the writer sees the end of his woes, and the beginning of his satisfaction. Her husband begs his favour with the Council in an affair relating to the Forest of Delamere.

Aug. 18. Haverfordwest. 13. Justices of Peace for co. Pembroke to the Council. Of late great numbers of Irish poor people have been landed in that county with passes. Being much pestered and burdened by them, the writers have made stay of a bark of ten tons, wherein were carried about 70 of these poor people. They are landed suddenly, and some of them secretly in the night, taking after the rate of 3*s.* for every passenger. Submit that caution should be given to the Lord Deputy to restrain this confluence into this kingdom.

Aug. 18. 14. Lord Treasurer Weston to Buckingham. Has delivered Sir Sackville Crow's man 5,000*l.*, which makes up the full sum of 20,000*l.* for the mariners, besides 2,000*l.* issued for billet money and fresh victuals. This is all the money in the Exchequer, for howsoever he has received since the Duke went 6,000*l.* of subsidy money and 3,000*l.* of the City's, the Queen's remove, who otherwise must lie still at Wellingborough, and some reimbursements, not to be longer delayed without some kind of mutiny, with the money for Portsmouth, and some of the troopers who go with the Duke, have taken up all the rest. It is necessary the Duke should have ready money with him, and Weston will use all diligence to get in as much as he can before the end of the week. Has delivered money to Lord Montjoy, because he would have all contented who follow the Duke; for the rest, he must force their patience, a work of no little difficulty. A Privy Seal has been sent to the King for passing a book for Lord Holland. The Duke knows Weston's love for him, but no money must be raised till he sees how the King will be able to subsist this next year. Has a woman's appetite to see the King and Duke before the Duke's going. Longs also to see him at home again with honour, in a quiet and settled court, studying his Majesty's affairs, which require, to cure them, rest and vigilancy.

Aug. 18. 15. Sec. Conway to the Commissioners for Soldiers in co. Hants. The King has been informed of the many insolences committed by the 200 Irish lately come into this country, and, because it is conceived that want of due care in billeting them in fitting places is a great cause of the disorder, directions are given for a remedy. The soldiers, not contenting themselves with ordinary provisions, but stealing or taking the best things without paying anything, are to be told that they have his Majesty's pay, and are not to demand any victual but what they pay for, taking care that no unreasonable rates are set by the country. The account of the billet money due to the country is to be made up, and Conway will solicit payment.

Aug. 18. 16. The same to Sir Benjamin Tichborne. Mr. Seymour, a Captain in Sir Benjamin's regiment, is willing to leave his company, and Conway is solicited to confer the company on the Lieutenant, Mr. Tooker. Those that move for him are Sir William Uvedale and Sir Edmund Verney. Has forborne to dispose of it without his acquiescence.

Aug. 18. 17. Inventory of tenths taken out of Capt. Scras's prize, certified by John Ellzey.

Aug. 19. 18. The King to Attorney General Heath. To prepare a grant of Baronetcy to Rich. Wiseman, of Thundersley, co. Essex; also a warrant for discharging him of the money usually reserved for that dignity.

Aug. 19. Brancepeth. 19. Dr. John Cosin to Bishop Laud, of London. Smart preferred four indictments at the last Assizes in Durham; one, that they place the communion table the wrong way; another, that they stand up and sing the creed after the Gospel; a third, that they use wax lights and tapers; and a fourth, that Mr. Burgoyne has set up an altar in his church at Wearmouth,—all by Smart supposed to be superstitious ceremonies, and contrary to the Act of Uniformity. A great noise there was about it. The grand jury found nothing, and the judge (Sir James Whitelock) rejected the indictments in open court, letting the country know that he knew no law whereupon they should be grounded; and adding, that the man deserved no small punishment who, in this unwonted sort, had gone about to disgrace the Church, and dishonour the solemnity of God's service there where himself had been an eye and ear witness that all things were done in decency and in order. They are threatened with further complaints, and Smart sticks not to profess that he will fetch them all into higher courts, neither will the fury of so hot a spirit be stayed till he has set all on fire, unless he be cooled by authority. Dr. Linsell is lighter by 21 stones than before he took his journey to London, to which he is beholden to his long travel. God reward the Bishop for rewarding Lindsell's learning and goodness with a dignity of the Church !

Aug. 19. 20. Report of Phineas Pett and Edward Boate, on a survey of the defects of the Vanguard.

Aug. 20. Whitehall. 21. The Council to Sec. Conway. The Board ordered the Attorney General to draw up a proclamation prohibiting all persons to carry munition into France. On reading the draft thereof, they cannot assure themselves but that something may unawares pass prejudicial to the league between his Majesty and the States. Pray him to send them a copy of that league.

Aug. 20. Portsmouth. 22. Buckingham to Lord President Marlborough. To take into his care the speedy despatch of the Agent employed hither from Sallee, the ship appointed to transport him being ready to sail.

Aug. 20. Portsmouth. The same to the Dean and Chapter of Chichester. Requests them to expedite Mr. Hickes's business, and proceed to his admission, whereof, he understands, they have made some demur. [Copy.] [See 1628, August 16, No. 2.]

Aug. 20. 23. S. Holdip to his brother, Andrew Holdip. Complains of his conduct in prosecuting certain legal proceedings to oust him from a poor prebend. Will no more harken to arbitraments.

Aug. 20. 24. Informations of Anne Good and George Dowle, of Queen Street, co. Middlesex, against John Burgoigne, of Rouen, whom they alleged to be a spy for the Dunkirkers; with the examination of Burgoigne in answer thereto. He was at Dunkirk when Sir John Wentworth was taken prisoner. Aiding him to escape, he came away with him, and has since lived on means supplied by Sir John.

Aug. 20. 25. Examination of Philip, the wife of Thomas Smyth, of Queen Street, in whose house the above-named John Burgoigne lodged. Denied that she had ever called him a spy.

[Aug. 20 ?] 26. Capt. John Pennington's list of the Fleet prepared for the expedition to Rochelle, and now at Portsmouth; with names of the captains, tonnage of the ships, and numbers of ordnance, seamen, and landsmen for each ship.

Aug. 21. Southwick. 30. The King to Sec. Conway, Lord Lieutenant of co. Hants. The troops lately billeted in several counties being now drawn into that county, for avoiding abuses that may be practised to increase the King's charge, he is to cause a perfect muster to be taken of all the billeted soldiers, and to call for an account of the billet money due in the Isle of Wight.

Aug. 21. Worcester. 31. Deputy Lieutenants of co. Worcester to the Council. The soldiers billeted in that county, to the number of 150, have been removed, but there remains due for billeting them 415*l.* 19*s.*, besides monies owing to certain captains and others where they lodged. Beseech that the collectors of the two first subsidies may have warrant to detain these amounts. Annexed,

31. I. Account of billet money above mentioned.

31. II. Debts owing by the Captains and other Officers, for diet, 23*l.* 19*s.* 6*d.*

Aug. 21. 32. Laws and Ordinances Military, appointed by the King, to be observed in the Fleet and Army in the present expedition for the succour of Rochelle, under the conduct of the Duke of Buckingham. [Copy.]

Aug. 21. Sec. Conway to the Council. How they shall proceed concerning the Parliament to be held in Ireland. That if anything be moved to give stop to Sir Thomas Phillips's commission, they first acquaint his Majesty before they proceed. [Minute, Conway's Letter Book, p. 312.]

Aug. 21. 33. Instructions and articles, set down by the Duke of Buckingham, for the better government of the Fleet in the voyage to Rochelle, and, that every ship's company may not be ignorant thereof, ordered to be read openly at service time every week twice. [Copy.]

Aug. 21. Portsmouth. 34. Buckingham to the Mayor of Southampton, and all Vice Admirals. To release the Truelove, of Southampton, Capt. Henry Wheeler, about to go to sea as a man-of-war, taking the usual security.

[Aug. 21 ?] Portsmouth. 35. Charles Daillie to Buckingham. Had a conference with him at Chelsea respecting his mission by the command of Lord Conway. Had delivered to Lord Conway a plan of the siege of Rochelle. Intention of the French to invade England after the acquisition of Rochelle. Barges building in Brittany for a landing of cavalry in the Isle of Wight and at Portsmouth, of which places a Scotchman has given the Cardinal a plan. The French esteem the English as mere "femmes barbues." Two capuchins have been sent from Brussels into Ireland, to inspect the country and seduce the people. Fr.

Aug. 21. Portsmouth. 37. Three certificates of overplus numbers of persons on board the Swiftsure, with undertaking of Sir Allen Apsley to supply the provisions so spent on warrant from the Lord Admiral, and underwritten warrant of Buckingham accordingly.

Aug. 21. Tickhill Castle. 38. R. Ansbie [?] to Buckingham. What has happened betwixt Mr. Vermuyden's friends and workmen and the people of the Isle of Axholme these inclosed will give a taste. Great riots have been committed by the people, and a man killed by the Dutch party, the killing of whom is conceived to be murder in all who gave direction for them to go armed that day. These outrages will produce good effects. They will procure conformity in the people, and enforce Vermuyden to sue for favour at the Duke's hands,—if not for himself, for divers of his friends, especially for Mr. Saines, a Dutchman, who has an adventure of 13,000*l.* in this work. Upon examination of the rest of Vermuyden's people, thinks it will appear that he gave them order to go armed. Expected to have heard from Mr. Fotherley about Vermuyden's defeazance, but he having fallen short therein, it has been given out by Vermuyden's party that he has bought the lordship, but the writer, with strong assurances, has removed that stumbling block. Incloses, 38. I. Informations of John Greaves and various other persons in the employ of Vermuyden as to outrages committed against them. 1628, August 18.

38. II. The like of William Wells and Richard Stockwell, that the Dutchmen, armed with swords and fire-arms, fired at the people, and drove them before them. 1628, August 18.

38. III. Examination of John Warren, one of Vermuyden's men, as to the use of fire-arms by his people. 1628, August 19.

38. IV. Similar examination of Baldwin Vanwarmon. 1628, August 20.

Aug. 21. Southwick. 39. Sec. Conway to the Commissioners for Soldiers in the Isle of Wight. Directing them to take the muster of soldiers billeted there, commanded in the letter of the King to Sec. Conway, of this date. [From the indorsement it appears that a similar letter was written to the similar Commissioners for the co. of Hants.]

Aug. 21. Tickhill Castle. 40. R. Ansbie [?] to Edward Earl of Dorset. Informs him of the letter of this date addressed by the writer to the Duke of Buckingham; but, lest the Duke's absence should afford advantage to Vermuyden, he sends various inclosures to the Earl, that he may perceive in what state things stand. Leaves the prevention to his judgment. If the Duke be absent, begs the Earl to open his packet. Incloses,

40. I. Copy of the informations of John Greaves and others, inclosed in his letter to Buckingham.

40. II. The like of the examination of John Warren.

40. III. The like of the examination of Baldwin Vanwarmon.

[Aug. 22.] 41. Petition of Francis Gordon to the King. Has served the King in the East Countries, and has performed many dangerous and expensive journies, and had nothing but his uncle's pension of 150*l.* per annum. Prays for remuneration, and better allowance.

Aug. 22. Warrant to pay to Anthony Hinton 500*l.*, for a fair facet diamond ring sold to the King, and presented to the Abbot of Scaglia, Ambassador Extraordinary from the Duke of Savoy. [Docquet.]

Aug. 22. Southwick. 42. Sec. Conway to the Council. Mr. Gordon succeeding his uncle as his Majesty's Agent to the King of Poland, it pleased the King to grant him a pension of 150*l.* per annum, as his uncle formerly had. But Mr. Gordon, returning from those parts, has represented that he has been at extraordinary charges, and is a suitor for satisfaction and increase of allowance. The residence of an agent there being more for the advantage of the merchants than of the King, they are to hear Mr. Gordon, and send for the merchants, and deal with them to contribute towards this charge by way of consulage or otherwise.

Aug. 22. Southwick. 43. The same to the same. Recommends to them the case of Moritz Martinson, a subject of the King of Denmark, whose ship, the White Swan, was taken by Capt. William Hulst, near Sandwich. In all cases affecting subjects of the King of Denmark and the merchants of the Hanse Towns, where the demands are clearly just, the King wishes justice to be done without delay, and, where there be scruples of no great consequence, that favour and courtesy be administered.

Aug. 22. 44. Draft of the same.

Aug. 22. Minute of the same. [Conway's Letter Book, p. 312.]

Aug. 22. Bristol. 45. Mayor of Bristol to the same. Has provided ships for transport of Sir Pierce Crosby's Irish regiment of 700 foot into Ireland, which at present lie there under the command of Sir Thomas Esmond, their Serjeant Major, expecting a fair wind. The money allowed for billeting being all spent, but the wind such that they cannot get from thence, they solicit a present order for their relief.

Aug. 22. Bristol. 46. The same to the same. By appointment of the Colonel of Sir Pierce Crosby's regiment, there has been paid 175*l.* for the charge of their transportation, and the writer has been constrained to disburse 140*l.* out of purse for their victualling, which he prays may be repaid forthwith. Urges some relief for them whilst detained by adverse winds.

Aug. 22. Portsmouth. 47. Buckingham to Basil Viscount Fielding, Vice Admiral of Buckingham's own squadron in the Nonsuch. Prays him to take charge of his Vice Admiralty, and requires all inferior officers to be observant unto him in this employment.

Aug. 22. Portsmouth. 48. Buckingham to Robert Newland the elder, a merchant in the Isle of Wight. Is informed that there are in his possession three pieces of iron ordnance, and other goods taken out of the sea by Jacob Johnson, the diver. He is to deliver the same to Johnson, who is appointed to bring the same thither. [Copy.]

Aug. 22. Portsmouth. 49. The same to Capt. John Pennington. There can be no happy success expected in any enterprise without an especial blessing from God; the Duke therefore thinks good to begin the great expedition for relief of Rochelle by a solemn worship of His Almighty power, and requires Capt. Pennington to give notice that there be, on Sunday sevennight, a communion celebrated aboard all the ships of the fleet.

Aug. 22. Southwick. 50. Sec. Conway to Buckingham. Upon informations that there is connivance between some captains and billeters, by which the companies will appear stronger than they will be able to march, and the householders will receive more for billet money than they ought, his Majesty has given order for a strict muster. Suggests that directions be sent by the Duke to Chichester, which is in another county. The rest lie in the Lieutenancy which Lord Conway received from the Duke's favour. Sec. Coke yesterday thought it necessary that 100 or 150 soldiers should be sent for from Fareham, for strengthening the guard at Gosport, on an information of Capt. Pell. Conway conceives the alarm was greater than the cause. Knows that most of the soldiers want arms, and shoes and stockings, and believes that the captains' cheerful speaking to the mariners, and care to keep them aboard, will prevent the greatest part of the evil. Sir Francis Willoughby was to have moved this matter to the Duke.

Aug. 22. Minute of the same. [Conway's Letter Book, p. 312.]

[Aug. 22?] 51. Capt. Jo. Weddell to the same. Sends reasons in answer to the Duke's propositions concerning falling on the French men-of-war that ride without the palisado near Rochelle. The writer advises that these ships should be attacked, not at low water, but about the middle of the spring or near the top of a high water.

Aug. 22. 52. Sec. Conway to Bishop Laud, of London. To prepare a form of public prayer for the prosperous success of this fleet, to be used in all churches and chapels in divine service. He will not omit in this prayer the religious end of this expedition, to give relief to an oppressed church, and support to the profession of true religion. [Copy.]

Aug. 22. Minute of the same. [Conway's Letter Book, p. 312.]

Aug. 22. Portsmouth. 53. Sec. Coke to Sec. Conway. Dining this day with the Duke, Mr. Montagu complained of the excessive rates of all things in this town, which being considered by the Duke, Lord Conway is requested to procure an order from the Lords at Court to the Mayor and Aldermen of the town, to cause a moderate rate to be set upon all kinds of victual, and to provide that the markets be furnished with all necessary supplies.

1628. Vol. CXIII.

Aug. 22. Tichborne. 54. Sir Benjamin Tichborne to Sec. Conway. The bearer is a gentleman of good report, and, if Lord Conway pleases to prefer him, Sir Benjamin will willingly submit to Lord Conway's approbation.

Aug. 22. 55. Certificate, by William Earl of Pembroke, of the strength of the garrison of the Fort at Pendennis, as found at a general muster: —Armed men, 394; pioneers, 99.

Aug. 23. Southwick. 56. The King to Buckingham, Justice of Eyre on this side Trent. Sends schedule of the number of deer the King bestows on the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Recorder of London, with the parks and walks where they shall be killed. He is to send warrants to the keepers in conformity therewith.

Aug. 23. Southwick. 57. Copy of the same, with the schedule referred to in the document, but not now with it.

Aug. 23. 58. Lords of the Council, then with the King at Southwick, to the Mayor and Aldermen of Portsmouth. To cause a moderate rate to be set upon all sorts of victual, and also upon lodgings and horse-meat, for their direction in which, the writers send the rates set by the Clerk of the Market and approved by the Green Cloth. They are also to cause provisions to be brought in, and the market to be well furnished. [Draft.]

Aug. 23. Dover Castle. 59. Sir John Hippisley to the Council. Sends account of billet-money due in the Cinque Ports for the regiment of Sir Pierce Crosby, amounting to 977*l.* 2*s.*, for which he craves payment. Sends also accounts from St. John's, St. Peter's, and Birchington for soldiers of that regiment billeted there in January and February, 1628. Inclosed,

59. I. Names of soldiers billeted in the parish of St. John in Thanet, with the names of the billeters and the time of their being with them.

59. II. Similar list for St. Peter's.

59. III. Similar list for Birchington.

Aug. 23. Southwick, at 10 o'clock at night. 60. Dudley Viscount Dorchester to Sec. Conway. His Majesty hath commanded him on this sudden and sad accident to put Lord Conway in mind of giving order for shutting the ports, lest on the going out of the fleet, and this occasion, some advertisements may pass over seas contrary to his service. He is to order that such Dutch ships as are at Portsmouth be stayed.

Aug. 23. Wanstead. 61. Sec. Conway to Dudley Viscount Dorchester, Vice Chamberlain. Is instantly sending directions to Portsmouth, Southampton, and the Isle of Wight. For the rest will wait upon him to-morrow morning.

Aug. 23. Westminster. 62. Joshua Carpenter to the same. This morning a letter from Mr. Dudley Carleton came by the merchants' post, which the writer sent by Mons. de Chateauneuf, who went post thence with Lady Strange's brother. This night came the inclosed by Sir James Leviston. Went that day to see Mrs. Alice Carleton, where he found that old Mr. Williams was dead. He came from the sermon at Paul's Cross on Sunday last, died on Thursday, and was buried this night.

Aug. 23. London. 63. Ladislao Welen Barone di Zierotin to Dudley Viscount Dorchester. His great grief for the unhappy death of the Duke, and the sorrow of the Duchess and all his friends. The Duke referred the writer to Dorchester respecting some gift which he had procured him from the King. Dorchester knows what ill-fortune has overwhelmed the writer, as well as his master the King of Bohemia. Begs his influence with the King, the writer's wife and children being in the greatest want. 2,000*l.*, or even 1,000*l.*, would be the saving of his family. Italian.

Aug. 23. London. 64. Sir John Conyers to the same. Sends a letter received at the Hague. Storms and contrary winds have been the occasion of the delay.

Aug. 23. Durham. 65. Dean and Chapter of Durham to Bishop Neile, of Winchester. Since they sent the Bishop the copy of Mr. Smart's sermon they had convented him before the High Commission, to take further security for his appearance, where he carried himself so irrespectively of the writers, His Majesty's Commissioners, that had they not been the parties against whom he so bitterly inveighed in his sermon they could have done no less than have dealt more harshly with him. Since that time he has preferred several indictments against Mr. Burgoyne and Mr. Cosin in particular, all which, by commandment of the Judge, Sir James Whitelock, were rejected. They suppose Smart is minded to prefer a Bill against them in Parliament, wherefore they implore his assistance with the aid of the Bishops of London and Oxford.

[Aug. 23.] 66. A satirical poem, entitled "The Spy, discovering the Danger of Arminian Heresy and Spanish Treachery." Professedly written at Strasburgh, whence the preface, addressed "To all zealous Professors and true-hearted Patriots in Great Britain," is dated. The poem commences:—

> "Must I turn mad, like Solon, and write rhymes
> When philippicks would better fit the times?
> Yes, yes, I must! for whatsoe'er they be,
> In press or pulpit, dare of speech be free
> In Truth's behalf, and vent their grieved mind
> In phrase more serious, or some graver kind,
> (Though at the common good they only aim,
> And be as strictly careful to shun blame
> As Wisdom can devise) they cannot 'scape
> The malice of the age."

Aug. 24. The King to the Deputy Lieutenants of Suffolk. Capt. Henry Woodhouse is to execute his place of Muster-master in that county by an able deputy, and they are to satisfy an arrear due to him for two years past. [Docquet.]

Aug. 24. 1. Henry Earl of Holland to the King. As His Majesty has ennobled him sufficiently and far beyond his merit, so he will no doubt enable the Earl for his service, which the Duke assured the Earl was the King's intention. Though he is deprived of the Duke's means to the King, he no ways doubts that the King will make it appear that the Duke was the instrument, not the author, of the benefits which the King conferred on his servants. Prays for the Constableship of Windsor or the keeping of Hampton Court. [Copy.]

Aug. 24. 2. Sec. Conway to the Keepers of various Outports. To make stay of all ships and vessels, until further order.

Aug. 24. 3. The same to Bishop Laud, of London. To avoid doubts that may arise upon the late execrable act committed on the person of the gracious Duke, gives him knowledge that his Majesty continues constantly his resolution of sending forth the fleet, and expects him to prepare the prayer, and cause it to be published to all the parish churches, to be used so soon as the fleet shall put to sea, and until its return.

Aug. 24. Minute of the same. [Conway's Letter Book, p. 313.]

Aug. 24. 4. Nicholas to Sec. Conway. Most of the ports are shut by the late Duke's order, but this miserable accident may perhaps make men careless. Sends list of the persons and places to whom Conway is to direct his warrants. Purposes to wait on him that afternoon, and beseeches him to excuse the scribbling of a trembling hand guided by a sad heart.

Aug. 24. 5. Robert Earl of Sussex to the same. The ill news of the Duke of Buckingham much troubles him. Now the Earl has lost a friend, hopes that Conway will stand his friend, as he has been heretofore. He knows that the Earl has the Lieutenancy of Essex and the forts of Harwich, which Lord Holland keeps from him, as he hears, under the Great Seal. The Earl moved the King, who said he would consider of it. His desire is, that Conway will end the business. If Lord Holland will help the Earl to the keeping of the Castle of "Wyngor" in exchange for the forts, he would be ready to yield up the Lieutenancy to the King. Intreats him to move it betimes, and to make as good a bargain as he can.

Aug. 24. The Court. 6. Henry Earl of Holland to Capt. John Pennington. He is to wait upon the King to-morrow. Though all the Duke's servants are unhappy in the miserable accident that has fallen unto him, yet Pennington has cause to be comforted in the esteem of his master.

Aug. 24. The Strand. 7. Sir Francis Nethersole to [James Earl of Carlisle ?]. On Saturday last, in the forenoon, the Duke was stabbed, in his chamber at Portsmouth, by one Lieutenant Felton, and died presently of that wound, which he received under the left pap. The circumstances are related with much difference. That which most agree in is, that the Duke, lying that morning somewhat long abed, was called up by Walter Montagu to hear some good news of the relief of Rochelle. Mons. de Soubise coming to him to hear of this news, Felton came into his Grace's chamber. In the tumult, some imputing the deed to the French, Felton boldly took it on him, and said he had done it for the good of his King and country. He had some private discontentment for being put by the company when his captain was slain in the Isle of Rhé, but he alleges his desire of the public good for the cause of his fact, and offered not to escape. Various circumstances antecedent to the fact, which are very considerable; a sailor killed in a mutiny, and rumours prevalent in London, Cornwall, and Huntingdonshire. The King took the Duke's death very heavily, keeping his chamber all that day, as is well to be believed; but the base multitude in this town drink healths to Felton, and there are infinitely more cheerful than sad faces of better degree. The stone of offence being now removed by the hand of God, it is to be hoped that the King and his people will come to a perfect unity, and that the Earl will return to be a principal instrument in that good work. The Secretary of Mons. Joachimi has promised to convey this to Paris.

Aug. 24. 8. Account of the distribution of 12*l.*, given by Bishops Mountague of Chichester, Mawe of Bath and Wells, and Curle of Rochester, at their consecration.

Aug. 25. 9. Sec. Conway to the Commissioners for Oyer and Terminer in Hants. Has received information that Lieut. Willis is able to clear himself. The complaint against him was, that he threatened several men and put them in fear of their lives, and that he violently took a man's wife from him, and kept her in his lodging all night. Prays them to examine the matter carefully, and do justice. [Copy.]

Aug. 25. 10. Robert Earl of Lindsey and Sec. Coke to Capt. Jacob Williams. To take up, for the King's service, the Increase, of London, with the master and 40 men, which are aboard of her, to take charge of her as captain, and to see her well fitted and provided for the present service.

Aug. 25. 11. Richard Dike to his brother, Edward Nicholas. The seven prizes have come into the river. Three of them, being Hamburghers, laden with salt, are not likely to be prize; nor is the Peter, of Amsterdam, laden at Leghorn. Two of the other three are already adjudged prize, and will not be worth more than 1,500*l.* Hopes the remaining one will prove prize too, which may be worth 3,500*l.* The commission for the sale of these goods drawn up erroneously. Davell went after the Attorney General, who has gone out of town for eight or ten days, 20 miles, to have it mended; but he said it was in conformity with the Order of Council. P.S.—1628, August 26. Prevented sending the above by the news of that sad accident, presuming they should have seen him. From his letter received that day they shall not expect him till after the departure of the fleet. Should be glad to be advised who is like to be Admiral, but far more gladder to hear that Nicholas retained his place. Wishes to hear whether his brother Joy intends to proceed on this voyage. Nicholas's patent is ready for the Seal, and Friday next is the Seal day.

Aug. 25. 12. A list of all the Ships belonging to the Fleet, prepared for the relief of Rochelle; with an underwritten account of their state and forwardness on this day.

Aug. 25. 13. Draft, in Nicholas's handwriting, of the account of the state and forwardness of the fleet, mentioned in the preceding article.

Aug. 26. Grant to Dame Dorothy Skelton, widow, of a pension of 150*l.*, per annum for her life. [Docquet.]

Aug. 26. Grant to William Murray, one of the Grooms of the Bedchamber, of the timber in Morewood, Little Deans Wood, and Myes Baily, in the Forest of Dean, co. Gloucester, certified to be worth above 800*l.* [Docquet.]

Aug. 26. The like to Sir Richard Beaumont of the tithes of the towns of Brighouse, Rastrick, and Tickesby, co. York, with the rent of 6*l.* 18*s.* 4*d.* per annum. [Docquet.]

Aug. 26. Westminster. 14. Bishop Laud, of London, to Sec. Conway. Has sent a copy of both Conway's letters to the Archbishop of Canterbury, that he may take order accordingly; for upon his Grace this service lies. Laud cannot command the use of the prayer farther than his own diocese. Before his letters came he had caused letters from the Council to be sent to the Archbishop, to the same effect. At the same time he received Conway's letters he had the news of that accursed fact, to his great sorrow and grief of heart. It is the saddest accident that ever befell him, and should be so for all good Christians; but what humours are stirring there he shall not at this time trouble Conway with the recital.

Aug. 26. London. 15. Archibald Colville to the same. Sends foreign intelligence, received from his father out of Brussels. From France, that Mons. de la Tremouille is converted to Catholicism, and that the King lies before Rochelle with 20,000 men, attending the fleet of England. With other news from Italy, Germany, and Spain.

Aug. 26. The Court. 16. Dudley Viscount Dorchester to Sec. Coke. The King commanded Dorchester to speak to Coke to prepare a commission for Lord Treasurer Weston, the Earl of Pembroke, Lord Steward, the Earl of Dorset, Sec. Coke, and Viscount Dorchester, to take such course as is fittest for the foul fact and actor of the bloody murder of the Duke. The King requires him to send thither with the soonest Felton's examination, which Coke and Dorchester took, sealed up and addressed to Dorchester. It may be committed to Sir Henry Hungate, who is to return that way towards London. His Majesty employs him in some matters concerning this fact. [On the blank pages of this letter Sec. Coke has written a rough draft of certain passages intended to be inserted in the Commission mentioned in the letter.]

Aug. 27. Grant of Baronetage to Anthony Slingsby, of Scriven, co. York [Docquet.]

Aug. 27. Discharge to the same of fees usually paid for a baronetcy, [Docquet.]

Aug. 27. Warrant to pay to Philip Burlamachi 2,000*l.*, with interest, he having paid that sum into the Exchequer for his Majesty's present occasions. [Docquet.]

Aug. 27. Southwick. Sec. Conway to Elizabeth Queen of Bohemia. Giving her Majesty account of the Lord Duke's death, of his Majesty's health, and his pursuit of all good means for recovering her inheritance, a principal one being the assisting of the King of Denmark. [Minute, Conway's Letter Book, p. 313.]

Aug. 27. 17. Dudley Viscount Dorchester to the same. Is grieved to the very soul, as well for public as private respects; besides the horror of the impious act which lays scandal upon our nation, our religion, the profession of a soldier, and the blood of a gentleman, all which concurred in the actor of this tragedy. The Duke declared a purpose to Dorchester, on his last return from the Queen of Bohemia, which he has since often reiterated, of making him, by his favour with the King his master, an instrument of better days than they have seen of late, he having had a firm resolution (which he manifested to some other persons) to walk new ways, but upon old grounds and maxims, both of religion and policy, finding his own judgment to have been misled by errors of youth and persuasions of persons he began better to know, so as knowing otherwise the nobleness of his nature and great parts and vigour, both of mind and body, Dorchester had full satisfaction in him himself, and made no doubt but the world would soon have, notwithstanding the public hatred to which he was exposed. This testimony Dorchester owes him after his death. Dorchester can see that it is the King's purpose not to discharge himself so much of affairs upon anyone. Lord Lindsey has the command of the forces for the present service, but the Admiralty will be governed by commission, and the King has declared that he will hold up the Duke's places for a good while, and that the first suitors shall be most sure to fail. There was never greater demonstration of affection than his Majesty shows to the deceased Duke in all which concerns his honour, estate, friends, and enemies, whom he cannot well look upon if any come in his way; and for this murderer, he is sure to escape no punishment which either the martial law or the common law can inflict upon him. Mons. de Laval arrived yesterday, and kissed the King's hands. [Copy.]

Aug. 27. Bristol. 18. Mayor of Bristol to the Council. On receipt of order for stay of ships, is desirous to know what shall be done with those which are ready fitted for transportation of Sir Pierce Crosby's regiment into Ireland.

Aug. 27. 19. Sec. Conway to Sir Francis Willoughby. For a list of all the colonels and other officers, down to drums and surgeons, actually and personally ready to be employed in this expedition; with a note of the strength of the several companies. [Copy.]

Aug. 27. Minute of the same. [Conway's Letter Book, p. 313.]

Aug. 27. 20. Dudley Viscount Dorchester to ———. Our noble Duke, in the greatest joy and alacrity I ever saw him in my life, at news received, about eight o'clock in the morning of Saturday last, of the relief of Rochelle, wherewith he was hastening to the King, who had that morning sent for him by me, at his going out of a lower parlour, in presence of many standers-by, was stabbed into the breast with a knife by one Felton, a reformed lieutenant, who, hastening out of the door, and the Duke having pulled out the knife and following him out of the parlour into the hall, with his hand put to his sword, there fell down dead, with much effusion of blood. The Lady Anglesea, then looking down into the hall, went immediately with a cry into the Duchess's chamber, who was in bed, and there fell down on the floor. The murderer, in the midst of the noise and tumult, slipt out into the kitchen, when a voice being current in the court, "A Frenchman! A Frenchman!" his guilty conscience making him believe it was "Felton! Felton!" he came out of the kitchen; said, "I am the man;" and rendered himself to the company. Jointly with Sec. Coke, the writer examined the man, and found he had no particular offence against the Duke, but grounded his practice on the Parliament Remonstrance, so as to make himself a martyr for his country. He came from London expressly the Wednesday, arriving at Portsmouth the very morning, not above half an hour before he committed it. We could not discover any complices. His Majesty has ordained Commissioners to proceed with him as the nature of the fact requires. The murderer gloried in his act the first day, but when I told him he was the first assassin of an Englishman, a gentlemen, a soldier, and a Protestant, he shrank at it, and is now grown penitent. This man, and Ravaillac, were of no other religion than Assassinism, as you will see by two writings found sewed in his hat, which go herewith. [Copy.]

Aug. 28. 22. The King to George Earl of Totness, Master of the Ordnance. Warrant to deliver to Colonel George Jhran (sic) Peblis, Master of the Ordnance in this present expedition, the ordnance and ammunition contained in a list of this date, signed by him. [Copy.]

Aug. 28. Margam. 23. Sir Thomas Mansell and Sir John Stradling to the Council. Having received letters from the Lord Chief Baron and Baron Denham, Justices of Assize for Cornwall, for examining the offences of two sailors, Nicholas Brown and Thomas Ematt, touching certain wicked reports concerning the King's Majesty, they have proceeded as directed, and return the examinations by them taken. The false rumour came into Glamorganshire from the adjoining county of Carmarthen. Inclose,

23. I. 1. Examination of Patrick Jones, Portreeve of Swansea. On July 8, a great number of people of the town of Loughor came to Swansea, with a great hue and cry that the King was dead, poisoned by the Duke. The hue and cry was first raised in co. Carmarthen touching a robbery, and the offenders, by reason of the hot pursuit coming after them, gave out that the King's Majesty was dead. 1628, August 26.

2. Examination of Henry Vaughan, Alderman of Swansea.

3. The like of Charles David, Portreeve of Loughor.

4. The like of Anne Smith, of Swansea.

5. The like of John David Hoell, Alderman of Loughor.

6. The like of Richard John Morgan, Petty Constable of Loughor. 1628, August 28.

7. The like of William ap Evan, keeper of the passing boat at the ferry of Loughor.

8. The like of Henry Watkins, of Loughor.

9. The like of Thomas David Bedoe, of Loughor.

10. The like of Griffith Bennett, of Loughor.

11. The like of Thomas Boweine Morgan, of Loughor.

Aug. 28. London. 24. Robert Earl of Warwick to Sec. Conway. Received his packet for shutting the ports in Essex, which is done. Had a warrant dormant from the late Duke, that the men-of-war of Holland, which come weekly in at Harwich, to make clean, and are of those which lie before Dunkirk, should not be stayed at any time. He has now shut the ports to all, but desires to know his pleasure for them, and the boats of poor men laden with corn and butter for London.

Aug. 28. Dover Castle. 25. Sir John Hippisley to the same. His letter of the 24th came not to London until the 27th, and to his hands at four that morning. Fears, by the death of the Duke, he shall lose the keeping of Bushey Park, which he had but for the Duke's life, except Lord Conway, out of his noble remembrance of him that is dead, speak to his Majesty to bestow it on Sir John for his life.

1628. VOL. CXIV.

Aug. 28. Plymouth. 26. Sir James Bagg to Sec. Conway. His Lordship's letters could not be but welcome, although they brought the news of that damnable act of that accursed Felton. His end was upon Saturday, the day of his dissolving told Bagg by a dream described in all. It wanted but the name of Felton; but that fiend was entituled by the name of soldier. This dream, which he told his wife and dearest friends, did not a little trouble him. Comfort he received from his Majesty's commands. Were it not to do his service should think he sinned to converse with men, but he is above all earthly power. Has presumed to send the Secretary lines addressed to his Majesty's sacred hands. Intreats Conway to retain Bagg in his favour. The world sees him lost. If the King thinks him fit for any of his offices or commands he will discharge his trust with faith and honesty. Is ready with all he was to do for this expedition, saving there will be a want of shipping to take in three or four hundred tons of Mr. Lieutenant's provisions. Prays for James Glanville's pardon, according to the inclosed letter. Incloses,

26. 1. Sir John Walter, Lord Chief Baron, to Sir James Bagg. James Glanville was found guilty of manslaughter, whereupon Sir John made known to him his Majesty's favour, and told him he might either pray his clergy or remain in prison until he should procure his Majesty's pardon. He made choice to stay in prison. Taunton.

Aug. 28. The Court. 27. Dudley Viscount Dorchester to Sec. Coke. The King, omitting nothing which may any way concern the doing honour to the body of the Duke, has thought fit it should be carried out of Portsmouth by the colonels and other officers of the field, to the place where the coaches and horses are to attend the train, and there to be put into the coach prepared to carry it. For sea captains they should be all in their ships to see that their "salve" of artillery be performed in good order, according to directions left in the hands of Mr. Nicholas.

Aug. 28. Margam. 28. Sir Thomas Mansell and Sir John Stradling to Sir John Walter, Lord Chief Baron, and Sir John Denham, one of the Barons of the Exchequer. Send the examinations taken by them respecting the wicked reports spread by Nicholas Brown and Thomas Ematt. Inclose,

28. 1. Examinations of Patrick Jones and others, being duplicates of those transmitted to the Council by letter, dated this day.

Aug. 28. 29. Considerations by Nicholas touching the execution of the office of Lord Admiral by Commissioners. [Indorsed are several memoranda of Nicholas; amongst them: — "Whether I shall address myself to his Majesty, or my Lord Treasurer, or whether acquaint his Majesty with all passages."]

Aug. 28. 30. Rough draft of the same, by Nicholas. [Indorsed are notes by Nicholas of matters respecting which he was "parler au Roy." They relate to Admiralty business, issuing letters of marque, and a suggested order or proclamation in Portsmouth confirming orders made by the Duke.]

Aug. 28. 31. Examination, taken before Lord Chief Justice Richardson and Sir Heneage Finch, of George Willoughby, of Holborn, a scrivener, who had known John Felton, by writing petitions for him for two years past. Felton, coming to him nine or ten weeks since, found him writing the Remonstrance. Felton desired him to read it to him, which, being busy, he refused. On another occasion Willoughby gave the Remonstrance to Richard Harward, who went with Felton to the Windmill in Shoe-lane, and there they were two hours reading it. Felton kept the Remonstrance. At sundry times saw Felton sad and discontented, and remarked that he could not be fit for a soldier that wanted courage. "If I be angered or moved," he said, "they shall find I have courage enough."

Aug. 28. Examination, taken before the same persons, of Edmund Felton, gent., brother to John Felton. It is ten weeks since he saw him. Much estranged himself, and would not let this examinant know his lodging. He is of a melancholy disposition, sad, heavy, and of few words. Cannot believe that his brother is the man that did that damnable and execrable act. Has not seen his mother or sister this month, but hears they are in prison. [Written on the same paper as the preceding.]

Aug. 28. Similar examination of Richard Harward. George Willoughby taught him to write. Saw Felton at Willoughby's within a month. Felton complained against the Duke as the cause why he lost a captain's place, and the obstacle why he could not get his pay, being fourscore and odd pounds. Went together to the Windmill, where examinant read the Remonstrance to him, and Felton took it and carried it away. [Written on the same paper as the preceding.]

Aug. 28. 32. Further examination of George Willoughby before Lord Chief Justice Richardson, respecting the following Verses written upon a Petition found in his desk :—

"Let Charles and George do what they can,
Yet George shall die like Doctor Lambe.
Made presently upon the death of Doctor Lambe."

He had the same from Daniel Watkins, the pantler at Hampstead, who had them from the baker's boy that brings in the bread there. On Monday or Tuesday last he sent them to one Mr. Moody, counsellor-at-law, by Mr. Moody's son, and Mr. Moody wrote the verses on the petition.

Aug. 29. Whitehall. 33. The Council to Sec. Conway. Have received his letter of the 22nd inst., about the subjects of the King of Denmark, wherein they cannot give despatch on account of the death of the Lord Admiral.

1628. VOL. CXIV.

Pray him to represent to the King how necessary it is, that, until he shall appoint an Admiral, some course be taken by Commission that the proceedings of the Admiralty be authorized to go on.

Aug. 29. Whitehall. 34. The Council to Sec. Conway. Send letter of the Lord Deputy of Ireland respecting the danger likely to arise from the return of Sir Pierce Crosby's regiment to that country. These soldiers are now either at Bristol, or on the way to Ireland. Do not know how his Majesty may well employ them in any foreign service at this time, and to keep them here would be dangerous and burthensome. The ambition of that nation is to be in the entertainment of the state. In the wars of Tyrone, although a good part of the Queen's army consisted of natural Irish, yet never any one company revolted. Nor can they forget the testimony of the loyalty and readiness of these men at the Isle of Rhé given by the late Lord General. Do not see how it should give discontentment to the country in general, or to the English now entertained, considering that the addition of these 700 will not make the total number exceed that which is appointed to be entertained.

Aug. 29. Whitehall. 35. The same to the same. Cannot draw the Eastland Company to make any allowance to Mr. Gordon. They allege,—1. That they have had no use of any agent of his Majesty's in Poland; and, 2. That their trade is so interrupted that they are fain to give over their usual residence.

Aug. 29. Whitehall. 36. The same to the same. They heard by rumour, and that day procured a copy of a restraint of shipping made by the Lords with the King, which they find very strict, and therefore forbear to give any liberty. It will prove very prejudicial to the city by staying the Newcastle fleet, ships freighted to fairs, and ships ready to pass to Barbary. Desire to know whether the Lords think fit that all shipping should remain restrained, and if any other general warrants are made intreat to have notice of them.

Aug. 29. 37. Abstract of the four preceding letters from the Lords of the Council to Sec. Conway.

Aug. 29. Southwick. 38. Lords of the Council with the King to Robert Earl of Warwick. In approbation of the reasons alleged in his letter to Sec. Conway of the 28th inst., they authorized him to suffer Dutch ships of war to go and come from all ports in his Vice Admiralty, and also to suffer barks to pass from port to port. [Copy.]

Aug. 29. Southwick. 39. The same to the Vice Admiral of the South of Cornwall. Send him an order of the Council Board for loan of a French ship and a pinnace to Sir John Wentworth. The pinnace having been carried away by the captainwho had committed piracies with her, she had since come under the command of the person addressed. Leaving the Captain to be proceeded withal according to justice, the pinnace is to be delivered to Sir John Wentworth. [Copy.]

Aug. 29. Southwick. 40. Lords of the Council with the King to the Mayor of Bristol. He is to suffer Sir Pierce Crosby's regiment to be shipped for Ireland, and to give free passage into that country to all barks laden with corn. [Copy.]

Aug. 29. Chichester. 41. Edward Earl of Dorset to Sec. Conway. This hopeful young gentleman, having been enforced to draw his sword, and having slain his provoker, is by law acquitted, and stands only under an obligation to sue out a pardon for burning of his hand. His heart is on fire to serve the King in this voyage. Begs Conway to procure his dispensation from this tyrannous ceremony, and leave to go without exposing his sureties.

Aug. 29. Portsmouth. 42. Attorney General Heath to James Earl of Carlisle. The most disastrous accident by the hand of that devilish and damnable wretched villain, Felton, has drawn him down to this place, where, meeting with Mr. Wood, who was speedily to return to the Earl, the writer could not but recommend his faithful service.

Aug. 29. Longworth. 43. Sir Henry Marten to Nicholas. Nicholas shows himself a true and faithful servant to his dead Lord by making that proposition for the benefit of his lady and children, which Sir Henry will endeavour to advance. The way will be plain if his Majesty will follow former precedents. That a Commission (as Nicholas conceives) should be granted to some two or three noblemen were utterly inconvenient. It were against precedent, by which the Commission has been granted during a vacancy to the Judge of the Admiralty for execution of the jurisdictional part of that office. It would be an absurdity that suitors should be forced to have recourse to Commissioners. The Court of Admiralty is the King's Court, and Sir Henry is judge, be there an Admiral or no Admiral. If a Commission be granted to noblemen, &c., they would expect a large share of the profits, which would cross the intention for that lady's good. If the Commission be granted to Sir Henry, the profits fall to the King, who may give them to whom he pleases.

Aug. 29. Farum. [Fareham?] 44. Archibald Earl of Argyle to James Earl of Carlisle. Has found, since he came to England, the effects of the Earl's favour shown him at Brussels; heartily wishes that his Majesty's affairs would permit the Earl to return.

Aug. 29. Buckden. 45. Bishop Williams, of Lincoln, Dean of Westminster, to Henry Earl of Holland. Is as sorry for the Duke's death as if he had received his favours only, without any mixture of his displeasures. Is a humble suitor to the Earl to accept the office of High Steward or High Bailiff of Westminster, and has sent him a patent to that effect which will be good during the Bishop's Deanery; at the next Chapter he shall have a Patent like the late Duke's, which will be for the Earl's life. Has continued Mr. Fotherley in the deputation until the Earl names some gentleman of his own. It is a place of good profit and reputation.

1628. VOL. CXIV.

Aug. 29. Dover. 46. Examination of John Foord, of Dover. Being at Bradshaw's house, there was a health, begun by Bates to John Waller, of Dover, to Lieutenant Felton. Waller drank the health to Bradshaw, and so did the rest of the company. Bradshaw said he could not tell whose health he had drunk. Bates and Waller said together, it was to him who killed the Duke. Bates said he thought he would be pitifully tortured. Waller answered that they could do nothing to him but hanging.

Aug. 30. Southwick. 47. The King to George Earl of Totness. To reinforce the gunners' stores of the ships named in the margin, and such others of the fleet bound for Rochelle, as by the Earl of Lindsey, Admiral and General of the same Fleet and Army, shall be named to him. [Copy.]

[Aug. 30?] 48. Account, by Capt. John Pennington, of his expenditure in providing furniture for the Duke's cabin in the Swiftsure; with various stores for his intended voyage to Rochelle. Total expended, 1,056*l.* 4*s.*

Aug. 30. 49. Inventory and valuation of the furniture and stores of the late Duke of Buckingham on board the Swiftsure, this day delivered to Leonard Tompson, for the Earl of Lindsey, by Capt. Pennington. Valuation agreed upon, 608*l.* 19*s.*

Aug. 30. Buckden. 50. Bishop Williams, of Lincoln, to Sec. Conway. As he may not presume to take upon him the boldness to write to his Majesty, begs Lord Conway to intimate to his Majesty that the Bishop has selected, for High Steward of Westminster, Lord Holland, whom the late Duke esteemed as his dearest friend, and who is known to be in his Majesty's good favour, without which reason all the rest would have been no inducement. Supplicates for the King's allowance of this choice.

Aug. 30. Dover. 51. Examination of Walter Roades, in confirmation, and partly in explanation, of the statement of John Foord (1628, August 29) respecting the drinking the health of Felton, at the sign of the Ship at the pier in that town.

Aug. 30. Dover. Examination of John Waller, in relation to the same subject. [Written on the same paper as the preceding.]

Aug. 30. 52. Examination of Eleanor Felton, mother of John Felton, taken before Lord Chief Justice Richardson. At St. Dunstan's church, on August 24, after the sermon, and whilst the psalm was in singing, the people stood up, some as it were rejoicing, and some grieving, whereby there was some disturbance. A gentlewoman told her that the news was the Duke of Buckingham was killed, whereunto she replied, "Marry, God forbid! I hope it is not so." She swooned in the church, but that was for grief because she was told that her daughter did much lament and swoon there, and her daughter, after she came home, told her that she heard that Lieutenant Felton was the man that killed the Duke. Tuesday before the Duke was slain, her son, Lieutenant Felton, came to her, and told her he would go down to Portsmouth to get his pay, which was six or seven score pounds. He said that for want thereof he was so far run in debt that he durst stay no longer in the town. He would have had some money of her, but she had it not. He has complained that he had been twice put by a captain's place, but denies that ever she heard him speak against the Duke.

Aug. 30. Similar examination of Elizabeth Done, widow, sister of John Felton, who deposes to the same circumstances, but with some occasional variations from the statement of Eleanor Felton. [On the same paper as the preceding.]

Aug. 31. Warrant to Sir Richard Tichborne for the preservation of game of hares, heron, partridge, duck, and mallard, within five miles of Winchester, and three miles of Tichborne or Alresford. [Docquet.]

Aug. 31. Court at Southwick. The King to the Dean and Chapter of Chichester. Recommended Mr. Hickes for the Residentiary's place, now void. Hears they have not yet taken the same into consideration. Admonishes them of the obedience he expects in so just a cause. [Copy. See 1628, August 16, Vol. cxiii., No. 1.]

Aug. 31. Leez. [Leigh.] 53. Robert Earl of Warwick to Lord President Marlborough. Five Dutch men-of-war have come into Harwich to make clean their ships, and so to go to sea again; but by reason of this stay the writer dare let none go, which will make the Dunkirkers do hurt on our coast, for there are 14 of them now abroad. Prays the commands of the Council.

[Aug. 31 ?] 54. Account of the assassination of the Duke of Buckingham, in the handwriting of a Secretary of Lord Conway; probably inserted in some letter of Sec. Conway written about this time. It adds, that the corpse was carried towards London "the Friday following," the 29th; that the Earl of Lindsey succeeded to the command of the Fleet, with the Earl Morton as Vice Admiral, and Lord Montjoy as Rear Admiral.

Aug. 31. Dover. 55. Theophilus Earl of Suffolk to Sec. Conway. A fleet of Hollanders lying in the road of Dover. Their Admiral reports that the King of Spain is dead; that there are troubles in consequence between his brothers; and that they had sent to Holland to treat of peace. Fourteen sail of Hollanders in the pier of Dover stayed upon the general restraint. Finds that most part of their lading is prohibited goods, as pitch, tar, &c., and of a very great value. Desires to know what shall be done with them. In France, prohibited goods shipped in that country for England by any Hollander stand forfeited.

Aug. 31. Southwick. 56. Sir Robert Karr to James Earl of Carlisle. On so strange an occasion as is now fallen out among them, has not forgotten to wish the Earl at the helm as earnestly as those of his friends in whom he puts greater confidence.

1628. VOL. CXIV.

Aug. 57. The King to Attorney General Heath. Blank unsigned letter to prepare a grant of a Baronetcy.

Aug. 58. The same to the Warden of the Fleet. By the Statute 1 Rich. II. cap. 12, the King may for his service take out of prison any man being in prison on a judgment, which prerogative his Majesty is not willing to lose. The Warden having in his custody Sir William St. John, whose employment is now to the King very necessary, the Warden is to deliver him to the General of the present expedition, or to some officer bringing these presents. [Unsigned.] Annexed, 58. 1. Reference to Buckland's case, 4 Elizabeth, and Phillips's case, 36 Elizabeth, in which the above prerogative was exercised.

Aug. 59. Memorandum, that the late King having given and the present King confirmed to Sir William Becher, one of the Clerks of the Council, half the benefit of one of the Six Clerks' places, after the death of the present Master of the Rolls, the other half being in like manner given to Sir Henry Hungate; the King intimates his pleasure, that if Sir Henry shall be slain in the present expedition, the benefit of his moiety shall go for the relief of his children. [Draft, altered by Nicholas.]

Aug.? 60. Dr. Thomas Bainbrigg, Vice Chancellor of Cambridge, to the King. The fatal blow given to the King's most loyal servant, whom he made their Chancellor, has so stounded the University, that, like a body without a soul, she stirs not till the King's directions breathe life again in the choice of another. The University cheers herself with that "blessing word" the King used on her last election, that, however his appointment shadowed out another, yet himself in substance would be her Chancellor. [Copy, indorsed by Bishop Laud.]

Aug. 61. Petition of Thomas Keniston, Master of the Gift, to the Council. Was taken from all his other employments by his Majesty's messenger to convey him beyond sea, with a packet to the Earl of Carlisle, and further employed for taking in four trunks of the Savoy Ambassador. In their proceedings they were seized by a disordered company of men-of-war of Sandwich, and all they had taken from them. The Ambassador has got his goods again, but petitioner has received only a fruitless reference to Sir Henry Marten. Prays for speedy help. [Order for restoration of his goods, 1628, September 6; Co. Reg., Car. I., Vol. iv., p. 449.]

Aug.? 62. Petition of John Furser, Mayor of Canterbury, to the same. Annexes accompt of money disbursed for billeting four companies of Sir Pierce Crosby's regiment, amounting to 738*l.* 17*s.* 6*d.*, and prays order to the Lord Treasurer to pay the same. Annexed, 62. 1. Accompt of charges above mentioned.

Aug.? 63. Petition of John Whitlock, Alderman of Wokingham, co. Berks, and the rest of the Burgesses there, to the same. The company of Capt. Mohun, being 55 soldiers, were billeted in Wokingham from April 20, 1628, to July 20 following. The town disbursed for the same 77*l.* 5*s.* 3*d.* Pray direction to the deputy lieutenants of the Forest division to see the petitioners paid out of the loan money.

Aug.? 64. Petition of the Inhabitants of the east part of Kent to the Council. Set forth their billeting soldiers from January 22 to July 28, 1628, the disorderly conduct of the soldiers, and the impoverishment of the poorer inhabitants by reason of their exactions. Pray for present order for satisfaction.

[Aug.?] 65. List of Officers and Soldiers under the command of Capt. Oliver Shortall, billeted at Hythe, co. Kent, for 18 weeks; with names of the billeters.

[Aug.?] 67. Ordinances established for a Lecture of History in the University of Cambridge, founded by Fulke Lord Brooke.

Aug.? 68. Verses written on the Death of the Duke of Buckingham, beginning;—

"Make haste, I pray; launch out your ships with speed,
Our noble Duke had never greater need
Of sudden succour, and these vessels must Be his main help, for there's his only trust."

Aug.? 69. Other Verses on the same subject, beginning;—

"Might tears revive thee, I could wish to be Dissolved and melted like to Niobe;
But just-conceived rage and bitter woe
Dry up the brackish streams;—they cannot flow."

Aug.? 70. Epitaph in praise of the Duke;—

"Honour, worth, greatness, and what part so'er
Conduced to make Nobility, lie here.
Envy be silent, and now cease, for shame,
To spend thy fury on a down-fallen frame.
Ask Charity her censure, she will tell,

VOL. CXVI. SEPTEMBER 1—11, 1628.

Sept. 1. Southwick. 1. Sec. Conway to Lord Keeper Coventry, Lord President Marlborough, and Henry Earl of Manchester, Lord Privy Seal. The Bishop of Clogher has acquainted the King with words spoken by Gilbert Adamson, which are conceived to be of great consequence; they are to commit him close prisoner, and receive from the Bishop of Clogher the information which he will give. [It appears, from a passage erased, that the words in question were presumed to be likely to lead to the discovery of "some that were privy" to the murder of the Duke of Buckingham.] [Draft.]

Sept. 1. Minute of the same. [Conway's Letter Book, p. 314.]

Sept. 1. Portsmouth. 2. Sec. Coke to Sec. Conway. The seamen run away in troops, and find free passage through the country. This may prove an overthrow to the voyage if not presently provided for. Suggests an order to the justices to set watch and ward upon the highways, and especially in the towns and villages.

Sept. 1. From his House, at Yateley. 3. Robert Earl of Sussex to the same. Was at the Court, and saw the King; but it fell out so unfortunate that he did not kiss his hands, because he saw his Majesty something discontented. Fell sick, being lodged in an ill place. Prays the Secretary to remember his business to the King on a fit opportunity. When the King comes into those parts the Earl will wait upon him, hoping that he will freely give the Earl leave in a dutiful manner to impart his mind wholly. If he had but the keeping of Wingor Castle, would yield up all.

Sept. 1. 4. James Hay to James Earl of Carlisle. Extraordinary joy among the people for the death of the Duke. The Earl's presence is much desired by his friends. His Majesty has resolved to have Commissioners for the Admiralty. It is expected that Lord Holland shall manage the office of the Master of the Horse for six months; he seems to aim at greatness. The Lord Treasurer is much conversant with his Majesty. The Lord Steward has promised to urge for the Earl's coming home. The fleet begins its voyage this week. The King will stay here [Southwick] until the fleet be gone. The Countess of Carlisle has had a touch of the small-pox, but is very well, and without any blemish. Mrs. Bubb stayed with her all the time. They had much ado to keep the Queen from her. The King sent oft to visit her. Hopes the Earl's ship is near St. Christopher's before this. Particulars of business affairs of the Earl.

Sept. 1. 5. John Gibbon to the same. Thanks for favours shown to the writer's brother, as well as to himself. The removing time with the ill solicitation is the cause why the Earl's business goes not on.

Sept. 1. The Savoy. 6. Francis Earl of Rutland, Thomas Lord Savage, Sir Robert Pye, Richard Oliver, and Thomas Fotherley, executors of the late Duke of Buckingham, to Capt. John Pennington. The Duchess of Buckingham's affections being such as she is not able to look into the Duke's estate, she has desired the writers to do it. They are to give an account presently to his Majesty, and intreat the Captain therefore to send a brief account of what monies he has received from the Duke, and for what service it was intended and has been issued.

Sept. 1. 7. Notes and memoranda by Sec. Coke, indorsed "State of the Fleet at Portsmouth." It details the precise state of the victualling.

Sept. 2. 8. The King to Robert Earl of Lindsey. Minute of his commission, said in the indorsement to be for the execution of martial law on the expedition to Rochelle; with notes of previous commissions for similar purposes granted to the Earl of Holland and the late Duke of Buckingham.

Sept. 2. Cardiff. 9. Deputy Lieutenants of co. Glamorgan to the Council. Several times that summer they have taken exact views of the horse and foot of that county, and caused defects to be supplied according to the modern fashion. The foot companies have been almost weekly exercised; the trained bands charged to be always in a readiness to repair to their rendezvous upon an hour's warning.

Sept. 2. Southwick. 10. Sec. Conway to Bishop Williams, of Lincoln. Has represented to his Majesty the Bishop's letter touching the Bailiff of Westminster. His Majesty would have received [it] for the fulfilling the respect the Bishop professes, if he had informed his Majesty of his opinion and judgment, and expected his pleasure in it. Against the person named his Majesty does not see any exceptions, but cannot take the choice and act, being done, for any respect showed to him. Before Conway communicated the Bishop's letter, his Majesty had signified his pleasure to the Bishop touching the bestowing of that place, and he conceives that that letter was come to the Bishop's hands before his writing to Lord Conway, or at least before the Bishop came thither. His Majesty signified his pleasure that the place should be conferred on the Earl of Montgomery, Lord Chamberlain, and he renews by this letter the same signification of his pleasure, and requires the Bishop not to contest in it, but to follow the King's will and pleasure. [Copy.]

Sept. 2. Southwick. Minute of the same. [Conway's Letter Book, p. 314.]

Sept. 2. 11. Edward Earl of Norwich to his "son," James Earl of Carlisle. Common fame had possessed all Westminster Hall with the Earl's death. Blesses God for his continued being. All the news he can write is, that Arminius is grown as famous as ever Arius was, and as greatly a favourite to the world, insomuch that the whole Christian world is almost become Arminian, and piety may go beg in rags if adorned with never so sound learning, either in church or commonwealth, unless policy and Arminianism put on the rochet and the robe; if otherwise, some civil regards work only, without due respects to true religion. Overjoyed to hear how much the writer's James contents and pleases his noble father. The Earl's Donna Maria presents him with her dearest well wishes.

Sept. 2. 12. Notes, by Nicholas, of the several commissions deemed necessary for the government of the Admiralty.

Sept. 2. 13. Copy of the same.

Sept. 2. 14. Draft thereof, with various notes of Nicholas respecting business in hand, the principal whereof are intended as memoranda on an interview with the King. Amongst them,—that the Duke's executors find his estate engaged and indebted above 70,000*l.*, and dare not undertake the administration; that the King would read a letter written to the Duke, in presence of the Lords, which will be a justification of the truth of his estate; that Nicholas may be appointed by the King to be sole Secretary to the Admiralty during the commission, as he was to the late Duke; how long he should stay at Portsmouth.

[Sept. 2?] 15. Memoranda of business to be attended to by the Commissioners of the Admiralty at their first meeting.

Sept. 2. 16. W. Morgan to Mr. Hare [?]. Administered certain medicines of the person written to, to "my Lord" [Lord Conway?], who thereupon spoke favourably of the person addressed. If he should fall into passion against "our body," there would be no seeming infirmity unlaid open.

Sept. 3. 17. The King to Sec. Conway. Commission appointing him Vice Admiral of the Isle of Wight and county of Hants, in the same manner as the same was formerly granted to him by the late High Admiral of England. [Draft.]

Sept. 3. Plymouth. 18. Deputy Mayor and others of Plymouth to the Council. There were landed at Looe, in Cornwall, four Frenchmen from Rochelle, who came on to Plymouth, and there delivered letters from the Mayor of Rochelle to Mons. de Hincksen and Capt. Branniou, their deputies. These same persons were sent from hence to Rochelle on the return of Lord Denbigh. Inclose,

18. I. Examination of Peter la Morrell and Peter de Fey. They went from hence for Rochelle with letters from his Majesty, and within sixteen days delivered those letters. They remained in the town three weeks, and two months since came out of Rochelle. At their coming thence the inhabitants fed on horses and herbs, and the third part of the town had not bread. In Charlebois road between forty and fifty ships, and ten or twelve thousand men in the army before the town. Plymouth, 1628, September 3.

18. II. The like of John la Paliette, of Bordeaux. Details of his leaving Rochelle on August 17, passing through the besieging army, procuring a passage in a Flemish ship, and arrival in England. In Rochelle, for victuals or bread they have not any, but live on the hides of beasts and herbs. They have no other disease in the town but only famine. Four days before he came from Rochelle there came one from the King's army towards the town, pretending to be a herald, but they refused to hear him. Plymouth, 1628, September 3.

Sept. 3. 19. Petition of Samuel Day, Captain of the Heart's Desire, to the Council. On a complaint of Dr. Peter Volcker, agent of the merchants of Hamburgh, against petitioner for taking the St. Luke and the St. Peter, petitioner was stayed from proceeding on his now intended voyage. Having threescore men aboard the Heart's Desire, prays that he may be allowed to depart, leaving power with his adventurers to prosecute and prove the St. Luke and the St. Peter to be lawful prize.

Sept. 3. 20. Petition of Adrian Hendrix [Hendricks], merchant, to the same. Has now been committed to the Marshalsea 26 days, to the great prejudice of his health and ruin of his estate and credit. Prays that he may be discharged, on giving security.

Sept. 3. 21. Petition of Peregrine Pelham to the same, for permission to export 2,000 pigs of lead, purchased for transportation before the restraint in February last.

Sept. 3. Southwick. 22. Sec. Conway to the same. Sends answers to their four letters of August 29. His Majesty has it in his resolution to keep up the trade to the East Indies, and will employ his care for the support thereof. For the matter of Amboyna, the States' Ambassador has been spoken to. The Irish regiment is to be shipped from Bristol. The ports are to remain shut, but barks bound from port to port, ships for long voyages, and colliers, are to be set at liberty. The Admiralty his Majesty will see settled in perfect order. Sir William Becher had a copy of the treaty of Southampton. [Copy.]

Sept. 3. Minute of the same. [Conway's Letter Book, p. 314.]

Sept. 3. 23. The same to Sec. Coke. Did not receive his yesterday's letter until the King was gone. Has given as good directions as he can, a copy of which he incloses. Another inclosure will bring a fearful story. Lord prosper the means of his recovery, and shorten the hand and power of the Devil, who now rages and prevails more than at other times. Incloses,

23. 1. Sec. Conway to the Deputy Lieutenants of Hants. To place watches and guards on the principal passages for the apprehension of mariners, and sending them back to the Earl of Lindsey. Some of the trained bands should be employed in this service who shall be paid a gratuity of 8d. per day per man. Wanstead, near Southwick, 1628, September 3. [Copy.]

23. II. Sec. Conway to Sir Richard Norton. To appoint some officers to draw out a dozen of his horse to beat the highways and visit the guards where the watch of the country shall be placed, to see how they hold their watches, and if they meet with vagrant persons to carry them to the guards, to be sent back to Portsmouth. Wanstead, 1628, September 3. [Copy.]

Sept. 3. Southwick. 24. Sec. Conway to the Mayor of Southampton. To apprehend all mariners, soldiers, or vagrants, by setting watches on the ports of his town, and searching both in the town and in the ships. [Copy.]

Sept. 3. Suffolk House. 25. Theophilus Earl of Suffolk to Sec. Conway. Having been at Dover, those of the town and divers of the coasters complained of the great fear they are in of the French and Dunkirkers, when the fleet is gone, by reason of their nearness and the enemies' preparation, who are in a readiness to put to sea to make some attempt on the English coasts. The Earl moved them to set forth ships of their own, and make what prize they can, but they pretend inability. Begs the Secretary to put his Majesty in mind that some course be taken to guard the Narrow Seas.

Sept. 3. Plymouth. 26. Sir James Bagg to the same. His Grace's being in Spain gave all his servants knowledge how Lord Conway loved them for his sake, and Bagg is sure that he shall find him no less now the Duke is gone to the highest Court. Sends this by the last comer from distressed yet hoping Rochelle. Is labouring among a body of ill-affectionate men to the King's service. Will be ready with all the ships in the Sound to attend the first command.

Sept. 3. Plymouth. 27. Sir Ferdinando Gorges to the same. Shall not write of the state of the poor distressed Rochellers, only he wishes expedition were used in that his Majesty intends to do. Proffers his services, having employed his time in the study how to do what he knows his nation have not generally inclined themselves unto. It may be that his rude fortunes or his enemies' malignity have obscured his affections and frustrated his endeavours to serve his King and country.

Sept. 3. Canterbury. 28. Dr. Isaac Bargrave, Dean of Canterbury, to William Weld, Secretary to Lord Conway. Sends confession of an Irish man, a servant of Lady Wotton. The clamour of the town enforced the Dean to take notice of it, though the man's own profession (if there may be any faith in a Papist, which he is) and other circumstances, lead the Dean to conceive the man's intentions were not so malicious as the genius of that town would make them. Incloses,

28. I. Examination of James Farrell. Confesses he said he thought there were 10,000 in England who had as lief the King should be dead as the Duke. His meaning was, that having heard many people rejoice at the death of the Duke, he thought they would not be much grieved at the death of the King. Canterbury, 1628, September 3.

1628. VOL. CXVI.

Sept. 3. From the Court at Southwick. 29. Dudley Viscount Dorchester to Sec. Coke. The King being returned thither with small satisfaction that the fleet was not ready to set sail (according to his appointment) this afternoon, commands that proclamation be made that all officers be on board by nine o'clock to-morrow morning.

Sept. 3. Portsmouth. 30. Sec. Coke to Dudley Viscount Dorchester, Vice Chamberlain. Before the coming of his letter the Lord General not only made proclamation for all officers to be aboard that night, but in person rode up and down the streets, and charged every man to go to his ship. The proclamation was made when Coke began this letter, and men call, "Aboard! Aboard!" His Lordship marvels that he yet hears no news of any money sent to him.

Sept. 3. Usk. 31. Deputy Lieutenants of co. Monmouth to Henry Earl of Worcester, Lord Lieutenant. Have laboured the reformation of all the pristine errors in the military arms of the country, and have gone near to perform every point touching beacons and other things that was required of them.

Sept. 4. Whitehall. 32. The Council to Lord Treasurer Weston and William Earl of Pembroke, Lord Steward. On August 29, they wrote to Lord Conway, to represent the earnest suit made for release of vessels stayed by the restraint. This day Mons. Randwick, Ambassador from the States of the United Provinces, had seriously remonstrated that 22 ships of war belonging to his masters were detained in several ports of this kingdom, some come in for refreshment, and others to cleanse their ships, whereby the common enemies of Dunkirk and Ostend are encouraged to do much mischief. He likewise complained of the detention of 14 ships at Dover, forced in by foul weather, against the Treaty of Southampton. Request directions. Have proceeded with the reference of the petition of John Frizell, Consul at Algiers, but want a copy of the Treaty with that people.

Sept. 4. The Court. 33. Dudley Viscount Dorchester to Sec. Coke. The King very well likes the Lord General's care in making the proclamation. His Majesty will be about noon at Portsmouth, in hope and expectation to see the fleet set sail before night. The Lord Treasurer says he has undertaken, with Capt. Pennington, for all his provisions, and has appointed 200*l.* or 300*l.* to be delivered to the Lord General for his own account, besides the treasure for the army, which is the same was ordained for the Duke. The King would have a pinnace despatched to Plymouth and a post by land, to have all there in readiness. This good wind will carry the fleet there speedily.

Sept. 4. Sion [House]. 34. Lord Henry Percy to James Earl of Carlisle, Ambassador Extraordinary at Turin. Dangerous illness of the writer's sister [Lucy, Countess of Carlisle?], and her recovery through letting blood under the tongue, whence came a quart of blood mingled with filthy matter. The Lords Steward and Treasurer are very desirous to advance the Earl of Holland. The Steward shall be Constable of Windsor, but the Marquis Hamilton is off. Holland is chosen Chancellor [of Cambridge]. The fleet goes out.

Sept. 5. Southwick. 35. The King to Nicholas. Warrant appointing him sole Secretary to the Admiralty during the government of the same by Commissioners.

Sept 5. [Southwick.] 36. The Lords of the Council attendant on the King to Sir John Jephson, Lieutenant Governor of Portsmouth. To keep three Frenchmen, Le Chevalier Bremond, Mons. La Touche, and Mons. L'Isle, alias St. Jehan, under restraint, and deliver them to the Sheriff of Hants, to carry them to Winchester. [Copy.]

Sept. 5. [Southwick.] The same to the Sheriff of Hants. To repair to Portsmouth to receive the three Frenchmen mentioned in the preceding article, and to commit them to safe custody in the city of Winchester, with this direction, that they be well and civilly used, and yet such a watch kept over them that they may not have means to keep intelligence abroad, or practise anything to the prejudice of the King's service. [Copy, written on the same paper as the preceding.]

Sept 5. Winchendon. 37. Sir Francis Goodwin to the Council. On information of some gaps made by women in a riotous manner into part of Barnwood Forest, lately inclosed, Sir Fleetwood Dormer and the writer sent warrant for "a private purchased sessions," and a strong watch and ward for the apprehension of offenders. Incloses a narrative of what happened by the violence of some women, and the neglect of a constable. Believes the worst is past, but prays direction.

Sept. 5. 38. Petition of John Terrey, clothworker of London, to the same. His estate being in France his father has returned the same in linen cloth, thread, and paper, commodities very needful in this kingdom. Prays permission to land the same, paying customs. [Granted. See Reg. Conc., Car. I., Vol. iv., p. 438.]

Sept. 5. 39. Petition of Giles Vandenbrugh, of London, merchant, to the same. Similar petition for permission to land 200 tons of wine. [Granted. Reg. Concil., Car. I., Vol. iv., p. 444.]

Sept. 5. Wanstead. 40. Sec. Conway to Sec. Coke. The King gives him liberty, so soon as his Majesty shall go from Southwick, to take his way towards London, and dispose himself to his own business for a month or longer, where his occasions shall lead him. [Copy.]

Sept. 5. Minute of the same. [Conway's Letter Book, p. 314.]

Sept. 5. Portsmouth. 41. The same to William Towerson. To permit barks bound for the western parts to take the benefit of the convoy of the fleet, taking security that they shall not put out before the fleet, nor leave it whilst under convoy. [Copy.]

Sept. 5. 42. The same to Sir Henry Whitehead. When the Secretary was moved by Lady de la Warr to confer the company in the regiment which was lately her son's on Capt. Withers, he forbore to resolve until he had acquainted Sir Henry. Now sends the commission that Capt. Withers may receive it from his hands. [Copy.]

1628. VOL. CXVI.

Sept. 5. 43. Sec. Conway to Sir William Uvedale, Treasurer of the Chamber. Warrant to pay to Charles Gibbons, who brought a packet of letters from the Earl of Carlisle, and is to return with a like packet to the same Earl at Venice, or further in Italy, £ [blank], in full satisfaction for such services. [Draft.]

Sept. 5. Buckden. 44. Bishop Williams, of Lincoln, to Sec. Conway. Thanks for presenting his humble excuse to his Majesty, and for his counsel, which he has immediately followed. His Majesty must be much misinformed if he conceives that the Bishop's letter, written on Saturday in the morning, or Friday at night, should be addressed after receipt of his Majesty's letter, which came to the Bishop's hands but on Sunday following at 10 o'clock at night; otherwise, as he shall answer before God, he had immediately obeyed his royal intimation. If his Majesty be pleased to signify his satisfaction on the Bishop's humble obedience, he shall have cause to bless God and his Majesty.

Sept. 5. Portsmouth. 45. Robert Earl of Lindsey to the same. Recommends a petition of Ralph Jackson for a royal letter of approval of his appointment to be Clerk of the Sewers within the parts of Holland, co. Lincoln.

Sept. 5. Winchester. 46. Mayor of Winchester to the same. Has received the King's letters for sending George Hudson, convicted of manslaughter, to the General of the fleet. Since the King's reprieval of him, Catherine, widow of William Hunt, whom Hudson killed, has brought her appeal and an attachment thereon, a copy whereof is inclosed. She is very clamorous, and has procured friends for the prosecution of her appeal. Begs the Secretary to inform the King that the writer cannot, without breach of his laws and the command of the court, deliver the prisoner; yet, on further direction (his Majesty being acquainted therewith) shall be ready to perform his duty. Inclosed,

46. I. Sir John Mill, Sheriff of Hants, to the Mayor and others of Winchester. Warrant on the attachment against George Hudson above mentioned. 1628, July 3. [Copy.]

Sept. 5. Rotherfield. 47 Sir Richard Norton to the same. Details measures taken to stay runaway soldiers and sailors. About a dozen soldiers of Colonel Ramsey's regiment offer themselves, with a discharge under the hand of Capt. Mason, Treasurer of the Army, and after them divers others with the like testimonials, which so amazes him that he knows not whether to let them pass or return them, and requests instructions. If the watches had been as duly observed in other parts as thereabouts, so many could not have come thus far as he has sent back.

Sept. 5. Portsmouth. 48. Lieutenant Colonel John Butler to the same. Sends 13 Irish soldiers discharged by the King from the present expedition. The Secretary is to see them furnished with clothes and conduct money for their transportation into Ireland.

Sept. 5. Portsmouth. 49. Sir Edward Seymour to Nicholas. Has made a long pilgrimage to an unfortunate end. His hopes were to have seen and spoken to Nicholas, but came short of him some two hours, tired with his journey, and uncertain where to find him. Begs him to procure him the Vice Admiralty, of which Sir James Bagg and Sir John Drake are weary. Shall rest a most thankful debtor for it, even to his own desires, and if the tenths may be gotten with it, shall add a brace or leash of hundred pounds.

[Sept. 5 ?] 50. Instructions from Robert Earl of Lindsey, General of the Fleet and Army in the present expedition, to all captains and other officers in every ship, to be duly observed and put in execution at their peril. [Copy.]

[Sept. 5 ?] 51. Similar instructions for the small ships and barks laden with victuals. [Copy.]

Sept. 5 ? 52. Other instructions from the same to be observed and put in execution by all officers and common men respectively, "to the glory of God, service of our King, honour of our country, and safety of our lives." [Damaged.]

Sept. 5. Portsmouth. 53. The same Earl to Capt. John Mason, Capt. William Jewell, and George Carleton. Warrant to receive into their custody and care all prize ships and goods to be taken by the fleet during this present voyage. [Copy.]

Sept. 5. 54. Statement by Sir Allen Apsley of the proportion of victual to be carried with the fleet, besides the present victualling, which is shipped at Portsmouth and Plymouth.

Sept. 5. Fr. Price to [Fr. Peter ?] Benson. Recapitulates points of former letters which remain unanswered. Endeavours of the secular Roman Catholic priests to procure lay Catholics to repudiate the letter to the Bishop of Chalcedon respecting his dispute with the Regulars. State of that dispute, and rumours respecting the way in which the Cardinals are inclined to settle it. What change the Duke's death will cause is not easily to be conjectured. The King continues his affection to the Duke's friends, but the Parliament will cause a change. They have already begun to consult ot what they mean to do. A general peace is now probable. Peace with France will greatly animate Chalcedon against the Regulars. It is said the Pope greatly labours that peace, as being little affected to the House of Austria. Sees little effect of the terrible proclamation, but they fear the Parliament. [Copy. See Vol. cvii., No. 105.] Annexed,

1. Protest of the Provincial and Assistants of the Benedictine monks in the north parts of England, against all attempts to put in execution the external jurisdiction claimed by the Bishop of Chalcedon, and declaration of their intention to resist it to the uttermost of their power. [Copy, written on the same paper as the preceding letter of Fr. Price.]

1628. VOL. CXVI.

Sept. 6. Southwick. 55. The King to George Earl of Totness. Warrant for the delivery of two falcons out of the Phœnix, lying at Bristol, to William Earl of Northampton, for the Castle of Ludlow.

Sept. 6. 56. Bishop Laud, of London, to the King. Sends examination of Alexander Gill. Is heartily sorry he must tell the King he is a divine, since he is void, as it seems, of all humanity. This is his first examination, and not upon oath. The Bishop thought it his duty to take present care of the business, and that it was fit to examine him as privately as he might, because the speeches are so foul against religion, allegiance, the King's person, and the Bishop's dear Lord, laid by execrable hands in the dust. He has confessed most of it; the rest will be proved. Has committed him close prisoner till he receives farther direction from the King. Incloses,

56. I. Examination of Alexander Gill the younger, B.D., Usher of St. Paul's School. Confesses that he had disparaged his Majesty's wisdom in being led so long by the Duke. Being pressed, confesses that he used these words: "We have a fine wise King. He has wit enough to be a shopkeeper, to ask, 'What do you lack?' and that is all." The words were spoken privately, and in a cellar, and at the same time he drank a health to Felton, which is a common thing in London and other places. He said also, that he had oftentimes had a mind to do the same thing upon the Duke, but for fear of hanging; that he had said that if there were a hell, or a devil in hell, the Duke was with him; and that his Majesty called the Duke sometimes "Steeny," but does not remember that he said there was some profound wisdom in it that cannot be fathomed. Protests that he had never any ill meaning against the King.

56. II. Memorandum of Bishop Laud, that, when Gill spake these lewd words at Oxford, there were present Mr. Pickering and Mr. Craven, of Trinity College, and Mr. Powell, of Hart Hall, and the words were subsequently repeated in their presence, and that of Mr. "Shillingworth" [Chillingworth], of Trinity College.

Sept. 6. London. 57. Lord President Marlborough to Sec. Conway. Sends him copies of examinations received from the Mayor of Plymouth relating to the state and wants of the town of Rochelle, to be considered and imparted to his Majesty. [Probably the examinations inclosed in the letter of the Deputy Mayor and others of Plymouth, of 1628, September 3, No. 18.]

Sept. 6, Farnham. 58. William Earl of Pembroke to the Council. Received their letter of the 4th inst. [No. 32.], and in the absence of the Lord Treasurer acquainted his Majesty with it, whose pleasure is, that they give present order for the opening of all the ports, which will give satisfaction for the chief point. For the ships which are questioned for prohibited goods he has received some information from the Lord Warden of the Cinque Ports, and has given directions to Sec. Conway.

Sept. 6. Wanstead. 59. Sec. Conway to the Deputy Lieutenants and Commissioners in the Isle of Wight. Two companies of the Earl of Morton's regiment by misaccident are left behind the Fleet. They are to be billeted in some convenient place within the island until otherwise disposed of. Hopes there will but a few days pass before they are called away from thence. [Copy.]

Sept. 6. Portsmouth. 60. Sec. Coke to Sec. Conway. Lord Willoughby has come ashore from his father, and intends to wait on the King and let him know that the fleet will presently set sail. The Lord General's secretary is now with Coke to hasten away two or three victuallers and fire-ships. He says there is no other cause of stay. Coke has settled all businesses there. Sir Sackville Crow will stay till he sees the fleet clear of that road, and takes order for the ships for the Downs. About half an hour since came a company from Lymington, whom Coke sent aboard.

Sept. 6. From the Court at Southwick. 61. Dudley Viscount Dorchester to Sec. Coke. Two companies of Lord Morton's regiment, by some mistaking of the appointment, were forced to return to the Isle of Wight. The King seeing ships stayed behind, though some be put out (he being on the hill) thinks fit those men should be taken into those ships. Letters to Sir John Jephson and the Sheriff of Hants have been signed this morning, and have been sent to Lord Conway to be sealed.

Sept. 6. Portsmouth. 62. Sec. Coke to Dudley Viscount Dorchester. Has sent order for taking aboard the remains of the Scottish regiment. Fears the ships left behind are of the lesser sort that shape their course through the Needles.

Sept. 6. Southwick. 63. Dudley Viscount Dorchester to Sec. Coke. With reference to a letter of Burlamachi's inclosed, his Majesty's pleasure is that no change shall be made upon the Duke's death, unless in such cases as his Majesty has commanded otherwise. In case the Scottish troops left behind cannot be taken aboard, the King has given order to Lord Conway for their billeting. The King having his coach standing at the gate is again gone up the hill to see how the ships are gone forward. The writer is going forward to Farnham.

Sept. 6. On board the St. George. 64. Robert Earl of Lindsey to the same. Has taken a general survey of the ships, as much as the roughness of the weather and shortness of time would give him leave, but cannot find a hole where to accommodate those Scottish men; and if place were found yet can they not be supplied with provision, as Sir Allen Apsley has assured the writer that afternoon.

[Sept. 7 ?] 65. Suggestions, in the handwriting of Attorney General Heath, of certain questions to be put to Felton on his examination, and for a Royal Warrant appointing the Lord Keeper and others to examine him and Savage and any others.

[Sept. 7 ?] 66. Paper, indorsed "Directions from the King for the Examination of Felton." It is in the handwriting of Attorney General Heath, and was no doubt prepared by him, although perhaps forwarded by the King to the Commissioners for Felton's examination. It applies to the examination of Savage as well as Felton. The following are some of the questions to be addressed to the latter:—Whether the two notes found in his hat were of his own writing? Where and when he writ them? Who sewed them into his hat? To examine him touching his knife. Who sewed that into his hose? It is suggested that Felton, being now puffed up with the vain applause of the multitude, ... some grave divine, in or about London, as Doctor Westfield, may confer with him, and prepare him to see the foulness of his offence. After the examination, it is said, "Your Majesty may give further direction if such presumptions and indicia torturæ shall appear as may be fit to proceed in that course."

Sept. 7. Saint Martin's Lane. 67. Lord President Marlborough to Sec. Conway. The inclosed was sent to the writer by the Master of the Wards, between 8 and 9 yesterday night, after he had supped. Although he could not give full credit to the first part of the report therein contained, he sent the Clerk of the Council attendant, and one of his own secretaries to the Earl of Dorset, to have his advice, and despatched orders to the Deputy Lieutenants of Essex, to send up the grounds of that rumour. He also entreated Viscounts Grandison and Wilmot to repair thither to assist him. The rumour has not been seconded. Incloses,

67. 1. Em. Downing to Sir Robert Naunton, Master of the Wards, at his house, near Charing Cross. That morning news came that there were Dunkirkers landed at Wakering, in Rochford Hundred, about six miles eastward from Leigh, and that the town was set on fire; two beacons were fired, the people fled from their houses, one woman with her child at her back had even then come thither. She reports there are about 6,000 men. Sir Henry Mildmay, with some other Lieutenants, are at Chelmsford getting troops together. Graces is 16 miles from Wakering, but Capt. Humphreys, dwelling nearer the sea, sent a man to understand the truth. He found a fisherman, being a stranger, lying in the harbour. At his coming in the people imagined he was a Dunkirker, and ran away, and raised the country. Graces, 1628, September 6.

Sept. 7. 68. Deputy Lieutenants of Essex to the Council. Give account of the false report mentioned in the preceding letter, and of their preparations to repel the supposed enemy. They also give an account of the origin of the alarm, differing considerably from the former. Inclose,

68. I. Note of the store of ammunition in the co. of Essex, being divided among the towns of Chelmsford, Colchester, and Maldon.

Sept. 8. Plymouth. 69. Sir James Bagg to the King. Ever since Thursday last, the 4th inst., he had had the ships in an inclosed list, being in number 51, at anchor in the Sound of Plymouth, to join, on the first summons, with the rest of the army. Calls the King's attention to the provisions mentioned in the same list, which he had prepared by the command of his never-enough-lamented Lord, whom he never disobeyed or refused. To please the King by his service is all he aims at, and until the arrival of the fleet will not come from thence. Incloses, 69. I. List of ships and account of provisions prepared at Plymouth, by Sir James Bagg.

Sept. 8. 70. Petition of Ralph Jackson to the same. The Commissioners of Sewers, regarding the petitioner's service in the Low Countries, lately rewarded him with the office of Clerk of the Sewers within the parts of Holland, co. Lincoln. Some persons have threatened to make means to the King to frustrate the same. Prays the King to sign and approve the same.

Sept. 8. Saint Martin's Lane. 71. Lord President Marlborough to Sec. Conway. Sends copy of letter received from the Deputy Lieutenants of Essex, explanatory of the origin of the rumour of the landing of 6,000 of the enemy in Essex. Incloses, 71. I. Copy of the before-mentioned letter from the Deputy Lieutenants of Essex to the Council, and also of the inclosure. See 1628, September 7, No. 68.

Sept. 8. Farnham. 72. Sec. Conway to the Council. Has seen a letter from their Lordships to the Lord Treasurer and the Lord Steward, to move the King about the release of shipping, which they had formerly committed to him, but thought the return too much delayed. Vindicates himself from any suspicion of inattention. His memory does not charge him with any copy of the capitulations with Algiers, save one from the merchants, who will wait upon the Lords with a copy if required. Upon his Majesty's coming near London shall be be better able to give account of papers in his hands.

Sept. 8. 73. Copy of the same.

Sept. 8. Minute of the same. [Conway's Letter Book, p. 314.]

Sept. 8. Farnham. 74. The same to the same. Sends a letter and information which had been brought thither [perhaps that from Sir Francis Goodwin, 1628, September 5, No. 37]. There is not there a competent number of the Lords to hold a Council. They are to give order to the justices of peace to suppress any unlawful assembly or act of violence. The lieutenancy of that county [Buckingham?] is given to the Earl of Carnarvon; the deputy lieutenants, he conceives, are continued as formerly, whereof the Lord Chamberlain being now there will be able to give their Lordships satisfaction.

Sept. 8. Harwich. 75. Mayor of Harwich to the Council. The men-of-war in their harbour are, the Abraham, Capt. Goodwin; the Abraham, Capt. Morgan; the Jacob, Capt. Smith; all employed in convoying Newcastle colliers.

Sept. 8. Newport, Isle of Wight. 76. Deputy Lieutenants of Isle of Wight and Mayor of Newport to the same. In reply to the order for billeting two companies in that island, represent, that the inhabitants of that island, being but the eighth part of Hants, have notwithstanding undergone a greater burthen than any four shires. Intreat a favourable consideration of their necessities, and that these soldiers may be otherwise disposed of.

Sept. 8. 77. Sec. Conway to Robert Earl of Lindsey and others, Commissioners of Sewers in Holland. An inclosed paper, subscribed by the Earl and other Commissioners of Sewers, was presented to the King by Ralph Jackson, with his petition. If they find him fit for the place, and nominate him, his Majesty well approves their choice. [Copy.]

Sept. 8. Minute of the same. [Conway's Letter Book, p. 314.]

Sept. 8. Plymouth. 78. Sir James Bagg to Sec. Conway. The fleet is not yet arrived. Has written to the King, and in his letter put in a list of the ships prepared. Since Thursday he has been with them at anchor in the Sound.

Sept. 8. 79. Robert Earl of Sussex to the same. Requests him to make an end between the Earl of Holland and himself. Prays to have the keeping of Wingor Castle, and he will be contented to yield up all. Report goes that Sir Harry Hungate has it. If the Earl has the forts, he will dwell in Essex.

Sept. 8. Newport, Isle of Wight. 80. Deputy Lieutenants of the Isle of Wight and Mayor of Newport to the same. The billeting of the remainder of the Earl of Morton's regiment will both prejudice and grieve that country very much. His Majesty's answer lately received (his Lordship being in presence) was taken as a grant of absolute freedom from any such or the like future impositions. Intreat him to commiserate the necessities of the country.

Sept. 8. Southwick. 81. Sir Daniel Norton to the same. The Captains left behind were Acheson and Ramsey, each of whom had a full company. They remain quartered at Portsmouth, and provide for themselves on pay they receive from the Treasurer of the Army. They were before billeted at Lymington, and coming to the ships' side in boats on Saturday, could not find where to be received. There were also left ashore of Capt. Dalyell's men 26 men and their sergeant, and 16 men of Sir John Lacelye's [Leslie's] company. The fleet set sail between eight and nine of the clock on Sunday morning, but got not out of sight by eleven. In the afternoon, the wind coming westerly, they could not make their course, but about midnight they had the wind very good again. One ship came back on Sunday night, having sprung a leak. She had soldiers in her.

Sept. 8. Portsmouth. 82. William Towerson to Sec. Conway. Reports the same information as the preceding respecting the two companies of the Earl of Morton's regiment left behind. They addressed themselves to Lord Morton in the Road, who told them there were no ships to receive them, giving them a letter to Sec. Coke to billet them until the return of the fleet. Other men left behind. The Mary, of London, with 50 soldiers aboard, sprung a leak and came back. It is intended to send them on in the Carnation, left to waft two provision ships.

Sept. 8. Colton. 83. Walter Lord Aston to the same. The late Duke procured him a promise from the King of 14,000*l.* towards repairing his fortune. The King's words were, that his gift should really be complied with, within two years. This summer the King told the writer, that, out of the parks belonging to the race of Tutbury with others, there should be passed over what should answer to that sum. The Duke assured the writer he would despatch it before he went, but it is feared that no opportunity was taken for it. Incloses a letter to the King, which the Secretary is urgently entreated to present. Is unpaid 4,000*l.* of what is due to him at the Exchequer, which, though there were present order for it, and his Majesty's gift, he is yet worse in his estate, by his journey to Spain and attendance since, above 12,000*l.* Hears that the Lord Treasurer is upon selling what the King promised the writer, which were disgrace upon disgrace. Relies on Lord Conway's sympathy for a gentleman on the point of perishing by his Majesty's service.

[Sept. 8 ?] 84. List of the whole fleet that went with the Earl of Lindsey to Rochelle, divided into squadrons ; with names of captains, tonnage, and numbers, both of seamen and landsmen.

[Sept. 8 ?] 85. List of the Officers of the 11 English regiments employed in the expedition for Rochelle.

[Sept. 8 ?] 86. Plan of the harbour of Rochelle, the position of the dike or palisade being indicated by two rows of ships.

Sept. 9. Farnham. 87. The King to Sec. Conway, Lord Lieutenant of Hants. Warrant under the Signet to dispose and billet soldiers left behind the fleet in convenient places in his Lieutenancy.

Sept. 9. 88. Copy of the same.

Sept. 9. Farnham. 89. Sec. Conway to the Deputy Lieutenants and Commissioners in Hants. Sends them a copy of the preceding warrant, and charges them to see the same punctually performed. They may assure themselves it will not be long. The bearer, Sir Henry Acheson, comes to them with information as to the number of men. [Copy.]

1628. Vol. CXVI.

Sept. 9. Farnham. 90. Sec. Conway to Capt. Mason. The country being so much grieved with the late burthen of great numbers of soldiers, and the apprehension of a continual charge may cause disaffection, his Majesty recommends it seriously to the Lord Treasurer to provide money for them. [Copy.]

Sept. 9. Farnham. 91. The same to William Towerson. The resolution to send back the 50 men in the Carnation is well approved, and some of the others left behind are to be sent with them if possible. [Copy.]

Sept. 9. Farnham. The same to Bishop Laud, of London. About Gill, whom his Lordship had committed for undutiful speeches; he is to be kept close prisoner, and be examined further by Mr. Attorney. [Minute, Conway's Letter Book, p. 315.]

Sept. 9. Farnham. 92. The same to the Dean of Canterbury. Has shown the King the paper about the Irishman. He takes not the clearness of his profession to be any excuse for such lewd and undutiful speeches; neither is it thought fit to admit the liberty of speaking rashly of the sacred person or life of the King without due punishment. His Majesty has commanded the examination to be sent to Mr. Attorney General, and the party is to be committed presently to safe custody. [Copy.]

Sept. 9. Minute of the above. [Conway's Letter Book, p. 315.]

Sept. 9. Farnham. The same to Attorney General Heath. His astonishment at what liberty is given to the Devil to show himself in most execrable acts, and in all the ways of undutifulness and disobedience. Sends examinations taken by the Bishop of London and Dean of Canterbury, both containing words so scandalous and undutiful as his Majesty will not have passed over, but punished severely according to law. The Attorney General is to direct such a course of proceeding against them as may be most exemplary. [Copy, on the same paper as the preceding.]

Sept. 9. Minute of the same. [Conway's Letter Book, p. 315.]

Sept. 9. Southampton. 93. John Ellzey to Nicholas. Urged by Richard Oliver to write respecting some alteration in what the King has granted to Matthew Brooke. Goods taken possession of by the writer during the late Duke's lifetime as his tenths of prizes brought in by Capt. Scras, have been seised by the new collector for the King. The writer contends for the right of the Duchess.

Sept. 9. 94. Examination of Thomas Plummer, of New Romney, respecting the drinking of Felton's health, at Bradshaw's house in Dover, by himself, John Waller, Bradshaw, and others. [See Vol. cxiv., No. 46.]

Sept. 10. 95. Samuel Fisher to William Pickering, at Trinity College, Oxford. Alexander Gill was, on Friday afternoon, taken out of his school, by two pursuivants, to the Bishop of London's, and questioned about words he spoke in their college. Thence he was committed to the Gatehouse, so close prisoner that neither father, mother, nor friend can speak to him. Chillingworth is thought to be his accuser. Pickering's brother-in-law is afraid that he may come in question. The writer is afraid of himself. Learns that Gill confessed the words he was accused for. They were sent up in a letter to the Bishop. Sir Morly and Mr. Deodat are of the writer's mind that Chillingworth is the man. Sir Robert Savage committed to the Tower for saying, that if Felton had not killed the Duke, he would. Felton is in the Tower.

Sept. 10. 96. Statement of monies due on account of the Susan, of London, and paid to George Hall, master; showing a balance in his hands which ought to be paid to the men.

Sept. 11. Windsor. 97. Sec. Conway to Lord Treasurer Weston. Has put the Signet to a Privy Seal this day brought to him, notwithstanding it puts a stop to his pension and monies to be paid to him. His giving way was principally because it was procured by the Lord Treasurer, of whom he cannot believe that his actions would turn to the writer's disadvantage, and therefore beseeches him for an order for satisfaction of his arrears. [Copy.]

Sept. 11. Minute of the same. [Conway's Letter Book, p. 315.]

Sept. 11. Plymouth. 98. Sir Richard Grenville to Sec. Conway. Unhappily left behind the fleet. The Duke gave him leave to go into Cornwall. He returned to his regiment at Winchester, but found it gone, and on Sunday at Portsmouth saw the fleet, yet could not get to them. Went presently to Plymouth, but the wind had conveyed the fleet speedier than his horse's legs could bring him, so he has missed his hopes, all his goods being aboard. Begs his mediation with the King. Sends this letter by Sir James Bagg, who will join him therein.

Sept. 11. Charing Cross. 99. Sir Robert Naunton, Master of the Court of Wards, to the same. Prays the Secretary to excuse his absence to the King. Has waited at the Council Table this month, with a green taffeta before his eyes, which are subject to an extraordinary defluxion; besides which his house is visited with small-pox.

Sept. 11. London. 100. Philip Burlamachi to Dudley Viscount Dorchester. Forwards two letters from Dunkirk, sent to him with direction that if the Duke had set out he should deliver them into the King's own hands. Since the month of July has advanced 46,000*l.* for the King's affairs without having received a penny. These and other sums due to him and his brother will be their ruin. Fr.

Sept. 11. 101. Report, by Dr. Brian Duppa, of an interview held by himself and others with John Felton, in the Tower. On stating to him that, though he had no mercy on the Duke, the King had so much compassion on his soul as to give directions to send divines to him, to draw him to a feeling of the horror of his sin, he fell on his knees with humble acknowledgment of so great grace to him. Throughout, he confessed his offence to be a fearful and crying sin; attributed it upon his soul to "nothing but the Remonstrance." Being asked whether some dangerous propositions, found in his handwriting, had not stimulated him, he denied, saying they were notes gathered long ago out of a book, called the Golden Epistles, He denied that any creature knew of his resolution but himself; and requested that he might do some public penance before his death, in sackcloth, with ashes on his head, and ropes about his neck.

Vol. CXVII. September 12—30, 1628.

Sept. 12. Windsor. 1. Sec. Conway to Lord Treasurer Weston. A warrant will be brought to him for 300*l.* for Baron Uladislaus Zierotin. Being on his return, this morning he kissed the King's hand, and Conway was commanded to write, that the money may be provided. [Copy.]

Sept. 12. Minute of the same. [Conway's Letter Book, p. 315.]

Sept. 12. Windsor Castle. 2. The same to Bishop Williams, of Lincoln. The grant sent with a blank to be filled by his Majesty for the Stewardship of Westminster was presented to the King. He is not satisfied with it, because putting in a name after it is sealed makes it void in law, whereof the King conceives the Bishop is not ignorant, and is therefore not pleased that the Bishop adventures such dealing upon him. His Majesty is persuaded that the place is to be granted by the Dean and Chapter, but if the Bishop assumes the right of giving it, he is to send a grant to the Lord Chamberlain, and the clause of the statute or charter which gives him the power. [Copy.]

Sept. 12. 3. Draft of the same.

Sept. 12. Minute of the same. [Conway's Letter Book, p. 315.]

Sept. 12. Windsor. 4. The same to Commissioners for Soldiers in the Isle of Wight. Remonstrates with them for expostulating so strictly with his Majesty upon his promise that they shall not hereafter be burthened with the charge of billeting. His Majesty conceives this is no new charge, but a small remnant of the old accidentally left behind. They must be provided for till his Majesty find a way to dispose of them. [Copy.]

1628.
Sept. 12. 5. Examination of Lewis Owen. Relates that, on information of one Pepes, of Leadenhall Street, he arrested Christopher Mallory, on the Tower Wharf, where he was viewing the Ordnance embarked. He is accused of having persuaded one Mr. Lancaster, who lately died in Tower Street, to give his estate to Dawson, in trust for the Carthusian cloisters at Mechlin and Nieuport.

Sept. 13. The King to the Masters and Brethren of the Trinity House. Recommends William Cooke, one of the principal masters of the navy, an elder brother of that company on the next vacancy. [Docquet.]

Sept. 13. Windsor. Sec. Conway to the Council. To cause a proclamation to be made for all his Majesty's subjects to treat those of Algiers, Sallee, and Tetuan kindly. Confirms the points they have certified concerning that business and Capt. Harrison. [Minute. Conway's Letter Book, p. 315.]

Sept. 13. 6. Copy of the above minute.

Sept. 13. Windsor. The same to the Clerk of the Signet. To draw a Privy Seal for an allowance of 40*s.* per diem to Capt. Harrison as agent with those of Algiers, Tunis, &c. [Minute, on the same paper as the preceding.]

Sept. 13. Copy of the above minute, but dated September 14. [Conway's Letter Book, p. 315.]

Sept. 13. Windsor. 7. The same to Lord Treasurer Weston. The King has received from Sir Robert Anstruther, his ambassador with the King of Denmark, such remonstrance of the extremities of his wants, and the inevitable ruin that must fall upon him, as his Majesty thinks it more than time that those evils be taken into serious consideration. Begs him to apply some timely redress. [Copy.]

Sept. 13. Minute of the same, but dated September 14. [Conway's Letter Book, p. 315.]

Sept. 13. Portsmouth. 8. Henry Holt to Nicholas. The Vanguard and St. Esprit have 140 and 120 men, and are victualled for three months in the Narrow Seas. No doubt they will forthwith set sail.

Sept. 13. 9. Return, made by Adam Flip, Edmund Weaver, and Humphrey Cross, Messengers of the Chamber, to some one whom he terms "your Lordship," of the names of such booksellers in London as dealt in old libraries, mart books, or any other, which had been charged by his Lordship's directions to bring in a catalogue of such books as thereafter they should buy, and not to make sale of any until they had made his Lordship acquainted therewith. The list contains the names of 39 booksellers, of whom 8 lived in Chancery Lane, and 10 in Little Britain. It is added, that, at Godfrey Emerson's, they had found "2 Buchanani Cronicon, 8vo., and 1 Pareus ad Romanos, 4o." which he was charged to keep until he heard further from "your Lordship."

1628. VOL. CXVII.

Sept. 14. Oxford. 10. Accepted Frewen, Vice Chancellor of Oxford, and Laurence Whitaker, to the Council. According to commandment they had searched the chamber, study, and pockets of William Pickering, M.A., and Commoner of Trinity College, wherein they found divers libels and letters written by Alexander Gill and others, all of them touching on the late Duke of Buckingham. They send them in a packet sealed up, and have advised Dr. Kettle, the President of the College, to enjoin Mr. Pickering not to depart the college.

Sept. 14. On board the Swiftsure. 11. William Earl of Morton to Sir James Bagg. The Transport, one of the Earl's squadron, Capt. Puckle, has sprung such a dangerous leak, that he is enforced to return her home. Intreats him to take order for billeting such soldiers as she shall bring back.

[Sept. 15 ?] 13. The King to Attorney General Heath. Minding to erect a Court Leet for the manors of Richmond alias West Sheen, Petersham and Ham, co. Surrey, he is to prepare a bill for the King's signature. The same court to be held twice a year, and all "resiants" to perform suit-royal at the same. [Signed, but not dated.]

[Sept. 15 ?] Richmond. 14. The same to the same. Warrant for a similar purpose, but differently expressed, and with the addition of direction for the insertion of a clause for the appointment of Sir Robert Douglas to be Steward of the Court Leet for life. [Signed and dated from Windsor in September, with a blank for the insertion of the day.]

Sept. 15. 15. Attorney General Heath to the Clerks of the Council. There is a very great quantity of tobacco planted in Jersey and Guernsey, contrary to various proclamations, and having this further inconvenience, the taking away the bread from the inhabitants of those islands if their grounds fit for corn be thus employed. Begs them to acquaint the Lord President, that the subject may be moved at the Board. Recommends John Blanch, an inhabitant of one of the islands, as a proper person to see the tobacco destroyed.

Sept. 15. Windsor. 16. Sec. Conway to Lord Keeper Coventry. His Majesty, on the mediation of the Lord Steward, gave direction for granting a commission for a collection for Margaret Praulfe. She complains she can have no benefit therefrom, and follows the Court with tears. Prays him either to give order for a commission, or send the reasons of its denial. [Copy.] instead thereof. The King is ready to do anything that may add honour to the memory of that Duke, but requires to understand what they conceive of the request. [Copy.]

Sept. 15. Minute of the same. [Conway's Letter Book, p. 315.]

Sept. 15. 18. Sec. Conway to Sir Fulke Greville. To give present order for free passage of ships and barks. [Copy. It appears from the indorsement that a similar letter was sent to William Towerson.]

Sept. 15. Sittingborne. 19. Matthew Parker to Nicholas. On Friday last, the Lord Warden came to Canterbury; the next morning to Dover Castle, where he lay; and returned on Monday after, for London. He viewed all the castles. Sir John Hippisley made the bearer known to him, who promised, if Capt. Hill would surrender, to settle him in the place [of Muster-master]. Sends letter from Capt. Hill, and begs Nicholas to write to the Lord Warden.

Sept. 16. Custom House. 20. Abraham Dawes, Collector, and Jon. Holloway, Comptroller, of the Customs of London, to the Council. According to their order of August 13, the writers housed divers parcels of currants belonging to persons who had refused to pay the 2*s.* 2*d.* set forth in the order. But the same persons had broken open the warehouse doors, and carried away the currants or the greatest part of them. Some of the merchants had also broken open the wharfingers' gates, commanded to be made fast by the King's officers. The names of twelve merchants are mentioned, with the quantities of currants by them forcibly carried away. Among them are William Garway, Sir Maurice Abbot, and Nicholas Leate.

Sept. 16. 21. Sir John Mill, Sheriff of Hants, to the Lords of the Council with the King. In pursuance of their order, of which a copy is inclosed, received from Sir John Jephson, Le Chevalier Bremond, Mons. La Touche, and Mons. 21. 1. Lords of the Council attendant on the King to the Sheriff of Hants. Order to receive the three Frenchmen above mentioned. [Copy of 1628, September 5, Vol. cxvi., No. 36.]

Sept. 16. Buckden. 22. Bishop Williams, of Lincoln, to Sec. Conway. Is a poor man, miserably mistaken. Is ignorant that the putting a name into a patent by one having sufficient warranty so to do, as his Majesty had, doth void the patent. Never did, nor never will adventure upon his Majesty any dealings which shall not be plain and honest. The statutes of Westminster devolve all offices to the collation of the Dean. But his error, as he now perceives, is this, because he did not acquaint his Majesty, as he had done the Earl of Holland, that this patent was but temporary, until the meeting of the Chapter, when his Lordship is to have another patent under the Common Seal. Sent the Earl of Montgomery the writer's own patent, for the present, to give his Majesty assurance that he had yielded obedience, and to give the Earl power to execute the place until the prebendaries should meet; but seeing the Earl is jealous of the writer, having occasion to be in town to perform his last respects to the Duke of Buckingham's obsequies, he will procure another patent if six prebendaries can be convened.

Sept. 16. Newport. 23. Deputy Lieutenants of Isle of Wight and Mayor of Newport to Sec. Conway. They understand no surer ground in any distress than for the subject to have recourse to his Sovereign, and having received his royal word, to account it the end of their desires. His Lordship conceives that the smallness of the number of these soldiers, and it being no new charge, may justly make way for their entertainment, but their burthen heretofore has been so great and the inconvenience so insufferable, besides that herein is implied a belonging of these soldiers unto them, although the Earl of Morton's regiment was never billeted with them, that in the country they find an absolute denial. Hope that equality shall so far prevail, that others, freed from what they have long undergone, may now stand in the condition they formerly have done.

Sept. 16. Berry Cutbell. 24. Sir Edward Seymour to Nicholas. Reiterates his application to be appointed Vice Admiral of Devon. Nicholas shall not find him unthankful.

Sept. 17. 25. Petition of Sir Archibald Douglas to the King. Was born in Scotland, about the time of King James's accession to England; has lived here many years, and married one of this kingdom. Sept. 17. Chester. 26. William Earl of Derby to the Council. Sends certificates of the counties of Chester and Lancaster, in answer to their Lordships' letter of May 31, and craves directions respecting the defaulters in the co. of Lancaster. Incloses, [Sept. 18 ?] 29. Epitaph suggested for the Duke of Buckingham. The following is an extract:—

ÆNIGMA MUNDI MORIOR.

Omnia fui, nec quicquam habui ;
Patriæ parens et Hostis audio ;
Deliciæ idem et ludibrium Parlamenti ;
Qui dum Papistis bellum infero, insimulor Papista ;
Dum Protestantium partibus consulo, occidor a Protestante.

The General, the night before, stood to the southward. States the cause of his return, and his instructions, as in his letter to Sec. Coke of this date.* 1628, September 18.

Sept. 18. 33. Separate examinations of Thomas Foot, one of the servants to the Warden of the Fleet, and Ann his wife, taken by Attorney General Heath and Sir John Finch, Attorney General to the Queen. Felton lodged at their house for three quarters of a year, and left on the Wednesday morning preceding the murder, saying that he was going to Sir William Fitches, at Barking, for three or four days. Never spake ill of the Duke. Nobody resorted to him. During part of the time one Billingsley lodged in the same house, and he and Felton dieted together. Both were men of few words.

Sept. 19. 34. Petition of Cornelius Jacobs to the Council. Prays licence to export 60 last of wheat, in pursuance of a licence for the exportation of 150 last obtained before the restraint. [Licence given. See Reg. Concil., Car. I., iv., 464.]

Sept. 19. 38. Separate examinations of Arthur Pepes, of Leadenhall Street, a refiner of sugars and clothworker, aged 36, Richard Draper, and William Avery, respecting their knowledge of Christopher Mallory. Deny all knowledge of his procuring conveyance by Peter Lancaster. Depose to his having played the Devil's part in a play at Sir John York's house in Yorkshire, and in that character having carried King James to a supposed hell upon his back, alleging that all Protestants were damned. For this offence he had been sentenced in the Star Chamber.

Sept. 20. Whitehall. 41. Lords Commissioners for the Subsidy to Sec. Conway. His payment of the third entire subsidy of the five subsidies granted in Parliament, amounting to 20*l.*, being after the rate of 4*s.* in the pound on 100*l.*, is now due, and Edward Legge is appointed collector. Sept. 25. Misterton. 67. Francis Thornhill to Cornelius Vermuyden. Details riotous proceedings at Axholme, 300 persons assembled, and cast down new banks built over the river Idle. Would not hear or understand the Lords' warrant. The writer and his neighbours are willing to further the service, but Vermuyden's people can work no more until a more strict course be taken.

Sept. 26. 68. Petition of John Terrey, Clothworker of London, to the Council. Prays for permission to land goods sent from France in discharge of his estate in that country; they consisted of salt, paper, thread, cards, box-combs, and linen. [Granted. Reg. Concil., Car. I., Vol. iv., p. 481.]

Sept. 26. 69. Similar petition of Abraham Vandecauter, Merchant Stranger, to the Council. [ibid, p. 479.]

Sept. 26. Reyne. 70. Elizabeth Lady Levenstain [Livingston] to Sec. Conway. Lord Carleton has engaged to solicit for the pension the King promised. Begs Lord Conway to assist. His son makes such haste to follow his calling that the Queen, her mistress [Queen of Bohemia], cannot tempt him with hunting.

Sept. 26. 71. Names of all the Vice Admirals in England, Wales, and Ireland. "Devon" is thus inserted:—"Sir John Drake and Sir James Bagg, it being sequestered from Sir John Eliot."

Sept. 26. 72. Another older list, which seems to have been converted into a draft of the above.

Sept. 26. 73. Examination of William Pickering, of Trinity College, Oxford, taken by Attorney General Heath. Knows Alexander Gill. Was in his company in the cellar of his College, and some speeches passing about the Duke, Mr. Chillingworth asked Gill what he thought of King James. Gill answered that the Duke and he were together, and said, if there were a hell and a devil surely the Duke was there. Being rebuked, he replied, "Where can he be else?" He began a health to Felton; and divers of the company, including the examinant, refusing, Gill said, "What is Pick a Dukist too?" Gill used these words in a mad-brain railing humour. He was not absolutely drunk, but was far from sober. Gill and others were at a tavern two days before, and there a health was drunk to Felton.

Sept. 27? 74. Consent of William Earl of Pembroke, Chancellor of Oxford, with the Master and Fellows of Pembroke College, that a lease of Mortlake, taken by them from Sir John Bennett, might be sold for 650*l.*, and the proceeds applied in a way agreed upon.

Sept. 28. Hampton Court. 75. Order of Council, that the Attorney General should make ready a proclamation forbidding the inhabitants of the Isle of Axholme to oppose the works that Mr. Vermuyden has in hand for draining the waste and drowned lands of the cos. of York, Lincoln, and Nottingham.

Sept. 28. 76. Journal, in the handwriting of Nicholas, of all the acts, orders, and resolutions of the Lords Commissioners for the Admiralty, from September 28, 1628, being their first day of meeting, to January 5, 1629.

Sept. 28. 77. Nicholas's rough notes of business to be transacted at the meeting of the Commissioners of the Admiralty this day. Among other things are the appointments of Dr. Zouch as advocate, Richard Wyan as proctor, and Mr. Davile as solicitor.

Sept. 29. Stanton. 78. Sir Samuel Sotheby to Sec. Conway. Introducing a learned minister, sometime Sir Samuel's son's schoolmaster, who is like to come into trouble about his benefice, by means of one who has some dependence on Lord Conway.

Sept. 29. 79. Sir Robert Killigrew to James Earl of Carlisle. Always thought England missed him, but never so much as now. Things concerning St. Christopher's are in the same state, save a letter come to the hands of Tom Davis speaks of a desire a Governor of the West Indies has to supplant the Earl. Hopes to propound a way to make those islands past fear of the King of Spain. The Hollanders have lately taken 2,000,000*l.* from him at the Havannas, and have 60 ships there which will not stir till they have the Plate fleet.

Sept. 29. 80. Order by the Committee of Officers appointed by the Lord General and Council of War, setting forth the order in which the ships of the English fleet were to proceed to attack the French fleet which hindered the approach to Rochelle. [The Committee consisted of Thomas Earl of Morton, Sir Francis Willoughby, Sir John Scott, Sir John Chudleigh, and all the principal officers of the fleet.]

Sept. 29. 81. Copy of the same. [Imperfect.]

Sept. 29. 82. W. Leonard to Sir Francis Godolphin. The Lewis, a ship of war out of Brest, came ashore at Penryn on Friday last. The crew abandoned her. The country came thick with their axes and other tools, cut down the mast, and rifled the ship of all her tackling. In spite of the interference of the writer, they carried away two cables, one worth 40*l.* There were 100 people aboard rifling. Requests instructions, and a commission to examine those that have the goods, or they will never be had again, for St. Kevern men do not use to deliver back but by law or upon oath.

Sept. 30. Warrant to the Officers of the ports to suffer the Marquis de Trois Chasteaux (employed to his Majesty from the Duke of Lorraine) to embark without search. [Docquet.]

Sept. 30. The like to Richard Paramour and Nicholas Parker, Captains of the St. Esprit and the Vanguard, requiring one of them to convoy the Marquis de Trois Chasteaux towards the place of his landing. [Docquet.]

Sept. 30. Hampton Court. 83. Dudley Viscount Dorchester to James Earl of Carlisle. The King holds in his hands the total directory, leaving the executory part to every man within the compass of his charge. Whether the Parliament will hold at the appointed time is not resolved, but it being a subject of much discourse, though many are of opinion the present opportunity is not to be let slip of a presumed desire the Parliament will have to make appear their former distempers were rather personal than real, yet others wish time may be taken till the next spring at least, and that, in the meantime, a settled form of government should work better effects than may be premised upon any assurance. It imports more than anything else that the next meeting should be without the late disorders. No more had out of Felton than his first confession, and no torture has been used to him. Savage proves an impostor. Denmark Ambassador with demand of succours, and the States Extraordinaries, awaiting opportunity of doing good offices, as their colleagues do in France, for a reconciliation of the two Crowns. The succour of Rochelle holds the Court in hourly expectation. Since the above was written, the King, without putting the business in deliberation, has declared his pleasure to put off the Parliament until January 20. Laudatur ab his, culpatur ab illis; but surely it is the wisest, for the ægritudo in men's minds requires time to take it away, and the medicine of a constant and settled government is like to be applied. Lady Carlisle, being well recovered, is with her sister in Kent. Lord Brooke is dead of his wounds, given him by his man, who slew himself.

Sept. 30. On board the St. George. 84. Robert Earl of Lindsey to Philip Spicer, deputy boatswain of the St. George. Warrant appointing him boatswain of the Happy Entrance, in place of Walter Dyer, deceased.

Sept. 30. 85. Account of Sir John Finet, Master of the Ceremonies, addressed to Philip Earl of Montgomery, Lord Chamberlain, of disbursements and services, from March 26 to September 30, 1628; total, 190*l.* 6*s.* 8*d.*

Sept. Warrant to the Wardrobe, to deliver to Richard Ray, one of the huntsmen, in the room of John Newton, deceased, certain parcels for his livery. [Docquet.]

Sept. 86. Mayor and another of Chester to the Council. In obedience to their directions, the writers summoned the complainants against the Feltmakers to appear before them, but they made no appearance. The Feltmakers produced certain witnesses, but the writers conceived they had no power to examine on oath.

Sept. 87. Remembrances to move the Lords of the Council for "Portsmouth causes;" principally for payment for aid sent last year to the Lord Admiral [in the Isle of Rhé?], and for allowances for increase and better care of their stores.

Sept. 88. Petition of Capt. John Duffell to the Lords of the Council, Commissioners appointed for the Navy [Commissioners of the Admiralty]. The late Duke of Buckingham, in consideration of good service, appointed him captain of the Seven Stars, a pinnace appointed for guard of the Medway. In that place he apprehended two persons who had stolen the King's plate, and since then Capt. Hart, and the sons of Lord Herbert and Lord Petre, with a Jesuit, for whose enlargement he was offered a bribe of 500*l.* Prays to be confirmed in his place.

[Sept. ?] 89. Interrogatories whereon John Felton is to be examined. [Draft, in the handwriting of Attorney General Heath.]

[Sept. ?] 91. Forms of Oaths to be taken by the Treasurer, Comptroller, Surveyor, and Clerk of the Navy, for the due execution of their offices.

[Sept. ?] 92. Form of Oath to be taken by the Captain of a King's ship. [Draft, in the handwriting of Nicholas.]

1628. VOL. CXVII.

[Sept. ?] 93. General collection of Forms of Oaths to be taken by the principal officers and other subordinate ministers in the Navy. [It descends even to the cooks, who are to be sworn to "use no deceitful or scandalous course in dressing the company's victuals, by pricking the beef or pork, whilst it is in boiling, to let out the fat, nor otherwise to wrong the same in quantity or goodness."]

Sept. ? 94. Sir Giles Mompesson to the King. Minute of an award made by the late Duke of Buckingham, in a dispute between Sir Giles Mompesson and Sir Ralph Freeman, concerning the office of Auditor of the Imprest. Sir Giles prays the King to carry out the Duke's award; and that if Sir Ralph shall refuse to stand to the same, that the profits of the place may be impounded until the question be determined by law.

[Sept. ?] 95. Note of Warrants for Privy Seals for various sums of money, solicited by Philip Burlamachi; amongst them, 4,354*l.* 10*s.* for Sir Charles Morgan's regiment, from the beginning of July to September 24, 1628; 6,000*l.* to be paid to John Dalbier; 8,000*l.* to Sir Allen Cotton, for clothing for 4,000 men.

[Sept. ?] 98. Names of the colleges in Oxford in Latin. [Indorsed by Bishop Laud.]

VOL. CXVIII. OCTOBER 1—18, 1628.

Oct. 1. Hampton Court. Proclamation for proroguing Parliament from October 20 instant to January 20, 1629. [Coll. Procs., Car. I., No. 93.]

Oct. 1. 1. Minutes, by Nicholas, of matters whereon the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty had moved his Majesty respecting the manner and extent of his interference with the business and patronage of the Admiralty; with notes of the King's replies.

Oct. 1. Hampton Court. 2. Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty to Sec. Conway. For accounts of his Vice Admiralty, and that what shall thenceforth accrue thereon may be paid into the Exchequer.

Oct. 1. Hampton Court. 3. Archibald Earl of Argyle to James Earl of Carlisle. Understands from the Earl of Holland that Carlisle is expected home shortly. Heartily wishes for his return.

Oct. 2. Norwich. 4. Justices of Peace for co. Norfolk to the Council. Thomas Bowd, deputy alnager for this county, made his appearance at the sessions, and many persons appeared against him ready to justify his oppressions and extortions. They have bound him to appear before the judges at the next assizes.

Oct. 2. Aboard the Vanguard, in the Downs. 5. Capt. Nicholas Parker to Nicholas. Reports his arrival in the Downs, having left Portsmouth on Monday last. Fell in with 22 sail of Hollanders, which came out of France. They report the arrival of our fleet at Rochelle, and that the French have lost 3,000 men. Embargo of French goods in Spain. Wants men, beer, and pork.

Oct. 2. 6. Sir John Townshend to James Earl of Carlisle. Reports the state of various businesses in which the Earl was interested. The Parliament is put off to January 20, and nothing wanting but his noble self, which if Sir John be so happy as once to see, he has his last wishes in this world.

Oct. 3. 7. Petition of the Silk Throwsters of London to the King. About 50 years past the trade of silk throwsting began in the city by some few persons, who have now become a great company. About 10 years past the Lord Mayor and Court of Aldermen constituted them a Brotherhood. There being now 6,000 or 7,000 poor persons daily set on work by them in winding and working raw silk, they pray that they may be made a Corporation. [Indorsed is a reference to the Attorney General to prepare a Bill accordingly.]

[Oct. 3 ?] 8. Robert Earl of Lindsey to the same. On September 18 anchored in St. Martin's Road. The 23rd, attack made on the enemy's fleet at anchor under Charlebois point. The merchant ships, whelps, and pinks spent their shot at too remote a distance, whereupon the Earl sent them peremptory commands, that, on pain of death they should go within caliver-shot, and see the fire-ships grapple with the enemy. On the 24th, another attack made, but these commands were not obeyed. Designs another attack. Hears a sad relation of the calamity and distress in Rochelle. Overture of the deputies to render the town into the King's hands. Solicits instructions how to behave himself therein.

Oct. 3. 9. Petition of Capt. Thomas Porter to the same. The late Lord Admiral bestowed on the petitioner the ballasting of ships in the Thames, for which the Trinity House gave him 50*l.* per annum. Prays for a renewed grant of the same by the Lords of the Admiralty. Underwritten, 9. I. Reference to the Lords of the Admiralty to report what is fit to be done. Hampton Court, 1628, October 3.

9. II. Report of the Lords of the Admiralty to the King, that the ballastage of ships is a perquisite of the Lord Admiral, and should be preserved entire to the said office, being disposed of in the meantime according to his Majesty's pleasure.

Oct. 3. Hampton Court. 10. Sec. Conway to the Dean and Chapter of Windsor. Mr. Ellie, minister of Langley, is about to transfer that cure upon a young man that is to marry his niece. The Secretary has a house in that parish. Prays that the present minister may continue until another may be found who may appear in the parish, and be approved as a sufficient minister fit to discharge that cure, so that the service of God may be advanced, not prejudiced, by the change.

Oct. 3. 11. Draft of the preceding.

Oct. 3. London. 12. Philip Burlamachi to Sec. Conway. Recommends to him the Seigneur Le Cœur as an honest man, and, like all his relations, of the reformed religion. Rumours from Holland that the ships under the command of Paul Hein have fallen in with some of the Plate fleet, and that the English fleet had reached Rochelle. Fr.

Oct. 3. 13. Robert Earl of Lindsey to the same. They have assaulted the enemy's fleet lying at anchor under forts and platforms, and daily await a good wind to try their further fortunes. Subscribes himself his "kinsman."

Oct. 3. Penshurst. 14. Robert Earl of Leicester to James Earl of Carlisle. The solitude of that place is known to him. Lady Carlisle is there, perfectly recovered, and unblemished by her great sickness. The fall of the great tree planted by Carlisle's old master has made such a percussion in the air as he doubts not but the noise has already far outgone the place where Carlisle heard it. In these nearer parts it has caused such a brawl in divers things (as they say), that to right and quiet them Carlisle's presence is wished by many.

Oct. 3. Penshurst. 15. Lucy Countess of Carlisle to the same. He is infinitely obliged to the Queen, who does on all occasions express to the King her value of him, and she assures the Countess that she finds in his Majesty much good opinion of the Earl. He cannot wish more affection nor happiness betwixt the King and Queen than he will find. The Queen was the first creature the Countess saw after her recovery. Did not think the heart of a Queen could have been so sensible of the loss of a servant. Has a command from both their Majesties to come to Court, with leave to keep on her mask, which was never off since her sickness. Wishes for his speedy return. Great danger she has been in.

Oct. 3. 16. Examination of Elizabeth Josselyn, wife of Samuel Josselyn, stationer, and before named Elizabeth Wood, taken by Sir Robert Heath and Sir John Finch. Knew John Felton, who lodged at the house of Thomas Foot, in Fleet-lane, she and her mother dwelling in a part of the same house. He borrowed several books of her to read, and returned them all except the History of the Queen of Scots. Felton was a melancholy man, much given to reading of books, and of very few words. She never saw him merry.

Oct. 3. 17. Examination of Christopher Mallory, of Ripon, co. York, gent. Had lived 22 years in the Archduchess's country, but came over to England for his health. Denies that he ever visited the Tower to take note of the ordnance, or that he was at a play at Sir John York's, or that he ever acted in a play. Knew Peter Lancaster, and witnessed his nuncupative will in favour of Edward Dawson, who is a Protestant, and no trustee for any religious house.

Oct. 4. Grant of baronetage to Sir John Laurence, of Iver, co. Buckingham. [Docquet.]

Oct. 4. Discharge to Sir John Laurence of the money usually paid for a baronetage. [Docquet.]

Oct. 4 Grant to Sir Timothy Tirrell and his son, Timothy Tirrell, during their lives, of the custody of the forest of Shotover and Stowood, co. Oxford. [Docquet.]

Oct. 4. Hampton Court. 18. The King to Attorney General Heath. Warrant to prepare a grant to Sir John Hippisley, during life, of the keepership of Bushey Park alias the South Park, with the fee of 4*d.* per diem, and a similar grant to Richard Graham of the keepership of the Middle Park alias the North Park, being parcel of the Honor of Hampton Court.

Oct. 4. 19. Justices of the Peace for Sussex to the Council. At the Quarter Sessions at Lewes they received complaints of the farmers, that wheat being at 20*s.* per quarter, and barley at 12*s.*, they were not permitted to export the same out of that county. Beg that they may be allowed to do so.

Oct. 4. Hampton Court. 20. Sec. Conway to Deputy Lieutenants of Hants. To see the entertainment of the Muster-master duly paid. [Copy.]

Oct. [5?] 21. Sir Miles Fleetwood to Sec. Conway. Hears of some new endeavours to draw his pensions to be paid in the Exchequer, and to impose some unprofitable payments on his receipt of the Wards. Begs his mediation with the King, that he may not suffer in such a case, which can only be to the Exchequer officers' profit and his exceeding loss.

Oct. 5. 22. Matthew Kellison and eight others, being the Rector and Fellows of the College of Douay, to Dr. Richard Smith, Bishop of Chalcedon, and his Vicar-Generals, Archdeacons, &c. Setting forth the necessity of their College, ordained for the conservation and propagation of Catholic religion in England, and that they have appointed Francis Hoard to treat with them for relief.

Oct. 5. 23. "Mr. Burrell's Proposition for Sea-services," being a list of such of his Majesty's ships as are most fit to be employed in several specified services, with the expense thereof. Totals; 30 ships, 2,010 men; charge 90,474*l.* 10*s.*

Oct. 6. Pardon to Christian Mitchell, widow, for incontinence with Thomas Williams. [Docquet.]

Oct. 6. Brooke House. 24. Sec. Coke to Sec. Conway. On the unexpected news of Lord Brooke's death Coke hasted to London. This day has met at Brooke House those with whom he is joined in trust for the business of his estate. Considering Conway's nearness of blood and hearty affection, they entreat his advice and direction. Lord Brooke's tomb is built at Warwick. They have determined to carry his body thither. Beg him to acquaint his Majesty with what particulars he thinks fit. The Lords Steward and Chamberlain, having always professed themselves his worthy kinsmen and friends, ought to be presented with blacks, and invited to accompany the corpse from his house. Sir Richard Verney and my Lady are in health.

Oct. 6. Hampton Court. 25. Sec. Conway to Humphrey Cross, messenger. On suspicion of some combination against the peace of the kingdom, founded on a supposed power from Rome communicated to several persons within this realm, he is to search the chambers, studies, closets, trunks, and desks of Roman Catholic prisoners in the Clink, and especially those of George Gage. [It appears, from underwritten minutes, that a similar warrant was given to the same person to search the Roman Catholics in the New Prison, and especially William Harewell, alias Farrar, and another warrant to Richard Tomlins to search the prisoners in the Gatehouse, and especially "one Muskett."]

Oct. 6. 26. William Dixon to William Weld, Secretary to Lord Conway. His father hath sent to Weld by the last packet. Begs him to call on Sir Harry Holcroft for a copy of a letter.

Oct. 7. Warrant to pay to Sir Abraham Williams, or to Philip Burlamachi, 1,500*l.* monthly, for the household expenses of the King and Queen of Bohemia, for one year to September 30, 1629. [Docquet.]

Oct. 7. The like to Sir Abraham Williams, 1,150*l.* for liveries for servants of the Queen of Bohemia, and for beer and provisions for her use, for the year 1628. [Docquet.]

Oct. 7. Aboard the St. George. 27. Robert Earl of Lindsey to the King. Since his letter on the 3rd, sent Walter Montagu and Colonel Kniphausen, accompanied by Sir Robert Deal, about the exchange of some prisoners, which gave occasion afterwards to a conference with Cardinal Richelieu, who pretends that King's inclination to a peaceable end. Sends his propositions. They had admission to take some view of the enemies ships and the dike. Sends Montagu and Kniphausen, and requests instructions.

[Oct. 7.] 28. Copy of the propositions for peace above mentioned to have been suggested by Cardinal Richelieu, and sent with the preceding letter.

[Oct. 7?] 29. Plan of the relative situations of the dike, which barred the access to Rochelle, and of the ships and other defences of the enemy.

Oct. 7. 30. Sec. Conway to Sir Miles Fleetwood. Took the first opportunity to move his Majesty concerning the transposing of payments from the Court of Wards to the Exchequer. The King answered, that he knew well Sir Miles's good service in advancing the revenue, that he had it in care to give him recompence, and presumed he would not take offence at any alteration that may be for the advancement of the King's service without bringing Sir Miles any prejudice, And that he would not give order for the alteration without hearing Sir Miles. [Copy.]

Oct. 7. Minute of the same. [Conway's Letter Book, p. 317.]

Oct. 7. Yately. 32. Robert Earl of Sussex to Sec. Conway. Being sick, begs the Secretary to move the King about the forts at Harwich.

Oct. 7. London House. 32. Bishop Laud, of London, to the same. There has been a proffer to print a certain book in folio of English verses in commendation, as is pretended, of the late Duke. The pretenders affirmed they had leave under Conway's hand. Laud desired to see it, because the King's charge was strict that no papers concerning the Duke should be suddenly printed. The papers were brought by one who calls himself Mr. Darcie, and goes for the man that puts it to the press. There he saw the Secretary's hand, but so fairly written that after the party was gone it drew him into some jealousy. Wishes to know if he did license any such poem. Would not stay anything that Conway thought fit, but is anxious that nothing but what is honourable should pass over the dead, and suspects the countenance and other deportments of him that brought the papers.

Oct. 7. 33. Attorney General Heath to Bishop Mountague, of Chichester. As commanded by the King, he has prepared a pardon for the Bishop, but not having the customary warrant in writing, has not yet caused the bill to be engrossed. Haply this pardon may set him free in foro civili, but the Parliament may call things past in question, notwithstanding his pardon, nay perhaps, by the pardon, they will rather be stirred to question him. He is now a father of our church, and as a father will tender its peace and quiet. Alas! a little spot is seen upon that white garment, and a little fire, nay a spark, may inflame a great mass. We are bound in conscience to prevent occasions of strife. Suggests, therefore, that he should review his book, and take away the acrimony of the style, and explain things left doubtful, so that his own pen may remove all scandal, and a stop be given to this unhappy difference and jealousy, which otherwise may trouble the quiet of our church, and occasion the disquiet of the commonwealth. Wishes that a clearing of these clouds may proceed from the Bishop, and then the pardon would seasonably follow.

Oct. 7. 34. Note signed "Jo. Wriothesley," of wants in the fleet and army brought by Walter Montagu.

Oct. 8. Cornwall. 35. Justices of Cornwall to the King. The inclosed were brought to them by Sir Richard Buller. The presumptions threaten so much danger to the King, church, and commonwealth, that they hold them fit for no eye save the King's. John Trevelyan is a recusant-convict, and the greatest of that faction in the west. He is a close, reserved man, and weighs his words before he lets them fall, so they conjecture there is much more in his heart than on his tongue. He is a bold and active spirit. They shall by warrant-special command the high sheriff to attach him, and, after examination, continue him in durance till the King's pleasure be known. They will also convent John Prideaux and his wife. Inclose,

35. I. Bishop Joseph Hall, of Exeter, to Sir Richard Buller. An occurrence related to him within an hour by his chaplain, Mr. Nansog, that he has acquainted Sir Richard with dangerous speeches uttered by no mean recusant, in the presence of very able witnesses, the particulars whereof are inclosed. Hopes he has already seized upon the party, if not, advises him to do so without delay, and to send to the Council table about it. Exeter, 1628, October 4. Inclosed,

35. I. 1. Notes of words spoken by John Trevelyan, in the hearing of John Prideaux and his wife: that they must change their religion in a month or their throats would be cut; that Protestants should expect worse days than Queen Mary's; that Queen Tibb (meaning Elizabeth) was as arrant a whore as ever breathed; and that our Bible was composed of lies and tales.

Oct. 8. Hampton Court. 36. The King to Sir Ferdinando Gorges. Without prejudice to the service committed to his trust, licenses him to repair to the Court, and to London on his occasions. [Prepared for the King's signature, but never signed, the next letter being written instead.]

Oct. 8. Hampton Court. Sec. Conway to the same. Gives him from his Majesty the leave indicated in the preceding paper, and in the very words thereof. [Minute, Conway's Letter Book, p. 317.]

Oct. 8. 37. Sir John Mohun to Sir James Bagg. Takes it more than unkindly that he has not received a line from him. Sends the letter of this date from the Justices of Cornwall (No. 35), to be speeded to his Majesty's hands. Will Murray will speedily return his Majesty's answer. Eliot and Coryton have incessantly roamed up and down all Cornwall in inquisition of the writer's carriage in the Vice Warden's place. If Bagg gives his Majesty a taste of their envy against Mohun it will prepare his ear for that which at Mohun's coming up he will present to him. His lady is well, and all at Saltram.

Oct. 8. Westminster. 38. William Man and others, Commissioners appointed by the Council for removing all herbfolks, fish, fruit, roots, and the like that pester King Street, to the Council. They have brought it to a good conformity, two persons only, whose names are underwritten, being more refractory than the rest.

Oct. 8. [Portsmouth Doc]k. 39. Matthew Brooke to [Nicholas]. Judication come down for the prizes taken by Capt. Scras, ordering the tenths to be delivered to Mr. Ellzey for the executors of the Duke, which he cannot understand, the ships being brought in on August 23, after the Duke's death.

Oct. 8. 40. Bill of Francis Manucci for the stable at Ragley, and carrying horses thither, for the service of Lord Conway, from October 1 to 8.

Oct. 9. 41. Philip Burlamachi to Sec. Conway. The Lord Treasurer has treated with him for despatch of recruits to Sir Charles Morgan, and they wait only to know where is to be the rendezvous of the soldiers for embarkation. Thinks that a store of provision should be sent down beforehand. It will be good to hasten them; time runs on, and winter is coming. Fr.

[Oct. 9.] 42. Petition of John Ellzey, of Southampton, merchant, to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty. Was appointed collector for the tenths on prize goods within co. Hants, by the late Duke, and continued by the Council after the Duke's death. Matthew Brooke, through Sec. Coke has since procured a warrant under the King's hand for his own appointment, being already Clerk of the Cheque, Receiver of Customs at Portsmouth, Deputy for the Great Farmers, and having relation to prisage, butlerage, and the like under his Majesty. Petitioner prays that he may be continued in his place.

Oct. 10. Whitehall. 43. The King to Attorney General Heath. Having granted to Towensend Leigh, widow, mother of Henry Leigh, the King's ward, a lease of his lands, at the rent of 13*l.* 6*s.* 8*d.*, and, in consideration of 200*l.*, a grant of his custody, the Attorney General is to prepare a grant of the same to Sir Francis Godolphin, to her use during her son's minority.

Oct. 10. Hampton Court. 44. Sec. Conway to Philip Burlamachi. His Majesty is desirous to have deer from Prussia, and Andrew Murray is appointed to go on that employment, but his demands for the charges amount so high that his Majesty wishes to be better informed on that point; he is therefore to give his opinion thereon. [Copy.]

[Oct. 10.] 45. Full account of the intended employment of Andrew Murray and his demand for expenses, a copy of which was inclosed in the preceding letter.

Oct. 10. Minute of the preceding letter. [Conway's Letter Book, p. 317.]

Oct. 10. London. 46. Rowland Backhouse, Sheriff of London, to Sec. Conway. The papers found by Humphrey Cross and the writer, on searching the chambers of the Popish priests in the New Prison are sealed up and sent by Cross. There were found in two rooms two altars ready for mass, and two suits of massing stuff, which remain in the writer's custody.

Oct. 10. St. Giles. 47. Dr. Roger Mainwaring to Attorney General Heath. Amidst his other employments, begs him to reflect on the writer, and perfect the high and royal grace which by his Majesty was intended. Is informed that other parties have their pardons already perfected.

1628. VOL. CXVIII.

Oct. 10. 48. Examination of Eleanor Felton, taken before Chief Justice Richardson. She was born at Durham, daughter of William Wright, mayor of that city in 1st King James, and Eleanor, his wife. He died about 16 years past. Her mother was near of kin to the Andersons of Newcastle, and other northern families. Her father had five sons, of whom Hugh lives at Durham, and has been divers times mayor. She had three sisters —one married to Pattison, who served Lord Stanhope. Knows Rotherby very well, and that it is about three miles from Newcastle. All the gentlemen there are of kin to her.

Oct. 11. Westminster. 49. The King to Sir Allen Apsley, Lieutenant of the Tower, Sir Henry Mainwaring, Sir Paul Harris, John Heydon, Lieutenant of the Ordnance, George Fielding, and Richard Dike. Commission for sale of prize goods. Alderman Ralph Freeman appointed Treasurer. [Copy.]

Oct. 11. Charing Cross. 50. Sir Robert Naunton to Sec. Conway. Thanks to the King for his answer. Is returned to town to attend to the King's business, but dares not come into his presence, having left his daughter sick in the country. Sends an intercepted letter of an Irish priest. The date is old, but it was opened only last night.

Oct. $\frac{11}{21}$ 51. "Philopistis" to James Earl of Carlisle. Endeavours made to prejudice the King and the Earl against each other. The writer has advertised his Majesty to beware of such accursed trumperies. Intreats the Earl to give faithful counsel to the King, to strive to hold himself in the Queen's good graces, and to keep their Majesties in love as they ought to be; for endeavours have been made to alienate their minds from one another.

Oct. $\frac{11}{21}$ 52. Copy of the same.

Oct. 11. 53. Attorney General Heath to Thomas Meautys, Clerk of the Council. To move the Lords for a warrant to the Lieutenant of the Tower to deliver Robert Savage, and for another warrant to the Warden of the Fleet to receive and keep him close prisoner.

Oct. 11. 54. Several examinations of Elizabeth Done, sister of John Felton, Eleanor Felton, his mother, and Edmund Felton, his brother, taken before the Commissioners appointed for that purpose. The examination of Elizabeth Done relates to her conduct in St. Dunstan's Church on hearing the news of the Duke's death; also to words said, by her brother John Felton, to have been spoken by her, "That there were no brave spirits,"—before his departure to Portsmouth. On his going thither, John Felton told her that he had been troubled with dreams of fighting, and desired her to pray for him. Eleanor Felton's examination relates to her swooning in St. Dunstan's Church, and John Felton's last interview with her. Edmund Felton denied that he had seen his brother for eight or ten weeks before the death of the Duke.

Oct. 11. 55. Petition of Matthew Brooke, Clerk of the Check at Portsmouth, to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty. The King, by grant dated August 28 last, appointed petitioner to collect all tenths to accrue due to the King by the decease of the Lord Admiral, whereupon petitioner stayed certain goods brought in by Capt. Scras. The Court of Admiralty has since ordered them to be delivered to the Commissioners of the Estate of the late Lord Admiral, notwithstanding they were brought in after the Duke's decease. Prays the Lords Commissioners to take order therein.

Oct. 11. Bodmin. 56. Examination of Ann Prideaux, wife of John Prideaux, taken before Charles Lord Lambert, Sir John Trelawney, and Sir Richard Buller, respecting the words spoken by John Trevelyan, in derogation of the Church of England, Queen Elizabeth, and the English translation of the Bible.

Oct. 12. Whitehall. 57. Order of Council, approving certain propositions of the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty, for discharge of the seamen, ships, and soldiers of the fleet and army lately sent to Rochelle, immediately on their arrival at Plymouth.

Oct. 12. Whitehall. 58. The Council to the Commissioners of the Admiralty. The 1,300 recruits to be levied in aid of the King of Denmark are to be forthwith transported thither; they are to take up such number of ships for that purpose as Philip Burlamachi shall think convenient.

Oct. 12. London. 59. Archibald Earl of Argyle to [James Earl of Carlisle]. Was glad to hear of his health by Mr. Wood. Until he be present does not intend to propose anything that concerns himself to his Majesty.

[Oct. 12?] 60. Statement, by Philip Burlamachi, of the difficulty of procuring ships in the Thames to transport soldiers to Gluckstadt, and suggestion of pressing them for that purpose. [It was ordered by the Council this day, that such number of ships and of such quality should be pressed as Burlamachi should think convenient. Reg. Concil., Vol. iv., p. 519.]

Oct. 13. Hampton Court, Grant and appointment of a Court-leet for the manor of Richmond, in co. Surrey, and that the tenants of the same manor, and the manors of Petersham and Ham, should give attendance thereat; also that Sir Robert Douglas should be steward of the same for life, with a fee of 40*s.* per annum. [Coll. Sign Man., Car. I., Vol. ix., No. 58.]

Oct. 13. Hampton Court. 61. Sec. Conway to Sir Edward Wardour. To certify what allowances have been made to Mr. Gordon in his late Majesty's time for his agency with the King of Poland. [Copy.]

Oct. 13. Minute of the same. [Conway's Letter Book, p. 317.]

Oct. 13. Fort by Plymouth, 62. Sir Ferdinando Gorges to Sec. Conway. On the 8th inst. Capt. Hackwell, and some eight sail of ships, parcel of the fleet for Rochelle, set sail with a fair wind. This day they are returned, some pretending leaks, some one occasion and some another. Perceiving the small hope that is had of performance of any great matter at Rochelle, begs instructions what shall be done in case "it comes" before these ships can be made ready to sail again. Thanks for hastening his Majesty's licence for Sir Ferdinando's absence.

Oct. 13. Tottenham. 63. Sec. Coke to Sec. Conway. The Commissioners for the Admiralty have agreed on a form of proclamation for prohibiting such goods to be carried into France as may be used for defence or offence. Fourteen ships belonging to subjects of the States taken carrying such goods before proclamation it is judged expedient to release, except Sir John Hippisley or any other can prove the goods to be French.

Oct. 13. Plymouth. 64. Capt. Robert Hackwell, and five other Captains, to Sec. Coke. Explain the cause of their return to Plymouth.

Oct. 13. Ashburton. 65. Thomas Clarke, Deputy Victualler for Sir Allen Apsley at Plymouth, to the same. All the victuallers which came from Portsmouth, and those which went from Plymouth, are returned. Suggests an order for him to re-victual them, and John Cause to repair them; also a warrant to re-victual the Tenth Whelp, which brought the Lord General's Secretary, who is gone to the King. [On the blank leaf of this letter are notes by Sec. Coke respecting the return of these ships].

Oct. 14. Westminster. 66. The King to Robert Earl of Lindsey, Admiral of the Fleet before Rochelle. Has received his letter, and heard Montagu, Kniphausen, and Carleton. Their victual ought not to be exhausted, as appears from certain enumerated particulars. Preparations continue to be made, although the King cannot hope that Rochelle can wait their coming. Will give him no other charge than that he take care of the King's honour, the honour of the nation, and his own honour. The King sees that the passage must be opened before the town can be relieved, and conceives that the French ships must be beaten before the passage can be opened, which may best be done whilst they are afloat, but cannot be done without hazard of some of the King's ships and loss of his subjects, but his honour and pious intentions give way to such actions as may clear the King's affections and intentions. Therefore he is to make a vigorous trial for beating the ships, and that being done, when he shall have applied his engines of war, to force the passage for relief of the town. If it prove unfeasible, the King will hold himself excused to the world, and that the Earl has worthily acquitted himself. The French have often made the work feasible, he is therefore to let them know that the King expects that they now by some notable "action make good their former boastings, howsoever we do rely upon the courage of our own subjects, which we hope will never deceive us, and particularly on this occasion." [The words in Italic are an alteration in the King's own hand. Fair copy, but, having been altered by the King, converted into a draft.]

Oct. 14. 67. Draft of the same, written before the above-mentioned alteration by the King.

[Oct. 14 ?] 68. Answer to the propositions from France sent by Walter Montagu. Some particulars of the discourse no way agreeable to his Majesty's honour to hearken to. Rochelle must abide the fortune of war. If the King of France will put those of the religion into their promised liberties, and disassiege Rochelle, his Majesty will not only re-enter into a strong league with his dear brother, but will endeavour to draw the Duke of Savoy and his other friends to a resolution for re-establishing the affairs of Italy.

Oct. 14. 69. The King to all Mayors, &c. Pass and warrant for shipping for Walter Montagu, employed on the King's special service into the parts beyond the seas. [Copy.]

Oct. 14. 70. Order of Council that Attorney General Heath and Sir Henry Marten, Judge of the Admiralty, prepare the draft of a proclamation, prohibiting the transportation of victuals and munitions into France. [Copy.]

Oct. 14. 71. Affidavit, made before Baron Denham, by Thomas Bowd Deputy Alnager and Collector of the Subsidy from the New Draperies in co. Norfolk, that, going, on August 26 last past, to the house of John Durrant, a seller of New Draperies at Aylsham, to collect 10*s.* on account of the said subsidy, the said John Durrant contemned the authority of the deponent and the Council's Letters to him of Assistance, and said they were all base trash and trumpery, and that this deponent was a base knave, and robbed the country by a base monopoly. [Underwritten is the fiat of Baron Denham for the issue of an attachment against Durrant.]

Oct. 14. 72. "Remembrances for directions for Mr. Sloswic," being complaints against the servants of Viscount Dunbar, for encroachments upon the Admiralty jurisdiction on the east coast of co. York, and also against the Registrar there for insufficiency.

Oct. 14. 73. Accompt of Sir Thomas Walsingham, Vice Admiral for Kent, of all wrecks and seizures come to his hands between October 20, 1627, and August 23, 1628.

1628. Vol. CXVIII.

Oct. 15. 76. Proposition submitted by T. Smithwick to the Adventurers in the East India Stock. The writer sets out the exact state of the partnership property at that time, encourages a continuance in their enterprises, and urges arrangements for the more speedy return of their ships from India. The Company possessed 27 effective ships, of the burthen of 12,260 tons, 3 of which had left England in 1623, 4 in 1624, 7 in 1625, others at more recent intervals, and 4 were at home.

Oct. 15. 77. Examination of William Grinkin, M.A., of Jesus College, Oxford, taken by Attorney General Heath. Confesses that four letters now showed to him, and all beginning "Don Pickering," are all of his handwriting, but were indicted by Alexander Gill. The contents of these letters were mere foolery. The verses written on the fourth letter were not made by him, and he is sorry that he was so foolish as to write them.

Oct. 16. Plymouth. 78. Mayor and others of Plymouth to the Council. On arrival of one ship from the Rochelle fleet, finding that they had some sick men, and reported that on the return of the fleet there would be a great number of sick, they represent that on the return of the expedition from Cadiz there died about 1,600 of the inhabitants, and on that from Rhé many of the ablest persons of the town, with great loss and detriment to the whole people. The like now to be feared would utterly disable the place; they therefore send Mr. Fowell to solicit that their town should not be again endangered by receiving sick men or by billeting common soldiers.

Oct. 16. Yarmouth. 79. Bailiffs of Yarmouth, co. Norfolk, to the same. Solicit a licence to export 600 lasts of herrings in strangers' bottoms towards the repair of the haven and piers. Plentiful fishing, but not only the state of the town, but that of "fisher fare," the breed and nursery of navigation, depends on a reasonable price for fish and herrings.

Oct. 16. 80. Sir Hugh Hammersley, Lord Mayor, Richard Deane, Lord Mayor elect, and other Aldermen of London, to the same. They have sought to give them satisfaction concerning the late disorder in the election of the Lord Mayor for the year ensuing. The parties whose examinations they exhibit therewith are conceived to be the principal actors in the disorder. Explain the conduct of the Court of Aldermen.

Oct. 16. Aboard the Vanguard, in the Downs. 81. Capt. Nicholas Parker to Nicholas. If Nicholas will procure him to be appointed Rear Admiral of the Narrow Seas, no man shall exceed him in gratifying his love; or, if he can procure him the command of the Adventure, he will make a part requital; or "employment for the West India." A fleet of Dutchmen report that Rochelle is relieved, but with great loss on both sides.

John Urry, who, having been appointed by Lord Conway to a company in the Isle of Wight, had, on October 9 instant, been denied his right to precedence over Capt. John Harvey, and been publicly termed by Sir Edward Denys, "Base clown," "Base Jack," and "Puppy."

Oct. 18. 87. Petition of Arent Heinssen, Master of the Bestuiaer, a Dutch ship, to the same. Prays for her release.

1628. VOL. CXVIII.

Mr. Street had in the time of King James a pension of 36*l.* 10*s.* per annum given to him for notable service done against the principal plotters of the Gunpowder Treason. Oct. 18. Westminster. 90. Dudley Viscount Dorchester to Sec. Coke. Recommends Mr. Fincham, who claims a recompence for good service done to the Muscovia Company. The King is pleased that his name should be used to the Company on the claimant's behalf. Continues bedridden of his lameness.

Oct. 18. 91. Petition of William Adams, Boatswain of the Prince Royal, to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty. The late King gave him the office of one of the principal Masters of the Navy which should next become void. Richard Harris being dead, petitioner prays that he may be established in his office.

Oct. 18. 92. Petition of the owners of the Transport, of London, to the same. Their ship pressed for service in the fleet for Rochelle, but sent back leaky, and now in Plymouth. Pray for her release, being unfit for service.

Oct. 18. 93. Certificate of Abel Broman, master of the Christopher of London, and three others. The Christopher pressed to serve in the fleet as a fire-ship, but sent back leaky. Is now at the pier of Penzance, unserviceable. [Copy.]

Oct. 19. 1. Sec. Conway to Robert Earl of Lindsey. His Majesty is well satisfied with the Earl's resolutions, but is much troubled to find him so ill seconded by the Captains, of whom he had more hope. Sends by the bearer a duplicate of letters sent by Mr. Montagu, and of the answer to the propositions brought by him. His Majesty wishes the Earl had the town upon any conditions. He may receive it on the best conditions he can, and keep it until further order. [Copy.]

He and his ship having been three years in his Majesty's service, first for Cadiz, then as a wafter for the colliers, and lastly as a wafter for Iceland, prays that he may receive his pay, and be released.

Oct. 20. 5. George Lord Goring to James Earl of Carlisle. Begs him again and again not to let any foreign affairs stay him longer than his instructions of necessity oblige him. The French labour a peace by the Venetian Ambassador, who advanceth apace, but the writer believes the Spaniard is unwilling that that should precede his. The Lord Treasurer is Carlisle's real friend. Marquis Hamilton is expected to-morrow; he shall presently be Master of the Horse. Lady Carlisle will be in town this night from Penshurst, very well, and no way blemished with her disease. The Queen tells the writer daily of the King's constant love and professions to the Earl. Oct. 22. Doctors' Commons. 10. Richard Zouch to Nicholas. Sends a letter of Mr. Oliver, of Magdalen College, and recommends an application contained in it to Nicholas's favour. Met Nicholas's brother, Dr. Nicholas, this summer, at Hungerford. Hopes to see him when he comes to the Court.

Oct. 22. St. Peter's Hill, near Paul's Wharf. 11. Richard Daye to William Weld, Secretary to Lord Conway. Presented his book to Lord Conway on the Saturday before the remove. Sends a calculation, in vindication of a statement in his book, of the increase to the revenue, which would arise from the purchase of impropriations by the King, and the annexation of parsonages and vicarages. The purchase money to be raised by a general collection, which is granted to many thousands in their private cases. Incloses, 11. I. The calculation above mentioned. Of appropriate parsonages the number is computed at about 3,840. Reserving 10*l. yearly rent upon* 840 of these, 20*l. upon* 1,000, and 30*l. upon another* 1,000, the amount would be above 60,000*l. per annum, and the annexation of parsonages and vicarages would enable the incumbents to pay these rents. Suggests a reference to Sir Benjamin Rudyerd.*

Oct. 22. 12. Copy of the above inclosure.

[Oct. 22 ?] 13. Charges brought by Arthur Bassett, Anthony Thelwall, Thomas Apsley, John Donne, Kenelm Wiseman, and William Poyntz, against Capt. [Oct. 22 ?] 15. Articles objected by Capt. Robert Odierne against his adversaries.

Oct. 23. Pembroke. 18. Justices of co. Pembroke to the Council. Reiterate their complaints of the great concourse of Irish people transported into this country. The owners of barks make much gain by transporting them at 3*s.* a piece for young and old. The reasons they allege for their coming are the last year's death of cattle and dearth of corn; yet they carry cattle into this and other countries, and there is a restraint to send corn from hence into that kingdom. Crave such order that henceforth they be not pestered with these people.

Oct. 23. Rochampton. 19. Lord Treasurer Weston to Attorney General Heath. To draw up a grant to the Duchess of Buckingham, of the wardship of the body and lands of the young Duke, as of his Majesty's free gift.

They were notes of sermons; articles against Mr. Cotton, Archdeacon of Totness; certificate of Ignatius Jourdain, of Exeter, Thomas Taylor, William Gouge, and various other persons, dated June 13, 1627, and recommending John Haydon for contributions, on account of his great zeal against the vices of the times, and his sufferings in the Star Chamber.

Separate examinations of Martin Nansog, clerk, and Ann Prideaux, taken before John Lord Mohun, Charles Lord Lambert, Sir Reginald Mohun, and Sir John Trelawney, respecting the beforementioned speeches of John Trevelyan against the Protestant religion, Queen Elizabeth, and the Protestant translation of the Bible.

1628. Vol. CXIX.

[Oct. 24.] 24. Attorney General Heath and others to the King. Send copy of the examination of Robert Savage. Is an incorrigible rogue. Has no knowledge of Felton. All he said to the Earl of Newcastle and to them at first "was fictions and untruths." It is fit that he should be proceeded against with all severity, that the world may see that the King hateth and will severely punish false and unjust accusations of any. Advise that he should be removed from the Tower, and sent to Bridewell, as a baser prison. [Draft.]

Oct. 24. 25. Separate examinations of George Willoughby and Richard Harward, concerning their acquaintance with John Felton; nearly to the same effect as their previous examinations of August 28, Vol. cxiv., No. 31.

Oct. 24. London. 26. Capt. John Duffell to Nicholas. Informs him of the lading of two barks with ordnance on Burlamachi's account, under an old warrant of the Duke and two Lords of the Council. Desires to know whether they may pass or no. One John Bone lands goods in several places for defrauding the King of his customs. Desires instructions for preventing the same.

Oct. 24. 27. Accompt of monies paid to Burlamachi from Michaelmas 1620 till October 24, 1628, for which he is not accomptable; principally moneys paid to him to be received by English Ambassadors and agents in foreign countries. [Draft.]

Oct. 25. Drury Lane. 28. Katherine Duchess Dowager of Lennox to Sec. Conway. Upon a former restraint of payment of pensions the King gave warrant for the payment of the annuity granted to the Duchess out of the Court of Wards, notwithstanding the restraint. There being again a general warrant of restraint, she begs him to be a mediator to the King for another similar warrant. Would by no means come into the Exchequer, where she may go, send, and attend, and get nothing but promises, otherwise she shall be compelled to break up house and beg her bread. Prays also for a warrant for payment of her son the Duke of Lennox's pension of 1,400*l.* per annum. Incloses,

28. I. The King to Sir Miles Fleetwood, Receiver General of the Court of Wards. Warrant to pay to the Duchess of Lennox an annuity of 21,000*l.*, notwithstanding the restraint. Westminster, October 13, 1626. [Copy.]

Oct. 25. 30. Examination of Lawrence Naylor, servant to John Fort, baker, taken by Attorney General Heath. Has carried bread to Hampstead for these three years. Has heard the verses,—

"Let Charles and George do what they can,
Yet George shall die like Doctor Lambe:"

but whether before the death of the Duke, or after, remembers not. Repeated them to David Watkins, pantler, at Hampstead. Does not know Willoughby, the scrivener.

Oct. 25. 31. Account of number of shipwrights employed at Chatham (total, 224), with the ships they are employed upon. The daily charge, 15*l.* 6*s.* 1*d.*

Oct. 26. Similar account of ropemakers; total 30, and daily charge 2*l.* [Written on the same paper as the preceding.]

[Oct. 26?] Warrant to pay to Capt. John Mason, Paymaster of the Army, 1,500*l.*, for payment of the landsmen on their first arrival from Rochelle, so that they may be forthwith discharged. [Coll. Sign Man., Car. I., Vol. ix., No. 60.]

Oct. 26. 32. Submission and acknowledgment of Thomas Miller, of Wokingham, co. Berks, mercer, sent for on the complaint of Mr. Tyrwhitt for disobeying a post-warrant.

Oct. 26. 33. Examination of Benjamin Jonson, of Westminster, gent., taken by Attorney General Heath. Saw certain verses beginning, "Enjoy thy bondage," and ending "England's ransom here doth lie," and entitled, "To his confined Friend, &c.," at Sir Robert Cotton's house at Westminster. Coming there, as he often does, these verses lying on the table after dinner, he was asked concerning them as if he had been their author. Protests the contrary, on his Christianity and hope of salvation. Heard of them with detestation. Heard by common fame that one Zouch Townley made them, a scholar and a divine, and a student of Christ Church, Oxford. On a Sunday after examinant had heard Mr. Townley preach at St. Margaret's in Westminster, Mr. Townley taking a liking to a dagger with a white haft which examinant ordinarily wore at his girdle, examinant gave it to him two nights after, being invited by Townley to supper, but without any relation to these verses.

Oct. 27. Warrant for continuing to John Harrison, his Majesty's Agent in Barbary, his allowance of 40*s.* per diem, until his return. [Docquet.]

Oct. 27. Grant to John Cowper and John Clerke, during their lives, of the office of Surveyor and Keeper of his Majesty's Armoury in the Tower and at East Greenwich; with authority to the Master of the Armoury to nominate a successor to either of them. [Docquet.]

Oct. 27. Presentation of Richard Peck to the vicarage of Collumpton in co. Devon and diocese of Exeter, ad corroborandum titulum. [Docquet.]

1628. VOL. CXIX.

Oct. 27. Grant to John Browne and John Symes, at the nomination of Dame Anne Portman, widow, of the benefit which may accrue to his Majesty out of lands in cos. Somerset and Devon by reason of the outlawry of Sir Nicholas Halswell and Sir Richard Gifford. [Docquet.]

Oct. 27. Westminster. 34. The King to William Earl of Pembroke, Chancellor of the University of Oxford. The King has not forgotten the tumults lately raised by occasion of choice of proctors. He will not longer endure that manner of choice, but, finding more peaceable and orderly proceeding in the way taken at the other University, is about to establish the like, though not the same, manner of choice at Oxford, and to begin a course at Easter next for the several colleges to have proctors in their turns. This course the King has maturely considered, and will not that they of the University shall meddle with or have power to alter it, for it would be an endless contention should it be referred to them, therefore the King will not have it stirred in anything, nevertheless the business shall be settled in convocation, and the Earl is to send to the University a draft of the necessary statutes for consideration. If they think fit to alter anything, they are to return the same, and the King will consider the alterations, and allow them, if they be just and material, and not otherwise. [Copy.]

Oct. 27. 35. Original draft of the same in Bishop Laud's hand.

Oct. [27]. 36. Statutes concerning the circle of Proctors to be confirmed in Convocation. [With many alterations by Bishop Laud, and indorsed by him as being "the first draft in form."]

Oct. 27. Newcastle-upon-Tyne. 37. Certificate of the Mayor and Aldermen of Newcastle-upon-Tyne, as Commissioners for the Conservancy of the River Tyne, to the Council, of their proceedings from Easter to Michaelmas, 1628.

Oct. 27. 38. Francis Earl of Rutland to Sec. Conway. Recommends Markham Thorold, who has a petition to the King, which the Earl will be ready to second. A prohibition in a cause of marriage is endeavoured by his adversaries, a thing without precedent against his Majesty's Prerogative Royal.

Oct. 27. Sergeants' Inn. 39. Sir Thomas Richardson, Lord Chief Justice of the Common Pleas, to the same. Beseeches him to let his Majesty know that a complaint made against him is unjust. There is no prohibition granted. A motion was made for one, but it being a cause of exceeding great weight, and concerning the King's prerogative (which Sir Thomas shall ever be careful to preserve), the Court forbore to grant it, but ordered a stay of examination of witnesses until it be further heard. He is but one of four. His opinion was that they who moved for the prohibition should be suitors to his Majesty for his direction. If the King require any further satisfaction, shall be ready to give it.

Oct. 27. 40. Deputy Lieutenants of co. Hants to Sec. Conway. Having mustered the forces of their county, they report the condition of both horse and foot.

Oct. 27. The Vanguard. 41. Capt. Nicholas Parker to Nicholas. In reply to letter of Sir Thomas Aylesbury as to how they were manned and their wants, has sent up his purser and gunner. Dutch men-of-war and East Indiamen outward bound come into the Downs with many Englishmen in them, desires to know whether he may take those men or no. There are now in the Downs six Dutch East Indiamen. Four English East Indiamen had just arrived, wafted by a man-of-war, Capt. Berkeley, who had fought three sail of Frenchmen and put them to the worst, and had taken one of their ships, which is at Falmouth.

Oct. 27. 42. Affidavit of Thomas King, of Durham, Notary Public, that John Cosin, B.D., and Prebendary of Durham, in the house of Ann Tyler, at a great Court dinner, said, King Charles is not supreme head of the Church of England next under Christ, nor has he any more power of excommunication than my man that rubs my horse's heels.

Oct. 27. 43. Acquittance of William Caldwall, of Battersea, for 10*l.* received of Edward Nicholas, being a quarter's rent of a house in King Street, Westminster; 15*s.* due for the stable was not paid.

Oct. 27. 44. Examination of Richard Chambers, of London, merchant, taken before Attorney General Heath, concerning words spoken by him at the Council Board on September 28 last:—"They [the merchants] are in no part of the world so screwed and wrung as in England. In Turkey they have more encouragement." Confesses he spoke the first part of the words in the Custom House. The latter part, "In Turkey, &c.," he denies.

Oct. 27. 45. Order of the proceeding to the funeral of Fulke Lord Brooke from Warwick Castle to the Great Church.

Oct. 28. Welbeck. 46. William Earl of Newcastle to the Council. On September 21 last the King commanded him to muster the forces of his lieutenancy, wherein there has been heretofore, as his Majesty conceives, too much partiality and connivancy. To give the King satisfaction, he intimates that the certificates of the last musters which the Council lately received truly and really represent the state of the trained forces.

Oct. 28. 47. Sec. Conway to Lord Treasurer Weston. Conway's son-in-law, Sir William Smith, requests a licence to fell certain wood which, among other things, he holds by lease from his Majesty at Ankerwick, near Staines. [Copy.]

1628. VOL. CXIX.

Oct. 28. 48. Sec. Conway to Sir Thomas Richardson, Lord Chief Justice of the Common Pleas. Complaint is made to his Majesty of a prohibition granted in the Common Pleas in the cause of Mr. Thorold. The King was giving directions for Sir Thomas's attendance upon him, but afterwards commanded the Secretary to speak to him and give his Majesty an accompt. Requests Sir Thomas to call at his chamber that afternoon or the morrow morning. [Copy; perhaps misdated 28th instead of 27th, if indeed the letter of Sir Thomas Richardson, dated on the 27th, and which seems to be a reply, be not itself misdated.]

Oct. 28. Minute of the same. [Conway's Letter Book, p. 317.]

Oct. 28. Whitehall. 49. The same to the Countess of Livingston. Cannot join with Lord Dorchester in soliciting her pension, that Lord being obliged to confine himself to his chamber by a pain in his leg, but Conway will do what she wishes, and give her an account thereof. [Copy.]

Oct. 28. 50. Petition of Abraham and Thomas Chambrelan and other merchants to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty. Their ship, the Jacob, of Bristol, was pressed by Capt. Buxton, and employed as a victualler under Lord Denbigh. On his return she was discharged without pay. On proceeding from Plymouth to Dartmouth she was taken by a French man-of-war, and afterwards rescued by Capt. Scras, who brought her into Southampton, where he keeps her, hoping to make prize of her. Pray that she may be restored on a reasonable recompence to Capt. Scras.

Oct. 28. Aboard the Seven Stars, near Queenborough. 51. Capt. John Duffell to Nicholas. Sends a person for an answer to his letter of the 24th instant. Would have come himself, but gives attendance to stay Burlamachi's barks with ordnance, until he receives directions from Nicholas.

Oct. 28. 52. A Paper Book, containing :—I. Eight passages from sermons and prayers of John Vicars, parson of St. Mary's, Stamford, tending to the disgrace of the temporal magistrate; II. Three similar passages tending to the disgrace of the clergy; III. Seven similar passages containing errors of opinion and practice touching the divine service; IV. Nineteen similar passages containing strange points of doctrine; V. Order of acknowledgment of his errors enjoined upon John Vicars by Bishop Williams, of Lincoln. (1628, October 28.)

Oct. 28. 53. Examination of Owen Hughes, of London, haberdasher, taken by Attorney General Heath. Knows Lieutenant John Felton, because his mother lodges in the examinant's house in Fleet-street, and he has come to and fro to his mother there. Was not in his company last Bartholomew tide, and had no speeches with him concerning the Duke of Buckingham.

[Oct. 28 ?] 54. Robert Bankworth, D.D., to Sir Nicholas Coote. Information that Mrs. Prince, daughter to Dr. Grant, at St. James's tide, uttered the following words at the informant's table :—" That a Scotchman coming to London affirmed that the last King was poisoned by the Duke, with the consent of our sovereign," and that she had it at home in writing.

[Oct. 28?] 55. Robert Bankworth, D.D., to Sir Nicholas Coote. Another similar information, in which the precise words charged to have been spoken are not stated. [The Scotchman alluded to was Robert Melvin.]

Oct. 28. 56. Examination of Susanna Prince, wife of John Prince, who denies that she ever spoke the words charged against her by Dr. Bankworth; and also examinations of Dionisia Grant, wife of Dr. Grant, and Edward Grant, son of Dr. Grant, all of whom deny that they heard any such words spoken.

Oct. 28. 57. Particular by Sir Paul Harris, Surveyor of the Ordnance, of munitions sent to Dover for three ships which were cast away in Calais Road, and which munitions were consequently left in the custody of Peter Dibbs; with a survey of the powder remaining in Dover Castle.

Oct. 29. 58. Answers of Henry Burton, clerk, to articles objected against him by the Commissioners for causes ecclesiastical. Conceives that a proclamation and injunction alluded to concern booksellers and printers, not authors. Of his several books he has given to divers of his friends, and not sold, 100 copies. "The Baiting of the Pope's Bull" was licensed, the others were not, by default of the printers. "Israel's Fast," "The Trial of Private Devotions," and "The Conflicts and Comforts of Conscience," were printed by Michael Sparkes, and "A Plea to an Appeal," and "The Seven Vials," were printed by William Jones. Is confident there is nothing in them repugnant to the doctrine or discipline of the Church of England.

Oct. 30. 59. Charles Lord Lambert to [Sec. Conway]. Complains that Lanhydrock. Nicholas Borlase, one of the Commissioners of the Subsidy, without the consent of Mr. Cosowarth, his fellow Commissioner, has inserted Lord Lambert's name in the subsidy roll, he being by birth an Irishman, and paying subsidies in that country, not having a foot of land in England, and being in Cornwall only with a view to the settlement of a private affair with his father-in-law, concerning Lord Lambert's wife's portion. He sat in the last parliament, and knows he is not within the intention of the framers of the act. Instances Viscount Chichester, a peer of Ireland, now residing in Devonshire, where he has a great estate, but not rated by virtue of this act. Borlase's proceedings are vindictive, Lord Lambert having joined in taking examinations against Borlase, who is a recusant and a dangerous fellow.

Oct. 31. 63. Notes for Sec. Conway of cases to be proceeded with, ore tenus, in the Star Chamber this day. The first is that of Jo. Hiron alias Robert Rich alias Robert Savage, who falsely represented himself to have been confederate with Felton in the assassination of the Duke of Buckingham; the second, that of Andrew Banyer, who harboured Hiron, believing him to have been confederate with Felton; the third, that of Sir Edward Herne, who caused Richard Luxford, who repaired to Surfleet, co. Lincoln, with letters patent for a contribution for Rye harbour, to be whipped as a rogue.

[Oct. 31 ?] 64. Petition of John Durrant to the Council. On some false information, was attached, on Saturday last, in Norfolk, by Robert Ayres, messenger. Being a poor tradesman, prays that he may forthwith come to his answer.

[Oct. ?] 66. Petition of Andrew Murray to the King. Having been employed to procure deer for the King in Brandenburgh, he had reported the answer of the Duke of that country, and the great pains he had bestowed therein. Understanding by Lord Conway that the King is not willing to bestow so much present money as the charges of transporting the deer will amount to, Murray prays that money may be advanced to him to go to the Duke to return an answer.

Oct. 67. Sec. Conway to [Attorney General Heath]. To prepare a pardon for James Glanville, of Plymouth, for killing John Johnson, the fact having been found to be only manslaughter.

[Oct. ?] 73. F. V[ernatt] to Mons. St. Gillis. The absence of Mr. Vermuyden, and the great interest the writer takes in the business of embankment at Haxey, has led him to engage in it with eye and hand. The mutinous people have not only desisted from their threats, but now give their work to complete the dike, which they have fifty times destroyed and thrown into the river. A royal proclamation made by a sergeant-at-arms in their village, accompanied by the sheriff and other officials, with 50 horsemen, and an exhortation mingled with threats of fire and vengeance, have produced this result. When the work is completed will meet him in London. The writer's letters were unnecessary, as an introduction to the Venetian Ambassador. Private affairs. Sends every Saturday to Doncaster for letters. Fr.

When the St. Mary was taken the King conferred the command on the petitioner, who, with other adventurers, set her forth under letters of marque. She was afterwards taken up for the Isle of Rhé, and on her return was cast away in Catwater. At petitioner's great cost and labour he weighed her up, and saved all that belonged to his Majesty, but with the loss of six months' provisions for 150 men, which has almost made petitioner a beggar. By reason of sickness taken by overlabouring himself in setting forth the pinks, he was prevented going to Rochelle, but being now almost recovered, he prays for employment.

Nov. 6. Portsmouth. 21. William Towerson, jun., to Sec. Conway. This day, between 11 and 12 at noon, arrived the Eighth and Ninth Whelps, who sailed with the whole fleet from Rochelle on October 31, and the same night lost them in a great storm. Rochelle was surrendered to the King of France on October 26.

By importunity of some of the salters of London, by reason of the present scarcity of flax, as appears by their annexed certificate, petitioner imported some small quantities thereof, which the Eastland merchants have complained. Petitioner has endeavoured to give them satisfaction, but they being unreasonable in their demands, he prays the Council to take order for his relief. Annexed,

Nov. 7. Portsmouth. 25. Sir Francis Willoughby to Sec. Conway. Shall use his best endeavour to prevent it.

Nov. 9. 26. Petition of Charles Halloway, of the Inner Temple, to the Council. Sir John Mason, a counsellor of estate to Edward VI., having been a great benefactor to Christ's Hospital at Abingdon, founded by that King, it was ordained by the statutes which Sir John was authorized to make for that foundation, that the Auditor of the same should be Recorder of the town. On the death of Walter Dayrell, petitioner was elected Auditor and Recorder, but the present Mayor and certain of the burgesses have deposed the petitioner, and superelected Thomas Teisdall. Pray that the Mayor and the other parties may be sent for to give account of their proceedings.

Nov. 9. Portsmouth. 27. Kenrick Edisbury to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty. Sudden arrival of the fleet, and distress of the soldiers on board, having in some ships wanted beer three weeks already, and in most of them for 10 or 12 days. About 24 ships have already come into harbour, and divers others are in sight. No service can be done to lessen the King's charge till the landsmen be discharged, and means provided to victual the seamen that must carry the ships

Nov. 10. Portsmouth. 29. William Towerson, junior, to the same. Delivered his letter to the captains of the Eighth and Ninth Whelps, but they informed Lord Morton of all passages, knowing themselves not able to give such ample relation as he could. Arrival of various ships, but not of the Lord General. Mr. Carleton, his secretary, is just arrived from Plymouth, who reports that a victualler left him some leagues to the westward of the Seames, with some 20 sail of ships, collecting the ships which were lost in the storm. P.S.—Capt. Jewell has stayed divers Flemings at Cowes. The Garland has just arrived, and the Lord General "by all imaginations" is seen to the westward of the Isle of Wight. The Secretary's son, Ralph Conway, has arrived, and will hasten to him. Incloses,

Inclose returns from Deputy Lieutenants of Northumberland and Cumberland. From Westmoreland they have only heard that their arms are in readiness. Inclosed,

33. I. Deputy Lieutenants of Cumberland to Henry Lord Clifford. Have agreed of a list of 40 horse and 250 foot as Westmoreland has done, and have provided arms for both. It would be difficult to advance the horse to 50 unless they might have help from the clergy. For mustering they submit the time of year and the lateness of the harvest are against it. Carlisle, October 8, 1628.

33. II. Deputy Lieutenants of Northumberland to Francis Earl of Cumberland and Henry Lord Clifford. It is not possible to raise the required number of horse and foot in that county, but by charging the lands at the old rents, which they gave directions to do. A part were contented and paid the money, but the greatest part will not do so, excepting against its legality. Not daring to proceed, they request instructions. Morpeth, October 31, 1628.

Pray directions, and order for payment of 100*l.* disbursed last year for billeting Irish soldiers.

Nov. 12. 43. Petition of William Smith to the same. Served in the Red Lion, Capt. Pennington, at the Isle of Rhé. Prays order for his release.

Nov. 12. Elmore. 44. Sir William Guise to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty. Has made no profits of his Vice Admiralty during the last two years.

Nov. 12. Portsmouth. 45. Sir Guilford Slingsby to the same. The whole fleet is safely arrived, except the Sixth Lion's Whelp, Capt. Pett, and the Esperance, Capt. Skipwith, both supposed to be cast away. Want of money to pay the fleet. No ships have gone into Plymouth. Requests that the money intended for that place should be assigned to Portsmouth, and that they will give further directions respecting the money already stated by Mr. Edisbury to be necessary. Difficulty in repairing the King's ships on account of the exhausted state of the stores, the excessive prices demanded by merchants, and the want of means to ground large ships at that place. Want of victuals will produce many mutineers.

Nov. 12. Westminster. 46. Sec. Conway to Lord Keeper Coventry. Is informed by the good and worthy Mother of the Maids that he has stayed a pardon granted to John Dale. The suit was by the Mother of the Maids, and the relation, that this youth, in a hunting and sporting journey, took some victuals out of a house without hurting any man. [Copy.]

[Underwritten is a reference to the Attorney General, who, finding the invention new, is to prepare a grant of privilege.] Annexed,

50. I. Statement, signed by the above petitioners, of the several ways of procuring salt in use, and of the nature of their invention.

Nov. 13. Barnstaple. 51. Mayor and another of Barnstaple to the Council. Since their last letter there has arrived the Vanity [Unity], of Hull, belonging to the Rochelle fleet, wherein are Capt. Talbot and 15 soldiers lately come out of Rochelle, having been there during the siege. The ship was driven into Barnstaple by stress of weather; and the soldiers, by reason of the famine in Rochelle, are so weakened that they are not able to travel. They have entreated to be received into Barnstaple until they recover their strength. Crave directions.

Nov. 13. Plymouth. 52. Sir James Bagg to the same. Has stayed such of the Dutch ships as are laden with masts, which if not bought for the King's store will be taken by merchants there. Victuallers sent to Portsmouth. Capt. Powell will take the next wind. In the Goshawk arrived Capts. Porter, Tillier, and Shephard, whose three companies muster 65. They landed weak men in regard of the hunger they had endured, and yet are not recovered. They were refused at Plymouth, but Bagg has quartered them at Stonehouse, and pays for their billet. Ships of the fleet there. Sends list of the French arrived. They all but Bragneau intend to live here. His ship is said to be the best sailer that swims. Suggests its purchase. Has sent money to Barnstaple to relieve Capt. Talbot and his company until they are able to go to their homes. [Copy, unsigned.]

Nov. 13. 53. Sec. Conway to Lord Treasurer Weston. Sends a petition of Mr. Plowden, the Secretary's host while the Court was at Southwick. The petition was delivered to the King, who commanded it to be given to the Secretary, and to say that he would give order in it; but, lest long attendance may prejudice the petitioner, the Secretary has advised him to put himself upon the Lord Treasurer's goodness. [Copy.]

Nov. 13. 54. The same to the Lord Keeper Coventry. Sends a copy of the same petition mentioned above, with a request for him to make such order therein as justice and his Majesty's interest require. [Copy.]

Nov. 13. Minute of the same. [Conway's Letter Book, p. 318.]

Nov. 13. 55. The same to Robert Earl of Lindsey. Is glad of his safe return. The King thinks it fit that he make his repair to the Court with his first conveniency, and not only gives him leave to dispose the things under his charge, and then to come away to attend his Majesty, but invites him to it. [Copy.]

Nov. 13. Minute of the same. [Conway's Letter Book, p. 318.]

Nov. 13. Aboard the Vanguard. 56. Capt. Nicholas Parker to Nicholas. Has not at that instant above nine days' victuals, and that for the most part defective, so that he has much ado to keep his company from mutiny. Sends copy of a warrant given by Sir John Hippisley to certain Dutch ships bound for France with prohibited goods, and solicits his advice thereon.

[Nov. 13?] 57. Philip Burlamachi to the same. Sends names of five ships to go with victuals to Gluckstadt, and requests the necessary letters. The Earl of Lindsey and all the fleet have arrived except the St. Andrew and one other, which it is hoped will shortly come in.

Nov 13 [?] 58. Lucy Countess of Carlisle to James Earl of Carlisle. Is sorry that the messenger returns to him. Apprehends his stay will be longer than she had cause to think. Though not yet fit for a Court, by persuasion of friends had been there for a short time. Is now returned to Essex House, where she has the company of her sister. If he saw the little gallantry that is in our Court, he would believe it were no great adventure to come thither after having the small-pox, for it is most desolate, and she has no great desire to return till she is made happy with his company.

Nov. 14. Westminster. Warrant to pay to Francis Wethered, surveyor of the King's stables, 209*l.* 4*s.*, for reparations done in the stables at the mews, St. James's, and at Shene. [Sign Man., Car. I., Vol. x., No. 7.]

1628. VOL. CXX.

Nov. 14. 59. Petition of Isabel Musgrave, widow of Lieutenant Francis Musgrave, to the King. Petitioner's husband served Lieutenant in the expeditions to Cadiz and the Isle of Rhé, and at the assault of the citadel in the latter place, leading on the forlorn hope, valiantly lost his life. His poor estate had been pawned to furnish himself for these services. The late Duke promised petitioner a nomination of a baronet, but since his death the King had told her that he would not grant any more of that kind, but if she could find any other suit he would grant it. Prays for a gift of the old prize ship, the St. Peter, of Calais, appraised at 247*l.* [Nicholas has endorsed on this petition, that the Lord Steward moved the King therein, and sent word by Mr. Oldisworth for Nicholas to prepare a warrant under the Signet, in accordance with the prayer of the petitioner.]

Nov. 14. Mr. Hendry's House, at Portsmouth. 60. Kenrick Edisbury to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty. Reports the result of a muster of the ships' companies of the ships returned. To pay all the ships for six months will require 29,430*l.*; to pay the King's ships 12,852*l.* The captains and pursers are studying to spin time to let their pay run on, and labour to disable the repairing of their ships there. The common mariner is glad of his fredom. Capt. Mason proposes to pay off 500 a day. Edisbury suggests a quicker despatch. Unable to muster the landsmen on account of other work and confusion. A true list can be made out from the pursers' accounts and Mr. Cottington's [Carleton's?] roll, that is, "my Lord's secretary." Suggests paying off the captains and lieutenants, and sending the ships round under charge of the masters. In that case 20,000*l.* must be sent down, in addition to the 5,000*l.* already come. Various other suggestions for saving the King's charge, also for providing oakum and other things necessary for repairs. The St. Andrew has arrived, with loss of topmasts and bowsprit. They shall pay out all their money this week. Incloses,

60. I. List of ships employed in the fleet for Rochelle, under the Earl of Lindsey, with the numbers of men allowed and mustered for each ship, being the basis of Edisbury's calculations in the preceding letter.

Nov. 14. 61. Petition of Henry Yong, John Lisney, and Thomas Hall, gunners of the Rainbow, Bonaventure, and St. Mary, to the same. Have attended in town six weeks to obtain order to bring about their ships from Plymouth. Pray for allowance for expenses of journey and stay in London. [Underwritten is an answer by the Commissioners that the allowance demanded is without precedent. 1629, January 10.]

Nov. 14. 62. Petition of John Neale, anchorsmith to his Majesty, living at Deptford, to the same. Petitioner, who is employed in the King's service, and all his pains, night and day, being little enough, has of late been chosen constable of the parish. Prays for a warrant to free him from all parish offices.

Nov. 14. 63. Petition of Francis Gargrave, Deputy Vice Admiral of co. York, to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty. Robert Cutbert and others, fishermen, found a dead body in the Humber. They took out of his pocket 63 "pieces of gold and 5*l.* in money," which they delivered to the petitioner. The body was challenged to be that of Christopher Dickenson's man of York, whereupon the finders of the body were prosecuted in the Court of the Lord President and Council, and decreed to pay back the money, and fined 5*l.*, which is a contempt of the jurisdiction of the Admiralty, and an utter undoing of the fishermen.

Nov. 14. Whitehall. 64. Sec. Conway to Sir Thomas Richardson, Lord Chief Justice of the Common Pleas. His Majesty takes it in his power undeniably to grant a review. He has been solicited to write a mandatory in Mr. Thorold's case, but for respect to him and that bench has forborne it, and has commanded the Secretary to speak with them. Desires an appointment for that purpose, and advises them to make no further proceeding to tie the King from the just prerogative he takes himself to have to grant reviews.

Nov. 14. Minute of the same. [Conway's Letter Book, p. 318.]

[Nov. 14.] 65. The King to [the Judges of the Court of Common Pleas]. That that they forbear to grant a prohibition in the case of Markham Thorold and Mary Havers. [Draft; probably the mandatory alluded to in the preceding letter.]

Nov. 14. Portsmouth. 66. Kenrick Edisbury to Nicholas. Sends his letter of this date to the Commissioners of the Admiralty [No. 60], and one to Edisbury's son. Sir Guilford Slingsby is there, and all the officers' clerks, all which gives no ease at all to Edisbury.

Nov. 14. The same to Edmund Earl of Mulgrave. To send the Earl of Desmond's daughter to Court, or, if he conveniently may, to bring her himself. [Minute. Conway's Letter Book, p. 318.]

Nov. 15. Grant of Baronetage to Robert Wolseley, of Norton, co. Stafford, [Docquet.]

[Coll. Procs., Car. I., No. 96.]

Nov. 15. 67. Petition of Henry Tompson to the Council, for permission to export 200 fodders of lead, to perform a contract entered into by the petitioners' factors abroad in ignorance of the general restraint. [Licence granted, Co. Reg., Vol. iv., p. 581.]

Nov. 15. 68. Petition of John Hill [and three others] to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty. Petitioner set forth the Pilgrim and her pinnace, the Friendship, of Weymouth, formerly the Sarah and Katherine of Youghal, with letters of reprisal. The latter vessel captured a Brazil man, and put into Youghal. The prize was condemned in the English Court of Admiralty, but in the meantime it was seized by Sir Robert Travers, on pretence that the Friendship of Weymouth was not the Sarah and Katherine of Youghal, and consequently that there were no letters of reprisal to warrant the capture. All evidence upon the subject has been refused to be admitted. Prays for a speedy remedy. [Underwritten is a reference to Sir Henry Marten to certify his opinion.] Annexed,

68. 1. Report of Sir Henry Marten, that the prize was justly taken under letters of marque, and that the petitioners ought to enjoy the same as lawful prize. 1628, November 21.

Is given to understand that Mr. Paumes [Palmes], of one of the Temples, has challenged Mr. Stafford, both men of quality, and they are going over seas to end their quarrel. They are to be at Gravesend to go with these pinks for Flushing. Beseeches that it may not be known whence the information comes.

Nov. 15. Portsmouth. 71. Henry Holt to Nicholas. Great distress of the whole fleet and Scottish regiment for want of beer, and within five days of all other provisions. The Lord General "did take Holt this morning 200*l.* for beer only, which will not provide above 100 tons," and will be all spent in five days. No man will brew until they know how they shall be paid. The debts due to the country before the fleet went to sea amount to 2,600*l.*, and there is due to Holt above 4,000*l.* No man will trust him, and for Southampton and Newport, the debts he owes there are so great that he dares not go among them. Will be willing to repair the King's brewhouse at his own charge, if he may have the money due to him. His crying debts make him write with watery eyes. Himself, his three sons and servants, are willing to do their best so as money may be had to pay the country, and keep their credit.

Nov. 15. Portsmouth. 72. Capt. Richard Plumleigh to the same. To satisfy him, gives a breviate of the late expedition. The Councils held were rather tumults. Every man spake, and nothing was put to votes but what Weddell and Chudleigh for sea, and Willoughby and Scott for land, thought fit. After the first falling on, when the main business by men of most judgment was thought unfeasible, and the most which the General seemed to desire was only the firing of some 30 sail of small shipping, not worth the while, there was a council called for a second attempt, but Weddell, by whom the General was wholly ruled, could not be persuaded to alter the first form. After its failure, a third and fourth attempt were made, but the sailors were cowed by the batteries on shore, and no good was done. They came home with ten days' victuals through a dangerous bay; what they suffered in the passage, the fleet itself will speak. The Esperance is lost, the Desire pinnace, the Sixth Whelp, and the Admiral of Rochelle.

Nov. 15. 73. Statement by [Walter] Montagu of the misconduct of Richard Pratt, of East Cowes, who having carried Mr. Montagu on the King's business over to Cherbourg, returned with a safe conduct of the governor of the town, granted on Pratt's word and Montagu's written assurance that Pratt should not commit any hostility on his return, which he violated by capturing the Phœnix, and bringing her into England, where she was judged prize.

Nov. 15. 74. Return, of Sir Richard Wenman, Sheriff of co. Oxford, to a writ of extent against the lands of Sir Richard Baker, Sir Thomas Baker, and Arthur Baker. The jury find that Sir Richard Baker, on April 24, 1625, on which day he became a debtor to the Crown, was seised of the manor of Middle Aston, which had been taken into the hands of the Crown, but that Sir Thomas Baker and Arthur Baker had no lands or chattels in that county. [Copy.]

Nov. 16. Whitehall. 75. Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty to Sec. Conway, Vice Admiral of co. Hants. A fleet of Dutch ships bound for France is stayed at Cowes, by the Second Lion's Whelp, in which it is said there are divers masts and much cordage. He is to unlade the masts and cordage, and keep the same on shore for his Majesty's service, and afterwards to permit the Dutch ships to pass on their voyage.

Nov. 16. Whitehall. 76. The same to the same. To cause Richard Pratt, who carried Mr. Montagu into France, to be brought before the writers to answer matters objected against him.

Nov. 16. Portsmouth. 77. Kenrick Edisbury to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty. Received 3,000*l.* sent from Sir Sackville Crow, being in all 8,000*l.*, part of 25,000*l.* The St. Andrew is so damaged that she cannot be made ready in short time, to be transported thence; but the loss of the Sixth Whelp and the Esperance, a Newcastle ship, will countervail the increase from this circumstance. The Commissioners conceive that all these seamen's pays commence from the last of May, but some of the ships are nine months behind. Began to pay on Friday. The Swiftsure, Bonaventure, and three fireships have been cleared; they will pay one day with another 1,200*l.* Prays further supplies, victuals for the ships that are to come about, and order for sale of decayed cordage.

Nov. 16. Sergeants' Inn. 78. Sir Thomas Richardson, Lord Chief Justice of the Common Pleas, to Sec. Conway. He and his brethren will to-morrow morning, about eight o'clock, attend his Lordship, or any other morning at that hour. They will do nothing in that cause but what the duty of their places shall require.

Nov. 16. Portsmouth. 79. Kenrick Edisbury to Nicholas. Receipt of 3,000*l.* Will acquaint Sir Paul Harris to inquire of the ordnance saved out of the Kathleen prize, into the Dreadnought. Shows that it cannot be true that there were but 100 seamen in that ship all the voyage. Never saw better appearance of men generally; hears not of above five or six seamen dead this voyage. No course taken to remove the Scottish regiment which, besides their discontent for want of victuals, breeds much distraction and hindrance, and will lead to violent consequences.

Nov. 16. Tehidie. 80. Francis Bassett to the same. Rejoices that he has again taken the "manage" of the Admiralty. Understands from Sir Francis Godolphin that letters are to be sent to all Vice Admirals commanding their personal attendance at London. The journey is so very, very long, the weather so unseasonable, and his account so poor, that he hopes to be excused. Has sent his accounts to Thomas Wyan. Uncertainty of receipt of Nicholas's letters.

Nov. 16. Portsmouth. 81. Sir Paul Harris to Nicholas. Reports proceedings in surveying the remains of ordnance stores aboard the fleet. About 1,000 barrels of powder in the ships. No ships of value wanting, but the Sixth Whelp and the Esperance. The ten field-carriages, and all the spare great shot, cast away in the Flying Hart, which might well have been saved. What were best to do with the powder? Thinks it were best to send it up in ships bound for London. Has received arms from the English soldiers; they have their swords by order of the General, and being unruly, have stolen many of their muskets, whereof he will draw a particular so that the captains may be charged. Capt. Jewell has charge of some prizes. He is very nimble and is suspected of playing foul play. He stabbed on the high seas Nicholas's friend Pilkington, so that he is fain to come in a cart to London, being lamed for ever.

VOL. CXXI. NOVEMBER 17—30, 1628.

Nov. 17. Westminster. Warrant for discharge of the first fruits of the bishopric of London, being 1,019*l.* 8*s.* 4*d.* to Bishop Laud, he having, in the present necessity of the King's affairs, well known to him as a Privy Councillor, paid the same to his Majesty in one payment. [Coll. Sign Man., Car. I., Vol. x., No. 8.]

Nov. 17. Whitehall. 1. Sec. Conway to Lord President Marlborough. A dispute respecting the claims of two wives of one Atkinson in Ireland was formerly determined, on the Lord President's certificate, in favour of the second wife. The Prerogative Court in Ireland having decreed the first to be the lawful wife, petition has been made that the land may descend to her issue. The King having referred the matter to the Secretary, he solicits an interview thereon with the Lord President. [Copy.]

Nov. 18. Grant to Robert Grymes of lands in co. Montgomery, being part of the lordships of Kerry and Kedewen, at the rent of 15*l.* 10*s.* 10*d.*, and on payment of a fine of 150*l.* [Docquet.]

Nov. 18. 4. Copies of the two previous Docquets of a grant and warrant to Ralph Maddison.

Nov. 18. 5. Petition of Capt. Richard Quaile to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty. Explains his services in setting forth the pinks, in which he took a lameness, and in saving the St. Mary when cast away in Catwater, which have almost constrained him to beggary. Prays that the examination of his accompts may be referred to Sir John Wolstenholme and William Burrell, with power to give warrant to Sir Sackville Crow to imprest 40*l.* or 50*l.* to defray the charges of his sickness. [Underwritten is the answer of the Commissioners, that they cannot take notice of any charge to be cast upon the King on a bare petition without further ground or warrant. Whitehall, 1629, January 10.]

Nov. 18. Portsmouth. 6. Sir Guilford Slingsby to William Earl of Pembroke, Lord Steward, and one of the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty. Conceives the Commissioners will appoint some shipping to guard those coasts, for the French men-of-war are so frequent there that no small shipping can stir abroad. Begs he may be nominated Admiral, as his predecessors, Sir Henry Palmer, Mr. Burrowes, and Mr. Holdstock, Comptrollers of the Navy, were in like cases.

Nov. 18. Southampton. 7. John Ellzey to Nicholas. Prize news. Sends particulars of the "Crammery ware" received for tenths of Capt. Scras through the misconduct of Brooks. Brooks has sent up the appraisement to the Court, and has kept no double of it. A French bark taken by Capt. Tibbalt [Theobald], with 110 pipes of new Malaga wine, and 40 barrels of raisins of the sun. Inclosed,

7. I. Particulars above mentioned.

Nov. 18. 8. List of masters of ships, subjects of Denmark, who desire passes to carry deal boards into France, and bring from thence salt and wine.

Nov. 19. Whitehall. 9. The King to Attorney General Heath. By reason of the lamentable fire fallen in the House of the Ambassador to (sic) the States, divers trunks, chests, commissions, letters, and papers of great consequence are dispersed and taken away. He is to prepare a proclamation that such things be carried to the Italian Ordinary in the Strand.

[Nov. 19.] 10. Petition of John Giffard to the Council. Petitioner has authority for making saltpetre in cos. Gloucester, Somerset, Devon, and Cornwall, with power to take up carts and carriages for the said service. In September last he charged the constables within co. Gloucester to provide carts for carriage of coals from the coal pit at Westerley to Tetbury, but not half the persons who were warned sent carts, and the justices of peace refuse assistance. Prays for Letters of Assistance.

Nov. 19. Whitehall. 11. Commissioners of Subsidy to Sec. Conway, to pay 20*l.*, his assessment to the fourth subsidy granted in the last Parliament, to Edward Legge, collector, attending at the Lord Keeper's at Durham House.

Nov. 19. The Vanguard, in Queenborough Road. 12. Capt. Nicholas Parker to Nicholas. Has arrived at Queenborough, and waits order whether he shall go into Chatham or Deptford. Capt. Dunning was neither in the Downs, Dover, nor Sandwich. Left his letter for him in the Downs.

Nov. 19. Portsmouth. 13. Thomas Austen to the same. Is bound to him for remembrance in his absence. Hopes he shall repay Sec. Coke's favour by industry and care. Purposed, as soon as the Dreadnought was secured and paid, to have come to London to tender his service to Nicholas, but received a countermand to go about with the Happy Entrance to Chatham, whence he will wait upon him.

Nov. 19. 14. Sir Guilford Slingsby to Francis [Matthew?] Brooke, Clerk of the Cheque at Portsmouth. Under a warrant from the Earl of Lindsey he is to enter Philip Spicer, deputy-boatswain of the St. George, to be boatswain of the Happy Entrance.

[Nov. 19?] 15. List of names of various persons, with notes of business respecting them to be transacted by the Council. Amongst them:—"George Baynard to be sent for by the Lords." A messenger was this day sent to fetch up George Baynard from Basingstoke. [Reg. Concil., iv., 582.]

1628. VOL. CXXI.

Nov. 19. 16. Richarge Bargrave, Marshal to the Regiment of Sir James Livingstone, to John Evans, of the Strand, Innholder. Power of Attorney for Evans to receive money due to Bargrave for the King of Denmark, until he be satisfied for Evans's board and lodging.

Nov. 20. 17. The King to Attorney General Heath. To prepare a bill for a grant to Sir Arthur Mainwaring, one of the Gentlemen of the Privy Chamber, of the office of Lieutenant of the Castle and Forest of Windsor.

Nov. 20. The same to Bishop Bridgeman, of Chester, and others. Commission of review at the suit of William Coupland, parson of Gofforth. [Docquet.]

Nov. 20. Grant to Thomas Austen of the office of one of the four principal Masters of the Navy, vacant by the death of Richard Harris. [Docquet.]

Nov. 20. Portsmouth. 18. Kenrick Edisbury to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty. Full report of proceedings in paying off the sailors to be discharged. The money will be paid out on Tuesday night, and if they be at a stand but half a day those that shall be unpaid will be very unruly and incredulous. The muster-master has done his duty very circumspectly this voyage, and great care has been taken to find out the truth. Sir Paul Harris makes accompt of two ships, to transport munition to London. The Dutch pinks lately bought, the masters advise to be run aground close to the walls, and one man to be left in each to keep their shrouds and masts. Progress made in taking the remains of victuals and cordage and surveying hulls. Shipwrights too often report disabled ships as decayed.

Nov. 20. Portsmouth. 19. The same to Nicholas. Have more quiet since the land soldiers are parted from them. All the poor in that country can hardly pick six or seven tons of oakum between that and March, for trimming up the ships in the spring. For the seamen, never saw a company of lustier men. Paid that day 200 mustered by poll in the St. Andrew, besides some few of Lord Newport's retinue. Fears 20,000*l.* will not clear all. Cannot learn of any of the Rochellers on the coast, nor of the Desire and two pinks, besides those granted to be cast away. Mr. Austen appointed to carry round the Happy Entrance.

Nov. 20. Sheerness. 20. Capt. John Duffell to the same. Reports that two ships have come into the river to lade ordnance on accompt of Burlamachi by virtue of an old warrant. Requests directions.

Nov. 20. Essex House. 21. Sir John Townshend, J. Hay, and Robert Allsop, to James Earl of Carlisle. His return to England much desired. The prayers of the public attend him. His Irish patent delayed by the death of the Duke, and now stayed till his coming. The matter of Wapping meets with strong opposition. The cause will come to hearing next term, and the King has written to the Barons to take it into their better care. Ships arrived from St. Christopher's. Meetings to settle the customs. A ship expected with a freight of fish and tobacco on the Earl's account.

Nov. 20. 22. Sir John Townshend to James Earl of Carlisle. Strong desire for his return. Begs him not trust those who wish him to stay. Is in perplexity to hear that his coming is delayed.

Nov. 20. 23. Edward Earl of Norwich to the same. His being on his journey home, is as great joy to his friends as it "amates" the hollow professors of friendship who underhand practise to delay the Earl's coming. Is sorry for the sickness of the sweet and dear James, and is much bound to the Earl for so often thinking of him for a courser, which will be a great dainty here in England.

Nov. 20. St. Martin's-in-the-Fields. 24. James Earl of Marlborough, Lord President, to the same. The Lord President's feeble heart has enjoyed more comfort from Lord Carlisle's letters than his aged and infirm body can obtain by any physic. Being in a remote country from the isle of his nativity, Lord Carlisle cannot by the rule of natural reason be so healthful, as the amenity of the places of his conversation here can make him, and therefore the writer heartily wishes Lord Carlisle's return, that he may find by the grave's side the print of the carcase of the writer.

Nov. 20. Whitehall. 25. Mary Killigrew to the same. The place she is in will break her heart, the favours are so small and the injuries so great; but if she lives to see the Earl return safe she shall be most happy, for then she may say she has a friend in the Court.

Nov. 20. St. James's. 26. Henry Earl of Danby to the same. The Earl's return is desired for the good of the King's service, whose care and wise courses to repair and restore the commonweal excite more than admiration. His large abilities and royal disposition are no news to Lord Carlisle. Prays that he may pass through Switzerland, and possess all princes and persons with the perfection of "our master," which his subjects at home find and feel in larger measure than his pen can express.

Nov. 21. 27. Sec. Conway to Lord Keeper Coventry. Sends certificate respecting some enormities of late grown up in the northern parts. The Lord Keeper is to call unto him the Attorney General and some others of the King's Council, and advise upon such commissions or proclamations as are proper to be made for preventing further mischief. Sends names of Commissioners. [Copy.]

Nov. 21. Minute of the same, in which the object of the Commission is said to be the suppression of disorders on the northern borders. [Conway's Letter Book, p. 319.]

Nov. 21. 28. Sir Robert Phillips to James Earl of Carlisle. The Earl is now both desired and expected, and as much wanted as either. The service of the best King expects him, the interest of a good people craves his patronage, and his friends wish that he may prove to both, and for both, a profitable and happy instrument.

1628. VOL. CXXI.

Nov. 21. Portsmouth. 29. List, by Capt. William Jewell, of all the prizes taken by the Earl of Lindsey in his voyage to Rochelle.

Nov. 22. Westminster. Sign Man., Car. I., Vol.* x., No. 9.]

Nov. 22. Grant to Henry Earl of Danby and Sir John Danby, on the surrender of Sir Richard Etherington and Thomas Etherington, his son, of the offices of Steward and Receiver of the Honor of of Pickeringleigh, co. York, and Constable of the Castle, and Master of the Game there. [Docquet.]

Nov. 22. Warrant to pay to Philip Burlamachi 600*l.*, for 20 days' victuals for 1,200 men lately come out of Rochelle, whom his Majesty pleased to transport into Scotland at his own charge. [Docquet.]

Nov. 22. The like to Sir George Marshall and others, purchasers of Cole Park and West Park, 250*l.*, for keeping his Majesty's race mares in the said parks from Lady Day till Michaelmas last. [Docquet.]

Nov. 22. The like to the Treasurer of the Chamber, to pay to Nicholas Picart, one of his Majesty's musicians of the violins, for his wages, 30*l.* per annum, and 16*l.* 2*s.* 6*d.* per annum for his entertainment, apparel, and livery for life. [Docquet.]

Nov. 22. The like to pay to Stephen Nau, composer of music for his Majesty's violins, similar allowances of 40 marks, and 16*l.* 2*s.* 6*d.* per annum, to commence from the death of Thomas Lupo. [Docquet.]

Nov. 22. The like to Francis Tunsteed, for preservation of the King's game. of moorcocks, moorhens, and moorpoults, in. co. Derby, and other parts on the north side of Trent. [Docquet.]

Nov. 22. Whitehall. 30. Sec. Conway to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty. His Majesty has given Sir Robert Anstruther, Ambassador to Denmark, leave to return home for a short time. He intends to bring over with him his lady and family. The convoy sent with provisions to Gluckstadt is to attend him on his coming over.

Nov. 22. Minute of the same. [Conway's Letter Book, p. 319.]

[Nov. 22.] 31. Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty to Capt. John Mennes, Captain of the Adventure. Instructions to convoy five victualling ships to Gluckstadt, and deliver their contents to his Majesty's troops in that town. If on his arrival the troops shall not be in that town, he is to follow the directions of Sir Robert Anstruther. Sec. Coke has added a clause in accordance with the preceding letter of Sec. Conway. [Draft.]

Nov. 22. 32. Sir Sackville Crow to Nicholas. Begs him to move the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty for directions respecting the Rainbow, Bonaventure, Mary and Phœnix, at Plymouth. The men of the Lion, Adventure, and Vanguard rob all that come near them for want of victuals. The Handmaid is also in the river, out of victuals. Is preparing to send down money to Portsmouth.

Nov. 22. Durham. 33. Dr. John Cosin to Bishop Laud, of London. A son of Belial and a solicitor of Mr. Smart's, at London, called Thomas King, but commonly there known as Tom Fame, has invented an incredible slander, and informed it to Mr. Attorney General. It is, that, about three quarters of a year since, Cosin denied the King's supremacy, and spoke irreverent words of it, which he abhors to name or think. Mr. Attorney directed his letters to Sir William Bellasis, and the Dean of Durham, requiring them to send up what they and others say to it, that he might proceed against the writer, unless the matter be but slander and vanity. That so it is, Cosin hopes Sir William Bellasis, and others will manifest. In the meantime Cosin is burdened with grief, that, whilst he labours to serve God and the King, his Majesty should be prejudiced against him, and he be reckoned among those offenders and spurners against authority whom he ever abhorred. Sends the Bishop the inclosed, and begs him to say and do for Cosin as in his wisdom he thinks meet, and as the necessity of Cosin's abused innocency most earnestly begs at his hands. Inclosed,

33. I. Narrative, by Dr. John Cosin, of those speeches which passed on the occasion above referred to, which was at a dinner on April 28, 1628. He relates the sum and effect of all that was uttered by him on the subject of the royal supremacy.

33. II. Certificate of Sir William Bellasis and others, described in the indorsement as the Sheriff and Prebends of Durham, that they were present at the dinner at which John Cosin is said to have spoken disloyal words tending to the denial of the King's supremacy, and that they did not hear the words alleged to have been spoken; but that, on the contrary, he said he was ready to defend the King's supremacy, although no man attributed to the King power of excommunication or other priestly function. 1628, November 6. [Attested copy.]

33. III. Certificate of Gabriel Clarke and John Robson that they were present at the dinner above mentioned, and that the intention of Mr. Cosin's discourse was to acknowledge and manifest the King's supremacy. 1628, November 18. [Attested copy.]

33. IV. Certificate of a similar purport from William James. 1628, November 23. [Attested copy.]

1628. VOL. CXXI.

Nov. 22. Whitehall. 34. J. Hay to James Earl of Carlisle. Reports the state of various businesses of the Earl. There are great factions there, both English and Scots, and there is great expectation of his return, which in all men's opinion will cast the balance. The Treasurer is a main man. The Queen is a great courtier at this time. Lady Carlisle is recovered, and without any mark. Lady Anne has been in London this month.

Nov. 22. London. 35. Edward Dowse to the same. His retired living makes him a mere stranger in Court. The Earl's servants wish his return. It is with times as with ways ; the writer hopes that if the Earl were on this side the Alps both times and ways would prove easy and plain to him. Wrote from Sion after the death of the Duke. Lord Percy will be sorry that this messenger is despatched before his coming to town.

Nov. 22. Whitehall. 36. Francis Annesley to the same. Has used his utmost endeavours to keep the Earl's plate and jewels from being done away before his coming home. Has been forced to disperse them into several hands to take up money upon them, and has added money of his own to keep them from forfeiture. Heartily wishes him a speedy return.

Nov. 22. St. James's 37. Sir William Croft to the same. Thanks the Earl for his remembrance in letter to Lord Leicester, and excuses himself for not having written a si vales bene est, ego quidem valeo, more than which he durst not write, but now jealousy itself is buried, the Earl's packets may go unsearched ; he offers to meet the Earl at his landing.

Nov. 22. 38. George Lord Goring to the same. He is much desired here, and not least by the King and Queen, who are his good friends indeed, or hang old Goring for lying. Good is intended him ; some say either to be Steward or Chamberlain, the former being voted to the Admiralty. Some mention Groom of the Stool if the other fail. Goring's dear mistress [the Countess of Carlisle] is the Earl's careful friend beyond that of ordinary in a wife. Let not Goring hear a syllable at the Earl's return of old quarrels. The Lord Treasurer, who has now the helm in his hand, is vowed the Earl's friend. Hear slowly out of France, though this week the Venetian Ambassador expects fair overtures from thence. Spain is not yet ripe enough to proffer. When they are ready, some there will be ready to receive them. State of the Earl's Island and Ireland business. Hopes his poor George is returned to the Earl. Best love to his cousin Doncaster.

Nov. 22. 39. The same to William Boswell. Thanks for the comfort he gave the writer respecting his poor George. Hopes the best of George's recovery ; if it prove otherwise, God's will be done, and give the writer grace to look back on his sins that caused it, and bewail them, not him, who is many millions happier than the writer, that miserably stays behind.

Nov. 23. Whitehall. 40. The King to Capt. John Mince [Mennes]. Appointment to the command of the Adventure during her present employment.

VOL. CXXI.

Nov. 23. Portsmouth. 41. Sir Guilford Slingsby to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty. A wonder to hear the great complaint of want of men at the going out of the fleet, and such an appearance of men at their return. Care taken to prevent false entries. Hopes in four or five days to set to sea the ships appointed for London. If any of the Whelps are to be employed on that coast the demi-cannons in them should be converted into saker or minion, the demi-cannons being so heavy and the decks so weak. Stores which will be wanted there. All their money will be paid out on Tuesday night.

Nov. 23. 42. Sir Fulke Greville to Sec. Conway. The Dutch ships having been searched by Lord Conway's officers and Capt. Jewell, before his warrant [No. 3], came down, and no prohibited commodities having been found in them, they had free liberty to pass on the Saturday before his warrant arrived.

Nov. 23. 43. Dorothy Countess of Leicester to James Earl of Carlisle. Coming to Essex House to see her sister she has received his letter, for which she returns thanks and protestations of her affectionate devotions. Lady Anne has been in London awhile to take "fisixe," but is perfectly recovered, and goes to Penshurst with the writer.

Nov. 23. Charing Cross. 44. Sir Robert Naunton to the same. Solicits his speediest repair homeward; patriâ quis exul, se quoque fugit. Here is much good service to be done by him to God and his Church, to the King and the whole kingdom, to himself and his friends.

Nov. 23. 45. F. Vernatt [?] to Rev. Mr. Squire. Details particulars of a journey taken after leaving the person addressed at Selby. Compelled by bad weather and night to stay at Turnbridge; next day proceeded to Mr. Lee's house, and thence to York, where he received the courteous entertainment of the Mayor and the noble company at the "Dean of York, your father's house." Thanks for the English Secretary and Hall's Epistles. No news that they are sure of the possession of the King's third part granted by the Commissioners, but it is said that the King publicly thanked Mr. Verm-[uyden] for service done to him and the country, and openly rebuked Lord Wentworth and Sir Ralph Hanby [?]. Sir William and Lady Sheffield having offered to let their house to the writer, he accepts it if he cannot obtain from the Earl of Mulgrave the use of Normanby with 200 acres of land.

Nov. 24. Westminster. Grant for foundation at Norwich of a hospital to be called "The Children's Hospital in the City of Norwich of the Foundation of King Charles," with confirmation to the Corporation of Norwich of a house and lands bequeathed for the said hospital by Thomas Anguish and Thomas Tesmond, and power to purchase lands in mortmain to the value of 300*l.* per annum. 1628. Vol. CXXI.

Nov. 24. Docquet of grant to the Sergeants-at-Arms to take certain amounts, by way of largess, of all persons hereafter to be advanced to honour. [See Sign Man., 1628, November 22.]

Nov. 24. Grant to James Hudson of the office of keeping the Castle of Windsor, and the leads and butts there, with two several fees of 2*d.* by the day, the same being void by the death of Nicholas Towse. [Docquet.]

Nov. 24. Instalment of the first fruits of the bishoprick of Bath and Wells, to be paid in four years by the bonds of the Bishop only. [Docquet.]

Nov. 24. Similar instalment of the first fruits of the bishoprick of Chichester. [Docquet.]

Nov. 24. Whitehall. 46. Archibald Armstrong to James Earl of Carlisle. Thinks it grievous long till the Earl be at home again, and his wife's [longing] is greater, if greater can be. No man was ever sent a worse ill-favoured journey afore, which many times Archie has freely let the King and Council know, and thanks be to God he feared no man at all. The greatest enemy of three Kings is gone;—he praises God for it. The next day after, being Sunday, his boy was born. Refusing the King and the Lord Steward, he only chose the Lord Chamberlain, for the King of Spain's sake; wherefore he made him a Philip, with consent of the other godfathers, Lord Holland, the Lord Keeper, with the Duchess of Richmond and the Countess of Somerset, and he told the King and all the company as he had lost one friend he gained other. The Earl is now come to be Lord Chamberlain, which was his due long ago. Lord Weston, as the Earl wished seven years since, is Lord Treasurer, and drinks the Earl's health many times. His prayers and those of his wife and children for the Earl's safe coming home.

[Nov. 24.] 47. Thomas Cary to the same. Wishes every step taken in his journey homewards doubled. Dares promise him the good graces of his master and the hearty welcome of all his friends. Our resolutions are for peace with our two great neighbours. The Earl must persuade to the shaking of hands. He will find their master and mistress at such a degree of kindness as he would imagine him a wooer again, and her gladder to receive his caresses than he to make them. Yesterday her birthday was solemnized by him on horseback, where he took the ring offered, and is resolved to grow "galan" [galant] every [day] more and more.

[Nov. 24?] 48. George Hammond to the same. On his return from the unsuccessful expedition to Rochelle, apologizes for having quitted the service of the Earl, and solicits to be again employed by him.

Nov. 24. 49. Lady Anne Hay to the same; her father. Craves pardon for long silence, which she attributes to want of messengers and expectation of his return. Is continually doing those things which she thinks will please him.

Nov. 24. Whitehall. 50. Sir Robert Karr to James Earl of Carlisle. Greater distance cannot lessen his respect for the Earl. When it pleases God to send him home from beyond the Alps, he shall find no cause to change his wonted kindness.

Nov. 24. 51. Henry Wind to the same. Apologizes for departing from the service of Lord Carlisle. Is resolved to live and die in his new undertaking, but solicits the favourable censure of the Earl.

Nov. 24. Whitehall. 52. G. R. Weckherlin to William Boswell. The loss of Rochelle, the return of our fleet, the reddition of Crempe, and such other things, running with the course of the year after our other successless affairs, he wishes may make an end with the year of the troubles of those that groan under the burden thereof. That very morning heard in the Privy Chamber from divers that Lord Pembroke is to be High Admiral, Lord Montgomery Lord Steward, and Lord Carlisle Lord Chamberlain.

Nov. 24. 53. Estimate for victualling the Assurance and Adventure for three months' service in the Narrow Seas. Total, 2,285*l.* 2*s.* 6*d.*

Nov. 24. 54. Estimate for bringing the Rainbow and Bonaventure from Plymouth to Chatham, and fitting the St. Mary to go to sea. Total, 1,588*l.*

Nov. 24. 55. Account of Sir Clement Cottrell, Vice Admiral, co. Lincoln, of all profits of his Vice Admiralty from August 23 to October 20, 1628.

Nov. 25. 56. Petition of Francis Albert to the King. In the expedition to Rhé both his arms were shot away. Has often petitioned the Duke and the Council for relief. The latter set him down to have 30*l.* per annum, which the Officers of the Chest will not allow, wherefore he is constrained to make his misery known to the King. [Underwritten is a minute that the King grants the petitioner a pension of 30*l. per annum until he shall be otherwise provided for; and the Lord Treasurer is to give order accordingly.*]

Nov. 25. Whitehall. 57. Petition of the Mayor, Burgesses, and Commonalty of Bristol to the same. Pray, for the reasons within mentioned, that the Castle of Bristol may be united with the county of Bristol, the same now lying in the county of Gloucester, and suffered to be a receptacle for all lewd people. Underwritten,

57. I. Reasons in support of the above petition. Amongst other things, it is stated that 200 persons dwell within the precincts of the castle, most of whom live by begging, besides a great number of outlawed, excommunicated, and other lewd offenders; that offenders have to be sent to Gloucester, 30 miles' distance; and that in times of impressment able men fly to the castle as to a place of freedom.

1628. VOL. CXXI.

57. II. Reference to the Lord Treasurer and Chancellor of the Exchequer. Whitehall, 1628, November 25.

57. III. Reference by the Lord Treasurer and Chancellor of the Exchequer to the Lord Chief Justice of England, the Lord Chief Baron, Sir John Denham, and the Attorney General. 1628, December 2.

57. IV. Certificate of the last-mentioned referees, that the object of the city of Bristol is very convenient, and only to be objected to by those who desire to live dissolutely. 1629, February 20.

57. V. Report of the Lord Treasurer and Chancellor of the Exchequer to the King. They concur in the opinions expressed in No. IV. 1629, March 18.

57. VI. Minute that his Majesty grants the prayer of the petition, and the Attorney General is to prepare a grant accordingly.

Nov. 25. 58. Petition of William Waldron, Humphrey Waldron, and John Goffe, to the King. John Dunster founded a hospital at Donyatt, co. Somerset, and the same has been built upon land thought to be held in socage. It has since been found that it is holden by knight's service in chief, by reason whereof the hospital will come to an end, unless the King will extinguish that tenure. Pray the King to accept a surrender thereof, and regrant the same in socage. [Underwritten is a reference to the Attorney General to certify his opinion.]

Nov. 25. Whitehall. 59. Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty to Capt. John Mince [Mennes]. Instructions to convoy victualling ships to Gluckstadt, being No. 31, November 22, as altered by Sec. Coke.

Nov. 25. London. 60. Sir Francis Cottington to James Earl of Carlisle. A secretary from Turin is here expected, upon whose arrival a ship will be sent to fetch the Abbot de Scaglia from Spain; but that which must give life to the business is the Earl's arrival. Mr. Porter had long since order to return from Madrid, but there is no news of his coming. His letters express the good affections he there observed. All men observe the King's expressions of favour to the Earl, and the Lord Treasurer lays hold of all occasions to declare his desire of doing the Earl service. Cottington is more ready to obey the Earl than any other.

Nov. 25. Essex House. 61. Robert Earl of Leicester to the same. The writer hopes his last letter has been accepted as an excuse for the time before. As the Earl of Carlisle has been pleased, in a letter to the Countess of Leicester, to honour the writer with the familiar name of "Noks," begs him to continue to esteem the writer as his most affectionate servant.

Vol. CXXI.

Nov. 25. 63. Indenture between William Wall, of Hoxton, co. Middlesex, and Sir Giles Estcourt, of New Sarum, whereby Wall covenants that, on payment, on May 27 next, of 104*l.*, a statute-staple, acknowledged by Sir Giles, shall be void.

William King, an old follower of the Secretary having a suit before Sir John, the Secretary testifies that in the wars he was an able officer, and in all other employments laborious, just, and discreet. Recommends him to Sir John's favourable notice. [Copy.]

Nov. 26. Minute of the same. [Conway's Letter Book, p. 319.]

Nov. 26. 65. The same to the Justices of Peace for co. Gloucester. Similar letter on behalf of William King. [Copy.]

Nov. 26. Minute of the same. [Conway's Letter Book, p. 319.]

Nov. 26. Whitehall. 66. William Earl of Pembroke, to James Earl of Carlisle. They are in the height of preparation for a Parliament, which will be good, and the writer doubts not but the success will be the same, which must be the beginning of the raising again of "our lost honour." Leaves particulars till they meet.

Nov. 26. 67. James Viscount Doncaster to the same, his father. Having
Dec. 6. Turin. recovered his health, writes to him as a little tribute of duty.

Nov. 27. 73. Copy of the same.

Nov. 27. Portsmouth. 74. Kenrick Edisbury to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty. An attack of quartan ague has prevented his attending the pay, but Sir Guilford Slingsby sat himself, and Edisbury had an able clerk to keep his book in his absence. The ships that are to go about to Chatham attend only a fair wind. Their discharged men, all the rest of the King's ships, and three or four of the merchant ships, are paid, and, if money come, they shall pay all the rest in seven or eight days. Prays licence to return as soon as the pay is done. P. S., dated November 28, acknowledges 3,000*l.* sent down that day; 4,500*l.* more by Wednesday noon will finish the pay.

Nov. 27. Pendennis. 75. John Tresahar to Sec. Conway. The 26th, arrived in Falmouth nine sail of ships belonging to the Dutch West India Company, with three ships of war as a convoy. They met with the Spanish fleet in the West Indies, whereof they took six galleons, wherein was plate, and 13 other ships laden with merchandize. Their general is Peter Hine, of Rotterdam. Capt. Gye, of London, has returned thither from the West Indies, having been, as he says, 22 months on his voyage. Dunkirkers and Frenchmen lie thick on Nov. 27. 80. Exceptions and additions which the Heads of Colleges made against the Statutes for new election of Proctors.

Nov. 27. / Dec. 7. Turin. 81. James Traill to James Earl of Carlisle. This is the thirty-fourth day since Lord Doncaster's sickness began, and now they expect only a fair day that he may go abroad in coach. His recovery has been no less speedy than full, and he hopes there shall remain in his face no marks or at least very few. Within 15 days he will be ready to go from thence.

Nov. 28. Whitehall. 82. Order of the Council of War, that Sir Francis Willoughby, Serjeant-Major General, shall receive certificates from every Colonel of the number and names of all their inferior officers which truly served from the return from the Isle of Rhé to the departure for Rochelle, and during that service, to be subscribed by the Colonels and Captains upon their honours, and that according to such certificates payment shall be made. 1628. Vol. CXXI.

why he cannot now come up, and hopes to be dispensed with till after Christmas. His zeal and readiness to serve his Majesty will not be doubted. Desires to be heartily commended to Capt. Pennington, and to understand the manner of the loss of Rochelle.

Nov. 28. Portsmouth. 86. Kenrick Edisbury to Nicholas. Somewhat weakened by his ague. Notwithstanding the opinion of Sir Thomas Aylesbury of the Dreadnought, thinks she may be brought aground to be graved. Mr. Austen has set sail with the Entrance, the rest will follow. Begs the Secretary to hasten the remainder of the money. Capt. Towerson hopes to put off to a Dutchman all the corn and victuals returned from Rochelle.

That town has held a court leet, which extended itself to Richmond, Petersham, and Ham, of which liberty the King is desirous they should be restrained, and himself appoint the keeping of a leet within those manors. In recompence there is to be granted to Kingston cognizance of plea within the hundreds of Copthorne and Effingham, as formerly they had in those of Kingston and Emelbridge [Elmbridge].

Nov. 29. 90. Petition of J—— to the King, that in accordance with a promise made by the King to his mother, Queen Anne, when King James was in Scotland, and he and she at Nonsuch, and several times since, he would renew the pension of 50*l.* per annum granted to the petitioner by Prince Henry, with augmentation.

Nov. 29. 91. Petition of Hellebrant Peterson, John de May, and John Ray, Dutch merchants, to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty. [Nov. ?] 95. Petition of James Aldredge to Lord President Marlborough In his youth petitioner served Queen Elizabeth in her wars in the Low Countries, and under Sir Francis Drake at sea, and received many wounds. Dec. 1. 1. Sec. Conway to Mrs. Cole. Has been long a witness of the diligent services of his good friend Mr. Vanderdort and his Majesty's acceptation of them. Is not presumptuous enough to add anything to the King's recommendation, but bears testimony of the King's grace to Vanderdort, and seeks acquaintance with the person addressed, of whom he has heard both from Vanderdort and Lady Conway, who is her countrywoman. Shall be glad if the motion proceed to effect, when he will come with his wife to perform a visit and offer his service. [Copy.]

Dec. 2. Whitehall. 2. The same to Attorney General Heath. Certain printed papers go from hand to hand, containing a relation of the proceedings of the Dutch against the English in Amboyna, which is set down in such manner as may breed much disaffection between the King's subjects and those of the Low Countries. Since the King has taken that business into his own hands, and finds that these loose papers do only exasperate misunderstandings, the Attorney General is to prepare a proclamation for the suppression of these and all other writings not suiting with good terms of amity between his Majesty and his allies the States General.

Dec. 2. 3. Copy of the same.

[Dec. 2?] 9. Note of the appointment of Jacob Gardner to the living of Anstey above mentioned in 1618, on the resignation of Julius Winsper.

Dec. 3. 10. William Lord Craven to James Earl of Carlisle. It is a favour to Lord Craven that a creature which belonged to him was thought worthy to be employed by the Earl. Regrets Lord Doncaster's sickness; as soon as he is able to travel will wait upon him. Wishes it were in any other place than in Italy, where there is nothing to better his knowledge or satisfy his curiosity. If the writer had not troubled the Earl to beg a warrant from the King to go to Rome, would not endure the lingering out the winter in so woeful a dull country, where there is no more conversation than among the dead. When he has visited Rome and Naples will retire nearer sweet England.

Prays restoration of ship and goods, and compensation. Annexed,

Dec. 6. 16. Petition of Edward Alport, M.A., Preacher of God's Word and Rector of Pennarth and Lavernock, co. Glamorgan, to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty. A French man-of-war, in October last, was driven within the bounds of the parish of Pennarth, and was there surprised by the Gilbert, of Bristol, Capt. Ofield, and carried into Bristol. Petitioner, conceiving that there is a profit arising to him out of the said prize in right of his church, prays letters to the Bishop and Mayor of Bristol to call the customer and Capt. Ofield before them, and make satisfaction to the petitioner.

Dec. 6. Portsmouth. 17. Kenrick Edisbury to the same. Reports proceedings at Portsmouth, and arrangements necessary to be made there for employing shipkeepers and sailors. Prays the Commissioners for a similar warrant.

Dec. 6. 20. Petition of Richard Pratt, Mariner, to the same. In reply to Walter Montagu's statement of November 15 [see Vol. cxx., No. 73.], states that Mr. Montagu's man agreed with petitioner for 20*l.*, but Mr. Montagu gave him but 10*l.*, saying they might have fortune to get 20*l.* a man on their return. On which, seven leagues from shore, they espied Frenchmen in an English bottom, the Phœnix, of Dartmouth. They freely yielded, and after payment of his Majesty's proportion, and the shares of his company, petitioner's own proportion of the prize is not 5*l.* On Mr. Montagu's complaint, he has lain three weeks in the messenger's hands without coming to his answer. Prays that he may come to his answer or be freed.

His niece, for her brave encounter against danger, deserves to rank among the worthiest of women. Is glad he has met with Lord Carlisle, who is much loved and desired in England. Robert Branthwaite, who observes how things stand in the English Court, will give him a touch thereof. The writer's infirmities have driven him to retire into himself, and made him a stranger to the affairs of the world. Doubts not to see him settled there according to his abilities to do the King and State service.

Pray that the goods and prisoners may be allowed to return home. Underwritten,

46. I. [Unsigned reference to Sir Henry Marten to release the ship, on proof that what is stated in the petition is true.]

Dec. 17. Whitehall. 50. The Council to Lord President Conway, Lord Lieutenant of Hants. By letters, dated December 17, 1626, he had been directed to raise 250 men of the trained bands of that county, to be transported to Guernsey and Jersey upon knowledge given to the Deputy Lieutenants of any imminent danger to those islands. Advertisements having been received of many preparations and apparent signs of hostile attempts, he is to have those men in readiness.

Dec. 17. Luxborough. 51. William Earl of Pembroke to James Earl of Carlisle. Hopes the bearer will find him ready to set sail for England, where he will find a master full of all wisdom and goodness in general, and in particular one that knows his virtues, weighs them, and loves his person.

Dec. 19. 55. Petition of Capt. Thomas Hughes to the same. Sets forth particulars of payment for victualling the Amity, of London, and providing cordage and masts, delivered into the King's storehouse, amounting together to 1,041*l.* 16*s.* 11*d.* Has claims also for recompence for his own service and various losses. Prays payment. [Underwritten is a reference to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty.]

Dec. 19. The Tower. 56. Commissioners for Sale of Prize Goods to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty. On October 25 last received directions not to sell the St. Peter, of Calais, a Dutch pram. They have now received a Privy Seal, dated 2nd December inst., for delivery of the same to Isabel Musgrave, widow, as a gift from the King. They are ready to obey the same on approbation from their Lordships.

Dec. 19. London. 57. Sec. Coke to Lord President Conway. Difficulty of sending a ship for Lord Carlisle, there being no money nor any ship at sea or in preparation, save those which are to go to the islands [Guernsey and Jersey]. Either a ship of war must be hired or his Lordship provide his convoy there. Will do his best, but knows men's unwillingness to be employed in such services without present payment, which cannot be hoped for.

Dec. 19. 58. Sir Robert Aiton to James Earl of Carlisle. For public business we are at a stand, and it is thought there will be nothing done till he comes home; nor indeed have we any body that can direct us. They make a suspicion that Carlisle inclines much towards an accommodation with Spain, which the Queen will not believe. All soldiers dismissed, and ships till they be trimmed, fit for nothing; yet out of fear that the French have some intention on Guernsey and Jersey, Lord Danby is carrying some companies thither. At home the little that is done is done by the Lord Treasurer. They are about to rectify some things both in religion and government, to sweeten things to the Parliament, but most men doubt that they are not sincerely intended, and so will give little satisfaction. The parliamentary men have an eye on Carlisle, and are afraid that he will "wyne" with the Lord Treasurer, who though, as the writer thinks, an honest man and good patriot, has much ado to overcome those clouds of suspicion concerning religion that have hung over him all the while. Report of Carlisle as LordChamberlain no more spoken of. Report that he is to be Groom of the Stool, which the writer thinks not worthy of him. The Queen continues her gracious professions to the Earl and his lady. That Carleton is secretary and other changes intended the bearer can tell.

Dec. 19. Inner Temple. 59. Robert Allsop to James Earl of Carlisle. Reports the condition of his Irish business, which the writer had kept unsettled and the Earl's patent unsurrendered. The daughter and heir of the Earl of Desmond has denied to take Lord Denbigh's younger son, now Earl of Desmond, in marriage. She is in the custody of the Countess of Holland; her estate is great. Wishes it might be a match between her and Carlisle's son. The Earl's Wapping business to be heard next term. His Islands stand well; 100,000 weight of tobacco already imported, which is to pay 37*l.* 10*s.* a thousand weight, besides that of the Earl's own, which is 2,700 weight. Mr. Attorney has undertaken the immediate despatch of his mine business.

Dec. 19. 60. Petition of Walter James, Captain of Southsea Castle, to the Council. Prays for warrants for repair of the castle, and a supply of ordnance.

Dec. 20. 61. Petition of John Beale and Mark Quested, master and owners of the Francis, of Colchester, to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty. The Francis taken up for carriage of victuals to the fleet at Portsmouth, and thence compelled in spite of remonstrance of her insufficiency to go towards Rochelle. Being driven back, she was ultimately totally wrecked on St. Francis Island, to the loss of the petitioners of 750*l.* Pray that one of the prize ships, the Peter, of Hamburgh, or the Hunter, of Amsterdam, may be bestowed upon them in compensation. [Underwritten is a reference to the Officers of the Navy, to certify the value of the Peter, of Hamburgh.] Annexed, 61. I. Report of the Officers of the Navy, but unsigned. The petitioners should have recompence, but should prove the value of their ship. The Hunter is of 300 tons, and valued at 576*l.* 10*s. Whitehall, January* 10, 1629.

Dec. 20. 62. Lord President Conway to Deputy Lieutenants of Hants. The Council had renewed their directions for putting 250 men in readiness for defence of Jersey and Guernsey. Sends copy of the Council's Warrant. [Copy.]

Dec. 20. Basle. 63. Wolgang Mayer, "nephew to the posthum Martyr Bucer," to James Earl of Carlisle. The Earl having taken charge of a son of the writer, in order that he might be educated at some English college, the writer thanks him in strong terms for his kindness, and solicits that the boy may be provided "beside the ordinary common,

VOL. CXXII.

1628. which the college will afford, with apparel, books, beddings, with the like necessities," and also be graced by the letters of the King and the Earl to "the Presidents of the knowen college." In adopting the boy the Earl is said to have exclaimed, "Let him to my care; I will be his father."

VOL. CXXIII. DECEMBER 21—31, 1628.

Dec. 21. 1. Petition of Thomas Rockwell to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty. Sets forth past services at sea, being then Master's Mate in the Assurance, and prays to be appointed Boatswain of the Adventure. Annexed,

1. I. Certificate of Sir Henry Mervyn, Sir Michael Geere, Sir Francis Stewart, and others, in strong recommendation of the Petitioner.

Dec. 21. St. Martin's Lane. 2. James Earl of Marlborough to James Earl of Carlisle. Solicits him to take into his service a poor kinsman of Marlborough's, George Ley, whom he highly recommends.

Dec. 21. London. 3. Thomas Cary to the same. Has commission from the Lord Treasurer to invite his Lordship to as strict a league of friendship and affection as has ever been between men of their virtues and eminences. The King has now so wholly made over all his affections to his wife, that he dare say they are out of the danger of any other favourites. She has also returned to such a fondness and liking of him and his person, as it is of as much comfort to themselves as of joy to their good servants. Believes the Treasurer will be strengthened by his friend Sir Francis Cottington for his Chancellor, though the little man has yet found shifts to put it off. The consideration of that remove was the first wheel that gave motion to that other of the President and Secretary in the King's breast, though it failed at the first trial.

1628. Dec. 22. 1629. Jan. 1. 4. Account of debts of the Household of the King and Queen of Bohemia, stated in guilders and stivers, and also in English currency. Amongst them are the egg-wife, 16*l.* 2*s.*; the milk-boor, 140*l.* 18*s.*; Thomas Clecher, jeweller, 917*l.*; Philip Calandrini, on Lord Carleton's bond, 1,000*l.*; Sir Francis Nethersole, on his plate, 455*l.* 11*s.* Total, 12,138*l.* 2*s.*

Dec. 22. Bristol. 5. Mayor and Aldermen of Bristol to the Council. Having taken up ships to transport 213 Irish soldiers into Ireland, about that number have been there for a month already, having been twice to sea and put back, and behaved themselves so rudely aboard that the mariners are much dismayed, and unwilling to carry them over without some commander. They hear that many others are coming from London, wherefore they crave further instructions, and money, being already 400*l.* out of purse.

1628. Vol. CXXIII.

[Dec. 22?] 6. Lucy Countess of Carlisle to James Earl of Carlisle. Hopes this messenger will much hasten his coming. It concerns him nearly, and many have an infinite desire to defer it. He will find many changes in that Court, and the power that he left absolutely forgotten. He is thought hugely Spanish, of which she must have some more assurance than a common report, but the noise of it troubles some of his best friends. All these reports will vanish at his presence, and she shall joy and be happy.

Dec. 22. 7. Sir David Murray to the same. Notwithstanding the terrible and unexpected accident, the sudden and fearful judgment, which has happened since the Earl's going thence, there is no great change, for the ghost doth yet walk. There has been a secret working for his continuance abroad by those who carry an outward show of friendship to him, but his master is faithful, and, as the writer is informed, fair Lucibella, or rather Philoclea, has played her true part, which more and more procures her the writer's love and respect. Begs him to be wise, and join stoutness and courage, and to remember his poor servant "when you are in your kingdom."

Dec. 22. 8. George Lord Goring to the same. The fatal blow on the Duke did so astonish and benumb all there, as ever since there has been scarce any passage to and fro more than mere breathings to keep life and soul together. The Turkey merchants only pinch hard to awaken them by denying tonnage and poundage to his Majesty, who the writer hopes will live to take his just remedy against them who dare to irritate so just and good a King in the face of all his people and instant of his foreign treaties. This point, with that of religion, will be the main work of the Parliament on January 20. Fears that all the evil spirits are not laid. The only joy amidst these perplexities is the happy intelligence between their blessed sweet master and mistress, which certainly easeth that swelling brave heart of his in these his days of highest trials. More true love the writer never saw. His Majesty being at Theobalds but for four days, her Majesty can take no rest in the same nights, but sighs for his return, till when she delights herself with his shadow at her bedside. Of this change hopes he will not be grieved to hear, nor is it possible ever to decline again if we keep ourselves free from a fresh supply of French, which they in France now so much insist upon. His Majesty is observed to be more reserved than ever, which he conceives to be rather to keep off the torrent of suitors than aught that proceeds from a change of nature, which is the best and most constant Lord Goring ever knew. Begs him not to let slight misunderstandings divide him from Lord Dorchester, and on his arrival to make an embargo on his promises of engagements, whereby he shall be able to trade on his own, and make better return than by a joint stock. Great esteem of Lady Carlisle throughout the Court. Advises the Earl to let her know how heartily he takes her watchful and truly loving respects. The Queen cannot believe the Earl Don Diego, of all men living. Thanks for his favours to Lord Goring's poor boy, George.

Dec. 22. Plymouth. 9. Nathaniel Apslyn and John Cawse to Sir Thomas Aylesbury, Surveyor of the Navy. The Rainbow cannot be fitted to come about with the Bonaventure for want of monies, the men having desisted to work from the 10th of last month, as they had previously informed him.

Dec. 22. 10. Fair copy of the Statutes for the Proctorship at Oxford, as they were sent down this day, and "as they were passed in Convocation, December 31, 1628," according to an indorsement of Bishop Laud. Annexed,

10. I. Order of Election of Proctors in every College of the University of Oxford, according to the turns established by the above statute. [This is a circular table, which exhibits the series of the Proctors to be elected by the several Colleges in a perpetual course, which would be run through once in every 22 years.]

Dec. 23. 11. Petition of Jacob Gardner to Bishop Laud, of London. The Bishop having been displeased at petitioner's holding the chapel of Anstey, he begs him to take notice that he has surrendered the same to the King. The Bishop having censured him for not constantly using the Lord's Prayer, he professes that the omission has not been out of disregard of that sacred prayer. Had he thought it had been enjoined by the canon he would have used it. Promises at every sermon to conclude his prayer with the Lord's Prayer, according to the canon, and in all things to give satisfaction by his conformity. Prays to be allowed to exercise his ministry as before.

Dec. 23. 12. Justices of Peace for Westminster to the Council. Return of the names, qualities, and conditions of all recusants resident in Westminster. The list includes Sir Francis Howard, Sir Robert Mexfield [Maxwell?], and the Earl of Nithsdale; Dame Olive Heneage; Robert Greenberry, picture drawer; Nicholas Laneere, a cook, in St. Martin's; Dr. Cadiman, a physician; Sir John Bath, an Irish knight; various servants to the King and Queen, and several lawyers.

Dec. 24. Whitehall. 13. The Council to Lord President Conway, Lord Lieutenant of Hants. The King is informed of hostile preparations against some part of his dominions, of which Portsmouth and the Isle of Wight are conceived to be in great danger. He is to give strict order that the trained bands be always in readiness, upon the first firing of the beacons, or post sent from Plymouth, to march forwards.

Dec. 24. Whitehall. 14. The same to the same. To renew directions for careful watching and looking to the beacons on the coast of Hants.

[Dec. 24.] 15. Walter Montagu to Nicholas. Begs him to pray the Lords, for a warrant for the delivery of the ship taken by Pratt in such estate as she was found, and to take security from Pratt to that effect.

1628. VOL. CXXIII.

[Dec. 24.] 16. Bond of Richard Pratt in 100*l.* for re-delivery of the Phœnix, of Dartmouth, to those from whom he took her, or to the captain of Cowes Castle.

Dec. [24]. Whitehall. 17. The Council to Sir Fulke Greville, captain of Cowes Castle. To cause the ship above mentioned to be carried back to Cherbourg.

Dec. 24. 18. Petition of Henry Androwes, Hugh Perry, Warwick Fownes, George Henley, John Parker, and William Baily, to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty. About twelve months ago the petitioners had leave to bring in certain goods from Flanders in English or neutral vessels. Shipping them on board a Hamburgher, she was captured by the Dutch, taken to Rotterdam, and their goods sold. Not having been able to obtain justice in the Admiralty there, they pray the Commissioners to take order, through the English Ambassador in Holland or the States Ambassador here, for their restitution.

Dec. 24. 19. Sir Thomas Aylesbury to his son, Nicholas. Recommends Anthony Lownes as the man for whom Lord Denbigh intreats a boatswain's place in the Adventure. He was formerly tried in the Convertive, and very well approved.

Dec. 25. "Du Purgatoir de Londres." 20. Chevalier de Bremond to Lord President Conway. Urgently complains of the misery of his confinement. Its bitterness is much greater than that of the Romish purgatory. If his Excellency does not take him into his remembrance he shall fall into heresy, and be forced to publish that the purgatory of this country is much more austere than the other.

Dec. 26. 21. Lord President Conway to Deputy Lieutenants of Hants. Sends them copies of letters from the Council for repair and watching of the beacons, and keeping their companies ready to march in case the beacons be fired. [Copy.]

Vol. CXXXI. January 1—9, 1629.

Jan. 1. Bristol. 1. Mayor and Aldermen of Bristol to the Council. The scarcity of corn in Ireland such that the poor people of that realm are enforced, for avoiding famine, to come over into this kingdom, and are very offensive in all the western parts. Pray permission for merchants of that city to transport corn into Ireland.

Jan. 1. Portsmouth Docks. 2. Francis Brooke to Sec. Coke. Reports what are the difficulties in the way of setting forth the St. James, prize, and the Third and Tenth Lion's Whelps, as directed by the Council. Solicits attention to necessary repairs of wharfs and graving-place. Prays, on behalf of his widowed mother, for payment for a ship taken by Sir James Bagg for a fire-ship, and burned in the service.

Jan. 2. 3. Petition of Sir Allen Apsley, Lieutenant of the Tower, to the King. In the late King's time it was decreed, in the Court of the Duchy, that the tenants of the honor of Clitheroe, co. Lancaster, were to have the same manor at 40 years' purchase, with an Act of Parliament for confirmation. They paid 20 years, and have retained the remainder, amounting to 5,000*l.* in their hands. There being due to the petitioner and his creditors divers great sums of money, for 18,000*l.* of which they accepted the King's word, which he hopes the King remembers, he prays that he may have the money remaining due from the tenants of Clitheroe on account of his arrears. [Underwritten is a minute that the King grants the petitioner's request, and refers it to the Lord Treasurer to give the necessary orders.]

Jan. 2. 4. Petition of the Mayor and Citizens of Rochester to the same. For a confirmation of their ancient charters with certain new privileges. [Underwritten is a reference to the Attorney General to prepare a bill accordingly.]

Jan. 2. 5. Petition of David Ramsay, the King's servant, to the same. Prays for a grant of 140*l.* remaining in the hands of Sir William

1629. Vol. CXXXI.

Eyres, on account of the collection in the hundred of Bradford for maintaining the wars of the King of Bohemia. Underwritten,

5. I. Reference to the Lord Treasurer to give order for accomplishing the petitioner's request. Whitehall, 1629, January 2.

5. II. Lord Treasurer Weston to Attorney General Heath. To prepare a bill accordingly for the King's signature. 1629, March 10.

Jan. 2. 6. Petition of Bishop Thornborough, of Worcester, to the same. Divers questions and doubts by reason of some general and ambiguous words have been found in the confirmation of liberties in the hundred of Oswaldslaw, granted by letters patent dated June 21 last. Prays for a renewed grant, with further words for clearing the said questions. [Underwritten is a reference to the Attorney General to prepare a bill accordingly.]

Jan. 2. The Marshalsea. 7. Serjeant Major James Dawson to Lord President Conway. Has had the misfortune to be misinterpreted in words he has spoken, and for which he now stands committed. Professes that he never spoke word with intention to give offence to the Lords, and prays the Lord President's mediation for his enlargement.

Jan. 2. 8. Bishop Laud, of London, to Attorney General Heath. It is the the King's pleasure that he put Dr. Matthew Wren, Dean of Windsor and Master of Peter House, into the commission now to be renewed. Indorsed "High Commission."

Jan. 2. 9. Inventory, by Richard Dike, of the King's tenths out of the St. Mary, a prize brought into the port of London by Capt. May, the Samaritan by Capt. Hooper, and the Spaniel by Capt. Handson.

Jan. 3. 10. Sir Thomas Freke to the Council. Has attended Mr. Endymion Porter and that company, and done his best endeavour to gain them restitution of their loss by shipwreck; but they want many things of value. Of their arms 50 are returned, which must be repaired; only two sails, with nine pieces of ordnance, and one anchor, have been recovered.

Jan. 3. 11. Petition of Hugh Perry, Thomas Eyans, John Hide, and others to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty. About seven years past petitioners' ship, the Lion, was taken by pirates of Algiers, whence John Hide, the master, was redeemed, after some misery, by a great ransom. The ship was lately descried in the Thames, manned by Italians, Turks, and English, bound for Holland, and has been arrested by the Admiralty. Pray for her restitution.

Jan. 3. 12. Petition of Capt Alexander Baxter to the same. Was employed, in September, 1627, for discovery of the proceedings of the French ships lying in Holland, which service he faithfully discharged, as the event proved. Received imprest of 50*l.*; spent 93*l.*; prays for payment of the remainder.

Jan. 3. 13. Judgment of Sir Henry Marten in the case of the Black Dog, which, having been taken by the English, was afterwards casually burnt, with the goods therein. [Underwritten is the concurrence in the same of Dr. William Byrd, on behalf of the East India Company.] [Copy.]

Jan. 3. St. James's. 14. Henry Earl of Danby to Nicholas. Hears the ships in the river of Rochester are ready, and therefore fit for the captains to be aboard. Gibbons and Dyems may prove useful. For the Charles and James there are recommended Beale and Giles.

Jan. 4. 15. Petition of Richard Simpson, gunner's mate of the Assurance, to the Council. Having impressed William Beale, John Jeson, who was in Beale's company, demanded to see his warrant, which being produced, he put the same into his pocket, and still detains it with much scoffing. The next day Beale, one Durston, and John Jones violently assaulted petitioner. Prays redress.

Jan. 4. 16. Minute of what took place when Mr. Hill and Mr. Dynely, two of the Commissioners for disafforesting Roche forest, delivered the Lord Treasurer's letter to Lord Poulett, complaining of his having hindered the work. It contains Lord Poulett's answers and the rejoinders of Messrs. Hill and Dynely. [Copy.]

Jan. 5. 17. Order of Council made on information that merchants had attempted to land goods, and carry away the same, without payment of the ordinary duties, which have been long continued, not only in his Majesty's time, but for many years before. Edward Dendy, Serjeant-at-arms, and two Messengers of the Chamber, are to be assistant to the officers of the Custom House to keep possession of all goods until duties paid. [Certified copy.]

Jan. 5. Delft. 18. John Quarles to Sec. Dorchester. Explains the circumstances of a dispute which had arisen between the writer and the Company in London, of which he was a member, in consequence of his having married the daughter of the burgomaster of Rotterdam, which it was contended operated as a disfranchisement, notwithstanding he had previously procured the King's letters of denization for the lady. Had sent a statement of the case to his relation, Sir William Becher, to be laid before the Attorney-General, and also a petition to the King, which last he prays the Secretary to favour.

Jan. 6. 22. Petition of Philip Biscopp, merchant of Amsterdam, to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty. On a return voyage from St. Malo to Amsterdam, laden with fruits, having passed through the Downs and come to "the red colours of Thames," he was overtaken by Capt. Christopher Bolenger [Bulger?], who piratically carried him to sea for ten days, embezzled of his lading to a good value, and afterwards took him into Dover. Prays order that the ship be brought to London, and the goods delivered to Richard Legg, merchant, who will give security for the same, and also that Capt. Bulger may answer his misdemeanors.

Jan. 7. From the Congregation House. 23. University of Oxford to the King. Return thanks for the new statute and regulation for the election of proctors. The circle in which the order of election is to proceed has so quieted all minds that the inscription may be transferred to them from the King's coinage, "Florent concordia regna." The annual rotation will be known in all time to come as the Caroline Year, or the Royal Zodiac. Latin.

Jan. 7. Christ Church, Oxon. 24. Students of Christ Church to Sec. Dorchester. Thanks for his intercession in the business of the proctorship. Have commended their letter of thanks to the King to the hands of the Earl of Dorset, with whom in its presentation they solicit his co-operation. Latin.

Jan. 7/17. Louvain. 25. John Shinnigh to Garret Nagle. Relates his arrival and reception at the college in Louvain. Their only news is the rumoured loss of the Spanish fleet, and the certain capture of various merchant ships. The eldest son of the Earl Palatine drowned at Amsterdam. Spinola not yet returned out of Spain. Dermick Leayhie, a celebrated notary, formerly from Ireland, died in the hospital at Mechlin on Holy Thursday last. Has heard good tidings of Nagle's brother in Spain. Desires to be remembered to his father, brothers, uncles, and the rest of his relations in Ireland. Solicits news of English and Irish affairs. Jan. 8. 29. Abstract of the same.

Purposes to be in London in the first week of the Parliament, and intends especially to urge the humble desire of an undone old man to be paid the 2,000*l.* which is owing to him. The penury of the time will lie a block in his way, but means have been found to pay others who cannot pretend to have better claims. Jan. 21. 54. Joshua Downing and Kenrick Edisbury to the same. John Hollond served clerk under Joshua Downing, when he was surveyor of the Navy. They recommend him for employment as an inferior clerk or purser.

1629. Vol. CXXXII.

Jan. 21. 55. Petition of William Bartelotti, merchant of Amsterdam and Governor of the West India Company in Holland, to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty. Petitioner laded aboard the St. Peter, of Horne, divers masts to be transported to Leghorn to one Fabian Orlandini. Being driven by stress of weather into Plymouth, his ship was stayed by Sir James Bagg, and order made that he should sell the cordage and masts in his ship to the officers of the navy. Cordage there is none, and only 28 masts, which he cannot sell under 18*l.* a mast. Prays payment for them, or offers security that they shall not be transported to Spain.

Jan. 22. Dover. 58. Capt. John Dymes to Nicholas. Recounts particulars of his falling in with a small man-of-war, of Ostend, in the Channel. She took Dymes's ship for a merchantman, but when she heard "our Whelps bark so loud and saucy, and saw them put up the King's colours," she endeavoured to escape. He outsailed and captured her. There were 40 lusty men aboard besides the captain and master, whom he has put ashore at Dover. There was nothing else in her besides men and things to kill men.

Jan. 23. 59. Petition of Sir James Bagg to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty. By the King's warrant of May 18 last, he was directed to take up ships, victuals, and fireships, for relief of Rochelle. He accordingly took up 18 fireships, of 2,443 tons, at the price of 3,668*l.*, and, for the sellers' satisfaction, gave bills on Sir Sackville Crow. He refuses to accept the same, having, as he says, no warrant. Prays that the same ships may be included in an estimate, and the owners be paid.

Jan 23. The Downs. 62. Capt. John Mennes to Sir Henry Mervyn. Two of the Whelps have arrived in the Downs, who tell Mennes they have order for the convoy of the ammunition ship to Portsmouth. He waits only the wind to go about that business. Has stayed a ship of Enckhuysen, laden with pipe staves and herrings, "for Candia in the Straits," but without bills of lading or letters.

Jan. 23. 63. Account of certain illegal proceedings and combinations thought to be favoured by Lord Poulett, with the view of preventing the disafforesting of the forest of Roche. It is a narrative, probably drawn up by Messrs. Hill and Dynely, two of the Commissioners, and relates what took place daily from January 4 instant up to this day.

Jan. 24. Whitehall. 1. Copy of the King's Speech to both Houses of Parliament spoken in the Banquetting House at Whitehall. Indorsed by Weckherlin.

Jan. 24. 2. Another contemporary copy.

Jan. 24. 3. Another similar copy.

Jan. 24. 4. Sir Francis Nethersole to the Queen of Bohemia. The Parliament began again on Tuesday last. The King came not to the House as is usual. The next day, in the Commons they began to complain that the Petition of Right had been invaded in all the parts thereof. They were going further next day, and got heat in going, when Sec. Coke wished them to forbear till this day, when both Houses attending the King, he had declared, as for tonnage and poundage he had no thought of taking it by prerogative, or otherwise than as the gift of his people. This speech has given great satisfaction. The House of Commons is also much discontented with the printing of the Petition of Right with the several answers given thereto, and his Majesty's speech the last day of the Session, it having been first printed with the answer—Droit soit fait comme il est désiré,—and that impression afterwards suppressed. But that which troubleth them most is the recording that last speech of his Majesty in the Clerk's Book of the Commons' House since the recess. In matter of religion they are quiet as yet, but the greatest business is like to be about that. Mountague's book is called in by proclamation; the King has also pardoned Mountague, Cosin, Mainwaring, and Sibthorpe, but that will hardly save some of them. Lady Montgomery has fallen sick of the smallpox, whereupon the Queen has removed in haste to Somerset House.

Jan. 24. Newcastle upon Tyne. 5. Robert Bewick, Mayor of Newcastle-upon-Tyne, to the Council. As directed, has called before him the owners and masters of ships now at home, and conferred with them as to payment of 6*d.* for every hundred tons of the burthen of their ships brought into the Thames and Medway, and for every 50 chaldron other 6*d.* The owners say that they cannot answer till they have conferred with owners at Ipswich, Harwich, and other places. The masters of ships are willing to pay as desired.

Jan. 24. 6. Petition of Capt. Alexander Baxter to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty. Another petition to the same effect as that of 1629, January 3 (Vol. cxxxi., No. 12), with underwritten answer of the Commissioners that they conceive the 50*l.* already received by the petitioner a sufficient recompence.

Jan. 24. 7. Letter unsigned, but written by some one in the confidence of Bishop Smith, of Chalcedon, and intended for a person who is addressed as "Honoured sir," in answer to an accusation brought by the Regulars against the bishop, that he had been backward in showing his brief. It details transactions between Bishop Smith and his Vicar-general, Mr. Nelson alias Jackson, on the one part and Father Blunt, Lord Mount——, and Sir Tobie Matthew, on the other.

Jan. 24. Somerford. 8. John Pigott to his cousin John Weld. Promises to pay his money in a quarter of a year.

Jan. 24. 9. J. W. to ———, in reply to a variety of objections urged by the Regulars against the conduct and claims of Bishop Smith of Chalcedon. [Copy.]

Jan. 24 [?] 10. Information stated in Sec. Dorchester's indorsement to have been given by the Captain of Sir William Alexander's ship, respecting a ship of Portugal, captured under letters of reprisal granted by Sir William Alexander as governor of New Scotland, and taken into Plymouth, where the validity of such letters had been contested by Sir James Bagg.

Jan. 25. Aboard the Tenth Lion's Whelp, in the Downs. 11. Capt. John Dymes to Henry Earl of Danby. After he had set his prisoners ashore at Dover, went into the Downs, where they found the ship with the ammunition and the Adventure. Has manned his prize, and recommends her as a ship fit to do him service in Jersey and Guernsey, either to attend on his person or procure intelligence. Paul Leech received money to press 20 men for his ship, and spent the money and neglected the service, so that they are very weakly manned; nor have they any surgeon, which is a great discouragement to the men.

Jan. 25. 12. J. Price [?] to ———. Letter in defence of the conduct of Bishop Smith, of Chalcedon, in his controversies with the Regulars. The question now at issue concerns the validity of confessions made to Regulars since their public refusal of the bishop's approbation.

Jan. 26. 14. Another copy of the same.

Jan. 26. Aboard the Charles in Stokes Bay. 16. Capt. Richard Beale to [Nicholas?]. The munition ships expected there with the first fair wind. The two Whelps went thence on Tuesday last to meet them. Sets forth a variety of wants aboard his ship.

Jan. 27. 17. Draft in the handwriting of Sec. Coke of Message from the King delivered to the House by the Secretary. The King sends them the Remonstrance of last Session, but hopes this Session will go on upon other grounds. Urges progress with the bill for tonnage and poundage. His speech on the 24th, at which he found to his content so great applause, will have produced little good effect if this bill be lingered.

Jan. 27. Lancing. 18. Richard Streater to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty. Sends account of prizes within his district from August 28 last.

Jan. 27. The Savoy. 19. George Earl of Totness to Lord President Conway. Sends letter received from Sir Nicholas Coote, dwelling near to Wanstead in the Forest. Would have waited upon Conway, but the cold weather inforceth him to keep house. Leaves him to acquaint the Council that present order be taken for repressing these insolences in the bud. Incloses,

19. 1. Sir Nicholas Coote to the Earl of Totness. Reports various cases of highway robberies, men and women carrying off corn intended for export, swearing they would first provide for themselves, with tumults consequent thereon, which are submitted to his consideration. Wyfields, 1629, January 27.

Jan. 27. 20. Sir Guilford Slingsby to Nicholas. Recommends Thomas Norgate for boatswain and Thomas Wilkins for purser of the Saint Anne.

Jan. 27 [?] 21. Exceptions to letters patent of Grant of the Office of Surveyor of Seacoals made by the King to Roger Langford, with reasons offered by Newcastle-upon-Tyne, York, Ipswich, and other coast towns, that his Majesty is deceived in that grant, and that the office is both unnecessary and unprofitable for the commonwealth, and void in law.

Jan. 28. 22. The King to the House of Commons. Complains that, notwithstanding his declaration respecting tonnage and poundage, they have set aside that business and preferred to it the matter of religion, wherein the King, if his good directions be rightly understood, expects rather thanks than a remonstrance. The King still insists on their giving the business of tonnage and poundage precedency. [Draft in the handwriting of Lord Keeper Coventry, corrected, with several insertions, by the King himself.]

Jan. 28. Westminster. 23. The King to James Viscount Doncaster and William Lord Craven. Licence to travel for the space of two years from this date, with five or more servants, in the countries of any princes or states whatsoever.

Jan. 28. Westminster. 24. Sir Francis Nethersole to Elizabeth Queen of Bohemia. Sends copy of the King's speech to both Houses made on the 24th instant. On Monday the bill of tonnage and poundage was brought in by Sec. Coke, but was at last overruled on the ground that being a bill of subsidy, the matter thereof ought to be resolved in the House before the bill was brought in. Some entrance being made into the matter of the growth of Arminianism, it was thought that the Remonstrance of last session should be renewed, by occasion whereof it came to be known that by his Majesty's command it was taken from the clerk and delivered to the Lord Privy Seal. This was conceived to be so great a violation of the privileges of the House that it was resolved to stay all further proceeding till that Remonstrance, being a record, might be had. The next morning it was brought into the House by Sec. Coke, with a message that the King expected the house should proceed with the bill of tonnage and poundage, but that message fell to the ground, because it was ordered before, that the matter of religion should have precedence; and the rest of the morning was spent in speeches on the manner of proceeding, and in agreeing in a petition for a general fast, in speaking whereof Sir Robert Phillips alluded to the death of Elizabeth's son. The petition was yielded by the King, with these two notes,—that the desolation of the foreign churches required rather fighting than fasting, and that the King would not have it grow into a custom that every Session must begin with a fast. Had almost forgotten, and would he could do it altogether, that when the House was about to take in hand the matter of religion, Sec. Coke delivered another message requiring them to go presently in hand with tonnage and poundage, and letting them know that the King had done so much in matters of religion that he expected rather thanks for it, than a Remonstrance. An answer is to be framed by a special committee. God grant it may be of a kind to stop all future messages, than which nothing more retards his Majesty's service. Incloses,

24. 1. Copy of the King's Speech to both Houses on January 24, 1629.

Jan. 28. 25. Affidavit of Richard Andrewes, keeper of the King's storehouse at the Custom House, of the circumstances under which Thomas Symonds, a merchant, procured him to be arrested, for detaining a butt of currants and a bale of silk goods belonging to Thomas Symonds, on which he refused to pay duties.

Jan. 29. 26. Lord President Conway and William Earl of Pembroke to the King. Report on a complaint addressed to his Majesty by Doctor Allen, of interference with his place of Doctor of the Tower of London by Doctor Diodati. Lords Conway and Pembroke state, that on the decease of Doctor Gwynne, who last held that place, and on suit of his widow, the King appointed Doctor Allen, who was accordingly sworn and admitted to the place by order of the Lord Chamberlain, but the Lieutenant of the Tower being absent, his deputy pretended the disposal of the place belonged to the Lieutenant, and thereupon swore and admitted Doctor Diodati, whom the Lieutenant has since endeavoured to maintain. These Lords do not find any custom or right to give him the choice and nomination, and are of opinion that Dr. Allen is duly appointed. [Copy.]

Jan. 29. 27. Declaration of the House of Commons that they claimed, professed, and avowed for truth, the sense of the Articles of the Church of England, established in the 13th year of Queen Elizabeth, which by the public acts of that Church and the general exposition of its writers, had been delivered to them, and rejected the sense of the Jesuits and Arminians. [Indorsed by Bishop Laud, "January 28, 1628. The challenge of the Lower House in matters of religion." The date should have been January 29. See Journ. Commons, Vol. I., p. 924.]

Jan. 29 ? 28. The King to the House of Commons. Message whereby, as Supreme Governor under God of the Church of England, the King requires the House, that they either rest content with his publication for keeping unity in the Church, or show in what respect that publication comes short in maintaining without alteration the articles they mentioned. [Draft in the King's handwriting, and indorsed by Sec. Coke "Message to the Commons House;" but qy. if ever delivered.]

Jan. 29. 29. Horatio Gentileschi to the King. Statement by way of justification of himself and his sons,—Francis, Mark servant to the Duchess of Buckingham, and Julio,—in reference to various disputes and litigations between them and Balthazar Gerbier. The cause of these disagreements is asserted by Gentileschi to have been his refusal to confirm Gerbier's judgment of various statues and pictures procured by him for the King and the late Duke of Buckingham. The conduct of Gerbier and John Bous, his servant, is severely commented upon, and a report that Gentileschi's sons had offered some hard measure to Laniere abroad is strongly contradicted.

Jan. 29. Lambeth. Archbishop Abbot and other Judges of the Court of High Commission to Richard Tomlins, one of the messengers of the Chamber. Warrant to apprehend all Jesuits, seminaries, and priests, with their receivers and abettors, and to take into his possession all popish books and massing stuff. [*Coll. Sign. Man., Car. Jan. 29. The Tower. 30. Commissioners for prize goods to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty. The Wind-hound, the Little St. Peter, and the Hunter, three prize ships, are exceedingly decayed in their valuation by reason of lying long undisposed of. Suggest that the writers should have a general warrant to sell ships as well as goods.

Jan. 29. 31. Draft in the handwriting of Sec. Dorchester, of a message sent to the Lord Mayor, charging him to keep his Majesty in peaceable possession of goods stayed for nonpayment of duties, and not to permit any unusual assembly to molest the officers of the customs, or watermen or carmen to give assistance in carrying away goods, by reason of some men's misinterpreting the King's speech [of the 24th inst.]

Jan. 29. Carleton, [co. Cumberland.] 32. Thomas Carleton to Sec. Dorchester. Entreats the Secretary to keep the writer in remembrance now in his old age, after the Secretary's brother and the Bishop of Chichester are dead, and in his far remoteness from Court. Begs the Secretary to take knowledge of the writer to Lord Percy, by whom he had been appointed a Deputy-Lieutenant of Cumberland, and to Lord Clifford, by whom he had been put in the commissions of the peace and subsidies for Westmoreland and Cumberland, to the grief of his ancient adversary.

Jan. 29. 33. Certificate of Daniel Ambrose. In accordance with an order of the King in Council, that the chaplains employed at sea should be paid according to the full number of men allowed in their ships, he had been paid by Capt. Harper, who deducted a tenth part for his fees, as he termed it.

[Jan. 29.] 34. Certificate of John Reynolds, master gunner of England, as to the sufficiency of Nathaniel Reeve, who had served gunner in several King's ships.

Jan. 29. The Tower. 35. Another similar certificate of John Reynolds and John Hall, in favour of the same person.

[Jan. 30?] 36. Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty to Commissioners for Prize Goods, authorizing them to sell the prize ships, the Windhound and the Little St. Peter, of Calais. [Copy.]

Jan. 30. Lancing. 37. Richard Streater to Nicholas. A small "gabar" belonging to Newhaven, in France, was brought into the port of Arundel by a man-of-war of Rye, and was sold for 40*l.* He has in hand 3*l.* 6*s.*, balance of tenths, and desires to know to whom it must be paid.

Jan. 31. 38. Answer of the House of Commons to two messages lately received from the King. [This is the engrossed answer approved by the House this day (Com. Journ., I., 925), and presented on February 2, 1629 (ibid.) It is indorsed by Sec. Dorchester.]

Divers poor victuallers and others, in whose houses the soldiers were lodged, are utterly undone.*

[Jan. ?] 67. Petition of the Ministers of the King's Fleet to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty. Notwithstanding the order of the Commissioners, petitioners are still delayed upon a pretended want of precedent. Petitioners answer, that at the first the Ministers had the 14*s.* only, to which, to make up competent means, it pleased the King to add these monthly groats, as unto the surgeons their monthly 2*d.*, which they receive together with their monthly 14*s.* Pray payment of groats for the full number of men for the ships in which they are mustered, and for restraint of the unreasonable extortion of the clerk, who takes 2*s.* out of every pound of the little that is paid them.

[Jan. ?] 77-88. Twelve similar informations against other persons whose names are wholly or in great part rendered illegible by damp.

[Jan. ?] 89. Speech in the House of Commons, in which the speaker argues for burning the memory of former unkind passages, and making it their work to restore the peace of the Church and Commonwealth.

[Jan. ?] 90. Another speech in the same House, on the subject of the measures taken to compel payment of tonnage and poundage. The speaker argues that the perverse conduct of a few persons drew upon them those extraordinary acts of state.

[Jan. ?] 91. Another similar speech. This speaker contends that much thankfulness is due to the King for granting the Petition of Right, and that they ought to govern themselves so moderately as to make it appear that they would not use that Petition to an excessive liberty. The persons who refused tonnage and poundage practised the clean contrary, wherefore the speaker argues against spending any further time in these disputes.

VOL. CXXXIV. JANUARY, 1629.

His brother writes out of Holland that those who have the pearls in hand, and also the widow Thibaut, who has his Majesty's jewel of the Three Brethren, will not wait any longer, but will proceed to execution before March ; he is also in trouble for the money disbursed for the King's service. Has communicated with the Lord Treasurer, and begs the Secretary to prevent the damage and dishonour which may be caused by delay. Fr.

Feb. 7. 17. Attorney General Heath to Sec. Dorchester. It being the writer's unhappiness that he cannot wait on the Secretary, the occasion whereof—the King's displeasure—more afflicts him than any man can conceive or himself express, he sends back the papers he received from him for the King's service. One set relates to the prisoners at Dover taken in the ship of Ostend of whom only two appear to be English or Scottish persons. The others relate to those in Cumberland, who used unfit words concerning the King. Has sent the information of Capt. Phillipson and another. Begs his intercession with the King. Had no ill intention in what he did. His error is not to be excused, but he knows the King is gracious, and he shall be more careful in future.

Feb. 7/17 Rome. 18. James Traill to James Earl of Carlisle. Have been at Rome a week, and Lord Doncaster's relationship only known to the Venetian and Savoyard ambassadors, and to Mr. Con, Lord Carlisle's very affectionate servant and their good friend in that place. Are likely to find difficulty on their return by reason of the troubles in Italy.

Feb. 7. 19. Attested copy of the Verdict of an Inquisition held at Norwich before Robert Holland, coroner, on the body of Thomas Tompson. The jury found that, on January 7 last past, John Hamond feloniously struck the said Thomas Tompson a box on the ear, and that Tompson languished from January 7 to the 16th of the same, when he died, but whether from the box on the ear or how otherwise they had not found.

Feb. 8. 21. The same to Sec. Dorchester. Thanks for his last great favour. Has drawn a petition to the Lords, and inclosed it to the Lord President. Intreats his noble assistance to perfect the work. To-morrow will do as well as to-day, although a minute was too long until he understood his Majesty's gracious inclination towards him.

Feb. 8. 22. The same to James Earl of Carlisle. Begs him to excuse his over presumption in soliciting him again. Nothing but the burthen of his gracious master's displeasure could force him to be so importunate. Would gladly petition his Majesty again, by his hand, and begs his advice when it will be seasonable. Begs him to acquaint the King that the writer's clerk for the patents, who most knows what passes by the writer's direction, is summoned from the Commons House to appear to-morrow morning. To have him answer their questions is equally inconvenient with himself, therefore he prays his Majesty to give his own directions.

Feb. [9 ?] York. 23. W. Sheffield to the same. Congratulations on the Earl's return. During his absence, the King has signified his pleasure to inclose the forest of Galtres, near the city of York, in which the Earl has a parcel of land called Raskell land, and a water-mill, of which the writer is now farmer. The surveyor having returned this mill as part of the King's manor of Easingwold, the writer has collected the evidence for the Earl's title, and sends it in order that he may assert his right.

Feb. 9. Portsmouth. 24. Capt. John Mennes to Nicholas. Reports his arrival in Stokes Bay with the two Whelps and the ammunition ship. Will take aboard his victuals with all expedition. Put his mast to the trial, and makes no doubt it will serve for many a year. In their passage they took a small prize laden with fish. Capt. Dymes has the examinations.

Feb. 9. 25. Certificate of Inhabitants of Harwich to the High Commissioners for causes ecclesiastical. A suit having been commenced in the Court of High Commission against John Peck, junior, sometime one of the churchwardens of that town, for removing the pulpit in the chapel there, in which suit William Innes is the promoter, they certify, that, about five years since, William Innes removed the pulpit from its ancient station into the middle aisle, a place in every respect very inconvenient. It remained there eighteen months, when the inhabitants, invited thereto by divers persons, some of great quality, gave direction that it should be replaced in its ancient station, and John Peck, then churchwarden, was appointed thereto, who thereby added much ornament to the pulpit, and grace and beauty to the chapel. [Draft.]

Feb. 9. 26. Attorney General Heath to Thomas Meautys, Clerk of the Council. Sends examinations of Thomas Symonds and the Sergeant Sutton. Observes a difference between them as to whether Andrewes, the officer of the Custom House, was to be arrested, or only to be required to put in bail. Incloses,

26. II. Examination of William Sutton, one of the Sergeants-at-Mace to the Sheriffs of London, taken February 6, 1629, with reference to his arrest of Richard Andrewes at the suit of Thomas Symonds.

Feb. 9. 27. The same to James Earl of Carlisle. By the intercession of the Council, and his Lordship above others, he trusts he stands upright in the King's favour again. One thing remains, without which he shall not sleep in peace, that he may wait upon the King and tender his submission on his knee, and receive his absolution. Then, also, he shall acquaint the King with a new accident happened this day touching the Customs' business, wherein it is necessary for him to receive the King's directions.

1629. VOL. CXXXV.

Feb. 10. Weymouth. 28. Sir John Drake to the Council. By order, dated September 19, 1628, the Council sequestered into Sir John's hands the goods taken by Capt. Hinckley in the Content of Weymouth, the ownership of which was in dispute between John Blachford, John Gardner, and Henry Russell. Afterwards, it was ordered that Gardner and Russell might sell the goods, giving security to Blachford for his third part. Feb. 11. Whitehall. 34. Lord President Conway to Sec. Dorchester. The bearer is son to Capt. Colville, who is at Brussels for services wherewith Conway acquainted the Secretary. house in St. Martin's Lane; but Sir Guilford Slingsby, to accommodate his wife and numerous family of children and servants, has violently taken the same from the petitioner. Feb. 14. Westminster. 40. Sir Francis Nethersole to Elizabeth Queen of Bohemia. Some of his letters in August last made mention of one Jones, a stationer, who, when Mountague, now Bishop of Chichester, was confirmed, made some opposition thereto. Explains the nature of episcopal confirmation, and the rejection of the articles tendered by Jones. The same person having preferred a petition to the House of Commons, his counsel was heard on Monday last, and answered by Sir Henry Marten; but the common lawyers are not satisfied, and a day is appointed for a further debate. The printers have preferred a petition, alleging that of late books written against Arminians have been suppressed, especially one written by Bishop Carleton, but others written in their favour have been licensed. Complaints in Parliament against Bishop Neile, of Winchester. Reprieval of the Jesuits arrested at the college in Clerkenwell, and conduct of the Attorney General in leaving their prosecution to Mr. Long. Mr. Attorney was freed by the King on Monday last with this admonition, that he should fear God and the King, and none else. Being fallen into the ill opinion of the House of Commons, he is in danger to be crushed between two rocks. The House will give tonnage and poundage to the King without any diminution, but not without a very full acknowledgment of the right of the subject. How this will please his Majesty the writer much doubts. He is much displeased that there is no more haste made to pass the bill. Not much will be done till religion be settled, whereon the hearts of all the House are earnestly set. The Lords have resolved on a petition to the King for putting English-Irish viscounts below English barons.

Feb. 14. Sienna. 41. William Lord Craven to James Earl of Carlisle. Passionately vows and promises his affection to the Earl.

1629. VOL. CXXXV.

Feb. 14. 42. Sir Henry Mervyn to Nicholas. This morning Lord Holland signified his Majesty's pleasure that Sir Henry Palmer should go this voyage in place of the writer, and on account of his want of health. Lord Danby is going away on Monday; Nicholas is requested therefore to procure Sir Henry Palmer's commission that day. He is to take charge of the Assurance as captain and admiral of the ships appointed for this service, and after to continue in the Narrow Seas until further order.

Feb. 15. Whitehall. 43. Order of the King in Council. On the 13th inst. divers of the colonels and other officers of the army, lately discharged at Portsmouth, being called before the Board for the better finding out who were the principal inciters of the rest to assemble in a mutinous manner, both in speech and demeanour, to expostulate with the Lord Treasurer touching their pay, they took occasion to except against an Order of this Board which limited their pay to the period of actual service. After some reproof for their tumultuous and unsoldierlike manner of demanding their pay, the Order, which was grounded on the opinion of the Council of War, was reconsidered and confirmed, but with liberty to the officers to state any particular cases of merit and service to the Council of War.

VOL. CXXXVI. FEBRUARY 16—28, 1629.

Feb. 25. 37. Bishop Laud, of London, to Sec. Dorchester. Was no sooner come within his doors but an inclosed letter was delivered to his hands. Mr. Oade who wrote it is a proctor. The fact is little less than he makes it, and the cognizance of it belongs to the Secretary and the Lords. Has much need of money, but thinks it not fit to keep this coin any longer in his house, lest, if there were more pieces than one, he might burn his finger with telling it. Feb. 65. Suggestion, whether, on the refusal of Parliament to give necessary supplies, the King was not justified in making a proportionable assessment of all men's goods and estates for the safeguard of the commonwealth. The man recommended is honest, learned, and witty; in sign whereof Sir Robert Aytoun loves him. In a word, he is Mr. John Echlin's brother, and has no fault but that he is a Papist, but such a one as will be in Heaven as soon as he is dead.

[Feb. ?] 69. Edward Earl of Norwich to the same, whom he terms his dear son. Thanks for kindness expressed that day. Notwithstanding Carlisle's expressed intention to keep his son out the whole year for his better accomplishment in languages, the writer is seduced by the importunity of his Eve, who will undertake to sequester him from her indulgent cockering, to request that he may be at home in June.

The course taken by the House in seeking to render the officers of the Customs criminals for executing the King's commandments, makes the King think himself unkindly dealt withal. Urges that they should endeavour to gain the King's heart by the moderation of their proceedings.

[Feb. ?] 81. Bishop Hall, of Exeter, to —— Turner, chaplain to Bishop Laud, and his Licenser. Gives him authority to omit certain passages in the letters of Bishop Hall and Bishop Davenant, of Salisbury, proposed to be published in Bishop Hall's Reconciler, which was at that time under consideration of Turner for a licence. The passages alluded to contain strong declarations of the anti-Arminian character of the church of England. Bishop Hall consents to their omission, as being lothe to offend, or draw blame upon Turner.

March 1. Worcester. 1. John Street to Lord President Conway. Prays his interest to procure Mr. Rose a prebend's place in the College of Worcester. Mr. Barksdale is dead, but the King has given his place to Mr. Bondon, and the next place is promised to Dr. Fell.

March 1. Tichfield. 2. Henry Earl of Danby to Sec. Dorchester. Victuals not being to be had in Portsmouth or Southampton, Sir Henry Palmer and the Earl have resolved with the first wind to go out, beat away the Dunkirkers about the Isle of Wight, and so pass over to the Islands, where, with some such provant as those parts afford, he shall find time to perform the chief part of his charge.

March 1. Tunstall. 3. Sir Edward Hales to the same. The Frenchman, Mons. Sandrin, went yesterday from Sittingbourne to London. He said his business was to Lord Holland from the Duke of Lorraine. The Mayor of Dover made no further stay of him than for an hour or two after the packet was sent away, that he might not gain it, as he did. Sir Edward hopes his omission of further stay of him excusable.

[Coll. Procs., Car. I., No. 103.]

The Lord Treasurer has promised her much for Sir Thomas. Hears that if the peace with France goes on Sir Isaac Wake will go thither. so that she hopes Sir Thomas will have his desire. Thus he will see that sadness cannot make her forget her friends. Croft will tell him all the news. Desires to be commended to his wife.

March 2. London. 9. Cyrille de Fiennes Viconte de Fruges to Sec. Dorchester. Has been obliged to make himself known to a merchant at Dover, being without money. 1629.
March 2/12. Edinburgh.

10. Robert Leighton to his Mother, but addressed to his Father, Alexander Leighton, doctor of physic. Wonders that he has not heard from her. Received a letter from his father, which perspicuously made manifest the danger that by all likelihood would incur of the book which he has been printing. He sent some of the books thither which are like to bring those that meddled with them in some danger, but the writer hopes God will appease the matter, and limit the power of wicked men who would make havoc of God's children. Exhorts to prayer. It is a comfortable thing to suffer for the cause of God. Mentions his brethren, his sisters, and his aunt. Writes not to his father, because he knows not whether he be come home. Directs this letter to his father, that it might be the better known where to deliver it. [Indorsed by Bishop Laud, "March 12, 1629, stylo Romano. Robert Leighton the son's letters to his mother from Edinburgh."]

March 3.

14. Capt. James Duppa to Nicholas. Recommends Richard Gardner, to whom the purser of the St. Anne would transmute his place.

Has taken order for the Secretary's directions to be sent on to him.

March 3. Lon[don].

16. George Carleton to Endymion Porter. His Majesty was somewhat scrupulous to send down a licence in blank to take up pilots there [Portsmouth], they have therefore sent down two able men, to whom they have given security for their return back. The conditions are written at large to the ceptain.

March 3. London.

17. William Willingham to a person whom he styles his "Cousin" and "old Kinsman." Reports to him the settlement of a lawsuit with a clergyman named Bradley, and an answer to a petition respecting concealed lands. March 7. 45. Attorney General Heath to James Earl of Carlisle. The untoward disposition of a few ill members of the House of Commons has given such just occasion for dissolving the Parliament that the Attorney General and many thousands of others are truly sorrowful for it. But the deserved punishment of the authors thereof may make such an example of better obedience that ages to come may be warned by their folly, and the King will not find the Attorney General faint or remiss in that or any other service. Now is the time to put brave and noble resolutions into acts, that whilst the vulgar part of this our little world are endeavoured to be made diffident of his Majesty's religious and just government, they may find how much they have been abused. Offers to the Earl's clearer judgment things which he sees but by twilight, but conceives may be of moment to advance his Majesty's honour. Turney went into the prison, and forced the Marshal's men "to pluck up" the prisoner, and the Captain put burning matches between his fingers, and so burnt them, "as you may behold." The Captain afterwards found his money, and the servant appealed to Sir William Courteney for justice, whereupon the Colonels gave sentence that Capt. March 13. 66. Officers of the Navy to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty. Set forth the difficulties they meet with in dealing with the ships-carpenters, and request their guidance. If they discharge them, they daily come up and are clamorous, which is insufferable, considering their miserable estates; if they continue them on the works (though indeed there are not materials to employ them) there is a waste of his Majesty's money.

March 18. 5. Another copy of the same.

March 18. 6. Interrogatories to be ministered to Sir John Eliot. They consist of those prepared for the examination of Benjamin Valentine, with additions principally relating to Eliot's own speeches on the day alluded to. [The paper is in the handwriting of Attorney General Heath.]

March 18. 7. Examination of Sir John Eliot on the preceding interrogatories. He refused to answer to any of the interrogatories because he held that it was against the privilege of the House of Parliament to speak of anything which was done in the House.

March 18. 8. Examination of John Selden upon interrogatories similar to those administered to Eliot. He alleged that he was so much interrupted in observing the passages of that day by many questions asked of him upon that sudden occasion, by those who sat near him of all sides, that he neither did nor could well observe other men's acts, he himself being thereby put into that confusion. He denied or explained away various speeches attributed to him as having been spoken on the day in question, and said that if he had understood the positions held or propounded by Sir John Eliot in his resolution as to the taking of tonnage and poundage, he would absolutely have dissented from him, and that he is clearly of another opinion.

March 18. Examination of Mr. Nicholl, in the handwriting of the Attorney General. The examinant had written to Mr. Coryton since his commitment, and is called upon to account for his doing so, and to explain a passage in his letter in which he asserted that the King was graciously inclined to Mr. Coryton, and another passage in which he expressed a wish that the King would punish certain evil members of the kingdom.

March 18. 10. Lord Treasurer Weston to Attorney General Heath. Having lately given him instructions to prepare a bill to Sir Thomas Lake and the rest of the farmers of the impositions on sea coals for a renewed lease of the same for 21 years, in consideration of 11,000*l.*, of which 5,000*l.* has been paid, and 6,000*l.* is to be paid within 14 days after sealing their lease, the Treasurer now sends some additions to this contract, on which he desires an opinion. Underwritten,

10. I. Report of the Attorney General to the Lord Treasurer, approving of the new clauses, with some exceptions. 1629, March 19.

10. II. Lord Treasurer to the Attorney General. To prepare a grant according to the opinion stated in his report. 1629, March 20.

March 19. 11. Petition of John Bolger to the Council of War. Was surgeon to Sir William St. Leger's regiment in the Cadiz expedition, and in that of Sir William Courteney in the Isle of Rhé, and has been continued in the King's service up to this time. Prays that he may receive his pay. Annexed,

11. I. Certificate of Sir Thomas Fryer as to the petitioner's service up to June 16, 1627.

11. II. Similar certificate of Sir William Courteney of his services since June 16, 1627. Underwritten,

II. 1. Reference to Capt. Mason to certify what is due for service abroad. Petitioner is to attend the Auditors according to the Declaration lately printed. See 1629, March 11, Vol. cxxxviii., No. 56.

March 19. 13. Dr. Thomas Rives to ——, indorsed by Bishop Laud. Reports, from the register, as to who had presented to the rectory of St. Andrew in the Wardrobe from the time of Queen Elizabeth. Is of opinion that the King's elect is entitled to have institution, because it appears that the King was last in possession.

March 20. Whitehall. 14. The King to Attorney General Heath. To prepare a pardon for Edward Armstrong, of the Ash, in co. Northumberland, Edward Armstrong alias Kinmond, Hector Armstrong alias Stubholme, and John Armstrong otherwise called John-with-one-Hand, of the kingdom of Scotland, for all robberies and thefts committed upon the borders of England and Scotland, on condition that before September 25 next they depart from the said kingdoms, and do not return without licence.

March 20. Westminster. 15. The King to ——. The King referred a petition of James Lord Kintyre, second son to the Earl of Argyll, to the Council, who have reported that neither the fault of his father, nor the default of so small a rent, ought to be pressed so as to make him lose so great an estate. They therefore are of opinion that either the land should be restored to him, or the person addressed should make satisfaction. The King hopes these recommendations will be complied with. [Copy.]

March 20. 16. Petition of Thomas Dowrich, Captain of the Unity, to the King. Being employed last summer under Capt. Pennington, petitioner took three prize ships which have yielded the King near upon 4,000*l.*, there being remaining six chests of tobacco, worth 170*l.* The Duke of Buckingham promised the petitioner a reward. Prays that the King would bestow upon him those chests of tobacco. Underwritten,

16. I. Reference to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty to give order for the delivery of the tobacco to petitioner. Whitehall, 1629, March 20. Annexed,

16. II. Certificate of Capt. John Pennington, in verification of the facts stated in Capt. Dowrich's petition.

16. III. Commissioners for sale of prize goods to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty. Report the state of the account of the three prize ships taken by Capt. Dowrich. 1629, March 28.

March 20. 17. Petition of William Lord Grey, of Wark, to the same. For licence to inclose 1,500 acres adjoining to Chillingham Castle, co. Northumberland, and to make a park thereof. [Underwritten is a reference to the Attorney General to prepare a grant accordingly.]

March 20. 18. John Lord Savile to the Council. Report on a petition of Marmaduke Roundell against Thomas Pickering and Marmaduke Kettlewell. Martin Laycock bought land for the use of Thomas Roundell, petitioner's father, of Marmaduke Kettlewell, for 420*l.* 220*l.* was paid, and the rest was to remain in the purchaser's hands until Kettlewell cleared the land from incumbrances, the purchaser paying 10*l.* at every sheriff's tourn so long as the 200*l.* remained in his hand. The 10*l.* was regularly paid for many years, and ultimately was tendered in court, but neither Kettlewell nor any one for him came to receive it. Thereupon Kettlewell procured himself to be admitted to his land again as for nonpayment of the 10*l.* Lord Savile reports that Roundell is wronged.

March 20. The Tower. 19. Sir Allen Apsley to Sec. Dorchester. Reports what persons had desired to have access to the prisoners in his custody. Lord Holles wished to have spoken to his brother, and his Lordship, the 1629. Vol. CXXXIX.

Earl of Lincoln, and others would have induced Sir Allen's son to have brought them to Sir John Eliot's lodging, which he refused, whereupon his Lordship went and "did adoration" at Mr. Selden's window. Morton, a minister, came near Sir John Eliot's window, and called aloud to have spoken with him, but he did not answer him. Lord Rochford, and Lord St. John, son of the Earl of Bolingbroke, applied to speak to Sir John Eliot. Pollard and Grenville, Devonshire men, made a similar application. Two of the Plunketts, Irishmen, came to see Mr. Coryton. Mary Kingham, a titulary sister of Mr. Selden, sent him a table book sealed, which Sir Allen retains: nothing written in it. Sir Allen vindicates his son against a complaint made to the King, that he runs the same refractory course as those who opposed his Majesty's designs, and were the enemies of the late Duke; also, that he carries messages to the prisoners. The former arises out of his intimacy with Mr. Harry Percy, which Sir Allen explains; the latter he peremptorily denies.

March 20. 20. Thomas Gurlyn to Bishop Laud, of London. Performed beneficial services to Queen Elizabeth and the late King, and never received recompence. Desires to do service to the present King. Sends an inclosed paper for the Bishop's consideration. [Indorsed by Bishop Laud, with Gurlyn's address.]

March 20. St. Martin's Lane. 21. Anonymous letter to Sec. Dorchester. Offers service, and comments on the conduct of the imprisoned members of Parliament. By striving for a shadow of liberty they had lost the substance. Not only are their mouths stopped, but the Parliament doors sealed for many years.

March 20. 22. Sir James Bagg to Nicholas. Begs him to remind the Lords to direct warrants to the Victualler of the Navy for the Bonaventure, now ready to come for Chatham, and the Rainbow, which will be ready in three weeks. Press warrants will also be necessary. Has disbursed 350*l.* in victualling, and 690*l.* for repairs of the Rainbow.

March 21. Westminster. 23. Sir Francis Nethersole to Elizabeth Queen of Bohemia. Sends the Declaration set forth by the King of the causes which moved him to dissolve the late Parliament, together with another of a like nature made by the late King. In the late dissolution one thing was extraordinary, to wit, that the House of Commons (to which their Speaker was forbidden to come that day) was not sent for up to the Higher House, as the manner has always been, although there were above 200 persons there expecting to be called up, which has given much discontent. Some of the Lords excuse it as having happened by a chance, but it is sure enough that it was done of purpose, for the King addressed not his speech to the Lords and Gentlemen, but to the Lords only. Lord Bristol came to Sir Francis in the Court the other day, and remarked that during the time of the King's displeasure against him he had thought it respectful to her Majesty and her husband to forbear to make any address of his duty to her, but that being again right with his Majesty, and readmitted to his Court (where he has been very much of late); he should doubt it might otherwise be interpreted, and would therefore take the boldness to do it by his letters. Mr. Simon Digby has also prayed Sir Francis to intreat the Queen to express her good opinion of him in a postscript of some letter to Lord Dorchester. Acknowledges her favour to his wife and himself in remembering them with some relique of him who is now a saint in heaven [Elizabeth's eldest son]. Inclosed,

The King having incorporated the town of Leeds by Letters Patent of July 12, in the second year of his reign, the alderman and a few of the chief burgesses, contrary to the good will of most of the best of the parish, endeavour to enforce the petitioners to be a company. Pray the King to refer the consideration of the inconvenience thereof to such of the Lords, Knights, and Gentlemen of co. York who best understand the nature of clothing. [Underwritten is a reference to the Lord President and Council of the North with Sir Henry Savile, Sir Richard Beaumont, Sir John Ramsden, Christopher Wainsford, and John Keyes. Copy.]

1629. Vol. CXXXIX.

March 21. Rodney Stoke. 28. Sir Edward Rodney to Nicholas. The city will not give way to his deputies mustering their ships and mariners, pretending that the Admiral has no jurisdiction there. In January last a small bark was wrecked in the Severn, and the goods cast ashore at Weston-super-Mare and Breane, where they are claimed by the Lords of the Manors. Prays the Lords Commissioners to call in question such claim, as other Lords of Manors follow the example.

March 23. St. John's Cambridge. 38. Master and Fellows of St. John's Cambridge to Bishop Neile, of Winchester. About eight years since, by his mediation, they gave satisfaction to his then Majesty's mandate by electing George Seaton as a supernumerary Fellow. He being beneficed, and long since married, will now needs have the power of resigning, and to that end has brought letters from the Marquess Hamilton and his Majesty to choose another in his place. Pray him to be a means that the bearers may have a favourable audience of the King and the Marquess Hamilton.

March 23. Colchester. 41. Edward Nuttall to Sir John Wolstenholme or Mr. Jacob, at the Custom House, London. Since Lord Spencer had the better of the late Earl about choosing a knight of the shire, their insultations over them have been insufferable.

[The draft of the whole letter may be found in the Holland correspondence, under its date.]

March 28. 63. —— (Unsigned) to Sir Henry Vane, at the Hague. Lady Oxford inquired of him as one more in her favour than he deserves. "Sovereign" is still constant, and the good woman at Charing Cross entertained them kindly—Clare, Tom Hatton, and the writer—with six dishes, and an everlasting pot. Her grace of Richmond, since neither message nor letter could procure a visit from the Queen first, went yesterday to the Court to congratulate the hope of her young cousin. The King, being in her way as she passed through the galleries, let her pass unsaluted, which shall be a ground for the writer to do him ill offices to her Grace, since there is no Parliament wherein the writer is charged to have done so much, but shall want opportunity a good while to do more, the King by proclamation declaring his purpose not to have one speedily, for he means to punish those that were the cause of the last breach first, wherein Sir John Eliot is most charged. The merchants do not pay, nor Strode and Long come.

March 28. 64. Inventory and valuation of two French ships brought into Southampton; with account, by John Ellzey, of tenths of the same by him received.

In consequence of the non-payment of these sums he has become greatly impoverished, and has been forced to imprison himself in his own house, for fear of arrest. Prays payment.

March 29. Dorset House. 66. Edward Earl of Dorset to Lord President Conway. His Majesty has lent the Lord Chamberlain the prize ship, the St. Anne, to be employed to the Montgomery Islands in the West Indies for one year. He is to signify as much to the Council.

March 29. 68. Philip Mainwaring [to Sir Henry Vane, at the Hague?]. Sir Henry's brother, Lord Powys, bids the writer say that the greatest joy he has in his promotion is to witness its effect, which the writer describes, on Tom Edmondes, Tom Jermyn, Sir Robert Killigrew, and Lord Castle Island. The last has run into a nutshell, and will never appear again. The key and the blue ribbon hang where they did. Make haste home, and then catch that catch can, you or the little chancellor. Court news as to James Palmer, Sir Henry's brother, Robin Maule, Sir Francis Cottington, and information as to the customs' business. The Merchant Adventurers are blamed for opposing the way which was taken for accommodating the business of the customs; so are the Merchant Strangers. The East India Company are come in. Lord Cork and Lord Goring have concluded a match; he gives 10,000*l.* with his daughter; six in hand, four within the year. The Queen removes to Greenwich for her confinement. Lady Savage is to lie-in in the court. Sir Richard Wynne is in possession of his office. Lord Totness has left his Countess wonderful rich. Mr. Comptroller is reported to be dangerously sick, and there are such as allot Sir Henry to walk with a white staff. Gave Sir Francis Crane warning to send to Sir Henry's house that day, but the King having been yesterday with him at Mortlake has put him off. Mention of Mr. Weston, the good Archbishop of York, the Lord President of the North, Mrs. Crofts, and the little doctor.

On the death of Lord Totness, put his Majesty in mind that Lord Vere had a grant in reversion of the Mastership of the Ordnance, and that Sir Thomas Stafford had a deputation for executing the office during Lord Totness's inability. The King directed, that until Lord Vere should come over, Sir Thomas Stafford should continue the execution of that place, and they are to obey him as whilst Lord Totness lived. [Copy.]

March 30. 73. Another copy of the same, but dated 31st inst., probably by mistake.

March 31. Offington. 85. Edward Alford to Thomas Earl of Arundel and Surrey. Sees no colour to entitle the Earl to the goods of the Peter, unless driving her ashore after the fight makes her a wreck. Her ordnance at Arundel lies well, the masts are 63 in number; one has been carried off, probably to some ship, for it cannot be heard of; another has been cut into short pieces. Five of them are estimated as worth 500*l*. Suggests they should be watched by night.

March. 86. John Verney to Lord President Conway. Made Mr. Calthrop acquainted with Lord Conway's letter. It will be late before he can return to the Temple this evening. What is said by a lawyer who knows the law and our title will have more avail.

March. 87. Ju——. Barrington to Sec. Dorchester. Understands this morning from Sir Gilbert Gerrard, that he hears the Chancellor of the Duchy is shortly to resign his place, which will be a prejudice to the writer's brother. Intreats the Secretary to be mindful of them on the first opportunity.

Gives account of the expenses incurred by his sons Francis and Julio on a journey to Italy, undertaken by the King's commands, with a view to the purchase of a collection of pictures of Signor Philip San Micheli. Italian.

[March ?] 89. Petition of James Fletcher and Company, Anthony Larder, and Thomas Stone to the Council. The Jane, of London, belonging to the petitioners, lately took in at Dunkirk certain English prisoners, and for defraying their charges took aboard 14 bags of hops, and some other goods prohibited by the King's proclamation. Landing the prisoners at Ramsgate, the ship proceeded to London, but, being chased by a man-of-war, put into Margate, where she was seized and condemned by the officers of the Lord Warden. In consideration of their good service in bringing home the captives, pray delivery of their ship and goods. Annexed, March. 98. Another similar draft account, perhaps in continuation of the preceding.

[Underwritten, in the King's hand, are the names of the Earls of Holland and Dorset, Lord Savage, Sir Robert Ayton, Sir Richard Wynne, Sir John Finch, and Sir Thomas Hatton.]

April 2. Whitehall. 11. The same to the same. The King having passed to John Earl of Peterborough the Forestership of Farming Woods, and that of Geddington Woods to Edward Lord Montagu, and having also agreed to grant Cliff Bailiwick to the Earl of Peterborough, and Rockingham Bailiwick to Lord Montagu, to take effect after the death of the present Earl of Exeter, his Majesty now consents to an agreement between the Earl of Peterborough and Francis late Earl of Westmoreland, that Cliff Bailiwick may be granted to Mildmay now Earl of Westmoreland, and that the Bailiwick of Brigstock, intended to be granted to the Earl of Westmoreland, may be granted to the Earl of Peterborough. 1629. Vol. CXL.

Michael Sparke, stationer, and to keep him safe prisoner until further order, the cause of his commitment being for printing and publishing offensive books without licence or warrant.

April 3. Whitehall. 16. The King to Attorney General Heath. Warrant to insert, in the demise to Sir Thomas Lake and others of the imposition on sea coals, 10,000*l.* money paid, instead of 7,000*l.*, and 1,000*l.* to be paid within 14 days, instead of 4,000*l.*

April 3. Stokes Bay. 17. Sir Henry Palmer to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty. Announces the return of the Earl of Danby from the Channel Islands, to which return they were forced by want of victual. Those islands are the fittest place to annoy the French, and make his Majesty some return of his charge. The preparations of the French not "regardable" for any attempt on the Islands. The French have about 30 men-of-war in Brest, and other seaports, but neither manned nor victualled. Has brought in two prize barks.

April 3. Aboard the Assurance. 18. The same to Sec. Dorchester. Another announcement to the same effect.

April 3. Aboard the Assurance. 19. Henry Earl of Danby to [the same]. Has returned into Stokes Bay with three days' victuals. Will attend the King in a few days.

April 4. 21. Sir Henry Clare to Lord President Conway. Sent his Lordship, on March 23, his petition, conditioning his endeavour in the philosopher's stone at his own charge, so as his Majesty would grant his suit. Desires to know what Conway had done or would do in the matter.

April $\frac{4}{14}$. Rome. 22. James Earl of Doncaster to his father, James Earl of Carlisle. Since his departure from Turin has not received any commands from the Earl. Fears the Earl has not received his letters.

April 4. The Downs. 23. Capt. John Mennes to Nicholas. Provisions received on March 30. Was engaged fitting new rigging. Detained in the Downs by contrary winds. 1629. Vol. CXL.

April 6. London. 24. Notes, by Sec. Dorchester, of information as to the private feelings of the Merchant Adventurers with respect to payment of the customs duties, derived from an intelligent person among them. They will ship as soon as they hear from the other side of the sea. There is speech among them of a petition to the Council, that if they pay their wonted duties the King will protect them against future Parliaments.

April 7. Whitehall. 25. The King to Attorney General Heath. Having for a great and valuable consideration granted to Sir Cornelius Vermuyden the lordship of Hatfield Chase, co. York, the King will use his best endeavours to remove the deer before November 1 next, and whatsoever of them shall not be disposed of by that day the said Sir Cornelius may take at his pleasure.

April 7. Southampton. 26. John Ellzey to Nicholas. Sent last week appraisements of Capt. Scras's prizes, that of the sugars being made by conjecture. Since when he has spent a week at Cowes in weighing and sorting, and sends another inclosed account. Cowes is a very unjust and uncivil place, and the customer over nice. He is afraid that Capt. Scras will be out of square in these tumultuous times. Incloses,

26. I. Note of sugar and tobacco brought into Cowes by Capt. William Scras.

April 7. Portsmouth. 27. Henry Holt to Stephen Alcock, Deputy to Sir Allen Apsley. Minute details of various victualling operations, with prices of provisions. The Assurance, two Whelps, and the Charles are come from Guernsey. Their victualling ends to-morrow. He has refused to victual them without money, so there is post upon post sent to the Council to complain of him, which he desires to answer before his Majesty. At the end of the victualling the men vow they will run away. Rather than that hazard should come he will relieve them with two or three days' victuals.

April 7. 28. Account of ships prepared for present service, with the way in which they should be divided into two squadrons, and the manner in which they may be provisioned some in London and some at Portsmouth.

by reason of his great patience. Prays also employment in Ireland. [Underwritten is a reference to the Council of War, with special directions for recommendations to the Lord Treasurer and the King.]

April 8. 32. Sir Richard Grosvenor to Sec. Dorchester. Importunately solicits his favour. Being engaged for an unfortunate but more dishonest brother-in-law, nothing will serve the creditors but present payment, wherefore he beseeches the mercy of his sovereign, not to defraud any, but to get from his fellow sureties and the principal what assistance he can. It were a killing misery for him to be the overthrow of so ancient a family, as hath continued in Cheshire ever since the Conquest, through too foolish kindness. My Lord of Lincoln will intreat his favour towards the writer.

April 8. 33. Attorney General Heath to the same. Conceives Mr. Handcorn's suit to be just and reasonable, for Mr. Erdeswick is indebted to his Majesty, and no protection privileges him against the King himself. His withdrawal from the kingdom might be prevented by a Ne exeat regno.

April 8. Carleton, near Penrith, in Cumberland. 34. Thomas Carleton to the same. Thanks for favour towards him expressed to Lord Clifford.

April 8. Ash. 35. Sir John Drake to his brother-in-law, ———. Recommends a person who desires to obtain a pardon. Thanks for favours showed to the writer's brother. April 9. 36. Sec. Coke to Sec. Dorchester. Finding, on his return to London, that the Lord Chief Justice was returned to his house, he wrote to him, and sends an account to be shown to his Majesty of what was written, both to receive his further commandments, and to let him see what is further required at the Lord Chief Justice's hands. He has also written to Mr. Attorney to the same effect, and hopes they will advise together what is fit to be done for the support of government and justice, which begin to be neglected too much; which especially men of law should take to heart.

April [9 ?] Lambeth. 37. Archbishop Abbot, of Canterbury, to one of the Bishops in his province. Wishes he had spoken to him before his going down at the end of the Parliament. His Majesty finds that by the late disunion in Parliament some extraordinary tempers are risen, and that preachers do little less than seditiously divulge that religion doth totter, and that the purity of the Gospel is in great hazard. This caused him to recommend the consideration thereof to the writer and the other bishops there. The person addressed is therefore to know, that it is the King's command, that within his diocese he is in his own person to preach obedience to the highest magistrate as to the Lieutenant of God, and that neither clergy nor temporality interpose in questions and disputes which belong not unto them; but principally that "you cause the ministry of your diocese to forbear all undutiful speech in the pulpit as if there were like to be any innovation or alteration in religion, which we thank God and our gracious sovereign is not to be feared," but that they teach Christ crucified, sanctity and mortification of life, and turn the edge of their sword against the Papist. A good way to effect this will be to advertise his Archdeacons that they instil into the quietest and gravest of the clergy that tanquam monitores they may exhort their neighbours to hold this rule. Those who cannot by exhortation be compesced "we shall by public authority here make them examples to other men, to the terror of wilful and disobedient persons." [Copy. Damaged by damp. Indorsed by Sec. Dorchester.]

April 11. Sergeants' Inn. 42. Sir Robert Hitcham to Sec. Dorchester. Having performed the King's commandment concerning Sir William Withypoll, desires an appointment when he may attend him and also his Majesty on some necessary occasions concerning that business. Could wish that the Secretary would be oculatus testis of what is done before the King, for although the matter falls out too evident yet it wants no friends in all places.

April 11. 43. Account of monies which now stand charged upon the revenue by anticipation; total, 155,185*l.* 7*s.* 8*d.*

April 11. 44. Separate examinations of Joseph Booth and Christian Cowper, servants to George Waples, of Towcester, co. Northampton, mercer, taken by Attorney General Heath. Vol. CXL.

1629.

John Cowper, a neighbour's servant, replied, "I do not say with a millstone about her neck," whereto Christian Cowper said, "You do well to put me in mind of it." In her examination Christian Cowper admitted that she said foolishly, that if it were 'long of the Queen that the Parliament was broken, she wished her on the top of the seas.

On the 14th, when the Scotch lord "dined here," with Sir Richard Grimes, there is charged a dish of asparagus, which cost 2*s.* 8*d.*, and a Thames salmon at the price of 2*l.* 6*s.*

April 13. Bridport. 47. John Raymond to ———. Gives account of his disputes with the magistrates of that town, on account of their neglect of the harbour. 1629. VOL. CXL.

April 14. 55. "A Proclamation for suppressing treasonous evil workers for the Popish infidel church's cause: dogs, as the Apostle calls them. Philipp. ii." The purpose of this paper was to excite the people against the bishops, whom the writer aimed at in the word "Dogs," as favourers of Popery, testified, amongst other things, by their compelling the stationers of London to print books having a Popish tendency, and keeping English Protestants close prisoners in the Tower, Gatehouse, and Fleet for their good services in Parliament. The following indorsement is in the handwriting of Bishop Laud:—"This paper was put up upon the Exchange in the daytime about April 14, 1629. The fellow was taken two days after, and put into Bedlam."

April 15. Haverford-west. 56. Justices of Peace of co. Pembroke to the Council. On their previous complaints touching the transportation of poor Irish people into those parts in great multitudes, the Council wrote that they would take order for their restraint. Since which they have continually increased, so that within the last month 300 have been landed thereabouts, for whose passage is paid 5*s.* a piece. Their ingress cannot be prevented by reason that they land them on rocks and in creeks, and presently return to bring as many more. By ingrossing and transportation corn is grown to a great price and scarcity. Wherefore they pray present order for restraint of licences for transportation.

April 15. 57. Petition of William Lane, ropemaker, to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty. Prays warrant for his continuance as master ropemaker at Chatham. Annexed, 57. I. Certificate of the Officers of the Navy as to the sufficiency of William Lane.

April 15. Nicholas to Sir Henry Palmer. The Lords of the Admiralty commanded Nicholas to send the inclosed to Portsmouth, where they conceived he had been, and are very much offended that he and the captains of the Whelps are so long from their charge. No captain of any ship in his Majesty's service ever left his charge without special leave. Knows he will hasten to Portsmouth with all possible diligence. [Copy. Nicholas's Letter Book. p. 78.]

April 15. 58. Sir Thomas Aylesbury to Mr. Falkner. To enter Robert Sayres as boatswain of the Pink.

April 15. 59. Examination of Matthew Wilson, taken by Sir Heneage Finch. He is an Englishman; about 47 years age; born at Catchborne, near Morpeth. Went to Douay in 1599, and has lived subsequently at several foreign seminaries. Refuses to say whether he is a Jesuit, or in orders or not.

April 15. 60. Minutes of a View of Frankpledge and Court Baron of Diana Countess Dowager of Oxford, held for Heningham Upland, co. Essex; with two presentations of a jury annexed, one dated this day, the other April 17, 1629.

Vol. CXL.

April 15. 61. Similar minutes for Heningham Burrow, in the same county, with nine presentments, surrenders, and other papers annexed.

April 16. 62. Order of Council for an absolute end of all controversies between the University of Cambridge and the King's Printers and Company of Stationers. The University shall have liberty to comprint with the King's Printers and the Stationers English Bibles in 4to and median folio, together with the Liturgy in the beginning of the books and the singing Psalms at the end, provided that they shall not print more of the said Liturgies and singing Psalms than will serve to join with the Bibles printed by them, and that they shall not sell the Liturgies or singing Psalms apart; also that the printers of the University may print every year 3,000 Lilly's Grammars. [Copy.]

April 16. Portsmouth. 63. Henry Yonger, Sergeant Major, to the Council. The Captain of the St. Claude appointed to convoy troops to Guernsey has departed to Studland Bay, directing the troops to follow, which they are unable to do on account of the Dunkirkers who are daily chasing ships on the coast. The Tenth Whelp is ready with three weeks' victuals, if she may be employed in the service.

April 16. Portsmouth. 64. William Towerson to Sec. Dorchester. The inclosed was sent to him to be hastened away to the Secretary. Leaves the contempt of the St. Claude to his censure. The Tenth Whelp may be ready in four days. Inclosed, 64. I. David Bandinell to Sec. Dorchester. Relates the circumstance of the departure of the St. Claude. Yarmouth, 1629, April 15.

64. II. Certificate of the Mayor and Burgesses of Yarmouth, Isle of Wight, of the departure of the St. Claude, leaving the troops for Guernsey without a convoy. 1629, April 15.

April 16. Basle. 65. Wolgang Mayer to James Earl of Carlisle. Abel Socinus, a merchant of Basle, has reported to the writer that his wretched son still lives in London in expectation of the fulfilment of the Earl's promises, and that the 13*l.* obtained from Burlamachi being for the most part spent, he is in fear of falling into extreme misery. He further reports that the great occupations of the Earl in the Parliament and other public duties render it not at all extraordinary that he is not able to attend to his son. Beseeches the Earl that the boy, sprung from the family of the great Bucer, may be sent to college, accredited with letters from the King and from himself, and may be allowed some little stipend. Latin.

April 16. Sergeants' Inn. 66. Sir Robert Hitcham to Sec. Dorchester. Sir William Withypoll being his countryman, and his father and mother having been his very loving and familiar friends, begs that the King will spare the writer from giving evidence against him on his trial. Offers to sit by the King's Counsel, and prepare things for them.

1629. VOL. CXL.

April 16. Ottery St. Mary. 67. Anthony Batt to Endymion Porter. Begs him to speak to the Lord Keeper on behalf of John Floyer, who has a cause to be heard in Chancery on May 2. His adversary is a beggar, admitted formâ pauperis, who has not left a stone untumbled that may any way come to his fingers. Sir William Pole remembers his best service.

April 16. The Downs. 68. Capt. John Mennes to Nicholas. Reports his falling in with a fleet of 52 sail off Beachy Head, and his capture of one of them, a Hamburgh vessel of 120 tons, under Dutch colours, bound for Rouen with a cargo of wool, wax, tin, latten, and divers vats and barrels full of goods. Requests further orders. Incloses, 68. I. Examination of Adrian Riders, master of the Falcon, of Hamburgh, the vessel taken by Capt. Mennes. Describes his cargo. 1629, April 15.

68. II. Examination of Christian Christians, pilot of the Falcon. Explains how they came to be sailing under the flag of Holland. 1629, April 16.

April 16. [Down]ton. 69. John Boteler to [Nicholas]. Has sent, as he desired, the mare. Will willingly retain the colt. Professes submission to his disposal. His wife's and his acknowledgments to his noble cousin.

April 16. 70. Report, by Edward Boate, of the state of the several ships now preparing for a new fleet.

April 16. 71. Account, by Kenrick Edisbury and others, of what is in progress at Portsmouth for accomplishment of the Lords Commissioners' instructions for preparation of the four ships returned from Guernsey and the new fleet for sea.

VOL. CXLI. APRIL 17—30, 1629.

April 17. Chelmsford. 1. Justices of Peace of Essex to the Council. On coming to the quarter sessions at Chelmsford there repaired to them 200 persons, who delivered a petition in the names of the weavers of Braintree and Bocking, complaining of extreme necessity for want of work by the clothiers, intimating that above 30,000 persons were likely to partake of that misery, and following the writers about with outcries, so that they were forced to forbear all the other affairs of the country. Some of the justices went to treat with the clothiers of those towns, and persuaded the people to repair to their own houses in expectation of some speedy provision to be made for them. But they are of opinion this quiet will not prevail long, as the clothier pretends a stop of trade, and that he is utterly unable to employ them as heretofore. Pray the Lords to determine what may be done for settling the clothier in his former course of trade, for these poor people will not long be quiet unless they have means to relieve themselves and families.

April 17. 2. Attorney General Heath to Sec. Dorchester. Yesterday received from the King's own mouth his commandment that Lord Stourton, who in truth goes to church, Lord William Howard, the Lord Viscount Dunbar, and Lord Gray, a Scottish Lord who married the Lady Sydenham, should have their convictions deferred. Begs him to procure the King's hand to short warrants.

April 17. 3. Account of Sir James Perrott, as Deputy Vice Admiral under the Earl of Pembroke for cos. Pembroke, Carmarthen, and Cardigan, of wrecks and prizes recently brought within his jurisdiction, and what had been received on account thereof.

April 18. 4. Petition of Seigneur de Lalande to the King. In the expedition to the Isle of Rhé, the Earl of Newport gave the petitioner a place in his cavalry. He was afterwards sent from England into Rochelle, where he remained until the arrival of the Earl of Lindsey, with whom he returned into England, and has since been sent into Languedoc with letters to the Duke of Rohan, whence he returned a few days since. He is now reduced to very great necessity, and without hope of ever being able to return to France, seeing the example of Seigneur de La Grossetiere, who after the surrender of Rochelle was hanged and burned, notwithstanding he had the same orders from the King as the petitioner. Prays for some allowances for maintenance and payment of his debts. [Underwritten is a reference to the Lord Treasurer.] Annexed, 4. I. Certificate of Montjoy Earl of Newport of the service of the petitioner in the Isle of Rhé. Salisbury Court. 1628 (sic), April 18.

April 18. Whitehall. 5. The Council to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty. It is the King's pleasure that they restore to the Earl of Lindsey the Content, formerly taken from him by the Dunkirkers, and recaptured by the Earl of Danby in his repair to the Isle of Jersey.

April 18. 6. Petition of Capt. Theophilus Wright, Archibald Nicoll, and their partners, to the King. Set forth the circumstances of their obtaining letters of reprisal and seizure upon a Scottish ship, laden with Dunkirk goods, at Dover, and the further proceedings which terminated in an Order of Council for their satisfaction, to the amount of 4,577*l.* 5*s.* By the interference of Sir John Hippisley, they failed in procuring satisfaction for 3,277*l.* 18*s.*, part of the 4,577*l.* 5*s.*, and thereupon petitioned Parliament for redress. During the inquiry the Parliament was dissolved, and they now pray a reference to the Archbishop of York and other Lords to take final order for their relief. [Underwritten is a reference to Sir Henry Marten to call the parties before him, and take such course as is consonant with justice and equity.]

April 18. 7. Dr. John Bancroft and Dr. William Smyth to Bishop Laud, of London. Report what progress had been made in the late commission for the preservation of the forests of Shotover and Stowe, and what frauds of the under-keepers had been discovered, so that each of them made more benefit to himself in one year than his Majesty did in five. Yet now there are some about the undertaking to repair the said forests. His Majesty's profit will be most advanced by keeping them in his own hands, so that the officers are straightly held to the forest laws; wherefore they request him to uphold the late commission.

April 18. 8. Lord President Conway to the Mayor of Guilford. Complaint has been brought to the Council against the Mayor for arresting Capt. Jo. Burley, commander of the Swiftsure, a Vice Admiral in the expedition to Rochelle, and at this time sent for to receive directions respecting the King's service. His entertainment being in arrear, Burley cannot satisfy his creditors, and therefore prays that he may be released. Lord Conway does not doubt that, on knowledge of these circumstances, both the Mayor and the creditor will take order that he may be set at liberty. The Mayor cannot be ignorant of the provision that those whose entertainment is in arrear should not be arrested till the end of July, when his Majesty will be prepared to satisfy them. [Copy.]

April 18. Haroldstone. 9. Sir James Perrott to Nicholas. Returns the Commission for the Spanish carvel which came into Milford Haven laden with corn. A small French bark has been brought into Tenby, the right to which does not appear. He has caused her to be stayed. If there be not a fair account made of the ship at Llanelly, some other course must be taken.

April 18. Exeter. 10. Anthony Batt to ——. Wrote last week to mention that Mr. Alden delivered a letter of the person addressed to the Bishop, who refused to institute him upon the King's presentation on the ground that he had a title of his own to Exminster. His title seems nothing more than to get money from the Corporators. The Bishop would yield to the King's letters mandatory.

April 18. 11. Certificate from the Masters of the Navy and others appointed to survey Mr. Harby's cordage, to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty, of a further quantity of the same cordage found serviceable, and another quantity unserviceable.

April 19. St. Martin's Lane. 12. Sir Thomas Roe to James Earl of Carlisle. Is prevented waiting upon him by the gout. To-morrow will attend their meeting in the public service, which can never be separated from his Majesty's service; if he cannot go, he will be carried, and will send the Earl an account by writing. It is not for the King's honour to contract or condition, but there are some graces which they hope to obtain, which will fall like a morning dew upon those that now wither in contumacy, and he will not doubt to promise the Earl's favour and assistance, which will set a crown upon their endeavours, and make them [i.e. the persons who wither in contumacy] know, and by them all others, that submission has more power to draw down grace from a good King than obstinacy.

April 20. 13. Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty to Capt. John Mennes. Approve his discreet and stout carriage in the capture of a Hamburgher out of a fleet of Hollanders. Calling to his assistance the Mayor of Sandwich, he is carefully to search the hold of the ship. If he finds any considerable quantity of prohibited goods he is to send her up for London, if not to discharge her. A supply of three months' provisions will be sent for him into the Downs. He is to waft thence the stores for the ships preparing at Portsmouth, and whilst waiting for them to ply up and down from the river's mouth to Beachy Head.

April 20. 14. Extract from the preceding letter of the part relating to the captured Hamburgher.

April 20. 15. Nicholas to the same. Incloses the preceding letter, and comments on its contents.—P.S. Neither of the two ships he sent in will prove prize, but Nicholas fears no demand for anything they miss as taken from them.

April 20. Wallingford House. 16. William Lake to Sir Henry Fane [Vane]. Commends Mr. Rogers, who, in the Isle of Rhé, proved himself a soldier, a traveller, and a scholar, but withal ill handled by fortune. Advanced by the writer to Mr. Hierome's service. Business goes on de mal en pis, few or none paying the duties, and those that pay do so under other men's names; so much are their tender consciences terrified at Sir John Eliot's brutum fulmen. Though the Custom House is not shut up, yet they are at such low ebb that the monies that used to be supplied from thence for the monthly payment are now issued out of the Exchequer. Hope there is that the Merchant Adventurers leading the way, the rest of the sheep will follow. The ill spirit of obstinacy lies not only in the merchants' breasts, but moves in every small vein through the kingdom. Last week the clothiers of Essex were up, but were dispersed by the Earl of Warwick and Lord Maynard. Sir Francis Cottington is now at last Chancellor [of the Exchequer] in good earnest; Newburgh is Chancellor of the Duchy; the Chancellor [Sir Humphrey May] is Vice Chamberlain; William Herbert is Lord Powys; and now the only business of the Court is to provide a successor for the Gentleman Usher's place, and to make St. George a good feast. The Earl of Northampton is gone this day to Windsor to be installed, if the great waters do not stop his passage by reason of the excessive rain for three days. The term will bring in the Star Chamber, of which there is great expectation concerning Sir John Eliot and the rest, wherein, if they proceed not warily and stoutly, actum est. Likes well of Sir Henry's going to the Leaguer, because he may there learn to command and be of some service to the commonwealth in case the Earl of Warwick and Lord Maynard miscarry in the Essex affairs. Sir Henry's return depends upon another's answer, from whence they heard yesterday, but nothing to the purpose.

1629. Vol. CXLI.

April 20. 17. Articles objected by the Ecclesiastical Commissioners against William Jones and Augustine Matthewes, printers, and Nathaniel Butter and Michael Sparke, stationers, for printing and publishing various books without the same being licensed by the Archbishop of Canterbury or Bishop of London, according to the Decree in the Star Chamber of the 28th year of Queen Elizabeth. Nathaniel Butter is charged with printing and publishing "The Reconciler," and Michael Sparke, "Babel no Bethel, written by Henry Burton;" William Jones, "Musquil unmasked," by Thomas Spencer; Augustine Matthewes with printing, and Michael Sparke with publishing, "The Antithesis of the Church of England," by William Prynne.

April 20. 18. Certificate of Robert Earl of Lindsey. In the late expedition to Rochelle, M. de Lalande exposed his life to extreme hazard, and desperately escaped when he issued out of Rochelle to report the state of the town.

April 21. Whitehall. 19. The King to Attorney General Heath. Warrant to prepare a pardon for Humphrey Galbraith, William Galbraith, and others, indicted two years ago of high treason in co. Fermanagh, Ireland, for killing Sir John Weymes. Order is taken for a competent allowance to be made to Dame Anne Weymes, widow of Sir John, by "the Mr." of some of the persons so indicted.

April 21. Whitehall. 20. Commissioners appointed to examine the complaints made against Dr. Beale, Master of Pembroke Hall, in Cambridge, to Thomas Boswell, John Johnson, Daniel Marrett, and William Fenner, Fellows of that College. Summons to appear at Whitehall, in the lodgings of the Earl of Holland, to give evidence concerning the matters in question. [Signed by the Earl of Holland only, and the day of attendance not filled up.]

April 21. Whitehall. 21. The Council to Thomas Boswell, Fellow of Pembroke College. Summons to give his personal attendance in the Council Chamber at Whitehall.

April 21. Whitehall. 22. Sec. Coke to Attorney General Heath. To renew the Commission for making Saltpetre granted to the late Duke of Buckingham and Earl of Totness, to the Commissioners for the Admiralty and the present Master of the Ordnance.

April 21. The Tower. 23. Sir Allen Apsley to Nicholas. Recommends Albon Frances, who had been commended to him by Endymion Porter, for a purser's place.

April 21. Southampton. 24. John Ellzey to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty. Gives account of what tenths had been sold by him since the August 23 last, and promises to sell those remaining in his hands, and account for the same in Midsummer Term.

April 21. Southampton. 25. John Ellzey to Nicholas. Sends him the preceding, to deliver or not as he thinks convenient. Gives further details of the tenths in his hands. A ship of 100 tons, said to belong to Ostend, has been brought in by Capt. Needler for Capt. Scras.

April 22. Marshalsea Prison. 26. Mons. La Touche to the King. Order had been made for his release, and that of his fellow prisoner, on paying the prison charges. Bremond had money and was discharged; the writer, not being able to pay, but being a stranger, unknown, without assistance, and reduced to hunger and nakedness, remains there the most wretched being in the world. Intreats for his release.

April 22. Cockfield. 27. Thomas Vicars to his cousin, John Vicars. Offers terms for apprenticeship of his brother. Perceives the wit of Dr. Hall to save his credit. What a disparagement is it for a Bishop to err! Every witty man is like the Pope. Take him in an error! You may as well take a rhetorician speaking false Latin; this man will salve his false Latin with a rhetorical figure, and he his error with a quirk of wit. Dr. Corbet has not forgotten his old trade. "I have heard he was a ballad singer when he was a mad lad in Oxford, and now he is the grave Bishop of Oxford he is turned a ballad maker." It concerns you little vituperium of London and the great O'Neale of Winchester to foment and keep afoot the faction. They have learned their lesson. Divide et impera. They play the Rex. It was Barnevelt's policy; they tread his ground. It is good fishing in troubled waters. We have a prayer, or rather praise, for the Queen's being with child. Do you believe it? The writer is Thomas. There be a great many jesuitical pates about her. He prays God they be not hammering some mischief.

April 22. 28. Extract from the statutes of St. Peter's College, Cambridge, concerning the restriction of preferments to persons born in particular counties, with articles showing the mischievous effect of the same. Indorsed, in Bishop Laud's hand, "The Statute of Countries in Peterhouse in Cambridge, in which case I was named a referee by his Majesty."

April 22. 29. Copy of the same.

April 22. Bourton-on-the-Hill. 30. N. Overbury to ———. Desires him to move the Bishop of Gloucester to favour a suit of the bearer, a kinsman of the writer.

April 23. Aboard the Assurance. 31. Sir Henry Palmer to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty. One of the Whelps is gone to Swanage, to attend for the vessels laden with stone. The bark with provisions for the Islands is gone. He wrote to the captain of the St. Claude, whose name is Morley, to take charge of her, which he promised, but is gone without doing it. Purposes to-morrow to stand out to sea, and when his victual is spent to repair to the Downs to receive a supply. Answers a complaint respecting Dutch ships which came in to Guernsey, at his being there, said to be laden with French goods.

1629. Vol. CXLI.

April 23. Flint. 32. Sir John Bridgeman and Sir Marmaduke Lloyd to Lord President Conway. Edward Morgan, a Popish recusant, found guilty of refusing to take the Oath of Allegiance, and now remaining in the gaol of Flint, offers, if he be bailed, to be a mean to apprehend the Bishop of Chalcedon, and to discover his practices against the State.

April 24. 33. The King to the Commissioners of his Revenue whilst Prince of Wales. By warrant, dated March 22, 1628, the Commissioners were ordered to pay 30,000*l.* to the Queen's Receiver General, for satisfaction of tradesmen to whom her Majesty was indebted; and by another warrant, dated the 17th inst., understanding that the Queen's creditors were clamorous, the amount was ordered to be paid in three equal payments. The Commissioners are now desired, for satisfaction of the mind of the Queen, and of those of her creditors who have long forborne their monies, and are unable to forbear them any longer, to take up upon their own bonds 10,000*l.* for the use of the Queen, on security of the lands held by them in trust. [Copy.]

April 24. Whitehall. 34. The Council to Lord Treasurer Weston. There remains due to Sir Francis Willoughby, for arrears of himself and his officers in the expeditions to Cadiz and Rhé, 1,094*l.* 7*s.*, whereof he is behind the officers of the army in proportion of payment 600*l.* Pray that he may be paid the 1,094*l.* 7*s.*, at such time as shall suit best with the Lord Treasurer's occasions. [Draft.]

April 24. 35. Horatio Gentileschi to Sec. Dorchester. In obedience to his commands gives account of what he received by way of gift from the late Duke of Buckingham, not what the Duke gave him whilst he served another sovereign, nor for pictures sent to the Duke from Paris, but what the King gave the Duke for Gentileschi. It was 1,500*l.*, out of which he had to give 200*l.* to some persons who interested themselves in the affair. Prays for a settlement of his other claims. Italian.

April 25. The Tower. 36. William Coryton to Sec. Dorchester. Intreats him to put the King in remembrance of his petition for his freedom. Protests his loyalty, and that he has always bent his endeavours only to the service of God, his Majesty, and the commonwealth. He has suffered more than any man in being deprived of all offices, and put out of all commissions without being questioned for misdoing or injustice, and thrust out of a place of judicature, out of which never any man was displaced before for any misdemeanor. Has endeavoured to regain his Majesty's favour; has a poor estate full of trouble, a great family, and is much indebted. Begs that he may know his transgression, or otherwise may enjoy his liberty.

April 25. Whitehall. 37. Sec. Coke to Attorney General Heath. Notwithstanding the message sent by Sir Francis Cottington, the saltpetre commission is to proceed according to the writer's former direction.

1629.

April 25. Tehidie. 38. Francis Bassett to Nicholas. Daily expects return of his messenger with instructions how to proceed against Salleneuve's prize. Wishes to know what custom is due out of wrecks and pirate's goods: should the King pay tenths and custom out of his own?

April 27. Newcastle upon-Tyne. 39. Mayor and Aldermen of Newcastle to the Council. Send schedule of the names of all recusants in that town and county. Had caused them to be indicted at the last Easter Sessions, to the end they might proceed to their conviction.

April 27. Newcastle-upon-Tyne. 40. Certificate of the Mayor and Aldermen of Newcastle, Commissioners for preservation of the River Tyne, to the Council, of their proceedings from Michaelmas to Easter last.

April 27. Newgate. 41. Charles Caimus to Sec. Dorchester. Appeal for favour and protection. He was moved to return to England by the tears of his wife, and the advice of his physicians. Latin.

April 27. 42. Bishop Laud, of London, to Attorney General Heath. The Dean and Prebendaries of Norwich have petitioned that the manor of Hindolveston may not be annexed to the deanery. The King is pleased that the late declaration of the statutes of that cathedral should be newly engrossed, with this alteration.

April 27. Portsmouth. 43. William Towerson to Nicholas. By the inclosed he will perceive what goods are aboard the Ark, sent to him by Sir Henry Palmer. Has put a man aboard, and waits for further directions. Inclosed,

43. I. Sir Henry Palmer to Towerson. Sends the Ark to him to take care of till he hears from the Lords. 1629, April 26. [Copy.]

43. II. Examination of Peter Eversham [Evertson], master of the Ark. Was laden at Amsterdam by Dirick Nysan [Niesen], with butter, hides, and wicks for candles, for Brouage, in France. 1629, April 26. [Copy.]

[April 27?] 44. Questions respecting the legal character of the offences attributed to Sir John Eliot, and others, propounded to the three Chief Justices by Attorney General Heath by direction of the King, with their answers. In this copy there are two additional questions written in the hand of the King himself: one is, "Can any privilege of the House warrant a tumultuous proceeding?" to which the Judges replied, "We humbly conceive that an earnest, though a disorderly and confused proceeding, in such a multitude, may be called tumultuous, and yet the privilege of the House may warrant it." The other question put by the King arose out of the answer to one of the previous questions. The Judges had been asked, whether if Parliament-men conspired to defame the King's government, and deter his subjects from obeying and assisting him, of what nature would be their offence?" They answered that it would be more or less according to the facts. The King added, "It is true that the circumstances of the fact will aggravate or diminish when particular men come to be tried, but I must know what the nature of this offence is, being fully proved?" The Judges replied, "We in all humbleness are willing to satisfy your Majesty's command, but until the particulars of the fact do appear we can give no directer answer than before."

[April 27?] 45. Draft of the preceding questions (except those added by the King), in the handwriting of the Attorney General; with an additional memorandum, in the same hand, to the effect that the answers of the Judges consulted in reference to the offence of Parliament-men conspiring as above mentioned was given off-hand, and was not to be published "but by consent and conference with the other Judges."

[April 27?] 50. Copy of another series of questions, apparently submitted to all the Judges; with the answers, and some questions added by the King, specially in relation to the case of Sir John Eliot.

[April 27?] 51. Draft of the same questions, in the handwriting of Attorney General Heath. It differs very materially from the questions which seem to have been ultimately adopted.

[April 27?] 52. Statement, in the handwriting of Attorney General Heath, as to the questions propounded by him, and the answers given by the Judges. This statement contains the King's questions as to the case of Sir John Eliot, mentioned in article No. 50, with the answers of the Judges.

April 27. Aboard the Adventure, in Margate Roads. 54. Capt. John Mennes to Nicholas. The weather had been so unseasonable that they had not been able to search the Hamburgher. He had brought her into Margate pier, where they intended to begin their search that morning. The skipper would confess nothing. Prays permission, when they have convoyed the provisions to Portsmouth, to haul ashore and careen their ship.

April 27. Whitehall. 55. Certificate of Sir William Alexander, that he has sworn in Nicholas Sherman, as master workman and chief armourer at Greenwich, in the place of Thomas Stevens, deceased.

[April 27?] 56. Information preferred in the Court of Exchequer by Attorney General Heath against Richard Chambers, merchant, for refusal to pay customs.

1629.

[April 27 ?] 57. Note, that in the Exchequer, in custody of Gawen Wilson Mr. John West's man, are books of certain enumerated monasteries. It is added, that in one of them is the will of Edward II.

[April 27 ?] 58. Another list, comprising more names of monasteries than the preceding. It commences with "The Will of Henry II."

April 28. Margate. 59. Capt. John Mennes and Henry Forstall to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty. On incomplete examination they had discovered in the Hamburgh Hoy a great quantity of prohibited goods. There will be found in the vessel near 20,000 weight of copper. Inclose examinations. Inclosed,

59. I. Examination of Adrian Reymers, Master of the Hawk, of Hamburgh. On searching the vessel, he said, that if we were ashore he would truly confess what goods he had; and, being examined, gives a detail, which follows. 1629, April 27.

59. II. Examination of Casun Casun, mate of the Hawk, who gives a similar but more general account. 1629, April 27.

59. III. Account of copper, lead, and other prohibited goods found aboard the Hamburgh Hoy. April 27.

April 28. Margate. 60. The same to Nicholas. Details the contents of the Hamburgher, and the way in which the prohibited goods were stowed away under wet and musty hides. Has sent examinations, and hopes to receive further instructions immediately.

April 28. Portsmouth. 61. George Robinson to the same. Prays him to move the Lords of the Admiralty, that Jarvis Morland may be purser of the Triumph, in the writer's place, on his voluntary surrender.

April 28. Hinton. 62. John Lord Poulett to his cousin, Sec. Dorchester. Thanks for friendly courtesies. His sons are preparing to wait on the Earl of Danby, and intend to be in London by May 5 or 6. Wants an honest, careful man, that can speak French, to wait on his son Rolles this journey. Begs the Secretary to spare him one of his, or commend a fit person.

April 28. Buckden. 63. Bishop Williams, of Lincoln, to the same. Thanks for favours at his last being in town, and continued since, to Sir Richard Grosvenor. Details the circumstances of Jane Hawkins, of St. Ives, who, having fallen into a rapture or ecstacy, has uttered strange things, in verse, which she will not confess she could ever make before or can do now, in matters of divinity and state. She is a witty, crafty baggage. Feigning herself in a trance, she began to preach in verse, magnifying the ministry of Mr. Tokey, the Vicar. The versifying continued three days and three nights in an auditory of very near 200 people, the Vicar and one Mr. Wise, his Curate, and another scholar sitting at the bed's feet, and copying out the verses which the poor woman (she is but a pedlar) did dictate, which, amounting to some thousands, they had transcribed fair, with intent to print them, when, coming suddenly, the Bishop seized on the copy and originals. The Bishop required the Vicar and his Curate to acknowledge their error in making themselves actuaries to the impostures of a frantic woman, which the Vicar refusing to do, the Bishop had suspended him and put the Curate quite away. He also left a warrant with the Justices to look to the woman, and that none of her neighbours come to visit her. Preaching there on the Sunday, he took occasion to speak of the scandal thereby put upon our church, whereupon the people have quite forsaken this rhyming preacheress.

April 28. / May 8. Douay, from the Convent of St. Gregory. 64. [P. Leander] to ———. Gives him a long account of a book written in the controversy between the Regulars and the Bishop of Chalcedon, which book had been condemned by the Pope.

April 28. / May 8. Florence. 65. James Traill to James Earl of Carlisle. The continuance of Lord Doncaster's health. Mr. Boswell will make known their resolutions, and the causes of them.

April 28. / May 8. Florence. 66. William Lord Craven to [the same]. Desires the continuance of his favour.

April 28. / May 8. Florence. 67. James Traill to William Boswell. Signor Galileo remains retired in the country, above 30 miles from this town, so that Traill is afraid he must send him Boswell's letter by another, yet he knows the means to do it, so that if he have anything of these Boswell desires, Traill shall have them sent him. Lord Craven cannot stay there all the summer, and Lord Doncaster being unwilling to stay there alone, they have determined to return to England.

April 28. / May 8. Florence. 68. James Viscount Doncaster to [the same?], whom he addresses as his most Noble Cordial. Complains that he has received no lines of comfort for two months. Is so weak for want of comfort that he is coming to fetch his cordial.

April 28. / May 8. Florence. 69. John Spelman to the same. Has met with one book of Galileo since the date Boswell wrote of, the title "Il Sagiatore," and met also with a little book, privately printed and given abroad by the author, "Della Misuratione d' Acqua Corrente," written by one that honours Galileo much; and because of that, and because it was a subject as the author supposes never writ on before, Spelman thought Boswell might like it. They are both small books, and he shall receive them by the first convenient messenger. Is this instant returned from Lucca.

April 29. 70. Minute of a letter from the Mayor of Bristol to [the Council]. William Dollert, servant to Lord Mountgarret, residing in St. John's, near Clerkenwell, had been apprehended with a box which contained letters. He received it from Capt Zouch, to be delivered to Mr. Knatchbull, in Ireland. In the box is a letter from Paris to the Bishop of Chalcedon, to take order to suppress a certain book of the Benedictines.

1629. VOL. CXLI.

April 30. Aboard the Assurance, in the Downs. 71. Sir Henry Palmer to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty. Has thought it best to come to the Downs for his victuals with the two Whelps. Off Beachy they fell in with three Dunkirkers, whom they chased as far as Calais (freeing from them a Holland man-of-war, and a prize taken by him in the West Indies), but they proved too swift of foot for Sir Henry. Wishes the two Whelps to continue with him. Waits their commands.

April 30. Aboard the Assurance. 72. The same to Nicholas. Repeats the information in the preceding letter.

April 30. Portsmouth. 73. Richard Beale to the same. If he is to go to sea in the Charles, intreats his furtherance for expedition. Thinks the Irish coast the fittest service for that pinnace.

April 30. Hinton. 74. John Lord Poulett to Sec. Dorchester. His sons, Smith and Rolles, come to London to wait on the Earl of Danby in his employment into France. Begs the Secretary to present them to the Earl, and that before they go they may kiss his Majesty's hands. Would not have them spare expense in that which tends to the honour of the King's service, being the only sons of their fathers, gentlemen well born and to good fortunes.

[April ?] 75. Opinions and advice given by the Judges on being consulted as to the mode to be adopted for clearing the kingdom of Irish and other beggars. This is the advice referred to and adopted in the proclamation respecting beggars published on May 17, 1629. Indorsed on this paper is a minute, in the handwriting of Attorney General Heath, of the similar opinion and advice of the Judges respecting the mode of raising money for setting the poor on work, alluded to in a proclamation on that subject, also published on May 17, 1629.

April. 76. Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty to the Officers of the Navy. Desire them to renew a warrant of the late Lord Admiral for allowance to George Burrowes, for victuals embezzled out of the Recovery in his absence, attending other of his Majesty's services. [Unsigned, and torn.]

April. 77. Petition of the Mayor and Commonalty of Bristol to Queen Henrietta Maria. Bristol has anciently been reputed and called the Queen's Chamber, as London is the King's Chamber, and the late Queen Consort so esteemed thereof, and took it into her special protection. Being parcel of her Majesty's jointure, they pray to be received into her favour, and that she would recommend an annexed petition to the King, that he would refer the same to the Lord Chief Justice, the Lord Chief Baron, and the Attorney General.

1629. Vol. CXLI.

April. 78. Eliza Lady Falkland to Sec. Dorchester. The Countess of Banbury has acquainted the writer with his exceptions against her letter. If he had been a looker-on upon her miseries, a little impatience would not seem strange to him. There is nothing in the letter that can be taxed with incivility. She conceived that he had, in favour to her Lord, delayed her, but now discerns that he had been most noble to her, and he must needs believe that they who have most seen of delay will likewise be most sensible of despatch. Is well pleased with the King's reference, but would have himself added to the referees.

[April ?] 79. William Warmstry to [Endymion Porter]. Is so oppressed with a wandering humour of his two sons in Oxford, in their desire of going into France with Lord Danby, that he knows not what to do. If Porter thinks it a fit course for either of them, the writer will do what he prescribes. Hears that Lord Newport and Porter purpose to see the country from which Warmstry writes this summer. Would have some warning of their coming through Worcester, otherwise they may chance to keep fast. Being at Weston last week, saw a petticoat making up for Mrs. Sheldon. Advises him to fellow it for Mrs. Porter, and gives a reason for doing so.

April. 80. Questions arising out of the King having engaged in foreign war on the intreaty of a Parliament, and the Commons having been wooed in three Parliaments and having refused to give necessary supplies:—I. Whether it be not against the law of God and nature for the people, on any pretence of private grievances, to deny present aids for defence of the whole estate? II. Whether, if the people do refuse, the King ought not to make a proportionate assessment of all men's goods and estates? and III. Whether in that case he may be justly taxed for breaking any fundamental laws of the land?

April. 81. Articles objected by the Ecclesiastical Commissioners against Henry Burton, Parson of St. Matthew's, Friday Street. It is alleged that Joshua [Joseph] Hall, a grave and learned doctor, having written and published a book, entitled "The Old Religion," a book orthodox and fit to be read, Henry Burton, by word of mouth, and writing two books, entitled "The Seven Vials" and "Babel not Bethel," scandalized Dr. Joshua Hall by perverting his words, as if he intended to maintain that the Church of Rome is a true orthodox Church of Christ. It is further charged that Burton procured "the said book" to be imprinted by Michael Sparke, and himself distributed abroad 200 copies of it.

[April ?] 82. "The sums of money Gentileschi has received:" an account in the handwriting of Balthazar Gerbier. It enumerates the pictures which Gentileschi had painted since his arrival in England, and the various amounts paid to him.

[April ?] 83. Information of John Hooper concerning a person calling himself James Preest, who came to the house of the informant on

VOL. CXLI.

1629. March 29 last, and, pretending to know more than he dared speak, professed that a sudden change would take place before Michaelmas, perhaps even before Midsummer next, after which there would be but one religion throughout the whole kingdom; and, in reference to the means by which this change was to be brought about, remarked, "The Duke died; he was but a man. You know how he died; the King is no more."

[April ?] 84. Paper, prepared by a Herald, of the "Provisions to be made against the Queen's Majesty's delivery, and for the christening of the Prince, gathered out of former precedents."

[April ?] 85. Certificate of Thomas Powell, Keeper of the Ordnance Stores, of the quantity of powder spent in firing ordnance on the Tower Wharf, on May 6, 1606, at the funeral of the Earl of Devonshire, then Master of the Ordnance. With underwritten demand of John Reynolds, Master Gunner of England, for a quantity probably to be employed in the like manner at the funeral of the Earl of Totness.

April. 86. Note, by Nathaniel Apslyn and John Cawse, of the masts at Plymouth, received out of the St. Peter, of Horne, showing their several lengths, and number of hands or palms.

April. 87. Survey, by —— Willoughby and —— Right, of a parcel of masts lying near Arundel, with the charge of bringing them to Chatham.

[April ?] 88. Replication of Thomas Mun, plaintiff, in an action of Mun versus Letts and others, for chasing and abduction [chasiacionem et abductionem] of a horse at Rothwell.

[April ?] 89. Order made by the Justices of co. Somerset at the sessions held at Ilchester. The Officers of the Green Cloth for his Majesty's Household having, by letter dated January 24 last, certified that complaint was made by the Corporation of Bridgewater of a greater charge being laid upon them towards his Majesty's composition than they ought to bear, the same was referred to John Symes, George Powlett, Robert Goffe, and George Browne, four of the Justices.

VOL. CXLII. MAY 1—21, 1629.

May 1. 1. Bond of Lord President Conway to William Weld and Edward Reed, to indemnify them against bonds in which they had joined Lord Conway, for securing his debts of 104*l.* to Samuel Gott, 104*l.* to Nathaniel Weston, and 104*l.* to Charles Purrett.

May 1. 2. Attorney General Heath to either of Messrs. Kirk, Porter, Maule, Leviston, or Murray, of his Majesty's Bedchamber, to procure the King's signature to a letter to be sent to Sir Charles Berkley for his Majesty's service in the disafforestation of Selwood.

1629. VOL. CXLII.

May 1. Hinton. 3. John Lord Poulett to [Sec. Dorchester]. Enumerates letters of the writer which have not come to hand. Would have thanked him by word of mouth, but for an infirmity arising from great coldness in the back of his head. Offers his house to the King and Queen as a shelter from the plague. His wife kisses his hands. She was in hope that the business between him and the fair lady had been ended until she saw lately, in a letter of news, that Lord Dorchester was to marry Lady Bayning, and the Lord Chamberlain the Countess of Dorset. She expects more by the next corranto.

May 1. Tenth Whelp, in the Downs. 4. Capt. John Dymes to Nicholas. Reports his arrival in the Downs, to victual, and then go forth with the Lion, which Sir Thomas Button is to have to guard the Irish seas. Hopes no one will supplant him in the Tenth Whelp. Is sure he did his duty in the matter of the Dutchmen brought into Guernsey. Capt. Gibbons would have had them released, but the writer brought them to the Admiral.

May 2. Greenwich. Proclamation prohibiting the exportation of corn and grain, unseasonable weather having endangered the hopefulness of the ensuing harvest. [Coll. Procs., Car. I., No. 107.]

May 2. 5. Petition of Clement Dawbeney to the King. The late King granted the petitioner, in recompence of his great charge in inventing an engine for slitting iron bars into rods, Letters Patent for the sole exercise thereof for 21 years. His patent being threatened under the statute of monopolies, he prays a confirmation thereof. [Underwritten is a reference to the Attorney General to prepare the same.]

May 2. 6. Petition of Humphrey Bache, Gentleman of the Chapel Royal, to the same. Richard Nash, about 20 years ago, mortgaged to petitioner five small houses in Worcester for 60*l.*, subject to the life interest of Elizabeth Nash, his mother, who lived about 17 years after. Richard Nash was also seized in reversion of another small messuage, and died so seized. His only brother having been attainted of treason for coining money, the power to redeem had come to the King. Prays that, having been constantly attending the Royal Chapel for above 20 years, the King would release the premises to him. [Copy.] Underwritten,

6. I. Minute that the King grants the request, and that the Lord Treasurer and Chancellor of the Exchequer are to give order accordingly. Greenwich, May 2, 1629. [Copy.]

6. II. Lord Treasurer Weston to Attorney General Heath. To prepare a bill granting the premises as desired.

May 2. 7. Officers of the Navy to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty. Send a complaint against Peter Philcott, Master Gunner of the Prince Royal, and find him faulty in most of the accusations laid to his charge; likewise Mr. Reynolds, the Master Gunner of 1629.

England, avers that he is a very unfit man for that charge. Inclosed,

7. I. Certificate of George Wilson, one of the principal Masters of the Navy, William Adams, and other persons, of various instances of the riotous and disorderly conduct of Peter Philcott. Chatham, 1629, April 11.

May 2. 8. Petition of Dirick Niesen, merchant, of Amsterdam, and Peter Evertson, Master of the Ark of Noah, of Amsterdam. It being reported in Amsterdam that peace had been concluded between England and France, they had agreed to make a voyage to Rochelle to lade salt for Londonderry. Being laden with butter, hides, candlewick stuffs, and harlimer stuffs, they had been stayed by Capt. Gibbons. Pray they may be discharged, proclamation having been made at Paris and Calais for free trade with England.

May 2. 9. Answer of Capt. Robert Gray to questions of the Council of War, respecting the occasion of his coming from the Low Countries to enter the service of his Majesty, and the amount due to him.

May 2. 10. Sir Thomas Freke to Endymion Porter. Has perused his accompt made ready for the auditors. His disbursements exceed his Privy Seal of 600*l.* by 26*l.* There are certain omitted payments on account of the wrecked Spaniards, and also some expenses of Freke's own, in discharge of which he suggests that the ordnance cast on shore at Burton should be sold. Out of them he prays that three or four may be left to guard the coast. Sir John Norris, in '89, caused bulwarks to be made to hinder any landing. The same has been done at Weymouth and Lyme.

May 2. London. 11. Inventory, by George Fielding and Richard Dike, of tenths of goods taken out of the Santa Maria di Monte, taken by Peter Blake, captain of the Valentine, of London, and also of two small French barks taken by Capt. Pierre Laloue, in the Fortune, of Stonehouse.

May 4. Suckley, Worcestershire. 12. John Raister, a clergyman, to Sec. Dorchester. Solicits an advowson for his son.

May 4. Margate. 13. Capt. John Mennes to Nicholas. He was in Margate Roads, expecting his remains of victual. Hears a rumour of their going for Hamburgh. Ineffectual chase of a Dunkirker. Lord Warwick's ships came yesterday. The master of the hoy and his son are come for London to find fathers for their prohibited goods. Wishes the Lords would take some sudden course about her.

May 4. 14. Capt. John Mason to the same. Jacob Johnson recovered out of the sea, near the Needles, 2,360 ryals of eight, 5 pieces of ordnance, 101 pieces of lead, and 9 anchors. Johnson desires to have his part set out.

May 4. 15. Account, by Bishop Mountague, of Chichester, of the woods felled by Bishop Carleton, his predecessor; total value, 2,381*l.* 18*s.*

1629. VOL. CXLII.

May 5. 16. Petition of Peter White, one of the four principal Masters of the Navy, to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty. As he can get no pay, begs a grant of four pinks lying at Portsmouth, he paying for the same out of his entertainment as much as any other man.

May 5. 17. Petition of John Duffell, captain of the pinnace the Seven Stars, to the same. Has served in guarding the Thames and Medway two years and five months. As his ship is to be called in, prays the command of the next ship or pinnace employed in that service. Annexed, 17. 1. Certificate of the Earl of Thanet, and others, of the good service rendered by Capt. John Duffell, in guarding the Medway. 1629, May 5.

May 5. The Tower. 18. Sir Allen Apsley to Sec. Dorchester. Requests him to move his Majesty to know whether it be his pleasure that the close prisoners, members of the House of Commons, lately committed, should be allowed counsel to have access to them, according to an order of the Star Chamber. They were committed close prisoners by his Majesty's express pleasure, and he thinks, therefore, he ought to have immediate warrant from his Majesty, or the Council, or Secretary of State. To obey any other warrants or orders may be a precedent of inconvenience hereafter,

May 5. Buckden. 19. Bishop Williams, of Lincoln, to the same. Will be very vigilant that this imposture of the woman at St. Ives spread no farther. The curate and schoolmaster he has quite discharged. The vicar has made an acknowledgment in writing of the woman's imposture and his indiscretion, and has read it openly in the church. It has fully satisfied the people, who cry out against the woman. Incloses the only reflection upon the state in the woman's verses. Is glad that the merchants begin to return ad saniorem mentem. He ever told the Lord Treasurer they would be weary of this new habit of statesmen, and turn merchants again when they heard from their factors that their storehouses grew empty. God send those men more wit who living in a monarchy rely upon the democracy! Inclosed,

19. 1. Sixteen lines, portending coming troubles in punishment of sin. They begin:—

> "Oh, let it be for ever told
> To ages that succeed,
> That they may lay it up in store,
> For then will be most need."

May 5. King's College, Cambridge. 20. Dr. Samuel Collins to Mr. Beare. Is written to by their Chancellor, the Earl of Holland, in his Majesty's name, for another scholar this time, one W. Fairbrother. Sir Henry Wotton is the setter-on of this work. He would have named this Fairbrother for his particular affection to him, but that his Majesty hath taken him off for one Oliver, and now he would put Fairbrother on the writer, in wrong of Beare's son, whom his Majesty had recommended twice before. Beare sees what he has to do. The writer has performed a friend's part, both for Beare's sake, Capt. Pennington's, and Mr. Ambrose's.

May 5. 21. Elizabeth Countess of Carrick to Attorney General Heath. The King had bestowed on her a ward for the better preferment of her daughter in marriage. Prays him to make the bill for the King's hand in the name of the Earl of Monmouth, the writer's uncle, to the use of Lady Margaret Stewart, her daughter.

May 5. 22. Answers of Michael Sparke, of the parish of St. Sepulchre's, stationer, to the articles objected against him by the Ecclesiastical Commissioners, see Vol. cxli., No. 17. He denies the present binding authority of the decree in the Star Chamber for regulating printing, as directly intrenching on the hereditary liberty of the subject's persons and goods, and being contrary to Magna Charta, the Petition of Right, and other statutes. Presumes that Court will no way infringe the liberties of his Majesty's subjects, which his Majesty professes in his late Declaration that he will constantly maintain. That he printed "Babel no Bethel," but conceives there is nothing contrary to the established doctrine of the Church of England therein, and that he has indured a hard imprisonment already for the same, which he hopes will excuse his further answer. That some part of Mr. Prynne's book was printed by Augustine Matthewes, and other part elsewhere. He conceives the book itself to be a just and necessary defence of the Church of England against the Arminians. Refuses to confess the printer that printed part of the book, and thinks this Court will not desire it, in regard that he [the printer ?] has done all to the glory of God, the honour of the King, the good of the Church, and the welfare of the doctrine of the Church of England and the religion established.

May $\frac{5}{15}$. Florence. 23. James Viscount Doncaster to his father, James Earl of Carlisle. Is commanded by the Lord Duke to inclose his letter, which is to procure for a very honest Englishman, Allen Towson, the Consul's place at Leghorn. Incloses, 23. 1. Sir Robert Dudley, signing himself "Il Duca di Northumbria," to James Earl of Carlisle. Thanks for his courtesies. Praise of his son, Viscount Doncaster. Regrets that the Earl did not visit Florence where the Grand Duke expected him, with much admiration of his noble carriage elsewhere. Is desired to accompany Lord Doncaster's recommendation of Allen Towson, an English merchant. Florence, 1629, May $\frac{2}{12}$.

May 6. 24. Lord President Conway to Lady Villiers. Understands she intends to employ a gentleman who has served the writer some years, to attend her noble son in his travels abroad. She could not have made a better choice. Highly commends his usefulness and diligence. [Copy.]

1629. VOL. CXLII.

May 6. Arrow. 25. Elizabeth Amson to the Honourable Mistress Mary Conway, daughter to Viscount Conway, at his house in St. Martin's Lane. Finding the house in the country for the writer and her husband to dwell in not yet unoccupied, begs that she may be received into the ark again, as Noah did the dove, and that Lord Conway would give order for a speedy and peaceable possession of their house.

May 6. Thisleworth [Isleworth]. 26. Capt John Mason to Nicholas. Jacob, the supposed lost diver, is returned, and comes to Nicholas, with request that the money and wrecked goods at Portsmouth may be speedily adjudged in the Admiral's Court, so that he may have his part. He purposes to go on with his design at the Wight, and then at the Lizard. Desires to have his commission renewed.

May 6. 27. Giles Grene to the same. The bearer [Mr. Wright] has a petition against Mr. Delabarre, which he recommends to his influence with the Lords. Begs Nicholas to direct the bearer's ignorance in suits of this nature. On the morrow will bring him tidings of some convenient hour of meeting with Mr. Alcock.

May 6. Star Chamber. 28. Notes, in the handwriting of Bishop Laud, of the proceedings in the Star Chamber in the cases of John Maud, of Wakefield, and Richard Chambers. In the former case the defendant had said that "the King went to mass with the Queen; he would be provided with powder and shot; another gunpowder blow, &c." The note contains fragments of a speech or speeches, and a minute of the several suggested sentences. The notes on Richard Chambers's case are of the same kind. In his case the words were spoken at the Council table, and were, "The merchants are in no part of the world so served and wrung as in England. In Turkey they have more encouragement." There is a full note of one of the speeches spoken on this occasion, perhaps that of Bishop Laud himself. [These notes are written on the back of a minute of Chambers's case, probably one of those handed to the Judges. The cause seems to have been first appointed for hearing on May 1.]

May 6. 29. Answers of Nathaniel Butter, of London, stationer, to the articles objected by the Ecclesiastical Commissioners. Acknowledges that he printed some passages of the book mentioned in the fifth article, which were objected to by the Licenser. He asked the Licenser if he had showed them to the Bishop of London, and he answering that he had not, the examinant resolved that the judgment of two bishops in writing the said passages was more to be regarded than the opinion of the Licenser.

May 6. 30. Inventory, by William Drake, of tenths of several small prizes lately taken by the Little George, and brought into Bristol.

May 6. 31. Certificate of the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty and Officers of the Navy of the price of ships bought at Plymouth by Sir James Bagg, and at Portsmouth by Kenrick Edisbury, for fire ships in the late expedition to Rochelle.

May 6. 32. Petition of John Skinner and various other persons to the Commissioners for saltpetre. Robert More, of Southwark, flax dresser, having obtained a deputation for making saltpetre in Essex, Suffolk, and Norfolk, and having no experience, knowledge, or discretion, wasted and disabled the grounds, vexed and troubled the King's subjects, and kept back the hire of the petitioners, his servants. They pray the Commissioners to commiserate their case. Annexed,

32. I. Particulars of some of the wrongs done by Robert More, ready to be proved by several of the preceding petitioners.

May 7. 33. Copy of a writ of Habeas Corpus, addressed to the Marshal of the Marshalsea for bringing the body of William Strode, with the day and cause of his detention, before the Court of King's Bench; with a copy also of the return made by the Marshal, setting forth the Council's warrant for the prisoner's detention, dated April 2 last; with a royal declaration of the cause of his committal, dated this day.

May 7. 34. Examination of William Strode, taken by the Attorney General. Was in the Parliament House on March 2 last. Does not well remember what was done in the House on that day, neither does he desire to answer anything done in the House of Parliament but in that House.

May 7. 35. Examination of Walter Long, taken by the Attorney General. Was member for Bath in the last Parliament, and was present on March 2 last. The Speaker delivered to the House some message for adjournment. By the privilege of Parliament he should not be pressed to answer anything out of the House which was said or done there; nevertheless, to testify his innocence, he is contented to answer to those things which shall be demanded of him. Sir John Eliot threw down a paper, and moved it should be read. Examinant had nothing to do with the preparation of that paper. Does not remember the contents, nor what Sir John Eliot said, nor what he himself said. Desires to see the records of his being made sheriff, and of the time of his election for Bath before he answers whether he was sheriff of Wilts at his election.

May 7. 36. Information in the Court of Star Chamber, filed by the Attorney General on his Majesty's behalf, against Sir John Eliot, Denzill Holles, Benjamin Valentine, Walter Long, William Coryton, William Strode, John [Selden], Sir Miles Hobart, and Sir Peter Heyman, for their conduct in the House of Commons on February 25 last.

May 7. 37. Another copy of the same.

[May 7.] 38. Outline of the same, in the handwriting of Attorney General Heath, probably prepared as instructions for the person who actually drew the information.

1629. Vol. CXLII.

May 7. 39. Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty to Capt. John Mennes. On consideration that about the time the Hawk, of Hamburgh, was taken by him, articles of peace were agreed on with the French King, he is to release that ship, and afterwards he is to waft to Portsmouth such provisions as shall be sent by the Officers of the Navy, and there to grave his ship, and receive a supply of victuals for five months.

May 7. 40. Answers of Henry Burton to the articles objected against him by the Ecclesiastical Commissioners. Believes that about two years ago Dr. Joshua [Joseph] Hall composed the book articulated, but whether it was lawfully printed and published he does not know. Denies that he has perverted Dr. Hall's words in the manner charged. The book he wrote was composed principally against Mr. Cholmely and Mr. Butterfield, who endeavour to prove the Church of Rome to be a true visible church, which he contends to be contrary to the 19th article, the second part of the homily for Whitsunday, and Bishop Jewell's Apology. Delivered the copy of his book, "The Seven Vials," to William James, and that of "Babel no Bethel" to Michael Sparke, to procure them to be licensed, and so printed and published.

May 7. St. James's. 41. Henry Earl of Danby to James Earl of Carlisle. Is forced abruptly to take leave of absence for some few days. On precedent experience he found nothing saved his life but the quiet of Cornbury Lodge, and the counsel of his old physician, Dr. Ashworth, who knows every vein amiss in his body. Hopes presently to return, and in the meantime his preparation for France shall go forward.

May 7. 42. Note of the division of the shires among the petremen, made by the Lord Treasurer, Lord Steward, and Sir John Coke. There were eight saltpetremen, among whom the whole kingdom was divided, and who were bound to a weekly supply of certain quantities here stated.

May 8. 43. Attorney General Heath to Sec. Dorchester. Has received five warrants signed with the King's own hand for the imprisonment of Sir John Eliot and eight others in the several prisons where they were formerly committed. Will take care of that service.

May 8. Hatton House. 44. Eliza Lady Hatton to the same. The business in which she formerly troubled him with the delivery of a petition in the name of her brother, Thomas Cecil, has been debated with the King's counsel, and is cleared from any pretence of the projectors, as appears by an inclosed certificate. Begs him to move the King to grant a new patent to Sir Edward Altham and Mr. Hawtrey.

May 8. Greenwich, at Serjeant Gibbon's house. 47. Lionel Sharpe to the same. It grieves every honest man to see these differences between the King and his subjects, who do but mistake the King. To make the King known, there are no fitter instruments than the Lord Lieutenants, and the bishops by themselves and their clergy. They might make known the excellent mind and nature of the King to his people. Sets forth the example of Queen Elizabeth, and the way in which she carried out her policy, which was to suppress the Jesuits and sneap the Puritans. What she effected by the cheap virtue of courtesy, and by allowing some great lord to take, as it were, the protection of the party, as Sir Francis Walsingham and Sir Walter Mildmay in the Lower House of the Council, and two lords, the Earls of Leicester and Essex. States his own employment under the Earl of Leicester in mediating for Cartwright, Fenner, and Fenn, Sir Richard Knightly, Mr. Travers, and others of that note; only such as Penry and Udall had the extremity of the law.

May 8. 46. Petition of William Golstone to Sec. Coke. Petitioner was employed in the time of the Secretary's being Commissioner of the Navy to make provision of timber for the navy. In 1625 there was a contract made with Roger Terry, William Love, and John Willett, for 600 loads. In the time of the sickness part of it was left at Kingston and Dorking, where the same still lies on the waterside and in the woods. Prays that he may be furnished with money to bring this timber to the yard at Deptford.

May 8. 47. Petition of William Burrell to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty. King James granted the petitioner the office of a Master Shipwright, with a fee of 20*d. per diem,* during the life of Andrewes Burrell, his son. Being much engaged in his particular estate in Ireland, and in regard of his years unfit to travel; being also much engaged for many courtesies received from his good friend Peter Pett; petitioner prays that on surrender of his grant the like letters may be renewed to Peter Pett. Annexed,

47. I. Certificate, by John Greaves and various other shipbuilders, that Peter Pett is a skilful and well experienced arts-man in the building of ships, and of honest life and good reputation. 1629, March 30.

47. II. Certificate by the Master and Brethren of the Trinity House, in similar recommendation of Peter Pett. 1629, March 31.

May 8. Congregation House. 48. The University of Oxford to Sir Thomas Roe. Thanks for a gift of oriental manuscripts. Latin.

May 8. 49. James Viscount Doncaster to his father, James Earl of Carlisle. Fulfils his promise of testifying his progress in Italian. Lord Craven being obliged to return to England, the writer is unwilling to be left alone, and therefore in self-defence intends to return also.

May 8. 50. William Lord Craven to some one whom he terms "Sweet Saint Anthony," perhaps William Boswell. Begs him to deliver an inclosed letter to Lord Carlisle (probably the previous letter), and to use means to continue the writer in his lordship's good opinion. Cartropes shall not detain him longer in that place, unless the sun were more temperate or the people less dogmatic.

1629. VOL. CXLII.

[May 8 ?] 51. Petition of the Parishioners of St. Botolph without Aldgate, London, to Bishop Laud. Some well-disposed persons, unknown to petitioners, have bestowed a lecture upon them, and commended Mr. Edwardes to be their lecturer for three years, which was allowed of by Mr. Swadlyn, their minister. Since Christmas last Mr. Edwardes has preached with them every Sunday afternoon and Tuesday forenoon, to the great comfort of the petitioners and relief of the poor of the parish, in number 3,000 and upwards, by collections at the church door. On Sunday afternoon last, the church being very full, there was no sermon at all, and requiring to know the occasion, Mr. Swadlyn told them that the Bishop had dismissed the lecturer for a time, for causes unknown. Pray that he may be re-admitted to preach among them, being a man every way conformable to the Church of England, with life and doctrine agreeable. [The petition is signed by the four churchwardens, vestrymen, and principal persons of the parish.]

May 9. The Tower. 52. Sir Allen Apsley to Sec. Dorchester. Mr. Matthewes, of Dartmouth, John White, minister of Dorchester, and Ferdinando Nicholls, of Sherborne, had applied to see some of his prisoners, and to speak to them at the windows, but had been prevented. On the 8th inst. Sir Oliver Luke and Sir John Littleton, Parliament men, desired to speak with Sir John Eliot, or at least that they might see him, but were refused. They then offered to speak to Mr. Holles, at his window, but the keeper forbade him to speak to them. He showed them "his topp and skurdgstick, his weights of swinginge with." They made antic signs and devoted salutations at their parting. Prays his Majesty's pleasure whether he should not make stay of any that attempt the like; if it be thought meet, they should be questioned what business they had there. Hears the Earl of Clare was informed or conceited that two of Sir Allen's servants were dead of the spotted fever, and that some other sick lodged under his son. He has no servant dead, and, of the two that are sick, one has been in a consumption these two years, and the other has been for half a year so desperately in love that he could neither eat nor sleep, and so fell into a burning fever. Some said he had spots, other fleabites; but his mistress came, and gave him assurance of being his wife, whereupon he mends apace. Has received a Habeas Corpus for Mr. Selden, and another for Mr. Coryton. Desires to know his Majesty's pleasure, whether he shall return both the body with the cause, one or neither.

May 9. Westminster. 53. John Griffith to Nicholas. Prays him to inform the Lords of the Admiralty, that on the coast of Anglesea there is an English pirate, which robs and spoils all shipping that passes from Ireland to Wales and Chester. Has taken two barks freighted with goods to the value of 2,000*l.* at the least, besides sundry passengers of quality. The people of that country pray that some course may be taken to free them from this "piratical prejudice."

[May 9.] 54. Henry Earl of Danby to James Earl of Carlisle. The Venetian Ambassador is of opinion that his Majesty should rather send some man of meaner quality than the writer, or associate Sir Isaac Wake for the present, as less troublesome and more convenient to the French King. The young Duke, Governor of Picardy, may perform the work extraordinarily well, attended from this next neighbour province, when the writer at his years must be constrained to travel into Italy or Languedoc. The Venetian Ambassador makes not his despatch until seven that evening.

May 9. 55. Christopher Earl of Anglesea to his cousin or nephew, Endymion Porter. Being unwell, sends to him to procure the King's hand to a paper which concerns the Earl's cousin, Browne.

[May 9?] 56. ——— to Mons. Damville, at Liége. News of the arrival of the Plate fleet in Spain, and of another fleet in Portugal, with the destruction of the Hollanders in the island of "Cabo Verde," is unpleasing to our Puritans. It was moved in the late Parliament that since tonnage and poundage were denied, our Narrow Seas should be committed to the Hollanders, whose government many of the falsehearted people prefer to that under which they live, but the King and some few of the Privy Council rejected the treacherous advice, and seven of the King's ships are sent to guard the Narrow Seas. The King is afraid the swelling of the Hollanders, being the chief encouragers of his people against him, may concur to the ruin of him and his monarchy. Believes the King would rather be beholden to Spain to supply his wants than comply with the Puritans.

May 9. 57. Minute of application of John Giffard for direction to apprehend Thomas Guy, who having made quantities of saltpetre and gunpowder in Devon, to the prejudice of Giffard, the Council granted a warrant for attaching Guy and seizing his goods and chattels. The latter was effected, but Guy himself escaped.

May 10. Proclamation of the renewal of the ancient amity between the Crowns of England and France, from April 14 last. [Coll. Procs., Car. I., No. 108.]

May 10. Mitton. 58. Foulke Reed to Lord President Conway. Has sent my lady by the bearer 100*l.* The tenants are become poor, and are not able to perform their payments at any certain day. They pay as they can sell their cattle, which is very uncertain.

May 10. 59. Petition of Robert Tokely to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty. One Robert Mullebeck, a foreigner, having begun a suit in the Court of Admiralty, as is declared in the case adjoined, petitioner paid some fees to Counsel, for which he has been drawn into a most tedious and chargeable suit in the King's Bench, of purpose to deter all men from having resort to the Admiralty Court, or accommodating their friends beyond seas. Prays the

1629. VOL. CXLII.

Commissioners to interpose their authority with the Judges of the King's Bench for his ease and comfort. Appended, 59. I. State of the cause complained of by the Officers of the Admiralty and Robert Tokely.

May 11. Chester. 60. Sir George Booth and Sir Randolph Mainwaring to the Council. On receipt of their Lordships' letters, they sent forth warrants to all persons complained of by the Feltmakers of Chester, and some of the persons appeared and conformed to their order. James Prestwich agreed to conform, but has since contemptuously neglected. All these persons had used the trade of feltmaking, and taken apprentices, though themselves had never served as apprentices. Certain persons, whose names are given, appeared not.

May 11. 61. Mary Countess of Westmoreland to her cousin, Sec. Dorchester. Sends a messenger respecting a business which she commends to his better judgment. If he would inquire after the business of the Lord Keeper, and add that the King asked whether his command therein were obeyed, it would give much life to it.

May 11. On board the Assurance, at Portsmouth. 62. Sir Henry Palmer to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty. Finds, from Mr. Boate, that the graving-place there is decayed, and that he cannot perform the required careening without money. Inquires whether it were not better they were at once in the way of service, waiting another opportunity, than spend their victuals here in harbour. Having been near touched with scandalous reports, he desired to have waited on their Lordships, but a mischance on one of his legs disables him.

May 11. 63. Sir Guilford Slingsby to the same. Thomas May, purser of the St. Andrew, being desirous to make over his place to Charles Clarke, he certifies that Clarke is a very able and sufficient man either as purser or master.

May 12. 64. Petition of Sir Anthony Aucher to the King. Petitioner and Sir Thomas Hardres being indebted 32,000*l.*, of which petitioner's share was 20,000*l.* and Sir Thomas's 12,000*l.*, for the greater part of which petitioner was surety, petitioner has paid his own creditors 15,000*l.*, and Sir Thomas died lately, leaving 6,000*l.* unpaid, but with an estate sufficient to pay all his debts, which his representatives endeavour to convert to their own use, without freeing the petitioner from Sir Thomas's debts. Prays therefore for a protection. Underwritten, 64. I. Reference to the Council to take measures for the relief of the petitioner. Greenwich, 1629, May 12.

May 12. 65. Petition of the Aldermen and Burgesses of Grantham to the same. King James granted them a new charter, but of late some ambiguities have arisen in the construction thereof, wherefore they pray the King to confirm the grant with some explanations and fresh privileges. Underwritten,

65. I. Reference to the Attorney General to certify his opinion. Greenwich, 1629 [miswritten 1628], May 12.

65. II. Report of the Attorney General to the King, that five of their requests might be granted without loss or prejudice to his Majesty, but that to grant them to be escheators within their town would be of ill precedent. 1629, May 16.

65. III. Reference to the Attorney General to prepare a bill accordingly. Greenwich, 1629, June 2.

May 12. 66. Petition of the Master and Fellows of Pembroke College, Oxford, to the King. Their College was heretofore only a Hall, called Broadgates Hall, but the late King made the same a College. Their College is without a chapel, but the parish church of St. Aldate's adjoins the College, the King being its patron. Pray the King to grant them the advowson of St. Aldate's, being under the value of 9*l.* in the Exchequer. Underwritten, 66. I. Reference to the Lord Keeper to certify his opinion. Greenwich, 1629, May 12.

66. II. Lord Keeper Coventry to the King. 8*l.* 13*s.* 2½*d. is the yearly value of the living in the King's Books. When it falls void it belongs to the gift of the Lord Chancellor or Keeper. Sees no further inconvenience than relinquishing the advowson, but thinks it fit that by some clause in the grant the parish be well provided for.* 1629, June 15.

May 12. Gloucester. 67. William King to the Lord President Conway. Prays him to solicit Lord Vere to appoint the writer to the saltpetre works for the city of Gloucester and county of the city.

May 12. Fleet Street. 68. Sir James Spence to Sec. Dorchester. Capt. John Caswell being employed to levy a company of soldiers for the service of the King of Sweden, prays a warrant for the discharge of such condemned persons as are capable of the benefit of the King's general pardon forthwith, that they may be delivered to Capt. Caswell, to be shipped and transported for that service.

May 12. 69. Petition of the Adventurers of the Pelican, of London, to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty. The Pelican having taken, under letters of marque, a Brazil ship with nine pieces of ordnance, has brought her into Plymouth. Petitioners have also other prize goods there, which they desire to relade and bring to the port of London. Pray that the King's ships which are to come from thence may waft the same. Petitioners will disburse 200*l.* or 300*l.* for victuals for the King's ships, so that defalcation of their disbursements be made out of the customs on their prize.

1629. Vol. CXLII.

May 12. Southampton. 70. John Ellzey to Nicholas. Various prize intelligence. Dispute with the Customs as to the quantities of Capt. Scras's sugars. Incloses valuation of the St. Francis, of Nantes, and Joan, of Nantes, taken by Capt. James Reskeimer. Irregularity with which Capt. Scras has proceeded in the execution of a commission for a Dutch prize with salt. Inclosed,

70. I. Appraisement and valuation above mentioned.

May 12. Cowes Castle. 71. John Bewley to Sir Fulke Greville, at Heneage House, in Bevers [Bevis] Marks. Hopes he will reconcile a difference between Capt. Rawden, Rowland Wilson, and Capt. Theobald. Richard Jolliffe, of Newport, is come from London with Lord Conway's hand and seal for the Vice Admiralty of the whole Isle of Wight, except Cowes Castle and harbour, with the seal for setting the price of corn and a grant of all the King's waste and houses, so that he is become a great man of a sudden, and makes great brags. Hopes this shall be altered, for it was never known that the Admiralty went from the Castle. It is thought it is Mr. Reed's doing.

May 12. Cowes Castle. 72. William Manfilde to the same. Informs him that Richard Jolliffe had exhibited two warrants under Lord Conway's hand for the appointments mentioned in preceding letter. Jolliffe's anger on account of an arrest of a ship made by the writer and Mr. Bewley, whom Jolliffe threatened to have sent for before the Council. He brags so that the writer could find in his heart to beat the jackanapes out of the Cowes. Dismay at the appointment of such a base fellow. He boasts of keeping an Admiralty Court in Carisbrooke Castle. Present of Dutch cheeses. Hopes to see him shortly.

May 12. 73. Affidavit of Nicholas Shrimpton, messenger of the Attorney General, that on May 1 inst. he served a subpœna out of the Court of Star Chamber on Benjamin Valentine and Denzil Holles, they being in several chambers in the Tower of London.

May 12. Grays' Inn. 74. Note of the several days on which Sir John Eliot and other members of Parliament, imprisoned for their conduct in the House of Commons, entered appearances in the Star Chamber at the suit of the Attorney General. Benjamin Valentine and Denzil Holles had not yet appeared.

May 13. Greenwich. 75. The King to Archbishop Abbot. Seeing that divers bishops live in and about London, to the ill example of the inferior clergymen, and the hindrance of God's service and the King's, he is required command all bishops to their sees, those only excepted whose attendance at Court is necessarily required, and that none be suffered to reside upon their lands or commendams, but in their episcopal houses, and that they waste not the woods belonging to their sees. [Draft, with an addition in the handwriting of Bishop Laud.]

May 13. 76. Petition of Bishop John Howson, of Durham, to the King. Having a suit against Sir Henry Marten, Dean of the Arches, which is next term to have a judicial hearing, Sir Henry, to give interruption to the conclusion of that suit by a common citation (no adversary appearing), has summoned petitioner to appear before him in the Arches, a thing against all law and precedent. Prays the King to command stay of the proceedings here, and that, if they have anything against petitioner, they prefer it in the province of York, of which jurisdiction petitioner properly is. [Underwritten is a minute, that the King having commanded all the bishops to repair to their dioceses, Sir Henry Marten is to stay the suit, and if any will prosecute it, that it be done in the province of York. Greenwich, 1629, May 13.]

May 13. 77. Sir Theodore Mayerne to Sec. Dorchester. Their hopes are in vain. The fruit of their desires has been cut off that night by the premature confinement of the Queen, who has forestalled the ordinary term by about ten weeks. God had shown them a Prince of Wales, but the flower had been cut down the same instant that it saw the light. The mother was doing well, and was full of strength and courage. The Secretary was to send a messenger express into France, to stop the coming of Madame Peronne, which would leave her at liberty to go to the assistance of the Princess of Piedmont. Fr.

May 13. 78. Attorney General Heath to the same. Mr. Lieutenant of the Tower has received writs of Habeas Corpus for Mr. Selden and Mr. Valentine, to bring them to the King's Bench bar, of which Mr. Lieutenant makes stay without his Majesty's own knowledge and direction. Requests him to move the King for it, as a thing fit to be done. They are sure to be remanded again.

May 13. 79. Petition of Jacob Johnson, the diver, to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty. Since 1620, has, in his own person, by a plain and manifest way of diving deep under water, brought up much goods of good benefit to the Admiralty. Prays for a renewal of his commission, with a special clause for the Lizard, where he has knowledge of some wrecked silver. Solicits a third part of the silver recovered there for his commission.

May 14. 80. Petition of Thomas Mottershed to the King. The late King, in the 13th year of his reign, granted to petitioner and Robert Christian, deceased, the office of Receivership of fines and forfeitures imposed by the Ecclesiastical Commissioners, with a fourth part thereof for their pains. Prays that on surrender of that grant a new patent may be made to petitioner and Edward Mottershed his son. [Underwritten is a reference to the Attorney General to prepare the grant prayed. Greenwich, 1629, May 14.]

May 14. The Court, at Greenwich. 81. Sec. Dorchester to Bishop Buckeridge, of Ely. The King promised Gerardus Joannes Vossius to make his son a Fellow of some college in Cambridge, and has sent letters to Jesus College, where the Bishop is Visitor, and absolutely required the Fellows to choose Joannes Vossius the younger on the next vacancy. The Bishop is also required, when the next election is brought to him, to take one of two, according to the statute, to nominate the said Joannes Vossius. He is not to fail herein, the rather because the honour of his deceased friend, the late Duke of Buckingham, is engaged in it. [Draft, corrected by Bishop Laud, and written on the blank side of a letter or cover of a letter addressed to him.]

May 14. The Tower. 82. Sir Allen Apsley to Sec. Dorchester. Upon a second writ of Habeas Corpus he has returned the cause without the bodies, for which contempt (as they term it) the Judges have fined the writer twice, and have now sent to him that to-morrow they will send an attachment to the Sheriff of Middlesex and London to arrest the writer's body. For all that concerns himself, farther than it may be advantageous or disadvantageous for the King's service, he esteems not. Received his Majesty's warrant to keep the prisoners close, which he will observe until he receives a like warrant to carry them; nor will he make his own appearance to answer the disobeying of their mandates without his Majesty's approbation. Was yesterday to have waited on him at Greenwich; the Secretary was absent, and the sad time unseasonable to move the King. How is he to carry the prisoners? by water or land, publicly with a guard, or silently without?

May 14. Turin. 83. J. B. Figon to [William Boswell]. Thanks for courtesies and professions of gratitude. As he desires to know what in England would be agreeable to the Prince Cardinal, would say that horses are a great delight to him, and that a hackney would be very acceptable.

May 14. Kilmaronnole. 84. L. Hay to her brother, James Earl of Carlisle. Her anxiety to hear from him. Congratulations on his return. If she survives the the Lord her husband, will be content to live in any place in that kingdom where she might sometimes enjoy his company. Since it pleased God to call that hopeful youth her son, never had much pleasure. Her husband and daughter present service. Thanks for favours to her husband's brother's son, Sir James Cuninghame [?], at Venice, and also to her cousin, Arthur Barclay.

May 15. At Sec. Dorchester's House. 85. Henry Lucas to Sec. Dorchester. Of a long day's work, which lasted till one of the clock, shall make a short report. On hearing the King's Sergeants, Davenport and Berkeley, whose arguments spent the whole morning, the prisoners were remanded until the first of the next term, when their counsel are to reply, and the next day Mr. Attorney is to have the last word for the King. The Judges have expressed no inclination of their judgment, but seem to be yet unsatisfied; whether the hearers were of the same mind he has not had time to inquire.

May 15. Whitehall. 86. The Council of War to Lord Treasurer Weston. Pray him to pay 24*l.* to Sibell Aley, widow of a lieutenant colonel, who was drowned, with his two sons, in the return of the Earl of Holland after the retreat from the Isle of Rhé. [Draft.]

[May 15.] 87. The Council of War to Lord Treasurer Weston. Similar letter for payment to William Elphinstone, one of the Captains of the Cadiz expedition, of 332*l.* 10*s.*, for his own and his officers' arrears.

May 15. Margate Road. 88. Capt. John Mennes to Nicholas. The weather has been so extraordinary foul that he has not been able to take aboard his victual, which was forced into Margate pier. Released the Hamburgher on sight of the order. Wishes the Officers of the Navy would send down materials for careening. These winds make a clear coast. Lord Warwick's ship came in that day, in which it was reported she had done great service in rescuing his Majesty's subjects from the enemies. All that morning Mennes was turning up to the Gore, and Sir Henry Palmer was in the Downs so that between them the Dunkirkers must have passed invisible.

May 15. 89. Appraisement of the Dolphin, a prize ship, at Southampton. Total, 220*l.* Forwarded by John Ellzey to Nicholas.

May 16. London. 90. Sec. Coke to Sec. Dorchester. Is forced by a pressing occasion to be absent from Court this Sunday. Hopes to be the more ready for the great business of Ireland at their next meeting. Begs Dorchester, if necessary, to make his excuse. The Merchant Adventurers have agreed to ship their cloths. The resolution was gained by two hands. Coke's brother Gore dealt honestly and effectually, and so did the rest. The Persian Company have begun a new subscription; Sir William Russell 3,000*l.*, and others to the amount of 10,000*l.* at the least.

May 16. The Temple. 91. Sir Thomas Freke to Endymion Porter. Desires to return into the country, and hopes Porter will supply him with money and directions. The Lord Treasurer promised that all should be paid before the end of the term. Has an uncle and a sick son to go down with him in a coach, and beyond Tuesday next cannot stay.

May 17. Greenwich. Proclamation commanding the due execution of the laws made for setting the poor on work. This proclamation was founded upon the advice of the Council and Judges; as to the latter of which, see 1629, April [?], Vol. cxli., No. 75. [Coll. Procs., Car. I., No. 109.]

May 17. Greenwich. Proclamation for speedy sending away Irish beggars out of this kingdom into their own country, and for suppressing and ordering English rogues and vagabonds according to the laws. This proclamation also was founded upon the advice of the Judges mentioned above. [Ibid., No. 110.]

May 17. Greenwich. 92, 93. Two Libels, said, in the indorsement by Bishop Laud, to have been found at St. Paul's Cross. "It was the Sunday before Whitsunday." They are papers of expostulation, addressed to the King, the nature of which may be gathered from the commencement of the first of them:—"Oh King, or rather no King, for thou hast lost the hearts of thy subjects, and therefore no king, nor they any longer thy subjects—that relation now ceaseth, violated on thy part. . . . The first thing God doth when he determineth to dethrone a King from his kingdom (as Carion in his Chronicle observeth) is to take from him the hearts of his subjects." The writer calls upon the King to purge his house and kingdoms of idolatry, otherwise if he persists still in his obstinacy, breaking off one parliament after another, yea, imprisoning and punishing them, then he was to fear the sentence following:—"Because thou hast cast away the word of the Lord, He also has cast away thee from being King: the Lord hath rent away the kingdom of Israel from thee this day, and hath given it to thy neighbour that is better than thou." The second paper enlarges principally on the fate of Rochelle, which is laid to the King's charge; and it is distinctly asserted that God has cast him away from being King. In both papers, the death of the King's first-born is treated as a judgment, and in the former he is called upon to hear the voice of God proclaiming, "Give account of thy stewardship, for thou mayst be no longer Stuart." The King is charged to read these papers privately to himelf, and to make use of them, before it be too late.

May 17. 94. Notes out of Mr. Salisbury's sermon, apparently sent to Lord Chief Justice Hyde by Bishop Laud for his advice. The sermon was upon Matthew xxiv. 6. The preacher deplored the changes introduced into the Church, and the unhappy dissensions in Parliament, and urged upon his hearers to suffer all things in a passive fortitude, rather than permit the least impairing of the national liberties. [Appended,]

94. I. Attorney General Heath [to Bishop Laud]. Lord Chief Justice Hyde has advised with the rest of his brethren, and they utterly condemn Mr. Salisbury of much folly and indiscretion, and hold him worthy to be proceeded against, but advise that he should be convented before the Ecclesiastical Commissioners.

May 17. Aboard the Seven Stars, riding against Queenborough. 95. Capt. John Duffell to Nicholas. Reports that he has made stay of a pink, called the Sea Horse, laden with 150 quarters of malt; malt being now 24*s.* the quarter; and it is thought it will be worth more. A Fleming has come into the Medway to load ordnance on account of Mr. Burlamachi. They say they have a warrant. Requests directions.

May 17. 96. Henry Earl of Danby to James Earl of Carlisle. Has remitted what concerns him to the delivery of Mr. Kirkham, whose affection well deserves Lord Carlisle's purposes for his preferment, which will prove of special use for the King's service.

May 18. 97. Sir Peter Heyman to Sec. Dorchester. The Secretary procured the writer the liberty of the House, but within very few days after it pleased his Majesty to make him close prisoner again, and the Secretary seconded it with the strictest limitations that treason itself deserves, and so he now continues, his rents being stopped, divers sums of money called in upon him, 300*l.* lands turned into his hands, various other inconveniences thrown upon him; his wife, ten children, and all his family distressed; himself thrust out of the protection of the laws, and Star-Chambered for heinous crimes, whilst his counsel protest that they dare not give counsel to the subject in this particular case. Besides this there is the afflicting sense which presses his better part, that is, his soul, of the heavy distaste imputed by his Majesty, and signified under his blessed hand. If he could find himself guilty, he would not suffer his hands to let his heart dwell where it does. The clearness of his conscience makes him protest unto the Secretary, not daring to supplicate the King, until he finds him innocent from fact, though not clear from folly, humbly supplicating the Secretary's benign construction.

May 19. 98. The Council to the Deputy Lieutenants and others, Commissioners for maimed soldiers in co. Salop. Join with the Earls of Montgomery and Warwick in soliciting a pension for Edward Taylor, an old soldier of Queen Elizabeth. [Attested copy.]

May 19. 99. Order of the Court of Star Chamber in the cause of the Attorney General versus Sir John Eliot and others, that if the defendants answer by Friday next no advantage shall be taken against them for not answering before, so that the Attorney General may have copies thereof on Saturday next, on which day the Court will sit for settling such matters as shall be moved on either side.

May 19. 100. Order of the same Court, in a cause of John Darbyshire and others defendants, at the suit of William Evans and Grace, his wife, plaintiffs. The pleas of the defendants having been referred to Sir Thomas Crewe on reading his certificate, it was ordered that the defendants should make better answer to the charges of perjury, subornation of perjury, and riots. The Court held that the special pardon granted to John Darbyshire and Anne his wife for all things relating to their marriage was good as to them, but not as to the other defendants who were not named therein. [Copy.[

May 19. 101. Minute of a petition to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty, that Mr. Nicholas might write to Dr. Eden to proceed with the examination of the accounts of John Delabarre against Eric Turgeson and Company. With underwritten note from Sec. Coke to Nicholas, enforcing the application.

May 19. 102. Examination of Vernon Ferrar, servant to John Locke, "at Amen," taken by Bishop Laud, of London. On Sunday last, in the morning, sitting at St. Paul's Cross, keeping a place for his master, as he usually doth, he saw "a young youth" take up a letter with three seals, with a large superscription, wrapped up in another paper. When he saw it was a letter, he offered the poor fellow 2*d.* for it, but he said "No. He would carry it himself, and hoped he might have more." Then he read it, and said it was for the King, and then people hearing him, an old man that belongs to the Cross came and called for it, and took it away from the youth.

May 19. 103. Copy of the same.

1629. Vol. CXLII.

May 19. 104. Petition of Thomas May, Purser in the St. Andrew, to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty. Prays them to give him permission to resign his place, and to appoint Charles Chalk thereto. [Underwritten is a certificate of the Officers of the Navy and Stephen Alcock in favour of Charles Chalk.]

May 19. 105. Sir Henry Marten to Sir John Hippisley, Theophilus Wright, and Archibald Nicoll. The King having referred a petition of Wright and Nicoll to Sir Henry, he appoints the morrow, at 3 of the clock at his chamber in Doctor's Commons, for examination of the truth of the petition, and settling the matter in difference.

May 19. 106. Invoice of wrecked goods recovered from the sea near the Isle of Wight by Jacob Johnson, the diver:—5 pieces of ordnance, 9 anchors, and 101 pigs of lead.

May 19. Wallingford House. 107. William Lake to Attorney General Heath. At the request of Mr. Ramsey, and in reference to a petition of Ramsey and Mr. Potts, lets him understand that the Lord Treasurer sees no inconvenience in passing the grant according to the restrictions mentioned in the Attorney General's certificate.

May 19. Hackney. 108. Thomas Marsh to Endymion Porter, at Greenwich. The barrenness of the place to which he goes induces him to solicit Porter to procure him a warrant for a buck or two from Ampthill or Somersham chase.

May 19. 109. Statement, by Capt. John Dymes, concerning the release of three Dutch ships which were stayed by him in the course of his employment to carry over Sir Peter Osborne and others from Guernsey to Jersey, and the complaints made of their being plundered whilst detained.

May 20. Greenwich. 110. The King to Capt. John Mennes, of the Adventure. Warrant of instructions to waft the Marquis de Ville, employed to the King by his Majesty's cousin the Duke of Lorraine to Dunkirk or Mardyke, and to attend the coming out of that port, and conduct into this kingdom, such person as the bearer of this warrant shall bring to him.

[May 20?] 111. The same to Henry Earl of Holland. He is to tell "Mr. de Ville" that if he be not content to go in the King's ship to Dunkirk, the King will complain of him to Rosabella, for if he go not, Rubens's journey will either be hindered or the King will lie open to a just exception to those that are no friends to that treaty. Sends inclosed a letter to the Duke of Lorraine. [Wholly written by the King.]

May 20. Wallingford House. 112. Lord Treasurer Weston to Attorney General Heath. The King intends to confer on Francis Winterton and Ralph Butler, for special service best known to his Majesty, the full value of 9,800*l.* In consideration of 2,000*l.*, part thereof, the Attorney General is to prepare a grant to them of all arrears on account of wine licences from Christmas 1616 until March 20, 1628, with full power to collect and compound for the same at their pleasure.

May 20. Braintree. 113. Samuel Collins to Dr. Duck, at his Chambers in Doctors' Commons. Has spoken with Mr. Hooker. He desires that my Lord of London would not bring him into the High Commission, but permit him quietly to depart out of his diocese. Some honourable persons and discreet divines think it would be the safest way for the peace of the church in those parts to grant his desire. All men's ears are filled by the obstreperous clamours of his followers against my Lord of London, as a man endeavouring to suppress good preaching and advance popery. Secondly, the stop of trade has bred much distraction in that country, and the jealousies of the tumultuous vulgar will be increased by a rigorous proceeding against him. Thirdly, if suspended by the High Commission, it is the resolution of his friends and himself to settle his abode in Essex, and maintenance is promised him for the fruition of his private conference. His genius will still haunt all the pulpits. Describes his great popularity and influence especially with young ministers, to whom he is an oracle, and their principal library. In case he be gone from Chelmsford, gives advice as to his successor. They must have a man who will draw tumults and troops of the country to their inns and shops.

May 20. Edinburgh. 114. Robert Leighton to his Mother, but addressed, on the outside, to his Father, Alexander Leighton. Has not received some things which she had stated she had sent. Mr. Wood has received things from Mr. Morehead, but not Leighton's. Desires to hear of his father's affairs. Has not so much as seen any of his books, though there be some of them in Edinburgh. Prays her to write what he has done as yet. Kind messages to his aunt, his brother James, Elizabeth, Elisha, his young brother and sister, and Mrs. Freese. [On the remainder of the sheet of paper, which is partly occupied by this letter, is written a portion of a religious composition, thickly bestrewn with references to Scripture.]

May 20. 115. Inventories, by Anthony Percival, of prize goods brought into Dover, by Capt. Jacob, in a small pinnace, and by the Black Dog, Capt. Hugessen.

May 21. 116. Sir Richard Harrison to his brother, Sec. Dorchester. Mr. Madison, to whom Sir Richard resigned his walk in Windsor Forest, desires to speak with the King, to inform him of some great abuses offered to the walk now at his first entrance. He is a very honest gentleman, and a diligent servant in his place. The King should countenance him with a warrant for taking away guns, bows, dogs, and such like things as are daily offensive.

1629. VOL. CXLIII. MAY 22—31, 1629.

May 22. Westminster. 1. Warrant for payment to Colonel Donald Mackay, Lord Reay, of 3,000*l.*, assigned to him by the King of Denmark for his services in the present wars, to be paid with the King's first commodity after May 1, 1630. He is also to have 1,000*l.* more for the said service, which is to be paid at the same time. [Copy.]

May 22. 2. Attorney General Heath and Serjeant Humfrey Davenport to the Council. To accomplish the King's command touching the town of Yarmouth, they resolved to bring a Quo warranto. The town made appearance, but the letter of attorney was not well warranted, nor the town seal put to it, but such a seal as the justices put to passes and ordinary business, and not set to by order of the Common Council of the town. The defendants have day to plead until next term. In the meantime the King should be moved to direct that the warrant of attorney be well examined, which course may well stand with the King's justice and honour, seeing his purpose is, not to destroy but to rectify them, which will hardly be as long as the head of the body consists of two bailiffs, which is monstrous in nature, and dangerous and inconvenient in government. [Copy.]

May 22. 3. Attorney General Heath to Sec. Dorchester. At the request of Sir Thomas Edmondes, Treasurer of the Household, reports to him, that, on May 6, 2nd James, that King granted the office of Clerk of the Crown in Chancery to Mr. Treasurer, in reversion after Sir George Coppin, for life, by virtue of which grant Mr. Treasurer now holds the same. By another grant, July 11, 8th James, the office was granted, in reversion, after Mr. Treasurer, to Anthony Luther and Thomas Luther, for their lives, if Henry, now Sir Henry Edmondes, son and heir of Mr. Treasurer, should so long live.

May 22. 4. Plea and Demurrer of Sir John Eliot to the information of Attorney General Heath. He alleges:—1. That the King has no legal knowledge of what takes place in Parliament until it is communicated by the House itself, and that it does not appear in the information that the matters charged were so communicated to the King. 2. That the matters charged are supposed to have been committed in Parliament, and are only examinable in the House of Commons. 3. That the defendant ought not to disclose what was spoken in Parliament, unless by consent of the House. 4 and 5 were objections of a more technical character. Bramston, William Holt, and Robert Mason are stated to be the counsel for the defendant. [Office copy.]

May 22. 5. Another copy of the same.

May 22. 6. Similar Plea and Demurrer of Denzil Holles. This defendant's counsel were the same as those of Sir John Eliot. [Office copy.]

May 22. 7. Similar Plea and Demurrer of Benjamin Valentine. His counsel were Robert Mason and Henry Calthrop. [Office copy.]

May 22. 8. Similar Plea and Demurrer of William Coryton. His counsel were Bramston, Richard Aske, and John White. [Office copy.]

1629.
May 22. 9. Plea and Demurrer of John Selden, to the information of Attorney General Heath, for alleged seditious conduct in Parliament. His counsel were John Bramston, William Holt, Edward Herbert, Robert Mason, and Thomas Gardner. [Office copy.]

May 22. 10. Another copy of the same.

May 22. 11. Similar Plea and Demurrer of Walter Long. His counsel were Bramston, Sherfield, Holt, Atkins, Calthrop, Mason, and Charles Jones. [Office copy.]

May 22. 12. Similar Plea and Demurrer of William Strode. His counsel were Bramston and Richard Aske. [Office copy.]

May 22. 13. Similar Plea and Demurrer of Sir Peter Heyman. His counsel were Bramston and Whitfield. [Office copy.]

May 22. 14. Particular of monies disbursed by Sir James Perrot concerning the Charles, of Dieppe, brought into the port of Tenby, co. Pembroke. Total, 16*l.* 7*s.* 8*d.*

May 22. London. 15. John Bland to James Earl of Carlisle. A friend of the writer, a goldsmith, tells the writer he could furnish 4,000*l.* on plate and jewels, so that, if the Earl pleases, against Monday the money may be ready.

May 23. 16. Order of the Court of Star Chamber in the cause of the Attorney General against Sir John Eliot and others. The defendants having for further delay put in several pleas and demurrers to the jurisdiction of the Court, the Court required the Lord Chief Justices and Lord Chief Baron, calling to them such other of the Judges as are now in town, to consider the pleas and demurrers, and to certify whether the defendants ought to make any other answer or not. The Court appoints to sit again in expectation of their report on Friday next.

May 23. 17. List of Ships appointed for present service at sea, and of such Captains as the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty conceive fit men to be employed. [This is the copy of the list submitted to the King. The names of captains approved by him are underscored, and in the case of the Red Lion, intended for service in the Elbe, "Capt. Pennington" is inserted by the King, in lieu of Sir John Chudleigh and several others recommended by the Commissioners.]

May 23. 18. Draft of the same, with some alterations, probably made by the Lords of the Admiralty.

May 23. 19. William Drake's Inventory of tenths of the Rosemary, taken by the Abraham, Capt. Robert Hull, and brought into Bristol, April 6, 1629.

1629. Vol. CXLIII.

May 23. 20. Algernon Lord Percy to James Earl of Carlisle. Has spoken to Lord Salisbury, and he is so far from willing to accept that employment as he shall think it a great misfortune to be nominated to it. Begs Lord Carlisle to stop it.

May 24. Hinton. 21. John Lord Poulett to Sec. Dorchester. Strong expressions of grief for the Queen's miscarriage. Prays to know when the time is set for the Earl of Danby's journey into France, that his sons may wait upon the Earl. Edward Sydenham, one of the King's servants, was there of late, and, telling Poulett that his Majesty wanted a horse to hunt on, took the opportunity to present the best he had. They are very quiet, although not without some such people as the kingdom is too full of, that covertly essay to fill their ears and minds with jealousies and fears of alterations in religion and government. Doubts not that men will every day become more sensible and thankful for the peace and happiness they enjoy.

May 24. June 3. The Hague. 22. Mary Gilpin to the same. Solicits payment of arrears of pay due to her son, Capt. Emanuel Gilpin, and his appointment as Muster-master in some shire in England.

May 24. At Fucht, in the Army before Bois le Duc. 23. Appointment, by Horace Lord Vere of Tilbury, of Sir Thomas Stafford, to be his deputy in the office of Master General of the Ordnance. [Copy.]

May 24. 24. Lord President Conway to his cousin, Foulke Reed. Minute directions for the letting and management of Lord Conway's property in Warwickshire. [Copy.]

May 25. London. 25. Lucas Jacobs to William Weld, secretary to Lord President Conway. Puts him in mind of the writer's business. In hot weather corn will quite spoil a shipboard. Begs him to do what he can, and he shall find the writer thankful. The two ships at Chichester were cleared, and out of that jurisdiction, before the proclamation came there.

May 25. Dover. 26. Capt. John Mennes to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty. Landed the Marquis de Ville at Dunkirk on the 23d. The next day received on board a gentleman who is coming towards his Majesty, and landed him that same night at Dover. The ships of the King of Spain at Dunkirk are all in harbour, and the people full of faction for want of pay. There are riding before the town nine Hollanders, but they purpose shortly to remove, for there is no expectation of ships coming out of Dunkirk. The Peter and Andrew, which they lately took from our merchants, is fitting for the sea, with 38 pieces of brass.

May 25. 27. William Burrell and others appointed to sell the decayed ships to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty. Have had conference how to perform their directions, but, wanting further instructions in divers particulars inserted in the inclosed note, they request him to move the Lords thereon. Inclosed, 27. I. Remembrances for Nicholas to move the Lords Commissioners; with Nicholas's marginal memoranda of their answers.

1629.
May 26. 28. Particular, by Matthew de Quester, of packets despatched for his Majesty's affairs from April 3, 1629, to this day. It comprises 41 despatches, and the charge is 36*l.* 6*s.*

May 27. Grant to Sir Robert Killigrew, Sir John Heydon, and George Kirke, in consideration of service done, of divers marshes in cos. Norfolk, Lincoln, Kent, Sussex, and Carmarthen, often overflown with the sea, which they have undertaken to drain, paying to the King for every acre so drained a yearly rent of 4*d.* [Docquet.]

May 27. Grant to Robert Earl of Monmouth of the benefit of the wardship of Henry Winchcombe, son and heir of Henry Winchcombe, of Buck[le ?]bury, co. Berks, deceased. [Docquet.]

May 27. London. 29. Sir John Finet to Sec. Dorchester. On his return from Court, he encountered a letter from the Venetian Ambassador, requesting an audience of his Majesty with his first conveniency. Had been told that the King was to go to Theobalds on Thursday. He is, by the Lord Chamberlain, remitted to the Secretary, to know whether the Ambassador might not have access to his Majesty at Greenwich this evening.

May 28. 30. Capt. Richard Plumleigh to Nicholas. Has been earnest with the Earl of Dorset to put him into Capt. Pennington's squadron, but he makes difficulty of it, and says he moved it to the rest of the Lords Commissioners, but they would not agree to alter anything. Therefore begs his commission may be despatched. The Earl of Dorset has forced upon him for lieutenant one Jacob Lovell, with which he must have patience perforce.

May 28. 31. Robert Earl of Leicester to James Earl of Carlisle. During his abode at Petworth he shall be forced to part with Lady Anne, for he has liberty to bring but one child with him, and a small number of servants. Begs him to consider therefore where she may best be placed. Last night received a letter from his father to hasten his coming to Petworth, and no kindness from him must be slighted.

May 29. 32. Order of the Council in the Star Chamber, in the information of the Attorney General against Sir John Eliot and others. The Chief Baron being ill, and unable to take the reference directed by the order of the 23d inst., the counsel also of the defendants desiring time to produce records in maintenance of their plea, and the Attorney General, to avoid delay, desiring to make an amendment in his information,—it was ordered, that the Attorney General might amend accordingly; that the defendants might make any further answer consequent on the amendment by Monday next; that the reference should be taken on Tuesday next, with or without the Lord Chief Baron; and that the Court would sit on Saturday se'nnight to receive the report.

May 29. 33. Copy of the same order.

1629. Vol. CXLIII.

May 29. Gore End. 34. Capt. John Mennes to Edward Nicholas. There arrived yesterday in the Gore the prize ship, the Fortune, with a warrant for Mennes to convoy her to Portsmouth. They were at the time taking in their provisions, but should be ready on Monday to bring her within sight of St. Helen's.

May 29. Petworth. 35. Henry Earl of Northumberland to his son-in-law, James Earl of Carlisle. In answer to inquiries after his health. Made little use of the Bath, only seven times, for the weather was intemperate, and he got a cold. Now he is troubled with the spleen, which he hopes will soon wear away.

May 29. 36. Sir Thomas Morton to the same. Never expected so much injustice from the Earl as to call that unkindness which was but an expression of how much the Earl's unkindness had wounded him. The Earl cannot deny him the name of a near kinsman, and honoured him with the title of a chosen friend; how then could he but take it unkindly that in two months of sickness the Earl never visited him nor sent message by his footmen? If the Earl be ashamed of this, the writer's sharpest censure will be to remain his humble servant.

May 30. 37. Kenrick Edisbury to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty. Having been employed to assist the Officers of the Navy at the pay for the ordinary at Chatham, he had discerned much improvidence, and, having advised with some of the honestest and ablest of the workmen, he finds that the 170 extraordinary workmen now in pay may be reduced to 85, and a variety of other reductions be made, on payment of about 1,000*l.* wages now due, which might be defalked by the Lord Treasurer out of the ordinary monthly payments to the Treasurer of the Navy. Inclosed, 37. I. List of the 85 workmen whom alone it was necessary to retain.

May 30. 38. Petition of Richard Davies and his son to the same. State their employments in the expedition to Rochelle under Lord Denbigh. Pray payment of their wages, as ordered by Sir Guilford Slingsby, to prevent their being imprisoned for their debts.

May 31. Presentation of the rectory of Tredington, co. Worcester, to William Smyth, D.D., and Warden of Wadham College, Oxford, the same being void by the promotion of the last incumbent to the bishoprick of Kilfenora. [Docquet.]

May 31. Grant to Sir John Chudleigh, in consideration of his service, of a prize ship, the St. Mary. [Docquet.]

May 31. Four usual warrants for providing red cloth, spangles, and other necessaries for coats given to the Yeomen of the Guard. [Docquet.]

May 31. Three usual warrants for halberts, javelins, bows and arrows, for the Yeomen of the Guard. [Docquet.]

May 31. Form or precedent of wine licences to be granted by Lord Goring and others, agents for granting the same; with warrant to the Lord Keeper to seal the same. [Docquet.]

May 31. Grant of office of Chief Searcher for the port of London to Thomas Ivatt and William Ivatt, sons of Thomas Ivatt deceased, for their lives, as the same was formerly granted to Thomas Ivatt deceased, and James Bearblock. [Docquet.]

May 31. Grant to John Mountford, Richard Greene, and others, on the nomination of William Plott and others, copyholders of the manor of Paris Garden, co. Surrey, of divers messuages within that manor, in consideration of their having paid to the King's use 76*l.* 4*s.*, besides 25*l.* 8*s.* paid to Robert Tipper. [Docquet.]

May 31. 39. Sir Guilford Slingsby to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty. It is true he purposed to go to Chatham with his wife. He finds many things so much miscarried to his Majesty's prejudice, that his desire is to reform them, which he conceives to be the duty of his place. His predecessors have been accustomed sometimes to reside at Chatham; Sir Henry Palmer did so; Sir Guilford himself did so on his appointment by the Earl of Nottingham; Sir Richard Bingley did the like; and Sir Nicholas Gilborne, Deputy Surveyor, with a large family; Capt. Norris and Capt. Downing did so. Whoever gave them information that his residence there was likely to be of dangerous consequence, did it rather to avoid discovery of things amiss than for any just cause.

May. 40. Petition of Aurelian Townshend to the King. Thomas Ivatt, searcher, of London, left his wife lunatic. Prays a grant of her custody, and the benefit of her estate. [Underwritten is a signification by the Earl of Holland that the King has granted the petition.]

May? 41. Petition of divers poor inhabiting within the borough of Hertford to the number of 50 householders, with their wives and children, to the Council. The King and his progenitors have for many hundred years been seized of the manor of Hertford and of the King's Meadows and Great Hartham belonging thereto, Great Hartham being suffered to lie common, and the meadows being demised to the corporation for relief of the poor. But two years ago the corporation having obtained a grant of the inheritance of the said grounds, they have now refused petitioners the benefits they formerly had from the same. Pray that householders in cottages built at least 30 years ago may have their old privileges. Annexed,

41. I. Petition of the Corporation of Hertford to the Commissioners for Sale of his Majesty's lands in fee farm. Pray that they may purchase the leet belonging to the manor, and all the common meadows, for the relief of the poor. 1627, May 1. [Copy.]

1629. Vol. CXLIII.

May. 42. Petition of Capt. Richard Beale to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty. The Charles, pinnace, being now laid up, prays that he and his late ship's company may be transferred into one of the Whelps.

May. 43. Elizabeth Countess of Carrick to Sec. Dorchester. Begs him to speak to her uncle, the Earl of Monmouth, respecting a ward whom it has pleased the King to grant her for the better advancement of her daughter's fortunes. She is so troublesome because the ward has but a very few days to continue his wardship.

May. 44. Elizabeth Viscountess Savage to the same. A poor woman that was the neighbour of the writer many years, at Brentford, makes lamentable moan for her husband, who is to be hanged on Saturday, but swears he is wrongfully accused. Prays the Secretary to procure his pardon.

May. 45. Sir John Carleton to the same. Prays him to procure for a young man, the bearer, the King's letter to the Master of the Wards, to be feudary of their country. The place is not of profit, but rather an introduction to better fortunes.

May? 46. An Epitaph upon the untimely born, untimely fallen Prince, Charles, Prince of Wales, who was born and died upon Ascension Eve, 1629. Begins,—

> "Snatched from our longing, hoping eyes,
> Here all that Heaven could promise lies!
> Long wish'd, then born, he had scarce cried,
> But he despised the times, and died;
> Whom Heaven but shewed to th' age's scorn,
> And then resumed ere hardly born."

Concludes,—

> "But tell thine eyes, within this tomb
> Here lies the hope of Christendom:
> Then, let, like Niobe's, thy doom,
> Weep thee a statua of the tomb,
> And so translate thy darker fears
> To th' easy language of thy tears,
> Nor ever let the shower be done,
> Till my King sees his second son."

May? 47. Draft, in the handwriting of Attorney General Heath, of an information against Sir John Eliot for refusing to answer questions put to him by the Council respecting his conduct in the House of Commons on March 2nd last. Probably this information was never filed or proceeded with.

VOL. CXLIV. JUNE 1—16, 1629.

June 1. Whitehall. 1. Order of the Council of War, concerning the course to be holden for manifestation of the default of the leading ships appointed to assault the enemy before Rochelle. The names of the witnesses, and the points they were to be required to answer, were to be delivered to the Clerks of this Council, and, after their examination, order would be given for further proceeding. [Copy, addressed to Peter White, one of the witnesses; indorsed is a memorandum, that the examinations of certain specified persons, including Peter White, were delivered to Mr. Cottington, Secretary to the Earl of Lindsey, June 10, 1629.]

June 1. 2. Copy of the same order.

[June 1 ?] 3. Questions upon which the witnesses above mentioned were to be examined. With a note by Francis Morice, probably addressed to Peter White, requesting him to return his own answers.

June 1. 4. Petition of Julian Calandrini, Paymaster of the Forces in the service of Denmark, to the Council of War. Has disbursed 2,508*l.* 7*s.* 10*d.* more than received. Prays that some course may be taken for his repayment, and that he may be freed of a suit in the Court of Requests for money pretended by Lieut. Skipwith, who commanded Sir John Ratcliffe's company. [*Copy. Underwritten is the draft of an Order of the Council of War, that the Lord Privy Seal should be informed that the monies due to Lieut. June 1. Cassington. 8. Bishop Richard Corbet, of Oxford, to Sec. Dorchester. Thinks a recent suit of his was unsuccessful on account of the way in which it was commenced. Is confident of success through the Secretary, because it is conceived he has done some tolerable service to his Majesty in his own diocese lately. His lawyers advise him to try his cause in one of their courts, but if ever he tries more courts than that he is in, let a lawyer be his poison. If Gloucester Hall were his in possession (as it is injuriously kept from him), there were no question but he might challenge his immunity by Act of Parliament. Hopes that his loss of part of his bishoprick will not draw on a charge on all the rest. Submits himself wholly to the King's mercy. When he was consecrated he took an oath to be very hospitable. If these payments are put upon him must either be forsworn or undone.

1629. VOL. CXLIV.

June 1. Portsmouth. 9. Thomas Morgan to Sir Thomas Button. Reports the state of of the Ninth Whelp and its provisions. Such of the latter as are not yet on board are ready, but the Mayor wants 600*l.* to be paid for it, and without this money neither she nor the rest of the fleet will be made ready. Numbers of seamen on board and deficient; boatswain and cook are on board; the master is expected—a mutinous, troublesome fellow, who is not acquainted with the coast of Ireland. No order to make ready the Fifth Whelp as yet.

June 1. 10. Examinations taken before Dr. Matthew Wren, Vice Chancellor of Cambridge, "concerning Mr. Prynne's last book," as is stated in Bishop Laud's indorsement. It appears from these examinations that 50 copies of the book in sheets were sent from London for sale to Leonard Greene, with a note signed "Orthodox." Of these copies, 30 had been sold to 12 persons whose names are enumerated; 12 copies were delivered up to the Vice Chancellor,

June 1. 11. Further Plea and Demurrer of Sir John Eliot, by way of addition to his former Plea and Demurrer to the Information of Attorney General Heath, as altered by the Order of May 29 last. [Office copy.]

June 2. Greenwich. 17. The King to [Attorney General Heath?]. The Earl of Suffolk, being hopeful to discover divers good sums of money detained upon reprises, has offered to recover the same, and pay over the fourth part, if the King would bestow upon him the other three parts in recompence of his charges. The person addressed is therefore to receive the Earl's information, and proceed for the recovery of the amounts due. [Copy.]

June 2. 18. Petition of Edward Ball, Robert Hampton, and others, to the King. Petitioners have for many years employed themselves in finding means for supply of the kingdom, and especially of London, with fuel of peat, never used in these parts before, as also for its

Pray that the pardon granted to them for their intermarriage may be extended to the following persons, who were present and assisting at the same:—Mary Darbyshire, widow; Thomas Darbyshire; Mary, Ann, and Elizabeth Darbyshire, daughters of Mary Darbyshire, widow; Walter Llewellyn and Mary his wife; Thomas Osboldeston and Battris his wife; Simon Osboldeston; George Wilson, clerk; and Samuel Hayward, parish clerk. [Underwritten is a reference to the Attorney General to draw up the pardon solicited.]

June 2. 20. Petition of Capt. Archibald Douglas to the King. Mr. Nicholson, having letters patent to compound for assart lands lately deceasing, there remains due on his accompts 300*l.* odd money. Petitioner prays (for supplying of his present urgent necessities) that the King will grant him the same. [Underwritten is a direction to the Attorney General to prepare a grant according to the petition.]

June 2. 21. Petition of Richard Williams, late one of the children of the Chapel Royal, to the same. There is now a contra-tenor's place void in the church of Sarum. [Underwritten is the King's recommendation of the petitioner to the church of Sarum, petitioner having been a child in the King's chapel, and done acceptable service therein.]

June 2. 22. Petition of Capt. Charles Driver to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty. In September, 1626, the merchants of Bristol received a commission from the late Lord Admiral for surprising pirates, and thereupon Humphrey Hooke and Humphrey Browne set out ships under the command of petitioner and Robert Hull, who took a Sallee-man, and sent her into Bristol, where she was condemned. On complaint of some merchants of London petitioner is now sent for to appear before the Council for taking the same prize. Prays the Lords Commissioners to be a means for his speedy despatch.

June 2. 23. Lord President Conway to Sir John Hume. His son, Sir George Hume, has made a motion to the writer for marriage with his daughter, and has interposed a treaty at large by the Earl of Kellie. Lord Conway accepts the estate of 1,200*l.* per annum, to be assured on the issue of the marriage, and 500*l.* a year present maintenance, and 500*l.* a year jointure to the lady, assured out of lands in Scotland, and offers 2,000*l.* portion. [Draft, in the handwriting of the Lord President.]

June 2. 24. Copy of the same.

1629. VOL. CXLIV.

June 2. 25. Lord President Conway to Sir John Hume. Has acquainted the Earl of Kellie, Sir George Hume, and Mr. Colville with the precedents of three former matches of daughters of the writer, but upon some debate has agreed to add 500*l.* more portion to be paid on his death. With the advice and consent of Mr. Colville, he sends a footman to receive letters of credit to one Richardson, a friend of Lord Conway's, in Ireland, that he may go to see the land in that kingdom, from whence he will pass into Scotland, there to present Lord Conway's service to Sir John, and have a view of the lands there which are intended to be assured. [Draft, principally in the handwriting of Lord Conway.]

June 2. 26. Copy of the same.

June 2. 27. Sir Henry Clare to Lord President Conway. Intreats an answer to his petition to the King.

June 2. Shalden. 28. Sir Bowyer Worseley to Lord President Conway. Old Thornton and his son coming into the island were entertained by Sir Bowyer. The son married Sir Bowyer's daughter, never so much as moving of it to Sir Bowyer. The old man went away in a rage, and Sir Bowyer sent the son after him, and kept his daughter. There were many meetings for an agreement. The demand was for 1,000*l.* portion; Sir Bowyer insisted on 500*l.*; but in conclusion agreed to give 500*l.* down and a bond for 500*l.*, upon an understanding that the bond should be but in show that he had 1,000*l.* with his son. Last term Sir Bowyer was arrested on the bond. Lord Conway's note released him, and he now begs for a place in ship or castle, or a protection, or if Sir Fulke Greville were willing to leave Cowes Castle, he would give him more than any for it.

June 2. Westminster. 29. Sir John Bingley to Sec. Dorchester. He was confident in Dorchester's favour and his own merit in doing the King faithful and profitable services, and now he hears that he is not regarded in the establishment. His Majesty conferred with him when he gave him the place for his life, and the late Duke of Buckingham told him, in presence of his brother Goring, that this was but a beginning of the King's grace. Has lost above 10,000*l.* in losing his place in the Exchequer. To be used in this manner cannot but grieve him; the disgrace is more irksome than the money. If the King's grace and his great seal for the writer's life be not good, he submits it to God.

June 2. Rysum. 30. H. Wentworth to the same. Peace being likely between the King of Denmark and the Emperor, they are fearful that the English troops, being 1,800 men, besides officers, will be broken. They have sent Capt. Ernely to petition in their behalf. Their pay is four months behind, and they have not a penny to help themselves. Unless the captain brings some good news they shall suffer exceedingly.

June 2. Dover Castle. 31. Sir Edward Dering, Lieutenant of Dover Castle, to Theophilus Earl of Suffolk. On complaint of Capt. Dunning of indignity offered to his Majesty, and wrong done to him by a Flemish man-of-war lying in Dover Road, Sir Edward discharged several pieces at him, but, instead of coming ashore, he hoised sails and made seaward. It has not been known that any vessel has in such contemptuous manner gone off in scorn. The master of the ship is now in prison, there awaiting the Earl's commands. Incloses,

31. I. Information of Henry Dunning, Capt. of the Miniken. Coasting on the shores of Brittany, in March last, he fell in with the Waterhound, of Flushing, Francis Jonson, captain, who fired upon the Miniken, and would have sunk her, but that Sir Henry Palmer in the Assurance and other ships came to her rescue. Jonson forced Capt. Dunning to strike his topsail to the Prince of Orange, but himself refused with base and scornful gesture to strike sail to the King of England.

31. II. Examinations of John Emerson and Joshua Langworth, deposing to further acts of scorn practised towards them by mariners of the Waterhound, in Dover harbour. [Written on the same paper as the preceding.]

June 2. Puncknowle. 32. John Arundel to Endymion Porter. Salutes him, not with a puritanical heart, as did the Burtonians, or rather the Brutonians, at his perilous arrival on their barbarous coast, but with a real and catholic heart, devoted ever to honour and serve him. Commends unto him a French gentleman, whom he intreats him to respect and to advance his suit; he is so worthy as that he will rather perish in his suit than abuse Porter with a syllable of untruth. Subscribes himself Porter's "fidele friend and servant."

[June 2?] 33. Notes, in the handwriting of Attorney General Heath, of arguments addressed to a court by Sergeants Bramston, Berkeley, and Davenport, apparently respecting the validity of a return made to a Habeas Corpus; probably they are those urged on behalf of Sir John Eliot and the other members of the late Parliament imprisoned with him.

June 2. 34. Assignment, by John West, of London, shoemaker, to Robert Swanson, now of the Red Lion, of the office of Master Cook in the Tenth Whelp, for life.

June 3. Westminster. Grant to Francis Winterton, of St. Martin's-in-the-Fields, and Ralph Butler, of Quino Hall, co. Hertford, of all arrears of rents and forfeitures due on account of wine licences, from Christmas, 1616, to March 20, 1628, which, according to an accompt, amount to 6157*l.* 9*s.* 2*d.* The grant is in consideration of 2,000*l.*, parcel of 9,800*l.* intended to be conferred on Winterton and Butler for service done to the King. [Coll. Sign Man., Car. I., Vol. x., No. 21.]

1629. VOL. CXLIV.

June 3. Westminster. Grant to Aurelian Townshend of the custody of Philippa Ivatt, widow, found lunatic by inquisition. [Coll. Sign Man., Car. I., Vol. x., No. 22.]

June 3. Westminster. Commission to Bishops Field, of St. David's, and Murray, of Llandaff, and others, to review the sentence in the Prerogative Court of Canterbury, for granting administration of the goods of Sir Rawleigh Bussey, not administered by his mother and sole executrix, Lady Jane Maunsell, in her lifetime, to Sir Thomas Maunsell, her husband, according to her will nuncupative. [Ibid., No. 23.]

June 3. Westminster. Warrant to pay to David Portius and Nicholas Geerloof engineers, 200*l.*, for service done by them on several occasions. [Ibid., No. 24.]

June 3. Puncknowle. 35. Robert Naper to Endymion Porter, Gentleman of the Bedchamber. At his last being in London, searched Court and city to have seen him. Recommends to him the bearer Mons. Peter, and begs Porter to extend the best of his power to the effecting Mons. Peter's desire.

June 3. 36. Samuel C[ollins] to Dr. Duck. Mr. Hooker has gone into Leicestershire, and thence to London, to appear before the Bishop of London on the first day of term. The writer cannot be there until Monday night, and has signified as much to Mr. Hooker, with the good hopes conceived of the Bishop's favour if he will quietly depart out of the diocese. All men are taken up with expecting what will be the conclusion of Mr. Hooker's business. Cambridge disputes it pro et con. It drowns the noise of the great question of tonnage and poundage. Dares not say half what he hears. Paper walls are easily broken open. If he be once quietly gone my lord has overcome the greatest difficulty in governing that part of his diocese.

June 4. 37. Attorney General Heath to Lord President Conway. Until Saturday morning next, about nine o'clock, there will be no occasion for the Lords to be troubled about the great cause in the Star Chamber, but then it will be very requisite that there should be a good presence. By that time the Judges will be ready with their certificate. Tuesday was spent till after twelve by the counsel of the defendants. Yesterday all the forenoon was spent by the Attorney General for the King, which was upon the point of three hours in continual speech, till he was almost tired, which he hopes he shall never be in the King's service. This morning they meet again, and then leave it to the Judges.

June 4. Hinton. 38. John Lord Poulett to [Sec. Dorchester]. Sends him a copy of a letter received from the King. The Attorney has done him this favour, and it is the second or third of this kind that he has had. In explanation sends him copy of a letter he had written to Sir Francis Cottington. Is an unhappy man, that having no other ambition than to keep himself in his Majesty's favour, yet he must be exposed to such hazards by keeping a forest. Since he finds he cannot do it without being continually subject to the like, begs the Secretary to move the King that the Commissioners having the land, woods, and game, and taking up the course as they do, may have the deer committed to their care. Beseeches him to let his Majesty know that he is much grieved to have received a letter of displeasure from so gracious a King, whose favour he values above all the things of this world, and to desire him not to believe amiss of his humble servant, that never did nor will offend him.

June 4. 39. Peter White to Francis Morice. Has repaired to his house, and being otherwise employed in his Majesty's service desires to be excused thereafter.

June 4. 40. Depositions of John Jonson and William Fenner, Fellows of Pembroke Hall, Cambridge, concerning words spoken by the Master [Dr. Beale], at the meeting when Mr. Maret was convented. [Copy.]

[June 4 ?] 41. Statement of circumstances, showing that Mr. Doncon told Mr. Maret those words for the which he was excommoned.

June 5. Westminster. Pardon to Thomas Bond, convicted of killing Peter Bond, his fellow scholar in the University of Oxford. Latin. [Coll. Sign Man., Car. I., Vol. x., No. 25.]

June 5. Westminster. Warrant to pay to James Heriot, the King's jeweller, 190*l.*, that is, 165*l.* for four diamond rings, and 25*l.* for a valentine of gold, set with two pointed diamonds and thirty-eight smaller diamonds. [Ibid., No. 26.]

June 5. Westminster. Warrant to Sir William Acton and Rowland Backhouse, Sheriffs of London and Middlesex, to deliver to such person as the Swedish Ambassador shall appoint, 47 persons, of whom one was Elizabeth Leech, being prisoners condemned of felonies, and remaining in the gaols of Newgate and Bridewell, to the end they might be employed in the service of the King of Sweden. [Ibid., No. 27.]

[June 5 ?] Greenwich. 42. The King to Bishop Thornborough, of Worcester. Understanding that the archdeaconry of Worcester is in his disposition, and knowing his care and zeal to promote men of worth, and his due respect to the King and his service, recommends to him for that place Dr. Fell, Professor of Divinity in the University of Oxford.

June 5. Chatham. 43. Kenrick Edisbury to Nicholas. In addition to the reductions suggested in his last letter, proposes a substitution of the new ketch for the Seven Stars, as one of the ships which bear the chain at the barricado at Upnor Castle. They have been there a fortnight, staying for the remainder of the money to pay the ordinary for the year 1628; and though Mr Harpur and himself use their best oratory, they have much ado to stay the caulkers from coming up to petition his Majesty. Verily believes if the money come not afore Monday they will up, do what the writer can.

1629. Vol. CXLIV.

June 5. Portsmouth. 44. Capt. Richard Plumleigh to Nicholas. The fleet there is fully provided of nothing. They want part of their victual, except the Fortune, which is now discovered coming about, bring it. Grieves to see the King's provisions eaten up in a harbour. Has no mind to be one of the King's harbour captains, whose idleness draws infamy on themselves and their nation. Longs to hear of Sir Paul Harris with their ammunition. Had he that, he would drink cold water and eat coarse bread but he would out.

June 5. 45. Certificate of John Reynolds, Master Gunner of England, of the sufficiency of Robert Chamberlayne for Master Gunner in one of the King's ships.

[June 6?] 46. Petition of the City of London and Edward Ditchfield, John Highlord, Humphrey Clarke, and Francis Mosse to the King. By three several letters patent the King granted to Edward Ditchfield and the rest certain lands in cos. Oxford, Northampton, York, Cumberland, and Berks, with a clause that if any doubt arose as to the validity of the letters patent new grants should be made to the patentees. Doubts having arisen, they pray that they may surrender the previous grants and have new grants according to the Royal contract. Underwritten,

46. I. Certificate of the Attorney General, but unsigned, that the course proposed by the petitioners would be no ways prejudicial to his Majesty.

46. II. The King to the Attorney General. Warrant to prepare the new grants desired by the petitioners. East Greenwich, 1629, June 6.

June 6. York. 47. W. Sheffeild to James Earl of Carlisle. Advises him to assert his claim for compensation, on the disafforesting the forest of Galtres, in reference to a piece of land called the Lund lying in the manor of Raskeilf. Mr. Allsop and Mr. Burnett should prove the claim to Sir Thomas Fanshawe. If the matter be omitted the land will be passed away as part of the manor of Easingwold, and it will cost much money by suit to recall it.

June 6. 48. Answers of Augustin Matthewes, printer, to the articles objected against him by the Ecclesiastical Commission. About the beginning of the last session of Parliament Mr. Prynne brought him a part of a book styled "The Antithesis of the Church of England," consisting of collections out of divers other books, which collections, in nine or ten sheets, examinant printed. There being some part of a written copy, he demanded of Mr. Prynne to see the Licenser's hand. Mr. Prynne answered, that the same was licensed, and that if examinant would not proceed in the printing he would procure some other to print it. Mr. Prynne accordingly took away the 1,000 or 1,500 copies of the sheets which had been printed, and paid him for the same.

June 7. Greenwich. 49. The King to Attorney General Heath. To prepare a commission to the Lord Treasurer, the Chancellor and Barons of the Exchequer, himself, and the Solicitor General to compound for the estates or forfeitures of any recusant convict, subject to such directions as the King, under Sign Manual, shall appoint; which commission and instructions he is to draw according to a form theretofore granted.

June 7. 50. Petition of Bishop Murray, of Landaff, to the King. William Blethyn, once Bishop of Llandaff, in the 24th year of Elizabeth, demised the manor and rectory of Bassaleg, and some other churches, to the Queen, for 100 years, at the rent of 38*l.* 13*s.* 4*d.* In her 25th year, Queen Elizabeth demised the same to Sir William Herbert for 60 years, and the residue to the then Bishop and his successors. In the 10th year of King James, Benjamin Valentine procured a grant for the residue of the term after the 60 years, with a reservation of 23*l.* a year to the King and 38*l.* 13*s.* 4*d.* to the Bishop, neither of which rents has Valentine ever paid, so as the term is in the King's disposal. Petitioner prays the King to grant his interest to the petitioner and his successors. [Underwritten is a reference to the Attorney General to draw a bill, if there be no legal impediment.]

June 8. Westminster. Grant to Thomas Viscount Wentworth, for his life, of the newly erected office of Receiver of Fines and Forfeitures of Popish Recusants in cos. Stafford, Derby, Chester, and other northern counties, with the like fees as other receivers of the King's revenue. [Coll. Sign Man., Car. I., Vol. x., No. 28.]

June 8. Westminster. Grant to Robert Fludd, Doctor of Physic, of a messuage and lands in Kirton, co. Suffolk, come to the Crown by being devised by Richard Smart to Anne Deletto, an alien, to the use of Rosamund Hewett, to hold the same to such uses as by the will of Smart are limited. [Ibid., No. 29.]

June 8. Docquet of the same.

June 8. Westminster. Warrant to pay to William Le Neve, York Herald, appointed to attend Sir Thomas Edmondes, Ambassador Extraordinary into France, 6*s.* 8*d.* per diem for diet, and a similar sum by way of reward, with allowances for transportation and postage for himself and two servants. [Ibid., No. 30.]

June 8. Re-grant to Edward Ditchfield and others, at the nomination of the City of London, of the site of the manor of Turnors, co. Oxon, and of divers manors in cos. Oxon, Northampton, York, Cumberland, and Berks, according to the King's contract with the City, and for strengthening their estates in the premises. [Docquet.]

June 8. Docquet of warrant to discharge the Marquis of Hamilton; see Sign Man., 1629, June 9.

June 8. Docquet of warrant to pay to Theophilus Lupo 40*l.*; see Sign Man., 1629, June 9.

1629. Vol. CXLIV.

June 8. Docquet of a warrant to Thomas Johnson for 280*l.* 12*s.* 6*d.*; see Sign Man., 1629, June 9.

June 8. 51. The King to Attorney General Heath. To prepare a discharge to Lord Treasurer Weston for such jewels as were remaining in the secret jewel house in the Tower of London, which he has delivered as the King has commanded, according to books to be shown to the Attorney General, signed by the King, the Lord Treasurer, Viscount Conway, Sir Thomas Edmondes, Sir John Coke, and Sir Francis Gofton, late one of the Auditors of the Imprest.

June 8. Whitehall. 52. Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty to Jacob Johnson, the diver. Warrant authorizing him to employ his art and industry by diving in the harbours and creeks in the Isle of Wight, the Lizard in Cornwall, Castlehaven on the coast of Ireland, and elsewhere for the recovery of ordnance, money, bullion, anchors, cables, and other commodities. [Copy.]

June 8. Mitton. 53. Foulke Reed to Lord President Conway. Has sent a view, taken by Philip Clough, of the defects of the park, with an estimate for reparation [perhaps the estimate calendered in Vol. lxxxix., No. 44, Calendar, Vol. ii., Car. I., p. 496]. The park may well keep between two and three hundred deer. Reports the state of the horses, and the difficulty in obtaining possession of a house occupied by Purser's, formerly Cox's, widow, who pleads his Lordship's charitable consideration.

June 8. Bristol. 54. Richard Aldworth to Sir Thomas Button. Heard in the time of Parliament, and since, that he is appointed to a great ship and one of the Whelps for the Irish coast, where he is more wanted than is conceived. Although a peace be established with France, the French men-of-war were at no time thicker than now. One of them lies between Homes [the Holmes] and Bridgewater, and took a trow which was coming to Bristol with lead. The Englishmen told them of the peace; the Frenchmen made answer they knew not, nor did not care.

June 9. Westminster. Warrant to discharge James Marquis of Hamilton, Master of the Horse, of 400*l.*, by him received for provision of horses for the King's service, of the disbursement whereof he had given the King an accompt, and to pay him 17*l.* due to him on that accompt, and 400*l.* towards the like provision thereafter. [Coll. Sign Man., Car. I., Vol. x., No. 31.]

June 9. Westminster. Warrant to pay to Robert Kirkham 40*s.* per diem, as secretary to Sir Thomas Edmondes, Ambassador Extraordinary to France. [Ibid., No. 32.]

June 9. Westminster. The like to Theophilus Lupo, one of the King's musicians, 40*l.*, wages for one year. [Ibid., No. 33.]

June 9. Westminster. Renewed warrant to pay to Thomas Johnson, baker, 280*l.* 12*s.* 6*d.*, for bread delivered by him for the service of the Duke and Duchess de Chevreuse and the Marquisses d'Effiat and Blainville. [Coll. Sign Man., Car. I., Vol. x., No. 34.]

June 9. Greenwich. 55. The King to James Heriot, Philip Jacobson, Thomas Simpson, and William Tirrey, jewellers. To view certain jewels thereunder written, and to return their opinions of the value of every piece. The jewels enumerated had for the most part been defaced by the extraction of principal stones. Among the newest items was a "circlet of gold new made for Queen Anne," ornamented with diamonds, pearls, and rubies. One diamond had been taken out of that circlet on October 5, 1621, to be disposed of at his Majesty's pleasure, for which another had been returned. Two great half-round pearls are mentioned as having been taken from "the Mirror of Great Britain." A collet is also mentioned "wherein a diamond was, which is set in the jewel J." [Copy.]

June 9. Portsmouth. 56. Capt. Richard Plumleigh to Nicholas. Complains of not hearing from him, and not receiving his ammunition. Sir Paul Harris's officers have come down with order only for the Whelps, which are to go to the Elbe. Is furnished with everything but hammocks and ammunition. Intreats that he may be quit of that jail. Would rather be imprisoned anywhere than in the cursed town of Portsmouth. Has victuals only for three weeks, and the victualler will put no more aboard without money. Lies like one in Epicuri intermundiis, not certain whether he be living or dead. This is the second packet he has sent, the number of which shall be past all arithmetic to sum up, except he gets an answer.

June 10. Westminster. Grant to Thomas Willys and Richard Beringer, of the Office of Clerk of the Crown in the Chancery for their lives, on surrender of former grants made to Sir Thomas Edmondes. [Coll. Sign Man., Car. I., Vol. x., No. 35.]

June 10. Docquet of the same.

June 10. 57. Petition of John Hamond, of Brandeston, co. Norfolk, Yeoman, to the King. Petitioner and Thomas Thompson meeting at Sparham in Norfolk, fell out, and some blows passed between them, shortly after which Thompson died. The coroner's inquest found that he died a natural death, but petitioner being threatened to be prosecuted, prays a pardon. Annexed, 57. I. Affidavit of William Abbs, that Thompson complained that some work for one Mr. Robinson would be the death of him. Dated May 8, 1629, and sworn on June 11 following.

57. II. Similar affidavits of Mary Gibson and Thomas Locke. Dated as the preceding, and sworn June 12 following.

1629 VOL. CXLIV.

57. III. Certificate of John Rychers, Clement Hirne, Henry Rookewood, Oliver St. John, gent., and several clergymen and others, of the good character of the petitioner. Underwritten,

57. IV. Reference to the Attorney General to prepare a pardon if he found the contents of the petition true.

June 10. 58. Capt. John Pennington to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty. According to their directions, explains his claim for pay for pressing men-of-war, and fitting them as fireships, pinks, and victuallers for the Duke of Buckingham's intended voyage to Rochelle. Conceives he was to have had 40*s.* per diem.

June 10. Warwick Lane. 59. Eliza Lady Fanshawe to Sec. Dorchester. Is a suitor to obtain a change of a life, and another added, in the office of Remembrancer, which is now in her son, Sir Thomas Fanshawe and Sir Arthur Herris. Sets forth various reasons for her suit, among them that the place has been in the family without just exception ever since the beginning of Queen Elizabeth's reign. Does not desire the alteration of the life of Sir Arthur Herris in respect of likelihood of his death, for he is as likely to live as any man, being of a middling age and most temperate in diet, but only to invest the office in such persons as her son shall desire.

June 10. 60. Capt. John Pennington to Nicholas. Begs him to get a warrant to the Officers of the Navy for delivery of such provisions to the Boatswain and Carpenter of the Adventure as they are in extraordinary want of, and cannot go to sea without. Prays him to get his business despatched.

June 10. Tehidie. 61. Francis Bassett to the same. Lately received a letter from my Lady Duchess that she considered he had not given in his account for the last year, and advised him to apply to William Allcock, administrator of the late Lord Admiral. Sent in his account last year, but the sum being so poor, Nicholas thought fit, and so did Mr. Wyan, that it should be respited till Michaelmas next. Wishes him to explain as much to the Duchess and Mr. Allcock. Desires him not to give the bearer above 12*d.* for bringing his nag. Try first whether he be worth more.

June 11. Haverfordwest. 62. Justices of co. Pembroke to the Council. Have apprehended Edmund Wealsh, master of the Gift, of Dublin, who has transported Irish beggars into those parts, and used unreverent speeches of his Majesty. They have committed him to gaol until they receive further directions. He willingly took the Oath of Allegiance. He has not brought over of Irish beggars above eight. A French pirate on that coast has suprised small ships to the number of forty, and taken from them at least 5,000*l.* in money, besides other commodities. Inclose,

62. I. Examination of Thomas Atty. Edmund Wealsh, at Atty's house on June 6, said, "A pox take that King that owns such a harbour as this is [Milford Haven], and does not fortify it better than it is." 1629, June 8.

Vol. CXLIV.

62. II. Examination of Edmund Wealsh. Denies speaking the words above attributed to him. Landed some company of Irish at Nangle. Does not know how many. Denies that he took money for their transportation.

June 11. Tehidie. 63. Francis Bassett to Nicholas. Has met with that ship of Bristol with which Capt. Jones piratically took from St. Ives the iron prize. The owners are merchants of Bristol, grand, rich men, and stout. Begs Nicholas's support against them. Capt. Cosmar, of Rochelle, now of Plymouth, has brought into Padstow a French prize laden with wines, taken since May 8 last. Leaves to Nicholas to determine whether she be lawful prize or no. Annexed,

63. I. Examination of Louis Baillée, Vincent Routier, and Vincent Saunier, master and two of the crew of the St. Nicholas, which sailed out of Dieppe for Somme in Picardy, and was taken May 11 last. Describes the cargo of the ship, principally wine. 1629, June 9.

June 12. Westminster. Grant to Christopher Wasse of the office of one of the Yeomen Prickers of the King's Harriers, for life, with the fee of 3*l.* per month, and 4*l.* yearly for livery. [Coll. Sign Man., Car. I., Vol. x., No. 36.]

June 12. Docquet of the same.

June 12. Westminster. Grant of baronetage to John Holland, of Quiddenham, co. Norfolk. Latin. [Ibid., No. 37.]

June 12. Docquet of the same.

June 12. Warrant to discharge John Holland of the 1,095*l.* usually payable in respect of a baronetage. [Ibid., No. 38.]

June 12. Docquet of the same.

June 12. Docquet of renewed protection to John Middleton; see Sign Man., 1629, June 27.

June 12. Grant to Thomas ——— and David ——— of all monies due from the executors of Otho Nicholson, deceased, Receiver of fines for purprestures in his Majesty's forests, reserving one sixth part to his Majesty, and also reserving 315*l.* 10*s.* 3*d.* remaining due upon an accompt heretofore made by the executors. [Docquet.]

June 12. 64. Bishop Thornborough, of Worcester, to the King. Has given the archdeaconry of Worcester to his son, a learned divine, and a good and frequent preacher. Though the Bishop has very few preferments in his gift, yet when two of his best benefices, worth 400*l.* per annum, became void, and were disposed of to a son-in-law and another, it pleased the late King to require them from him, which, with much ado, he procured, upon their resignation, for Dr. Lesley and Mr. Woodford, chaplain to the Earl of Carlisle, according to his Majesty's pleasure. Nevertheless, if the King command this from the Bishop's own son, the Bishop will command him to yield submission, which he hopes the King will not do, he being the Bishop's "natural son," capable thereof, a worthy man, and without preferment from the Bishop.

1629. Vol. CXLIV.

June 12. Chatham Hill. 65. Officers of the Navy to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty. Report the state of repair and equipment of the Convertive, appointed for the coast of Ireland, and the Fifth and Ninth Lion's Whelps intended to consort with her. The victuallers at Portsmouth will not complete their provision without a further supply of money. The Assurance and Dreadnought are ready, save for sea victuals, and some 30 men, which were pressed, but ran away, for want of "hamaccoes," as Capt. Plumleigh pretends. Conceive that such a provision is unnecessary, neither have his Majesty's ships formerly employed in the Narrow Seas ever had them allowed. The ordinary shipkeepers at Chatham are in danger to mutiny, and abandon the ships for want of victuals, having received none for this month of June. Hitherto the expectation of pay has detained them.

June 12. Chatham. 66. The same to the same. Have given order for a further supply of boatswain's and carpenter's stores for the Adventure. The boatswain's demands unreasonable, and far beyond the usual allowance.

June 12. London. 67. John Ellzey to Nicholas. Certain merchants of the City, with the writer, set to the sea, by virtue of letters of marque, the Hopewell, of London, under the conduct of Capt. William Pryme, of Plymouth. It has pleased God to bless them with a Spanish ship from Brazil, taken near the Rock at the entrance of the river of Lisbon, her lading consisting of 350 chests of sugar, with certain Farnambuck [Pernambuco?] Wood, and a few Brazil hides. Proceedings are being taken against the ship at Plymouth, where they are waiting some good convoy. Prays warrant to Sir James Bagg, to suffer the ship to be brought about, the Captain giving caution not to transport the lading out of the kingdom, and to pay duties at the port of discharge.

June 12. Red Lion. 68. [Capt. John Pennington?] to Capt. John Mennes. Instructions to stand over to Calais, to take aboard the French King's Ambassador with his company and servants, and bring them for Dover. After which he is to return to the Downs, and await further instructions. [Sealed, but not signed.]

June 12. 69. Certificate of Thomas Gewen, Auditor, of the amount due from John Bland and others, late Farmers of the cunage and pre-emption of tin, for surplus on their account for one year up to Christmas, 1628.

June 13 Whitehall. 70. Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty to Capt. John Pennington. Sir Thomas Roe, Ambassador Extraordinary to the King of Poland, and divers other princes, is presently to go to the Low Countries. Pennington is to repair to Margate Road, there to take aboard Sir Thomas, and to land him, as he passes to the Elbe, at the Brill, Goree, or some other place thereabout.

June 13. 71. Montjoy Earl of Newport to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty. In the late expedition to Rochelle he was appointed to the St. Andrew, as Rear Admiral of the Fleet. Desires warrant to the Officers of the Navy to cause present payment to be made to him for that service.

June 13. 72. Petition of Thomas Wright, owner of the Ketch, of Bristol, of 30 tons, to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty. The Ketch surprised and took a ship of Portugal, of 100 tons, coming from Brazil with sugars worth 5,000*l.* Hired the Dainty, of Bristol, to associate and conduct them home for 500*l.*, which has been accordingly paid. Prays allowance of that 500*l.* in their accounts, and that the 50*l.* paid for tenths may be returned to them.

June 13. 73. Petition of the same, to the same. Having in time of peace had much traffic into Spain and other parts now forbidden, he has owing to him from one Cosmo Lopez, living in the island of St. Michael, the sum of 500*l.*, which debt would be there satisfied on demand. Prays licence to carry 200*l.* or 300*l.* worth of broad cloth into the said island, safe from English men-of-war, giving security not to transport any prohibited goods, or approach any fort whereby to lose the ship or ordnance to the King's enemies.

June 13. Chatham. 74. Kenrick Edisbury to Nicholas. Has received copy of the warrant for sale of the unserviceable ships, which he hopes will fully enable them for the sale thereof. Advises that, besides the ships, they should be authorized to sell the ground tackle and furniture. They have received 6,200*l.*, in part of 12,000*l.*, for needful payments in that place. Has written earnestly and affectionately to Sir Robert Pye touching the money. Until the money come to pay the men fit to be discharged, the King will be at 15*l.* per day fruitless charge. Cannot learn of any vessels robbed by Dunkirkers about Sheppey. They began to pay the shipwrights yesterday, and paid out 1,000*l.* in three or four hours. They spin out the time till the rest of the money come. The books are ready, and they can despatch all in two days. Intends to persuade the officers to clear all the extraordinary men, to license them to get their living elsewhere, but to continue them at half-wages from his Majesty till money can be had to pay them all their due, yet so as they shall have no tickets whereby to come up to clamour the Lord Treasurer. Desires Nicholas to move Sec. Coke how he tastes that course.

June 13. 75. John Traske to Bishop Laud, of London. Will not think so vilely of his venerableness as that he should be implacably cruel against a man unseen, unheard, unknown, and never spoken with to this day. What if he once erred? How long was it? How long since relinquished? Has confessed by authority in pulpit and in print. Can bring large testimony for his orthodox teaching. The late King gave charge for his preferment to the then Lord Chancellor. Is loath to be of that number who go railing up and down against bishops for bare maintenance. Knows no law to starve any, and he knows no way to live out of his callings. If the Bishop will not hear, and permit the writer the exercise of his function, or prescribe him some other way to walk in without offence, his very life will melt away in tears. He takes his leave, hearkening what the Lord will say by the Bishop on the writer's behalf.

1629. VOL. CXLIV.

June 14. 76. Nicholas to Capt. John Pennington. Will receive herewith his instructions to transport Sir Thomas Edmondes, and afterwards to carry over Sir Thomas Roe. Whilst attending on those services it is believed that he will ply up and down in the Narrow Seas. Warrant for 200*l.* will be delivered to his cousin as soon as he comes for it. Peter Hein, Admiral of Holland, has lately in a brave fight taken three ships belonging to the Governor of Ostend, which makes him here no less admired than for his former service of taking so many of the Plate fleet. Prays Pennington may have the good fortune to meet with some of the enemies' ships.

June 14. Gravesend. 77. Capt. John Mennes to [Nicholas]. Prays him to get Mr. Scot's warrant to be master of the Adventure, she being to launch on Saturday or Monday next.

June 15. Westminster. Warrant to pay to Philip Burlamachi or John Cotton 8,600*l.*, for providing 4,000 suits of clothes for the soldiers that were employed to Rochelle. [Coll. Sign Man., Car. I., Vol. x., No. 39.]

June 15. Westminster. Warrant to the Commissioners of the Admiralty, and those for sale of prize goods, to deliver to Thomas Dowrich, late captain of the Unity, six chests of tobacco, part of the lading of three prize ships lately brought into the port of London. [Ibid., No. 40.]

June 15. Docquet of the same.

June 15. Westminster. Grant to Patrick Maule and James Levingston of the wardship of John Reresby, son and heir of Sir George Reresby, of Thrybrough, co. York, deceased, his mother being a recusant convict. [Ibid., No. 41.]

June 15. Docquet of the same.

June 15. Grant to John Williams of an almsroom in Christchurch, Oxon. [Docquet.]

June 15. Whitehall. 78. Order of Council, that the Officers of the Ordnance, with his Majesty's Gunfounders, should deliver in an accompt of the number of ordnance which have been made within this kingdom since the first year of his Majesty's reign, and how many have been sold to his Majesty, and how many to his subjects, with their particular names; and how many have been sent beyond seas, and upon what warrant. [Copy.]

June 15. 79. Certificate of Thomas Wyan, Deputy Registrar of the High Court of Admiralty, that a Commission was this day issued, directed to Laurence Lord Esmond, Sir Adam Cocklough, Sir Richard Masterson, and Walter Crosby, to examine witnesses on behalf of Sir John Crosby and Company, concerning a Dutch ship taken by the Ark, of Wexford in Ireland.

June 15. Saltash. 80. Sir William Courteney to Sec. Dorchester. Thought before now to have sent him an ambling stoned nag of three years old, but Sir Ferdinando Gorges has prevented him, by keeping possession of his nephew, Peter Courteney's estate, in spite of his Majesty's pleasure that Sir William should have the care both of his person and estate. When the accounts of the army shall be made up, prays that he may not be forgot. Hopes to get not only his entertainment, but a recompence for the loss of his company, which was promised by the King, and thought reasonable by the Council.

June 15. 81. Theophilus Eaton to [Sec. Dorchester ?]. Enumerates certain articles which will be deemed essential by the [Eastland] Company in case a commercial treaty be concluded with some country not named. Free exercise of religion; freedom to buy and sell; a dwelling-house assigned rent-free for the company's deputy; with power for the brethren to take houses, keep their own smoke, and entertain English guests. These particulars are considered the most weighty.

June 15. Portsmouth. 82. Capt. Richard Plumleigh to Nicholas. Wonders that neither the clamour of the pillaged merchants, nor the dishonourable expense of victuals and wages in harbour, is able to procure him a despatch from Portsmouth. Sir Henry Mervyn knows nothing of orders to send him to sea. If Sir Paul Harris be not quickened, the writer must resolve to die there. His charge is great, and his cause to tarry none had he but powder and bullet. Begs Nicholas to consider the penance he is put to there, to imitate the garrison of Portsmouth, he means, to lie as lazily in the harbour as they do in the town. Prays him to deliver him of this abortive employment, which he verily conceives will prove a nautical embryo.

June 15. Herringston. 83. John Williams to Theophilus Earl of Suffolk. The Earl having procured the writer a commission for the preservation of his Majesty's game within his manor of Fordington, co. Dorset, he accordingly apprehended Henry Maber, a mechanic, and took from him his piece. Some days after, on his submission, the writer forgave him, and redelivered his piece, but since, forgetting his former offence, he sported himself with his greyhound as if he had no king to command him, or himself had been exempted from the obedience of a subject, which is a damnable opinion of a Puritan. The writer then took from him his greyhound, and the writer's man leading the same in the town of Dorchester, Maber, being a constable, assaulted him and took the dog from him. In his own defence, the servant struck Maber, whereupon the servant was committed to prison until the writer and another person gave bail for him. If one subject shall punish another for defending his Majesty's right, what doth he deserve who shall dare to offend not once or twice, and in a hostile and seditious manner to maintain the same? Begs that course may be taken to curb the rebellious spirit of these Dorchestrians, who factiously contemn all law and justice that is without their own precincts.

June 16. Westminster. Warrant to pay to Sir Thomas Roe 200*l.*, for a cabinet and table delivered to his Majesty's use. [Coll. Sign Man., Car. I., Vol. x., No. 42.]

1629. Vol. CXLIV.

June 16. Westminster. Warrant for payment of 300*l.*, to be afterwards defalked out of interest which shall appear to be due on perfecting the accounts of 7,710*l.* 18*s.*, disbursed for his Majesty's service in the Low Countries by Count Ernest, of Nassau. [Coll. Sign. Man., Car. I., Vol. x., No. 43.]

June 16. Westminster. Grant of privilege to Thomas Grent, Doctor of Physic, for the sole making of such circular baths as he has been the first inventor of, to hold for 14 years at 20*s.* per annum rent. [Ibid., No. 44.]

June 16. Greenwich. 84. The King to Sir Anthony Thomas, John Worsopp, Henry Briggs, and Hildebrand Prusen, Commissioners of Sewers in cos. Norfolk, Suffolk, Cambridge, Isle of Ely, Huntingdon, Northampton, and Lincoln, to appoint certain General Sessions of Sewers to settle a rate on every acre of land, and to receive of the undertakers fair propositions for draining the fens. [Attested copy.]

June 16. Ragley. 85. Thomas Rice to Lord President Conway. Hugh Hampson without the writer's consent, took little grey Forman to ride a journey into Cheshire, and left him foundered by the way. Reports as to the state of the other horses.

June 16. Canterbury. 86. Sir Henry Wotton to Sec. Dorchester. The presenter hereof will acquaint the Secretary with an occasion befallen Sir Henry, wherein he must implore the Secretary's favour to unsoil him.

June 16. 87. Henry de Vic to Sec. Coke. The miserable condition of the poor [Channel] Islands, and the necessity for speedy calling home the soldiers for preventing the utter undoing of the inhabitants, embolden the writer to solicit the Secretary on their behalf. Difficulties, daily arise to hinder the effect of their Lordships' orders, and are not like to be overcome but by his hands, which will be a very charitable work. It is uncertain what courses men of their condition may run into.

June 16. Aboard the Dreadnought. 88. Capt. Richard Plumleigh to Nicholas. Desires that Mr. Thomas Bradley go along with him in the Dreadnought as chaplain, and begs Nicholas to procure him a warrant.

June 16. [Sout]hampton. 89. Thomas Wulfris to Abraham Dawes. This nation is fallen into a deep consumption and loss of all sorts of ships. Divers of the Frenchmen that have lately come into England have gone coasting all along our ports to buy shipping, which, under pretence that these vessels are most of them prizes, owners, captains, vice-admirals, and others will presume to sell unless some speedy course of a high nature be suddenly published. Urges him to acquaint the Lord Treasurer and some of his special friends, who will gain honour by this act, and he much love and thanks, besides the good he shall do to the nation, which is of greater consequence than can be suddenly conceited.

1629. VOL. CXLV. JUNE 17—30, 1629.

June 17. Westminster. Royal Declaration, that a contract having been made for conveying to Sir Allen Apsley lands of the yearly value of 714*l.* 5*s.* 8½*d.*, one third part whereof was to be holden by knight's service, the King, the better to enable Sir Allen to raise money on the said lands, and in consideration of 286*l.*, agreed that the whole of the same lands should be passed in free and common socage. [Coll. Sign Man., Car. I., Vol. x., No. 45.]

June 17. Docquet of the same.

June 17. Westminster. Renewed warrant to pay to Sir John Finch, her Majesty's Attorney General, and Justinian Povey, her auditor, 200*l.*, for rewarding such as took pains in passing the grants of Denmark House, and the Queen's jointure. [Ibid., No. 46.]

June 17. Docquet of the same.

June 17. Warrant to pay to Archibald Rankin, being to attend Sir Thomas Roe, Ambassador Extraordinary to Poland, 200*l.*, in full of arrears of his pension of 40*l.* per annum granted by the King when Prince of Wales. [Docquet.]

June 17. The like to the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster, to give order for preparing a grant to James Maxwell, of the lott and copp of the lead ore in the High Peak, co. Derby ; see Sign Man., 1629, June 27. [Docquet.]

June 17. Chatham. 1. William Burrell and others, Commissioners for sale of decayed ships, to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty. Having given notice in the Shipwrights Hall, and on the Exchange, of a time to sell the decayed ships by candle at Rochester, divers chapmen attended, and the writer bargained to sell the hulls of the Bear, the Answer, the Crane, the George, drumbler, and the Primrose, for 497*l.*, if their Lordships think fit. Request their confirmation of the sale.

June 17. Aboard ship, standing for Dover Road. 2. Capt. John Pennington to the same. Reports his arrival in the Downs, where he met the three Lion's Whelps. The King's letter and their letter to the town of Hamburgh not sent to him. The Adventure is gone to Calais for the French King's Ambassador. The Whelps ill fitted with sails, and the grating by the sides closed up, which has spoiled their going. Insufficient store of powder. The Third Lion's Whelp victualled for 60 men instead of 70. The Adventure has been eight months out of dock, and is very foul and unfit for a northern voyage. A barge is sent to him, but no oars, which will force him to leave her behind. Has sent the Whelps to clear the coast as high as Dungeness.

June 17. Chatham. 3. William Burrell and others, Commissioners for sale of decayed ships, to Nicholas. Repeat the information in their letter to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty of this date, and urge despatch of their answer.

1629. Vol. CXLV.

June 17. Aboard the Red Lion, standing for Dover Road. 4. Capt. John Pennington to Nicholas. Repeats information in his letter to the Lords Commissioners. Nicholas must not expect any great matter to be done by him. He shall be out of the way of doing any service.

June 17. London. 5. John Ellzey to the same. Has attended in town three weeks almost, wishing to be eased of 106*l.* 3*s.* 8*d.* received for his Majesty's tenths. Finds, as Nicholas told him, that 500*l.* will be as easily paid into the Exchequer as 100*l.* for fees. Has goods worth 350*l.* also in his hand. Wishes to be authorized to sell, and at days, as in the Duke's time. Has assigned Mr. Allcock 300*l.*, which is as much as is due to the Duchess.

June 17. Pentre Pant. 6. Bishop Hanmer, of St. Asaph, to Sir James Fullerton. It is two years since he received the King's letters to bestow the next benefice without cure on the bearer, Dr. Nicholas, but none has yet fallen. Prolonged hopes trouble the Doctor's spirits, and therefore he is desirous to come to London. Has some suit to his Majesty, which the Bishop recommends to Sir James's charitable furtherance. The good man is in want, and had need of some present refreshment.

June 18. Westminster. Warrant to the Lord Chief Baron, Sir James Fullerton, and Baron Trevor, lessees in trust for his Majesty, to pass lands of the yearly value of 714*l.* 5*s.* 8½*d.* to Sir Allen Apsley, according to the contract made with him by the King. [Coll. Sign Man., Car. I., Vol. x., No. 47.]

June 18. Westminster. Grant to William Murray, one of the Grooms of the Bedchamber, during life, of the imposition of 10*s.* on every awne of Deale or Rhenish wine imported into this country, paying the yearly rent of 13*l.* 6*s.* 8*d.*, and with the same covenants as in the grant formerly made to Lord Brooke and Sir David Murray, deceased. [Ibid., No. 48.]

June 18. 7. List of various sums of money paid to and for the late Duke of Buckingham, many of them on account of public services in which he was engaged.

June 18. 8. Officers of the Navy to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty. Send survey of his Majesty's four gallies and the Disdain pinnace, from which it appears that they are unfit for service, and are held better to be sold for ready money to be employed towards reparation of the wharfs at the old dock. Do not approve the offer of William Blunden. Inclose,

8. I. Certificate, by Masters Attendant and Master Shipwrights, that the gallies are worth 14*l. a piece, and the Disdain* 3*l. William Blunden, for the four gallies and* 20*l., will repair the old wharf and keep it in repair for seven years.*

June 18. 9. Officers of the Navy to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty. The Charles, pinnace, is the fittest to be employed for guard of the Medway, in place of the George, drumbler. The Fortune is preparing for the like service in the Thames, in lieu of the Seven Stars.

June 19. Westminster. Grant of the remission of a fine of 400 marks and a payment of 40 marks per annum to Sir Thomas Cony and Dame Awdrey his wife, payable out of the Court of Wards and Liveries for the wardship and marriage of Laurence Oxburgh, son and heir of Hewar Oxburgh, deceased. [Coll. Sign Man., Car. I., Vol. x., No. 49.]

June 19. Westminster. Warrant to the Exchequer to forbear making any further payments to Sir Sackville Crow, Treasurer of the Navy, who had stayed in his hands 1,500*l.*, provided to pay divers hundreds of poor artificers; the remainder unpaid of the sum of 40,875*l.* 14*s.* 4*d.*, the ordinary charge of the navy for 1628, was to be issued to Sir Guilford Slingsby, Comptroller of the Navy, and to Kenrick Edisbury, one of the Assistants of the Officers of the Navy. [Ibid., No. 50.]

June 19. Westminster. Discharge to Edward Alleyn of money usually paid on the grant of a baronetage. [Ibid., No. 51.]

June 19. Westminster. Warrant to pay to Sir Robert Dayell 206*l.* 11*s.* 3*d.*, interest on 2,500*l.* advanced to the Treasurer of the Navy on March 19, 1628, and future interest thereon, until repayment, at eight per cent. per annum. [Ibid., No. 52.]

June 19. Docquet of the same.

June 19. Westminster. Presentation of Christopher Newstedd, M.A., to the vicarage of St. Helen, in Abingdon, co. Berks. Lat. [Ibid., No. 53.]

June 19. The King to the Vice Chancellor and Heads of the University of Cambridge. For Thomas Whalley, B.D., and one of the Senior Fellows of Trinity College, Cambridge, to be admitted Doctor of Divinity. [Docquet.]

June 19? 10. The same to Attorney General Heath. To prepare a bill for a commission to Sir Francis Cottington, Chancellor of the Exchequer, James Maxwell, one of the Grooms of the Bedchamber, and George Bingley, Deputy Auditor of Imprests, to sell certain jewels that remained in the secret jewel house in the Tower, which upon the King's own view he has thought unfit for his use and service. The inventory of jewels to be sold by these commissioners comprises many noticeable items. It commences with four collars of gold, one that of the Order of St. Michael, containing 24 knots of gold and 24 knots of double scallop shells, having at the end of it St. Michael hanging at two little chains. Other items are, an old defaced jewel in form of "a pyramides," with some few small diamonds, all the great ones having been taken out for making a jewel in fashion of a rose by the late Prince Henry, which was given by the late King to the Lady Elizabeth; a girdle of rubies and diamonds in the form of red and white roses; a jewel of gold in fashion of a Jesus, of old work; a collett of an old jewel in fashion of the letter M; a Lorayne, or double cross, of gold, set with diamonds and rock rubies; with many others.

June 19. Greenwich. 11. The King to Attorney General Heath. By letters patent in the first year of his reign, the King granted to William Earl of Banbury, then Viscount Wallingford, and Edward Ramsey, the lieutenancy of the forest of Aylesholt and Wolmer, co. Hants. On a surrender by the Earl (Edward Ramsey being lately deceased), the King is pleased to grant the same to Sir Francis Clerke and Robert Tirwhit, for their lives. The Attorney General is to prepare a grant accordingly.

June 19. 12. Katherine Duchess of Buckingham to Sec. Dorchester. A cause which concerns the bearer, the Duchess's servant, Bold, having been stayed by the Council, she hopes the King, being better informed, will be satisfied in the justness of his matter, and begs the Secretary to help Bold, as an act of justice and a friendship to the memory of the Duchess's dear lord, who esteemed Bold's service. Subscribes herself his "loving unfortunate friend."

June 19. The Tower. 13. Commissioners for Sale of Prize Goods and Ships to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty. In their commission there is a restriction against their selling any ship above the burden of 100 tons, which has been a great disadvantage; for such ships, under pretence of service, have been disvalued and begged. Pray that they may be authorized to sell any prize ship, and at this time especiall the Red Lion, taken by the Earl of Lindsey.

June 19. Marybone Park. 14. Sir Philip Cary to Sec. Dorchester. Begs him to present an inclosed petition to the King, from whom Sir Philip rests assured of receiving right and justice when he shall be truly informed.

June 19. 15. Sir Paul Harris to Nicholas. Received his message about delivering the munition that is in store towards furnishing the ships. By his good husbandry he has so carried the business that he will undertake to furnish them in four days if the Treasurer will assign the money which the Ordnance Office will receive for their part of the prize pepper towards payment of the estimate for the ships. Stays sending his man to Portsmouth till he hears from him.

June 20. Westminster. Grant of Baronetage to Edward Alleyn, of Hatfield, co. Essex. Latin. [Coll. Sign Man., Car. I., Vol. xi., No. 1.]

June 20. Westminster. Grant to Thomas Parker, son of Thomas Parker, one of the Clerks of the Privy Seal, of the office of Clerk of the Ordnance in Carlisle, for life, from the death of William Lacon, with the fee of 12*d.* per diem. [Ibid., No. 2.]

June 20. Westminster. The King to James Heriot, Philip Jacobson, Thomas Simpson, and William Tirrey, jewellers. Having authorized Sir Francis Cottington, James Maxwell, and George Bingley to sell certain jewels, the King has thought fit, for his more satisfaction and indemnity, to have them appraised; the persons addressed are therefore to view the same, and return the value of every article. The schedule enumerates all the jewels mentioned in the previous article, No. 10. [Copy. See 1629, June 9, Vol. cxliv., No. 55.]

June 20. 16. Capt. John Pennington to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty. No notice from the Lord Ambassador. On the 19th, stood to sea, and came up with a fleet of 30 sail of Hollanders, bravely appointed and bound for the West Indies. As soon as he had caused them to do their duties, which they would willingly have omitted, he returned into Dover road, still expecting the Lord Ambassador. The Lion's Whelps have returned, and brought nothing but fresh complaints of their wants; the Third wants bread and beer; the Fourth a surgeon, for yesterday having a man sore hurt he was forced to come in and bring him aboard Pennington's ship. There is a world of other wants, which he supplies out of his own purse. Has been a commander twenty years, and never saw ships so slightly set out. Wants instructions as to waiting for the Ambassadors.

June 20. 17. Petition of Margaret, "woeful widow of Thomas Blackstone," to the same. Her husband, as master of his Majesty's best barge, serving in the expedition to Rhé, valiantly took three armed barks, with a French baron and divers other prisoners. The Duke promised him a good reward out of the Baron's ransom, but he, making his escape from the Provost Marshal, Blackstone got nothing but an appointment of boatswain of the Third Lion's Whelp, in which he is lately dead, leaving the petitioner with a great charge of children, and much in debt. Prays that she may be allowed to recommend a sufficient boatswain as her husband's successor. Annexed,

17. I. Sir Allen Apsley to the same. Relates at full the gallant actions of the petitioner's husband, and urges compliance with her prayer, as a deed of charity to her, and of encouragement to others. The Tower, 1629, June 20.

June 20. 18. Petition of George Robinson, Purser of the Triumph, to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty. Prays to be allowed to turn over his place of purser in the Triumph to Jervis Morland. Annexed, 18. I. Certificate of Sir Allen Apsley, Denzil Fleming, and Stephen Alcock, of the sufficiency of Jervis Morland.

June 20. 19. Sir Paul Harris to Nicholas. Intended to send away his man, but the Lord Treasurer cannot be spoken withal, and Mr. Meautys has so drawn up the order that without the Lord Treasurer's consent it cannot be done. Sir Francis Cottington was at the Council Chamber if the Lords had met to have got it altered. If the Lords of the Admiralty meet this afternoon he will seek to the Earl of Dorset to get it altered, and then if the prize pepper be consigned, he will go down and furnish the ships in four days.

June 20. 20. Account of the Deputy Vice-Admiral of Sussex of the perquisites which have happened from Michaelmas, 1627, to this day.

June 20. 21. Katherine Duchess of Buckingham to her "good cousin," Endymion Porter. Begs him to inform his Majesty that a business referred to concerned her steward, Bold, whom her dear Lord had especial care of, and particularly that he should not suffer in this matter, which the Duke himself procured him. Has no other refuge but to his Majesty immediately. Desires that out of his especial favour he would protect Bold from wrong.

June 21. Aylesford. 22. Eliza Lady Sedley to Sec. Dorchester. Regrets that at her last being in town her ill fortune denied her the happiness of his visits. Left a suit to him to Lady Barrington's delivery, her meaning in which was simply to recommend Mr. Wright to him as one of his servants, leaving his particular employment to the Secretary.

June 22. Westminster. Warrant to the Exchequer to exonerate the representatives of Dr. George Montaigne, late Archbishop of York, of any sum of money due to his Majesty for first fruits. [Coll. Sign. Man, Car. I., Vol. xi., No. 3.]

June 22. Westminster. Warrant to pay to David Floud, Tobie Bayly, William Parkwood, and Hill Rose, four Grooms of the Queen's Chamber in ordinary, an allowance of 2*s.* per diem each. [Ibid., No. 4.]

June 22. Westminster. Warrant to pay to Peter Richaut, of London, merchant, 80*l.*, for a looking-glass, by him sold to the King. [Ibid., No. 5.]

June 22. Westminster. Warrant to pay to the Countess of Denbigh 420*l.* to be distributed among the physicians, surgeons, midwives, and others as have done service about the Queen during her lying-in. [Ibid., No. 6.]

June 22. Westminster. Warrant to pay to Archibald Rankin, appointed to attend Sir Thomas Roe, Ambassador Extraordinary into Poland, 200*l.*, as the King's gift. [Ibid., No. 7.]

June 22. Westminster. 23. The King to the Lord President and Council of the North Is given to understand that the proceedings before the said Council grow much more perplexed, and suitors are oftener disappointed of the just fruits of their suits there than in the happy reigns of Queen Elizabeth and King James, all which proceeds from the too frequent granting of prohibitions out of the courts of common law in Westminster. The King therefore admonishes the President and Council to be very careful not to transgress from their commission and instructions, and to cause their decrees to be fully and speedily performed by such ways as are used in the Court of Chancery, notwithstanding any prohibition. The King will not have his courts of justice thus to clash, but in these cases of jurisdiction will himself hear and judge between them.

June 22. Lambeth. 24. Report of Archbishop Abbot, of Canterbury, Bishops Buckeridge, of Ely, Murray, of Llandaff, Neile, of Winchester, and White, of Norwich, and Dr. John Donne, Dean of St. Paul's, to the King. Not having been able to prevail in accommodating the differences between the Bishop of Salisbury and the Dean and Chapter, they certify that on the whole hearing they find no reason to think otherwise than that Giles Tomkins was lawfully elected to the places now in question, and that he ought to be admitted into possession of the same.

June 22. 25. Copy of the same.

June 22. 26. Petition of Sir George Rivers, Richard Amherst, sergeant-at-law, and Edward Lindsey, feoffees for payment of the debts of Richard, late Earl of Dorset, to the King. Since June 1628, when the King renewed to them his protection, they have paid of the debts of the late Earl of Dorset 8,000*l.*, and employ themselves with all possible expedition to make sale of lands to satisfy the Earl's remaining debts. Pray for a renewal of their protection, by which they will be much the better enabled to pay the King his rent during the minority of the Lady Isabella Sackville. [Underwritten is a reference to the Attorney General to prepare a renewed protection.]

June 22. Sheire. 27. John Dutton to Endymion Porter. The ill behaviour of the vicar of the writer's parish had forced the writer to crave the aid of the bishop of the diocese. The vicar appealed to the Archbishop who had declared the bishop's [?] course contrary to law and reason. The bishop means to justify himself, and has written a letter which Porter may direct to the Bishop of London or Winchester, in order to obtain the opinion of one of them, together with Porter's own; in all which the writer solicits Porter's friendly assistance.

June 22. Somerford. 28. John Pigott to [William Chesterman, Secretary to Lord President Conway]. Regrets his displeasure. Sends a payment on account by Mr. Tuck, and begs his forbearance of the rest until the spring.

June 22. 29. Jane Blake to James Earl of Carlisle. Begs his assistance in procuring her an opportunity of soliciting the King for payment of a debt due to her husband, the withholding which makes them live in daily fear of executions. The sum due is 1,111*l.* 15*s.* 6*d.*, of which 796*l.* 15*s.* 9*d.* was due three years last March. Is sure that he will say with her that it is a great pity that an honest subject should be undone by doing his sovereign good and honest service.

June 23. Westminster. Warrant to pay to Lieutenant Colonel Coningsby 100*l.*, for disbursements by him made in transporting 1,400 recruits to Denmark. [Coll. Sign Man., Car. I., Vol. xi., No. 8.]

June 23. 30. Deputy Lieutenants and Justices of Peace for co. Middlesex to the Council. In August last, the Council gave order for conveyance of 900 Irish soldiers towards Portsmouth and Bristol. The writers ordered John Willoughby, a constable of Stepney, to provide horses for that service. He brought one horse for the hamlet of Spitalfields, which being delivered to an officer to ride to Colnbrook, he kept him and rode on to Reading, where he left him in an obscure "ostrey," so that it was seven days before he could be restored to the owner, John Quincey, a surgeon of London. Thereupon Quincey brought an action against Willoughby, and recovered damages and costs to the value of 10*l*.. Willoughby expending also in his defence five marks. Finding this will be a precedent to others to question constables and officers, they pray the Council to make such order in the case as shall be thought meet.

June 23. Bedford House. 31. Francis Earl of Bedford to Lord President Conway. The bearer, Mr. Ackland, one of the Colonels of Devonshire, having received a great affront, by a private soldier of his regiment, done to a captain of his regiment, in a public and scornful manner, it is hoped the Lords will send for the party offending.

June 23. The Tower. 32. Sir Allen Apsley to Sec. Dorchester, termed by mistake Viscount Carleton. Has received from the Fleet, Marshalsea, and King's Bench the bodies of Sir Miles Hobart, Mr. Long, and Mr. Strode. Desires to know whether they shall be close prisoners, as Sir John Eliot and the others, or only safe prisoners. For matter of intelligence they may do the same thing as if they had the liberty of the Tower, and no man to speak to them without the privity of the Lieutenant. Thereby his Majesty should have notice of their adherents, and is it not a greater punishment to them to pay for their diet, than to be close prisoners, during which it will be a charge to his Majesty of 1,200*l*. a year. One Short was committed by warrant of the Lords, and having been examined by direction of Sec. Coke, who is privy to the treasons he is charged withal, remained close prisoner. He sawed a bar of iron asunder, and crept out of a hole where a cat could hardly have followed him. He pretended to be a Frenchman, but was truly an Englishman. It is six months since he escaped, since which the Lieutenant has had continual spies upon his wife, and once made him leave his breeches behind. He has now attached his body, and at the same time the prisoners were sent in this morning Short was brought in pinioned. Apsley has been Lieutenant 13 years, in which time there have been two escaped in this kind. One was condemned and pardoned, the other hanged. He prays that next sessions Short may, for example sake, be tried, and that to save charge he be sent to Newgate.

June 23. 33. Officers of the Navy to Edward Monox, Clerk of the Cheque at Chatham. Warrant to enter John Attawell, cook of the Fortune, pink, appointed to guard the Medway.

June 23. 34. Presentment of the Churchwardens of Romsey of Thomas Puckeridge, for saying that the Virgin Mary was an harlot; of John Mowle, for saying that the Bishops of Canterbury and London and two others of the Lord Bishops were no more able to argue in the Scriptures than one old Coles, of Abridge, who goeth about a begging; and of Mr. Audrie, their vicar, for preaching that it was idolatry to bow the knee at the name of Jesus. [Attested copy.]

June 24. 35. The King to the Lord Chief Justice and the rest of the Judges of the King's Bench. The King having lately removed Sir Miles Hobart, Walter Long, and William Strode from their several prisons to the Tower, and understanding that constructions are made thereof, as if he had done it to decline the course of justice, he has thought fit to let the Judges know the true reason thereof, as also why he commanded that those and the other prisoners should not come before them. Having heard how most of them did carry themselves insolently and unmannerly towards the King and their Lordships, his Majesty could not but resent his honour, and that of so great a court, so far as to let the world know how much he disliked the same; and having understood that they and the other Judges had not yet resolved the main question, he did not think the presence of those prisoners necessary, and until he found their temper and discretions to be such as to deserve it, he was not willing to afford them favour; nevertheless he had now given directions that Selden and Valentine should attend them on the morrow, to whom they may deliver the occasion of the suspension of their opinions in the main point, and the reason why the prisoners were not sent the last day.

June 24. 36. Draft of the same, in the handwriting of Attorney General Heath, considerably different from the letter as ultimately settled.

June 24. 37. Copy of the same, with many alterations, in the handwriting of Sec. Dorchester.

June 24. 38. Another copy of the same, with further alterations, in Sec. Dorchester's handwriting.

June 24. 39. The same to Sir Allen Apsley, Lieutenant of the Tower. For the reasons given in his letter to Viscount Dorchester, and for some others, the seven prisoners are to have the liberty of the Tower, being kept safely, but not as close prisoners. Having given a special commandment that he should not carry any of the prisoners before the King's Bench until the King's pleasure be further known, which he did out of a just offence taken against them, for their insolent miscarriage awhile since in that court, it is now the King's pleasure that on the morrow he send thither Selden and Valentine, but that himself go not with them. As for Short he is to be delivered to a Messenger of the Chamber, to be taken to Newgate. [Draft, in the handwriting of Attorney General Heath.]

June 24. 40. Attorney General Heath to Sec. Dorchester. Since the Attorney General waited on the King he had been with the Lord Chief Justice, and on conference finds it is not safe to adventure the bringing of any of the prisoners to the King's Bench to-morrow lest they should be delivered. Beseeches him to acquaint the King therewith, and to intreat him to countermand that part of his letter to the Lieutenant of the Tower. Sends his servant, who can deliver the countermand.

June 24. Greenwich. 41. The King to Sir Allen Apsley, Lieutenant of the Tower. In his letters of that day's date the King had signified his will that to-morrow Sir Allen should send before the Judges of the King's Bench Selden and Valentine, and detain the rest of the prisoners still in the Tower. Upon more mature deliberation the King thought it good to treat them all alike, and that none be suffered to appear in that court, until they have given the King cause to believe they will show a better testimony of their duty towards the King and modesty towards the court, than they did at their last appearance. [Draft, altered in the handwriting of Sec. Dorchester.]

June 24. Greenwich. 42. The same to the Chief Justice and the rest of the Justices of the King's Bench. The King in his letters of that day's date, gave them to understand that Selden and Valentine should be brought to-morrow before them. Now, on more mature deliberation, the King has resolved that all of them shall receive the same treatment, and that none shall come before them until the King has cause given him to believe they will make a better demonstration of their modesty and civility than at their last appearance.

June 24. Greenwich. 43. Petition of John Taylor, shipwright, to the King. Being a young beginner in his calling, yet by warrant from the late Duke and command of Capts. Pennington and Pett, and promise of Sir Sackville Crow of present payment, petitioner strained his estate and friends to trim 17 ships with extraordinary expedition for the late employment to Rochelle, for which service there is due to him 280*l.*, of which he can get no payment, even to his undoing. Prays special order for present payment, or allowance of the first prize ship that shall be sold. [Referred to the Lords of the Admiralty to give speedy order for petitioner's satisfaction.]

June 24. Canterbury. 44. Justices of Peace of the lathe of St. Augustine, co. Kent, to the Council. By direction they certify that wheat is at present sold in those parts at 32*s.* the quarter, barley at 20*s.*, and oats at 14*s.* Pease and beans are sold at extraordinary rates.

June 24. Dover. 45. Anthony Percival to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty. Having been appointed collector of the King's tenths of reprisal goods at Dover, certifies that there is brought in there by a man-of-war of Dover a Brazil prize laden with sugar, tobacco, and Brazil wood. The proprietor purposes to send these goods to London, by which course his Majesty's tenths will be in danger. Desires their speedy order what he shall do therein.

June 24. 46. Nicholas to Capt. John Pennington. Hopes he has received a packet from the Lords Commissioners to stay his going for the Elbe till further order. Begs his favour on behalf of Mr. Morice, son of Francis Morice, Clerk of the Ordnance, who is desirous, for his experience, to go with Pennington in his present employment.

June 25. 47. The Council of War to Sir Richard Sutton and Sir Ralph Freeman, Auditors of the Imprests, and Capt. Mason, Treasurer of the Army. In calculating the pay of the officers and soldiers of the army that went to Cadiz, no man is to be accompted with who shall not produce a commission wherein the date of his entrance into pay may be seen, or testimony under the hand of his colonel to satisfy that point. Quartermasters and provost marshals are to be accompted with, according to the King's lists for the voyage to Rhé, or orders of the Board, or special warrants of the Duke of Buckingham. The month's gratuity shall go on accompt of the arrears anterior to November 13, 1628, the day of the army's discharge. Charges for arms embezzled are to be deducted from the captains or other officers. [Draft.]

June 25. 48. Petition of 18 Officers under Colonel Morgan in the late service of the King of Denmark to the Council of War. Petitioners left their service in the Low Countries by special command to attend the employments of Denmark. Have waited here for ten months in expectation of their pay, and have as yet only received so small a part thereof they have been enforced to run into debt, and endangered themselves to suffer perpetual imprisonment. Pray payment of the remainder of their pay. Annexed,

48. I. List of the petitioners, being seven lieutenants, nine ensigns and two marshals.

June 25. 49. Petition of Gregory Cromwell, gentleman, of the Company of Colonel Sir John Swaynton, to the Council of War. Petitioner served under the King of Denmark for a long time, having nothing in consideration of his pay but the common allowance of bread out of the storehouse during the siege of Stade. Prays that he may receive what is due to him.

June 25. The Tower. 50. Commissioners for Prize Goods to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty. Have made due search after the barks and goods taken by the Fleet under the Earl of Denbigh, but do not find any thing recoverable but one ship, the Red Lion, taken by Capt. Jewell himself, being about 200 tons, and now remaining at Plymouth. All the rest they find disposed of as appears in the inclosed examination. Inclose,

50. I. Brief of the examinations of Capts. Weddell, Cannon, and Hughes, Joseph Dobbins, Mr. Rolph, and Mr. Cooke, from which it appears that most of the ships and goods above mentioned had been taken on his own account by the Earl of Lindsey, or given away by him, the Earl of Newport, or some other person.

June 25. Marybone Park. 51. Sir Philip Cary to Sec. Dorchester. Understands his petition, although it sought nothing but justice, and defence of right and reputation, was not well relished, but rejected with some distaste. But as on a second presentment it pleased his Majesty to vouchsafe it a reference, he doubts not on examination to make his requests appear just and equitable.

1629. Vol. CXLV.

June 25. The Dreadnought. 52. Capt. Richard Plumleigh to Nicholas. Has received his gunner's stores, and is gone out of Portsmouth to ride at Spithead, where he shall be ready to set sail on receipt of orders, which he hourly prays for. Hears nothing from Sir Henry Mervyn. Holt supplies victuals to all the ships from two days to two days, that they may not go out till he be paid. For the same cause he keeps back Plumleigh's butter and cheese, but it shall no way hinder his going to sea as soon as he sees an order. It would be convenient to the merchants and colliers if the sea were a little cleared, and if he cannot get a Whelp with him prays he may get order for the ketch.

June 25. Aboard the Red Lion, off Margate. 53. Capt. John Pennington to Capt. John Mennes. Having received a command to go on present service, Pennington instructs Mennes to remain there for the transportation of Sir Thomas Roe. He is to land him at the Brill, and to return, with all possible speed, to the Downs, capturing any ship of the enemy, or ship laden with prohibited goods, with which he may encounter in his way.

June 25. 54. Edward Earl of Norwich to his noble dear son, James Earl of Carlisle. The bearer is nephew to the writer's brother Allington. He has concluded with a gentleman, servant in some place to his Majesty, for his place, and only wants a noble friend's good word to his Majesty for him. Refers the relation of the business to Mr. Dalton, your servant, being of his name, and assistant to his suit. Beseeches Lord Carlisle to give him his kind word. Calls upon him to perform his challenge, apparently of visiting the writer.

June 25. 55. Sentence of the High Commission Court of suspension against Robert Townes, clerk, pronounced upon his own confession of certain offences.

June 25. 56. Sentence of deposition and degradation pronounced by the same court on Richard Crowde alias Crowder, late curate of Ewell, co. Surrey, for offences proved against him in a suit promoted by John Baker, one of the proctors of that court.

June 25. 57. Will of Henry Turner, late of Atherston in co. Warwick, gentleman. It makes mention of his wife, his brothers Thomas and John, and his friends Sir Francis Nethersole, Sir Henry Rainsford, and Thomas Combes.

June 26. Westminster. Warrant to pay to Charles Lord Stanhope, Postmaster General, 50*l.*, for laying of extraordinary stages for conveyance of the King's packets, during this progress. [Coll. Sign Man., Car. I., Vol. xi., No. 9.]

June 26. Westminster. Grant to Henry Withers, the King's servant, of the benefit of two recognizances forfeited by John Lyvesay, George Chauncey, and John Munck, at Hertford assizes, amounting to 80*l.* in all. [Ibid., No. 10.]

June 26. Whitehall. 58. Order of Council. By letters of August 4, 1628, Sir John Drake and Richard Alford, Mayor of Lyme, were required to cause a ship of Luc de la Roche, a French Protestant, to be delivered to him on giving caution to be answerable for the value thereof. The letter not having been obeyed, the matter is recommended to the Judge of the Admiralty, who is to take order for de la Roche's relief. [Attested copy.]

June 26. Whitehall. 59. Order of Council. By sentence in the High Court of Admiralty, the Hope, of Calais, was ordered to be restored to Nicholas Brunt, and a commission was thereupon issued on May 12, 1626. The same ship having been employed in his Majesty's service, and being now come home, lies, as Brunt understands, in some port, in danger of decay. The Judge of the Admiralty is to take course for her present delivery. [Copy.]

June 26. 60. Inventory of tenths received by Sir John Drake in the course of the present year, out of various prize ships brought into Weymouth, and other places, within his collectorship.

June 26. 61. Similar inventory of tenths received by William Drake at Bristol.

June 27. Westminster. Lease of all the mines of lead ore within the hundred of High Peak, co. Derby, called Lott and Copp, to James Maxwell, one of the Grooms of the Bedchamber; together with the office of Barmaster there to Charles de Boussey, named by Maxwell, for the term of 41 years, under several rents. [Coll. Sign Man., Car. I., Vol. xi., No. 11.]

June 27. Westminster. Warrant to allow to the Tin Farmers interest upon 6,000*l.*, advanced by them to his Majesty for so long as they paid it before it was payable. [Ibid., No. 12.]

June 27. Westminster. Renewed grant of protection to John Middleton, of Horsham, co. Sussex, for one year. [Ibid., No. 13.]

June 27. Westminster. Grant of denization to Anthony Ridouet de Sance and George, his son. [Ibid., No. 14.]

June 27. 62. Petition of John Attawell to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty. Has served for two years as cook and steward in the George, drumbler. That ship being disposed of as unserviceable, and the Fortune, pink, put in her place, prays to be purser in her, or if she have no purser solicits the same offices as he held in the George.

June 27. The Strand. 63. Sir James Levingstone to Sec. Dorchester. Hears that some regiments are to be employed for the Netherlands besides Sir Charles Morgan's; begs him to move the King in his behalf. The Sec. knows how great a prejudice it would be to Sir James's reputation if he should not be one in so brave an employment.

June 27. Canterbury. 64. Sir Henry Wotton to the same. Is informed by Mr. Griffith how sensible Lord Dorchester has been of that rude affront which was lately done to Sir Henry. Thanks him for his noble intentions, as well in curing the cause as in plaistering the symptom.

1629. Vol. CXLV.

June 27. 65. Sir Thomas Aylesbury to Nicholas. Recommends Robert Sayres for boatswain to the Fortune, pink.

[June 27 ?] Greenwich. 66. Archibald Earl of Argyle to James Earl of Carlisle. His affairs in Scotland require his presence, and he finds his Majesty for the present has no service to command him. When will be the fittest time to kiss his Majesty's hand and be honoured with his commands.

June 27. 67. Certificate of 28 Parishioners of St. Botolph without Aldgate, London, setting forth the circumstances of Mr. Thomas Edwardes's appointment as lecturer of that parish. They state that it was made with the concurrence of their minister, Mr. Swadlyn, who would not suffer Mr. Edwardes to preach there before he had a promise of 30*l.* a year for his good will, to be paid so long as Mr. Edwardes continued to preach. Mr. Swadlyn also said that the Bishop had given him a lecture, and that he had authority to allow of Mr. Edwardes. The parish relieves about three or four thousand poor, and at Mr. Edwardes's lectures there has been 3*l.*, 4*l.*, and 5*l.* collected for that purpose.

June 27. 68. List of the ships of the Navy to be supplied with gunners.

June 27. 69. Examinations of Francis Gueryn, Captain, and Stephen Ladsway, Master's Mate, of the Cape de Cœlo, taken by the St. George, of Stonehouse, and brought into that place. They depose to the ownership and lading of the ship, which latter consisted of sugar, tobacco, and Brazil wood.

June 28. Westminster. Grant to Bishop Murray, of Llandaff, and his successors, of his Majesty's interest in the manor and rectory of Bassaleg, and other rectories in co. Monmouth demised to Queen Elizabeth, in the 24th year of her reign, by the then Bishop of Llandaff, for 100 years, and since demised by the late King to Benjamin Valentine for the remainder of that term. [Coll. Sign Man., Car. I., Vol. xi., No. 15.]

June 28. Greenwich. 70. The King to Attorney General Heath. To prepare a proclamation prohibiting the making of starch with wheat flour, and other things fit for the food of man, in all things agreeing with a proclamation for the same purpose issued by the late King, with an alteration to give power to the Company of Starchmakers to put in execution the power given to them for reformation of abuses.

June 28. Greenwich. 71. Minute of an Order of the King, made on the report of the Archbishop of Canterbury, and others, respecting certain disputes between the Bishop of Salisbury and the Dean and Chapter. The King requires that Giles Tomkins be admitted, by way of provision, unto the places now in question, but for the validity of the election his Majesty leaves the same to a trial at law.

Vol. CXLV.

June 28. 72. Order of the King in Council, made upon taking into consideration a petition exhibited to him by the nobility of England, in the time of the late Parliament, touching such of the English [nation as being advanced to] nobility in Scotland and Ireland, and having no possessions in those kingdoms, notwithstanding, take place before the respective degrees of nobility of this realm. After consideration and debate with the Council, the King thought fit, for the present, not to alter the said precedences, reserving the determination thereof to a future time. In the meantime he directed the Lord Keeper, that, in all commissions, none of the said nobility of Scotland or Ireland should from thenceforth be inserted without his special direction. His Majesty expects that in all public and private meetings the parties respectively demean themselves according to the forms of courtesy to foreign nobility. [Attested copy.]

June 28. 73. Copy of the same.

June 28. 74. Another copy. Imperfect.

June 28. Whitehall. 75. The Council to the Officers of the Customs at Chichester. The King having been moved, on behalf of his good friends and allies the States of the United Provinces, for buying and transporting corn for supply of their army encamped before Bois-le-Duc, the good success of which enterprise does not a little import the welfare of this State, and corn in Sussex being under the price limited by the statute for transportation, they are to permit Lewis Jacobs to transport 250 last of wheat from their port in Dutch bottoms. [Copy.]

June 28. 76. Sir John Heydon to Nicholas. Thinks an order from the Lord Treasurer to direct warrants to Sir Thomas Stafford, Deputy to the Master of the Ordnance, no other than a misprision procured by practice, as about the end of March his Majesty disclaimed his consent, and gave order that all warrants should be directed to the Lieutenant and the rest of the officers, as hitherto. The same direction the King expressed last night, when Heydon waited upon him at Greenwich on another occasion.

June 28. Bushey Park. 77. Sir John Hippisley to Nicholas. Hears that Mr. Percival has written of the danger of coming about of Sir John's ship. Hopes Nicholas well understands the danger, that it is but for his own profit that he desires her stay there. For every pennyworth the King adventures he adventures ten, therefore begs Nicholas to procure him a warrant, because here is the market where advantage may be made both for the King and himself.

June 28. London. 78. Sir Henry Marten to Endymion Porter. Acknowledges his good offices with his Majesty, for since then he finds his Majesty more sensible of his case and condition. Wishes Porter to observe any passages this day between his Majesty and the Lord Keeper that may concern Sir Henry, for either his Majesty will inquire of the Lord Keeper how his cause stands, or the Lord Keeper will be so officious as to advertise his Majesty of the difficulties which occur, though indeed they are most made by himself. Received his letter yesterday. Prays him to know that any one whom he thinks worthy of his serious recommendation will find that Porter has more than ordinary power over him.

June 29. Westminster. Warrant for payment to Sir Robert Karr, Keeper of the Privy Purse, for the King's private service, of all monies to arise within the next two years, from fines of copyholds within the manor of Wakefield, co. York. [Coll. Sign Man., Car. I., Vol. xi., No. 16.]

June 29. Westminster. Protection to Sir George Rivers, Richard Amherst, sergeant-at-law, and Edward Lindsey, feoffees of Richard, late Earl of Dorset, for one year. [Ibid., No. 17.]

June 29. Greenwich. 79. General Order of the Council of War, regulating the mode of settling the accompts of soldiers employed in the several expeditions to Cadiz, Rhé, and Rochelle. It is in the terms of the letter addressed by the same Council to Sir Richard Sutton and others [Vol. cxlv., No. 47.], with some additional provisions applicable to the Surveyor General of the Victuals, and the conformation of the general mode of taking the accompts of the officers to his Majesty's declaration.

June 29. 80. Extract from the above order.

June 29. Cassington. 81. Bishop Corbet, of Oxford, to Sec. Dorchester. Had he importuned any other of like quality about the King, he would not doubt to have been called troublesome, or unmannerly, or ignorant of the Court; but Dorchester he hopes will rather say that he is diligent and advised, and but careful of his estate. Begs to know in what grace he stands with his Majesty, and whether the writer's friends say true or not, that he has rather lost a deanery than got a bishoprick.

June 29. Sewthay Lodge [South Hay Lodge?]. 82. Mary Countess of Westmoreland to the same. Begs him to move two suits to the King when her friend, the Earl of Arundel, is present. The first is, that 1,000*l.* remaining due from the Crown to the Earl of Home, who married a daughter of the late Earl of Westmoreland, for relinquishment of Codingham [Coldingham], in Scotland, to John Stewart, his Majesty would bestow upon the Earl of Home the 16 chather of victuals paid out of the lands of Coberspeth [Cockburnspath], until his Majesty be pleased to give him satisfaction of the whole debt. The second is, that Thomas Hope, King's Advocate in Scotland, may be allowed to plead for Lord Home, against John Stewart, who had neglected to pay the sum enjoined upon him by the late King for the possession of Codingham.

June 29. 83. Sir James Spence to the same. If Thomas Poppard and two other men apprehended for highway robbery are condemned, prays that they may be reprieved, and a Privy Seal granted for their employment in the service of the King of Sweden.

VOL. CXLV.

1629,
[June 29 ?] 84. Edward Earl of Dorset to [James Earl of Carlisle]. Letter containing strong expressions of attachment, apparently written at a time when some suspicion of unkindness towards the writer, on the part of the Earl of Carlisle, had just been removed by a kind letter from him.

[June 29 ?] 85. Return, apparently, of actions against James Jefferies, marshal to Sir Francis Willoughby, a prisoner in the Compter.

June 30. Greenwich. Proclamation concerning the making of starch and "avoiding the annoyances thereby." None but members of the Company of Starch-makers were to make starch to sell, nor was any one to make it of wheat flour, meal, or any other thing than pollard and bran. No one was to sell any other starch than that made by the Company, nor was any one to sell starch, "as a huckster or hawker, from door to door, in private or secret." [Coll. Procs., Car. I., No. 111.]

June 30. Westminster. Warrant to pay to Julian Calandrini 275*l.*, to be paid to Capt. William Ashburnham and Capt. William Cromwell, for two months' pay, for themselves and their officers, now under the command of General Morgan. [Coll. Sign Man., Car. I., Vol. xi., No. 18.]

June 30. Westminster. Grant to Sir James Bagg and Arthur Chichester, during their lives, of the office of Captain and Governor of the Castle of Plymouth, and the Island of St. Nicholas, with the fee of 56*s.* per diem, for the maintenance of the garrison, and such other privileges as were formerly granted to Sir Ferdinando Gorges, who lately enjoyed the said office. Latin. [Ibid, No. 19.]

June 30. Westminster. Warrant to pay to Michael André, one of the King's Surgeons, all monies paid in by his procurement on account of a subsidy granted to King James, in the seventh year of his reign, until they should amount to the sum of 1,000*l.*, granted him by the late King. [Ibid., No. 20.]

June 30. Westminster. Grant of Baronetage to Richard Earle, of Straglethorpe, co. Lincoln. [Ibid., No. 21.]

June 30. Westminster. Discharge to Richard Earle, of the money usually paid in respect of a Baronetage. [Ibid., No. 22.]

June 30. Westminster. Discharge to John Lord Savile, Comptroller of the Household, of the fine of 100*l.*, imposed on him in the Star Chamber, in a cause lately depending between him and Thomas Viscount Wentworth. [Ibid., No. 23.]

June 30. Westminster. Grant to John Jacob and Robert Seyliard, for their lives, of the office of Collector of the Pretermitted Customs in the Port of London, as the same was formerly granted to John Jacob and his father, who is lately deceased. [Ibid., No. 24.]

June 30. Westminster. Similar grant to the same persons of the office of Collector of the Petty Customs outwards within the Port of London. [Ibid., No. 25.]

1629. VOL. CXLV.

June 30. Westminster. Similar grant to John Jacob and George Wilmer of the office of Receiver of Impositions and Duties on tobacco. [Coll. Sign Man., Car. I., Vol. xi., No. 26.]

June 30. Greenwich. 86. The King to the Council of Scotland. Having heard of the lamentable estate of the poor exiled ministers of the Palatinate extending to the number of 600 persons, with their wives and children, the King has given order for a general collection throughout England towards their succour, and he recommends to the persons addressed to give order to every Archbishop and Bishop throughout Scotland, that a course may be taken there for collecting what can be had from the charitably disposed towards the same purpose.

June 30. 87. Officers of the Navy to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty. Certify that John Attawell, late Cook and Steward of the George, drumbler, is fit to discharge such place in the pink, the Fortune.

June 30. Durham House. 88. Lord Keeper Coventry to Sir John Bridgman, Chief Justice of Chester. Is informed that Sir John Ratcliffe, who lost his life in France in his Majesty's service, died seized of lands in co. Chester, whereof Lady Ratcliffe is dowable. Being enforced to a suit for her dower against gentlemen of great allowance in that county, herself being a mere stranger there, the Lord Keeper recommends her for expedition in her cause.

June 30. Hackwood. 89. John Marquis of Winchester to Sec. Dorchester. After long search has found the Ten Precepts of the Wise Treasurer unto his Son. By the preface he will find them to be the fruits of Lord Burghley's sage observations and last commandments to his son Robert Cecil, so that the Marquis confesses his error in fathering them upon Lord Treasurer Paulett. Howsoever, since Lord Burghley, accounted an oracle of wisdom in his time, was the true father of such counsels to a son who made so good use thereof, he begs leave to present them to the Secretary.

June 30. 90. Copy record of the Trial before the Court of the Virge of the King's Household of John Payton, for the death of Timoleon Gorge. He was acquitted of murder, but found guilty of manslaughter.

June. 91. The King to Attorney General Heath. To prepare a pardon for Sir William Withypoll, Francis Withypoll, Henry Withypoll, Edward Withypoll, Francis Prudhomme, Jeffrey Gilbert, William Smith, and John Smith, accused of the murder of Robert Wright and Francis Maddison, of Woodbridge, co. Suffolk. Sir William Withypoll, in whose company all the rest of the said persons then were, had been tried and acquitted of murder, but was found guilty of manslaughter.

June. 92. Capt. Thomas Jackson to Lord President Conway. His Lordship has laid upon him, being a blunt and illiterate soldier, a very great task to deliver his opinion concerning the union in religion, wherein many wise and learned men have been puzzled and gravelled. Two principal errors committed by divines; 1. Fiery wits and over curious inquisitors raise divisions by determining their private conceits by natural reason, leaving no place for God's good will, and making frustrate the doctrine of Christ. 2. They take no pains to instruct their flocks against the opinion laboured by the Jesuits that there is no salvation out of the Church of Rome.

[June?] 93. Thomas Rice to William Weld, secretary to Viscount Conway. Reports the state of Lord Conway's horses, and suggests a variety of things needful to be attended to in relation to them.

[June?] 94. Petition of Henry Goddard, one of his Majesty's Shipwrights, to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty. He is behind of his entertainment of 20*d.* per diem, by the space of five years, amounting to 152*l.* 1*s.* 8*d.* Unless they help him to obtain the same, he will be much disenabled in performance of his Majesty's service.

June. 95. Philip Burlamachi to Sec. Dorchester. Met the Ambassador of the States, and talked over with him very fully the affair in dispute or treaty. Finds him inclined to expedition, but the States wish to have an engagement for the pay of the regiment of volunteers. Discredit it will be to his Majesty to refuse the States to support these troops in this their great necessity. [French.]

June. 96. The same to the same. Has spoken to the Ambassador. He desires that his Majesty's answer be of a kind to increase the good feeling on the other side. Told him that he should assist on his part in the redemption of the jewels; and for the rest, the writer deemed the business settled [French.]

June. 97. Edward Earl of Norwich to James Earl of Carlisle. Thanks for the perusal of a letter from Viscount Doncaster. Longs to have precise word of his face. Is much affected with his manliness, and all the good hopes which may well be entertained of him.

June. 98. Certificate of Henry Earl of Huntingdon of the precise numbers of his Majesty's Forces in co. Rutland.

June. 99. Brief of the proofs on behalf of Philip Rodriguez, of Hamburgh, claiming as his goods 120 bags of pepper, taken in the St. Luke, and 110 bags, taken in the St. Peter.

June. 100. Articles against Mr. Mellow, master of the Prudence, of London, testified by Dawtry Cooper, captain of the Seventh Whelp, and others. Mellow was charged with resisting a party sent on board the Prudence to press two of his men.

June? 101. Notes in explanation of the comparatively small amount received in the Court of Wards during the last half year.
